Chief Bourke visited Morristown, and there found that the girls had been there in company with a man, but no one knew where they had gone. Another was found who saw a man bringing over two small trunks, evidently for these girls. There all traces seemed to end, and it is feared that the girls have been taken charge of by a confederate and hurried off to some of the larger cities, for no good purpose.

This morning Widdis started on the search across the line, and the police of the various cities have been notified.

Wm. Hornbeck Found Guilty of Stealing $40.—Another Case of Theft.

Police Court was resumed yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, and the cases of the theft of $40 against Wm. Thornbeck was continued. No defence was offered, but Mr. F. D. Kerr, the prisoner's counsel, made a strong plea for him, but the Magistrate thought Hornbeck was the man who took the money, and although the evidence was only circumstantial, it strongly pointed to the prisoner's guilt. The prisoner may have been drunk but that was no excuse for him and he found him guilty and sentenced him to six months in the Central Prison, Toronto.

(Wm. Warmington, a bartender in a local hotel, was charged with stealing a gold-filled watch from Wm. McMillan of Lakefield, who was drunk at the time. He was remanded until Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

RUSSIAN RIGHT AND CENTRE RETREATING

A BATTLE OF FRIGHTFUL SLAUGHTER

Special to The Review.

TOKIO, SEPT. 1.—The Russian right and centre defending Liaoyang are retreating southward this Thursday morning. The Japanese are pursuing the Russians.

ST. PETERSBURG, SEPT. 1.—Gen Kuroki's forces are crossing the Taitse river on pontoons. One division is already across and others are following.

ST. PETERSBURG, SEPT. 1, 3.50 P. M.—The battle at Liaoyang last night, continued until midnight with frightful slaughter The Japanese at last succeeded in getting a column across the Taitse river, north-east of Liaoyang and Gen. Kuropatkin gave the order to fall back on the main works, but owing to the Japanese pressure this movement was not executed. The armies slept in their positions. Official advice this morning till 6 a.m. says the battle had not been renewed at that hour.

ST. PETERSBURG, SEPT. 1.—The Emperor has received the following despatch from Gen. Stoessel, commanding the Russian troops at Port Arthur, dated Aug. 26. "The gracious elegrams of your Majesty have been received with resounding hurrahs before the enemy and have redoubled the strength of the defenders and the heroic spirit of the troops. From Aug. 23 to to-day, inclusive, all the daily assaults have been repulsed, with the help of God.

THE GAME AT PORT HOPE

ONE OF THE BEST IN THE MIDLAND LEAGUE THIS YEAR.

Peterborough Seemed to Have an Easy Thing for Four Innings in Which they Led by 4-0.

Yesterday's game in Port Hope between Peterborough and the home team, in which the result was a tie, five all, was without doubt, the best game played in the Midland League this season. Both teams played snappy ball, and the game was full of ginger all the way. For four innings it looked easy for Peterborough, the score being 4 to 0 in their favor, but in their half of the innings, Port Hope tallied four runs and tied the score.

Both teams settled down to business, and neither team could score until the tenth, although both teams had chances to score before that time, but sensational fielding by both teams, and fine pitching by McCorry and Pethick, killed any chances to score.

Peterborough was first to score in the 10th; Sheridan hit for two bases, Graham laid down a nice bunt, which he nearly beat out, advancing Sheridan to third. Lamont batted safely, scoring Sheridan, and going to second on the throw to head "Dooley" off. With one out, and Lamont on second, the Peterborough's could not score again. Whitcroft hit to Pethick, and E. Pilling hit a little fly to Edwards and both were easy outs. Port Hope tied the score in their half. McMillan hit an easy grounder to Treanor and it was fumbled; McMillan got stage fright, and Edwards run for him; in trying to throw the latter out at second, Graham made a high throw, which Lamont got with his bare head, holding the runner at second. Marvin was out, pitcher to first; Hobbs hit safely, and Edwards, who tried to score from second, was caught between third and home; Hobbs kept going and landed safely on third. Henderson hit a grounder to McCorry, but Dan let it get away from him and Hobbs scored. Henderson stole second, and on a high throw of Chris. Graham's started for third, but Lamont had the ball over to Sheridan and Henderson was caught yards off third.

The following is the summary —

NOTES.

Both teams played fast ball.

Chris. Graham caught a fine game.

Whitcroft, Lamont and Sheridan are a hard trio to beat.

The same teams play here Saturday. The crowd at the game wasn't very large, but they were noisy.

Peterborough out hit Port Hope, but the hits that were needed didn't come.

Lamont drove in four of the Peterborough's five runs.

Edmonds, Port Hope's second baseman, has been playing ball for years, 25 anyway, and he is still there with the goods

LACROSSE.

The C.L.A. has called a meeting of the Executive for tonight to consider last Saturday's disgraceful game between the Tecumsehs and Brantford, and we sincerely hope that the Tecumseh players will get the punishment they deserve. We are surprised at the position the Toronto Telegram has taken in regard to the game. They have completely ignored the real facts, and have in last night's issue a couple of columns of rules and amendments about the appointing of a referee, and also have a column on the matter of the Tecumseh's imposing a protest against the Brantford team because John White, the Indian, played a game with the Caughnawaga Indians. That's all right. If John White played such a game, he should have his certificate cancelled, but it looks rather cheap for the Tecumsehs to bring this matter up now when all true lovers of lacrosse have such a recollection of their dirty play on Saturday. The Telegram in its article in several places refers to the reflection cast on the C.L.A. Well, coming down to the common-sense view of the situation, no reflection is cast on the C.L.A., as the referee was very impartial, and his rulings were correct. It is all very well for Toronto to put up the bowl that President Frank violated the rules in appointing the referee, but even if he did, the Tecumsehs might have been gentlemen, and played the game, instead of turning it into a pugilistic contest, and even taking the very cowardly way of hitting a man behind his back, the lowest trick a coward could do.

As everyone knows, Toronto has its old reputation of hoggishness to keep up, and the present stand of the Telegram bears out this fact prominently. What we want in the C.L.A. is good clean lacrosse, and it is up to the Executive tonight to see that justice is done.

Toronto Star: Charles Querrie and Hugh Lambe, the two Tecumseh players, were yesterday summoned to appear in Police Court on Friday morning to answer a charge of assault on Charles Chitty, of Montreal, the referee of last Saturday's game. Before Magistrate Denison yesterday morning Deputy Chief Stuart swore to the information on which the two summonses are issued. It was thought yesterday that the charge would be that of disorderly conduct, but it was since changed to straight assault. It is hardly likely that Chitty will be summoned as a witness, for it is said that a policeman in plain clothes was on the field and saw the assault. He and several spectators are willing to give evidence. Crown Attorney Curry was asked what the penalty might be. "Prison, without the option of a fine, is possible," he said. "The probability is, however, that a heavy fine will be imposed. If the C.L.A. won't regulate this sort of thing the police will. We will arrest players who assault each other on the field also, if we get a chance." The maximum penalty that can be imposed for a common assault is $20 and costs or two months, and the Magistrate can impose the term without the option of a fine. On an indictment the penalty may go as high as one year, but this is a summons case.

ANOTHER MAN ARRESTED

Charged With Stealing a Watch at the Cavanagh House.

This morning P. C. McGinty arrested Edward Taylor on the charge of stealing a watch from Ira McMillan of Lakefield at the Cavanagh House. He was taken before the Police Magistrate at noon and remanded until Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. His friends were around this afternoon trying to get him released on bail.

Wm. Warmington, who appeared in Police Court yesterday afternoon on the same charge, was released on his own recognizance to appear on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

SWINGING INTO AUTUMN

The GOLDEN LION has gathered from the world's best looms a world's wealth of beauty in Elegant Fall Goods. From England come rich and beautiful cloths, as well as serviceable fabrics from the Fatherland—from Germany and America others equally as charming.

Some of the newest European novelties that can now be seen are—

New Suitings and Costume Cloths
Priestly's Black and Colored Suitings
Priestly's Dress Goods and Rainproof Cloths
New Autumn Dress Trimmings
New Autumn Styles in Dress Skirts
New Rainproof Coats
New Autumn Cloaks and Suits
Ready-to-wear Hats, etc.

There is not a loop-hole for question as to the supremacy of Fair's Dress Goods this season—not a point upon which they can be "Port Arthured." Quality, tastefulness and value gainsay comparison at every turn.

Dress-Making

This department was re-opened for the season on Monday, August 29th, under the capable management of Miss Neild, who has recently returned from an extended visit to the leading fashion centres.

MISS ARMSTRONG, head of the Millinery Dept., returned recently from New York, after a visit to the wholesale markets. She is now attending the Toronto wholesale millinery openings, where we have a large staff of trimmers preparing for the Autumn season.

JAPANESE OCCUPY LIAOYANG

Kuroki's Move Forces Retreat of Gen. Kuropatkin.

FIGHT BEATS ALL RECORDS

Russian Army now on Right Side of the Taitze River but Further Move North is Stopped by Cutting of the Railway Communications Between Liaoyang and Mukden.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—Tokio rings with shouts and cheers for the victory at Liaoyang. Lantern-bearing crowds swing through the streets and surge around the staff offices shouting "Banzai."

Japanese Occupy Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—(1.26 a. m.)—The news of the occupation of Liaoyang and the withdrawal of the Russian army to the right bank of the Taitze River reached only a small section of the people of St. Petersburg at a late hour and caused intense excitement and disappointment. The majority of the inhabitants retired to rest believing that the Russian arms had again been successful and that the Japanese attacks had been repelled. Ugly suspicion, however, had been rife during the day, owing to the absence of press telegrams from Liaoyang, leading to the belief that the communications had been cut by Gen. Kuroki.

Part of Kuropatkin's Plan.

The following statement was obtained by the Associated Press from the War Office at 10 o'clock Thursday night:

"Gen. Kuroki's army crossed in force to the right bank of the Taitze River, and it therefore became necessary for the Russians to repel a blow in this direction. In view of this development in the operations Gen. Kuropatkin decided to abandon his position, on the left bank and to concentrate his whole army on the other side of the river. This position is of the strongest, both in character and in site. The great issue will be finally decided there.

"By withdrawing to this position the Russian army avoids the danger of being divided by the river, and enjoys the advantage of compactness. Gen. Kuropatkin's move, therefore, is not to be considered as a retreat, but rather as the carrying out of a well-defined idea. The withdrawal of the Russians to the right bank involved the abandonment of Liaoyang, which is situated on the left bank.

Stern Fighting Yet, It—

"The Japanese took advantage of this to occupy the city, but the sternest part of the fighting is still before them unless Gen. Kuropatkin decides at the last hour to again fall back to the northward. It is more than likely, however, that he will decide to fight to a finish. The cards are all in his favor, it is believed now, and he has the Japanese divided by the river, thus effectually turning the tables upon his foe.

"The determined pursuit by the Japanese of the Russian outposts when Gen. Kuropatkin gave the first order to withdraw was probably due to their anxiety to keep the Russians south of Liaoyang until Gen. Kuroki should be able to strike from the northeast. Gen. Kuropatkin, however, saw the trap and cleverly avoided it."

Kuropatkin Defeated.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—At daybreak yesterday the Japanese army on the left delivered a fierce and successful assault against the heights to the west of Hainlingtun and the high ground to the west of Shouchanpao. It pierced the Russian lines and probably later forced the retirement of the Russian troops from their position on the right and centre. Marquis Oyama telegraphs that his losses in these assaults were heavy. It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin has been sweepingly defeated and that possession of Liaoyang is a matter of hours. Gen. Kuroki's casualties from Aug. 24 to 28 amounted to 2,355. The other casualties have not been reported.

Fierce Fighting Thursday.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—(1.26 a. m.)—Up to the hour of filing this despatch the War Office has not given out the details of the fighting of Sept. 1, but it is believed that this fighting exceeded in fierceness that of any previous day.

The Most Important News.

Mukden, Sept. 2.—The train service between Mukden and Liaoyang is interrupted. The roads are impassable.

London, Sept. 2.—This morning's newspapers comment upon the Associated Press despatch from Mukden, saying that the train service between Mukden and Liaoyang is interrupted, and that the roads are impassable, as the most important news from the Far East, and say that the only meaning of it is that the Japanese have seized the railroad between Liaoyang and Mukden.

Japs Lose 10,000.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—The Japanese left began pressing the Russians toward Taisho at dawn this (Friday) morning. The Japanese right is engaged in the neighborhood of Haiyingtai. The Japanese casualties since Aug. 29 are officially estimated at 10,000.

Japs Will Rely on Gunboats.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—A correspondent of the Associated Press at Vladivostock telegraphs that the Japanese are relying on the aid of the gunboat flotilla for future operations against Liaoyang and Mukden. The gunboats, the correspondent says, have not yet materialised, but in any case they would be in no position to render aid to a force on the right bank in time of need, because they would be unable to run the gauntlet of the forts at Liaoyang. The strongest forts are situated on the right bank, where the Russian army is now concentrated.

All Fighting Records Beaten.

The fighting at Liaoyang has beaten all records for the desperate valor of the assailants and the invincible stubbornness of the defenders. The whole history of the warfare tells of no such bombardments; no such carnage and no such persistency. Day after day the fight has been resumed at daybreak and kept up with scarce a moment's intermission until after nightfall.

The Japanese have invented new methods to incinerate the heaps of dead comrades, removing the ashes for the honors of burial in Japan. The wounded present a most serious problem, as they tax the transport capacity on either side to the utmost.

JAPS PROPHESY.

That Port Arthur Will Fall to Them Last Week of September.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—Popular estimates of the date of the fall of Port Arthur incline to the last week in September.

Attack of Aug. 27.

Che Foo, Sept. 2.—Severe fighting occurred at Port Arthur Aug. 27, when the Japanese, moving from Shuishiying, attempted to capture Palungshan, which is south of Shuishiying and west of the railway. The Japanese made two assaults between 4 and 8 o'clock in the morning. They were repulsed both times. A prisoner, subsequently taken, places their loss at 1,065 killed and wounded. For one hour afterward shells were thrown from Shuishiying into Port Arthur.

The above information was brought here Wednesday by a Chinaman who speaks excellent Russian and who was employed at the police station in Port Arthur, which place he left in the evening of Aug 29. He adds that up to his departure no further attack had been made by the Japanese on Palungshan. He confirms previous reports that the Russians had re-occupied Itshan, where there has been but little fighting recently.

Captured Fort 6 to Lose It.

At 4.30 Aug. 31 the Japanese attacked Fort No. 6, on the northeast portion of the right flank. This fort is a new and strong one. After three hours' fierce fighting, during which the Japanese endured a cross fire from Fort No. 2, the Japanese succeeded in entering the fort. When the

THE DAWN BREAKING

While our rulers, both in Ottawa and Toronto, have sunk into depths of corruption and degradation which have no parallel since the days of that Liberal corruptionist, Sir Robert Walpole, there are some slight signs of improvement in other quarters. The independent press, though more timid than it need be, and never venturing to attack Ministerial wrongdoing, without lagging in some story of Conservative offences committed ages ago, or that may possibly be committed in the future, has become more outspoken and carries greater weight. Even the party journals are more free in criticising and denouncing their leaders, the Toronto Globe and Ottawa Free Press not being excepted, in more lucid intervals, atoned in the eyes of their masters by greater subsequent viralence and more unscrupulous defence of indignity. Even in the House there have been symptoms of some revival of manliness. We have seen Mr. Monet announcing that he will not run again because he cannot afford an election without aid from the corruption fund and will not subject himself to the degrading subservience that its acceptance would entail. Still more recently we have had Mr. Erb, a solitary bright exception, refusing to disgrace himself, like all his fellows, by joining in whitewashing Sir Richard Cartwright for his brazen outrage of becoming an accessory after the fact of subornation of perjury, and defending and rewarding his accomplice. On that occasion, too, there was evidence of a faint dawn of better things in the fact that his followers, who had cheered Sir Richard when he rose, remained silent and irresponsive when he took his seat on concluding his disgraceful exhibition of criminal affrontery.

But in advance of politicians and journalists are the people, who are showing unmistakable signs that they are awakening from the lethargy with which they have condoned political wrongdoing. The more recent bye-elections have shown that the growing corruption and maladministration of their leaders is alienating the honest and thoughtful men among the electors, who are refusing to be drawn further through the mire. There is some hope when the people show signs of being aroused and of calling their rulers to an account.

THE COMING GENERAL ELECTION

Possible that it Will not be Held in November.

The Ottawa Citizen points to evident impossibility of the general elections being brought on early in November. It makes a statement regarding the statutory delay in the preparation of the voters' lists for the unorganized districts of Algoma. The periods of notice referred to are those provided in the Ontario statute, and it is admitted that the instructions to sheriffs and magistrates entrusted with the preparation of the federal lists having been sent out on the 14th of August, the periods of delay for notices, etc., will prevent the lists for those districts being available for polling much before the first of January. As a matter of fact the legislation of Ontario in regard to the preparation of the lists in the unorganized districts is anything but creditable. Originally the law provided for annual lists. Then in 1903 the law was changed practically suspending the making of lists for three years. Last season a bill was passed repealing this section of the act of 1903, and ordering that lists be prepared biennially. It is claimed by experts that so crudely has the act of 1904 been drafted that it really authorizes the preparation of "biennial lists annually." But waivin gthis contradiction of terms, the situation is that there are no provincial lists available, so that lists have had to be ordered specially by the federal authority. It is claimed by eminent authority here that while the Dominion statute obliges the federal officers to follow generally in the preparation of these lists, the general principles of the provincial Election Act, power is reserved to the federal authority which will enable it it to curtail the periods of notice required under the Ontario statute. But even admitting this to be the case, the time could not, having regard to local circumstances and conditions in these districts, to be considerably shortened as to make these lists available as to the first week in December, and as he has pointed out, as there must be simultaneous voting in all the Ontario constituencies, the date named for a general election must be a date on which the lists for these districts will be available.

PORT HOPE NEWSPAPER MAN UNDER HEALEY'S FALLS

Concludes his Story about a Trip Through Kawartha Lakes — Had Tea With Mr. Crane.

The Port Hope Guide concludes its story of a trip through the Kawartha Lakes as follows: Continuing with one blade we reached Hastings early in the evening and camped just above on the river. Here we found an old friend, Mr. L. F. Cherry, a lawyer, whose law practice appears to keep him very busy. Mr. Cherry owns a very trim, speedy launch, built by his father at Millbrook, and driven by a Sylvester Excelsior engine. His friends in Hastings share with him in the pleasures he has taken from the excursions he has taken by river and lake. This town is an ideal place in which to have a boat of this sort.

Mr. John Tracey is lockmaster. The lock is built of cut stone which had to be teamed through the bush from Kingston and is said to be the oldest on the system.

We left Hastings at one o'clock on Tuesday, still towing our loaded canoe, and after careful navigation reached Healy's Falls, a distance of about sixteen miles, at 3.15. Here the Trent river is raised by means of a fine concrete dam and is spanned by a 10-span iron truss bridge. The river flows numerous bewildering channels and bays, but the scenery is wild and interesting. Below the dam the river drops by a series of cascades and rapids through a rocky gorge for a long distance.

The falls is formed by the river tumbling about fifteen feet over a limestone ledge. This part of our river is quite extensively visited by tourists, and it is well worth the trip to explore—it is very picturesque.

The afternoon was quite warm, and it only needed a suggestion before we were all under the spray enjoying a shower bath. One may venture a short distance under the ledge and behind the curtain of water.

Returning up river we "tented on the old camp ground," and though we had repaired the damage we remembered our down stream experiences and to avoid risk of being stranded had telephoned to Lindsay for spare blades.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

we divided our forces, two of us took the canoe and put up camp on the north shore, while the others went with the launch to Hastings for our spare blades. Here we did our first fishing, but only secured a couple of bass, but Bruce managed to hook and land an eighteen pound (estimated) "lunge." After all a canoe is a handy craft, and we must agree with Mr. Dobbin, who remarked when examining the gasoline launch, "the older I get, Wilson, the more respect I have for the canoe." There is nothing to equal it for fishing, hunting or general camping, but if the two can be combined as in our case, then you can get there quick and have the canoe when wanted. It was Friday morning before we pulled stakes and bid good bye to Rice Lake, getting through the lift lock before six o'clock, the closing hour, and going into camp at No. 5 lock. During the evening we had the pleasure of looking over the electric producing plant situated at this point and supplying current for lighting and power to Peterborough.

Saturday we reached Lakefield in time for dinner and early in the evening found us once more at the Narrows. The wind was blowing strongly up Clear Lake and while we were exploring a bay near the Narrows for a sheltered camp, Mr. John Crane, manager of the Ontario Bank, Peterborough, came out in his skiff and invited us to camp on the point opposite his cottage, which was the very place we had decided to be the most suitable for our purpose. An invitation to tea followed and we found that we were almost already acquainted through mutual friends. We received many courtesies at the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Crane.

In looking for a good place for the launch to spend the night we found that owing to the rock formation the anchor would drag, and just back of Mr. Crane's cottage was a cleft in the rock permitting entrance to a tiny harbor sheltered from all winds from any direction. An ideal harbor enclosed all about except from the top.

SUNDAY

we stayed at home, only calling on Mr. Sam Henderson, who in the interval of our visit had cut his watermelon and had saved us a share.

Monday morning bright and early, found us making our final pack up—the Lindsay contingent returning whence they came, and reaching Sturgeon Point the same evening, and the writer raised the white flag, calling in the swift little boat, The Empress, and was home in Port Hope in time for dinner at noon.

CONCLUSION.

We did not see the end of the Trent River—it was too far.

We don't know the extent of the traffic over the canal, but on that portion on each side of Peterborough, it must be large. We understand there were over 300 power boats through the old lock below the town during July. There must have been a greater number at Young's Point for all Stony Lake and through traffic to other lakes pass this lock. When the outlet is completed to Port Hope the traffic will grow by leaps and bounds.

To plan an excursion on the Kawartha Lakes, be it for a day, a week or a month, drop a line to the Trent Valley Navigation Co., Bobcaygeon, and get the routes of steamers. If you prefer to "paddle your own canoe" or navigate your own craft, just take the G.T.R. to the point you select and go—and no doubt nature will give you a good time, for she is not stingy with her big store of pleasures.

BIG FISH CATCHES

Rama Indians are making some phenomenal catches of channel catfish in Lake St. John, says the Orillia News-Letter. Several hundred pounds have recently been brought to town and sold for as high as 5cts. a lb. The mode adopted by the Indians for catching these fish is by night line, and this is how they do it. A very heavy cord some seventy or eighty feet in length is the first requisite, and to this are attached perhaps forty or fifty short lines at intervals of about 18 inches, each equipped with a strong hook and baited. Several heavy sinkers are fastened to the line, which is then sunk at a point known by the Indians to be a catfish rendezvous. The two ends are made fast to the shore or fastened to floaters. This is done in the evening, and the line is run or examined several times during the night, or may be left until the following morning, when, if luck follows the fisherman, there will perhaps be as many catfish hooked as there are baits on the line. The fish, of course, are very much alive in the morning, and running the line is generally accompanied with some excitement, as there may be a number of 10, 15 or 20 pound specimens on the line. Joe Hurtebese says says he has caught them weighing as high as 40 pounds, but Joe is not an ordinary fisherman. Many people are prejudiced against catfish and squirm at the idea of eating them, but nevertheless, when well prepared, they are a toothsome dish. 'Tis true the catfish is a scavenger, but no more so than the hog, and pork is eaten with a clear conscience by many who condemn the catfish diet. Channel catfishing in Couchiching is not productive of either extraordinary excitement or pecuniary gain, for they seemingly do not thrive in "the lake of many winds." A species of the channel catfish family, a comparatively small fish, though very similar in appearance, is found to be quite plentiful in this water. It should be noted there is a distinction between cat fish, or mud cats, and channel cat fish, the latter growing so many times the size of the former.

Pitiful Helplessness.

Victims of nervous diseases are most to be pitied because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble, and there is no preparation so well suited for this purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

Chinese Justice.

"The talk about the so-called yellow peril in the Far East," said Major L. Seaman, a former surgeon of United States volunteer engineers, "reminds me of an instance of Chinese justice which I witnessed in Pekin at the time of the Boxer uprising. A Chinaman was arrested for the alleged theft of a piece of silk. He was taken before a mandarin. When questioned by the officer the prisoner denied his guilt. It must be understood that a prisoner cannot be executed in China unless he pleads guilty to the crime charged against him. The prisoner was thrown, face downward, upon the stone flooring of the court, and a hundred blows were laid upon his back, from the base of the spine to the shoulders, diagonally across the muscles.

"The punishment was inflicted with a small, supple piece of bamboo, scarcely thicker than a lead pencil. So lightly were the blows laid on that the victim seemed to feel no pain. After he had received the hundred blows he was brought before the mandarin again, and once more he denied his guilt. He was thrown upon the floor the second time, and when another hundred blows had been administered his back was macerated to a pulp without breaking his skin. But the covering of the muscles had been ruptured and the muscles themselves were literally beaten to a jelly.

"The Chinaman was carried before the magistrate again, for he could not stand. His agony was so great that when the fateful question was put to him again he pleaded guilty and was promptly beheaded. He would have died under the strokes of the bamboo the third time and with the resignation of the Oriental he chose the merciful knife in preference to the merciless bamboo."

HOW FAIR IS CONDUCTED

They are Guarded, Collected, Counted and Checked Like Dollars in a Bank.

When a citizen drops his ticket into the turnstile receiver at the Exhibition he promptly forgets all about the piece of pasteboard and proceeds to enjoy himself, says the Toronto News. But with the officials of the Association this is only one act in a long series. Each stubby little ticket is worth a quarter, and has to be guarded just as carefully as money from the time it leaves the hands of the printer until it is safely sold, dropped, counted, checked, and finally destroyed after the Fair is all over.

Treasurer Edwards or his assistants sleep beside the big safe that contains the tickets until the show closes and there are others who lose sleep over them before or after that. To consider just the looking after the tickets from the time they are dropped in the receiver until they are destroyed, it will be found that a most complete system of checking and counter-checking has been built up, in the formation of which Mr. Alex. Brown, who has been Superintendent of Gates since 1882, has taken an active part. The locked ticket boxes (as securely fastened as a ballot box) are taken from the turnstiles four times a day, at 11, 2, 5 and 9 o'clock. They are taken to a room in the Administration Building, where the checkers sit, each before a little section of counter walled off from the rest, and on this counter one box at a time is turned out. The tickets are counted and the number compared with the number shown on the automatic numbering device on the turnstile. If they differ the tickets are counted a second time, and then put into a paper bag, which is securely sealed, the number or numbers marked on the outside, along with the number of the turnstile, date and hour of collection, and gateman's name. Each day's tickets are locked in a separate box for reference, and kept in a locked room. Thus errors can be instantly detected, and traced back from the last to the very first day of the Fair.

ELIMINATION OF ERRORS.

Everything is done to eliminate errors, and still they may occur. A machine may go out of order, or a gateman may get excited in a crush and turn the stile twice for one person, or he might attempt to be dishonest and let in two friends at one turn. In fact, in a crush, when the stile is turning very rapidly, the gateman must have a clear head and great powers of command not to make errors. Every day, as the tickets are checked, the errors made by each gateman are set off against his name and the next year the man with the fewest errors gets the preference and the best position. Thus efficiency is rewarded, the chances of dishonesty reduced to practically nil, and incompetents are weeded out. The system has resulted in training up an efficient set of gatemen. At one Fair, for instance, one pair passed through 55,000 men, women and children and only made 7 errors in the whole fortnight. Other records are scarcely less accurate. After the Fair is all over the tickets are unpacked and the work of the checkers checked over again by examining packages at random all through the count until the officials are satisfied that the work was accurate.

It is, in fact, a great effort to stop bogus ballots, pluggers, wrong counts and personations, and it is done so quietly and so successfully that no one ever hears of it.

HAPPENINGS IN KEENE

Arrangements Being Made for the Fair — A Bachelors' Dance.

Mr. Arthur Shaw, of Swift Current, is visiting at his father's Dr. J. M. Shaw.

The contract has been let for 500 feet more of cement sidewalk, which is to be laid immediately.

Dr. McCauley, of the Toronto General Hospital staff, is camping with his parents at Sandy Point. He intends staying down for a week of duck shooting.

A meeting of the Otonabee Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday, August 30th, to appoint committees and judges to make arrangements for the Fall Fair.

The Christian Endeavor Society intend running an afternoon excursion next week.

Arrangements are being made to have the Reading Room opened by the 15th of September.

Rev. Dr. Workman is in Keene.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Jas. McNeil is able to be around again after his illness.

Quite a number of the Alderville Indians are camped at Sugar Island, waiting for the rice harvest to begin. They report the rice crop excellent.

Mr. T. Macdonald, of California, is visiting his brother, Rev. D. D. Macdonald.

The Village Improvement Society ran an excursion to Peterborough, per steamer Rainbow, on Thursday, Aug. 25th, and this time the boat managed to get over the lift lock.

Mr. Harry Maher, of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting his cousin, Mr. David Wallace.

Mr. A. Obard, G.T.R. agent at Keene Station, had the misfortune to lose a very fine horse on Wednesday. It was pasturing in a field near the railway track, and, taking fright at a passing train, ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting its shoulder, and breaking its leg.

Another Bachelor's Dance is to be held in the town hall, Friday, Sept. 2nd inst.

Well Known in Peterboro

Is Mr. W. E. Talbot Who Was Cured of Piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros., Tobacco Merchants, 382 George st., Peterboro, Ont., states:—"It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for Itching Piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease and though I tried very many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured and knowing the misery that the ailment produces, I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Raffle Baskets

Wouldn't you like to have something novel in the way of presents for your friends this Christmas? If so, why not make some of these pretty raffle baskets that are both useful and ornamental. They are very easily and quickly made and several ladies in town who have become adept in the art would be willing to give some instructions in it for a small fee. Instructions may be found in several of the magazines which are widely read in town and in the issue of the Ladies' Home Journal for August 1903. The raffle cones in many pretty shades and in for sale only at the Review office. So save moments these long evenings in getting ready for Xmas and avoid being worried later on.

ACQUIRING WATER POWER

MEMBER FOR EAST DURHAM PRESENTS SOME ARGUMENTS.

Says there will be no Water Power for the Government to Acquire Along the Port Hope Route.

In a discussion upon the Trent Canal, in the House of Commons, during the early part of August, Mr. H. A. Ward brought to the attention of the Government what he considered a strong argument in favor of the construction of the canal by way of Port Hope, in that there were no water powers of any considerable extent along that route which would have to be acquired by the Government. I believe," said he, "from the reports of engineers that the cost of the Port Hope route has been very largely exaggerated, and, on the other hand, that the cost of the Trenton route has been minimized, and that justice cannot be done to Port Hope or to the contentions of those who believe that that route is in the interests of the country unless we obtain a report from a thoroughly competent engineer who will not in any sense be partial or biased in favor of one route or the other.' The particular instance of water power acquirement which Mr. Ward had in view was that effected under an Order in Council passed in September, 1896, by which the Government agreed to take over power owned at Nassau by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In 1900 this was carried out under an agreement whereby, as Mr. Ward pointed out in the House, the Government was to pay $20,000 for the site of the Nassau dam and the right to use water for the canal. The Government agreed further to regulate the water according to canal requirements, so that the bank would not suffer in any way. Mr. Ward, continuing, said that what the Government gave the Bank of Commerce enabled them to sell what was a dead property for $100,000, or it may be $100,000, calculating interest of 20 years and $20,000 besides. He mentioned this as a sample of what was going on in the construction of the Trent Canal. Reference was also made to the representations made to the Government regarding the necessity of better conservation in the north, meaning an expenditure of $300,000. Mr. Ward said:

I do not think that money should be spent on the conservation of water a long time in advance of the requirements of the canal unless we take the view of the hon. member for Victoria (Mr. Hughes), whom I do not see in his seat this evening, and who said to me that he was in favor of that conservation of water provided these power owners were made to pay their share of the expense and the expense would be divided equally among those who would benefit. That is the view I take. I consider that not a dollar should be spent by the government on the conservation of water unless it should be required for the canal; and in any event the power owners who will benefit should certainly pay their share of the expense of raising the water in the back lakes. There is another matter which I desire to mention in this connection. The Ontario Gazette of January 2nd last contains a notice of the incorporation of the company.

There were the names given as forming the corporation:—David Gilmour, manufacturer, Robert Weddell, company manager, both of the town of Trenton, Samuel Hume Blake, K.C., Ernest W. McNeill, Robert Gowans, solicitors' clerks, all of the city of Toronto, and any others who have become subscribers to the memorandum of agreement of the company and their successors.

I might mention that I am now reading from the Port Hope Guide, a good Liberal paper. That refers to the three gentlemen, Mr. Blake, Mr. McNeill and Mr. Gowans.

The objects of the company as stated in the notice are briefly: To acquire water privileges, lands, water powers and other powers, and to develop the same, etc. The share capital of the company is $500,000, the head office of the company to be at Trenton, the provisional directors to be the above named gentlemen.

It is public knowledge that the law firm of which three out of the five gentlemen above named are the solicitors of the Bank of Commerce.

It is also known through public advertisement that the Gilmour Company, of Trenton, is making changes in the company. It is also is well known fact that the Gilmour Company were the owners of the principal water powers between Frankford and Trenton (a distance of about seven miles) most of which are as yet undeveloped. Should the canal be built by the Trenton outlet these water powers would be developed at the expense of the Government through the construction of a dam at each and every locks—a total of probably six dams as per canal paper (Standing Engineer's report (Mr. R. B. Rogers.)

By that means this company, which is really the Bank of Commerce, has acquired water powers on the Lower Trent, on which, according to the engineer's report, six dams are to be built by the government. And these six dams and the powers relating to them will be owned by this company: and it is natural to suppose that if they have $20,000 for one power, they would be looking for about the same for the other six powers which they will own on the River Trent. One of the arguments in favour of the River Trent, mentioned by Mr. McLeod, is that the government would acquire a large amount of water powers which they could rent out to private parties and from which they would derive a large revenue. But at the meeting of the Transportation Commission to which I have referred, Mr. Kilburn, who is a well-known gentleman of Lakefield, the owner of the cement works there, said that the government would acquire about $200,000 a year from the rent of the water powers on the Trent River, whereas Mr. Rogers, on the other hand, said there would only be a revenue of $5000 from them, and that would be mostly between Lake Ontario and Peterborough. That shows a wide divergence of opinion and the very fact that the Trent Water Power Company has acquired all the water power between Frankford and Trenton shows very little prospect of the government acquiring any revenue from the water powers on that river.

Mr. E. Guss Porter, member for West Hastings, replying to Mr. Ward, said: I am very pleased that the hon. member for East Durham (Mr. Ward) has seen fit, even at so late a stage, to bring this matter of the development of the Trent Valley waterway to the attention of parliament. This is a matter of very considerable importance to the people of Canada as a whole in assisting to solve the great question of transportation, and it is of very particular interest to a large section of the people of Ontario interested in the development of manufacturing industries, especially in the Midland district and those portions of the province of Ontario chiefly affected by the development of the immense powers of the Trent waterways. This is a matter which, in my humble judgment, calls for an immediate declaration of policy by the government, and not only a declaration of policy, but energetic action to carry out such policy as the government may see its way to adopt. The subject is one which has been discussed so much, not only in parliament but on the hustings, particularly at election time, that it has to a very large extent come to be regarded by the people as, to use the words of all estimable writers, 'stale, flat and unprofitable.'

I venture the opinion that the public generally who are more particularly interested in this matter have not arrived at that conclusion on account of any lack of appreciation of the importance, or of the benefits which may be derived by this country from the development of this waterway; but if they have been induced to form that opinion it has been by reason of the inaction of the government of the day. Party exigencies and alternative propositions have caused people to lose faith in the sincerity of the government of the present day in regard to this proposition and apathy and just indignation exist where, under the circumstances that should to-day prevail, there should be general enthusiasm. The time has arrived, Sir, when we have come to what in other instances has been described as the parting of the ways. The time has arrived when the question of the development of the Trent waterway should be stripped entirely of political considerations and when the government should decide once and for all whether this waterway should be completed and how it shall be completed, or whether so far as this government is concerned, the work shall be entirely abandoned. A careful consideration of this project will force us to the conclusion that to abandon the work would be nothing less than criminal, would be folly to the point of criminality; and I think the prompt, energetic and systematic construction of this canal would be of the greatest benefit to shippers, manufacturers and agriculturists and would furnish an impetus to the trade and commerce of this country alike to the advantage of this government and to the advantage of the country. Although this government cannot claim the credit of having inaugurated the scheme of improving this waterway it will not, in my opinion, detract from their credit or prove to be to their disadvantage to follow in this instance, as they have followed in several other instances, the policy inaugurated by the Conservative party in regard to many enterprises that have proved to be of benefit and advantage to the country. And, Sir, at the risk of giving this government the credit of carrying out this scheme I venture to say here that I am willing as far as I can either by my voice or by my vote to give any assistance that may be given to the government in carrying out that scheme. I propose, Mr. Speaker, as briefly as I can, to present some of the reasons which appeal to and influence the government in carrying this enterprise to a successful conclusion. There are many facts in connection with this enterprise upon which all parties are agreed, not only the government of the day, but the opposition. While differences exist they are of a local or personal character which do not to my mind in any manner affect the principle involved in the question under discussion. These differences exist by reason of individual influence brought to bear upon the government in regard to the question, but I respectfully urge upon the government that they should serve the interests of the country as a whole rather than those of any individual, municipality or organization, which may be interested in this enterprise. So long ago as 1820 the British government recognized the importance of the development of the Trent waterway, not from a commercial standpoint, but from a strategical standpoint, and the reasons that existed then exist to-day. In addition to those reasons, as a result of the development of the country and of the keen competition that has been going on to control the trade not only of this country but the trade of the adjoining country, it has been demonstrated that still greater benefits might be derived by the people of Canada from the development of this waterway for commercial purposes than from its development from a strategical standpoint alone. I venture to think that no two opinions exist to-day that the advantages of water transportation are so great that there is no other power or influence that can operate against it under proper conditions. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in a speech delivered before the Canadian Club at Toronto, on January 20, 1904, on the question of traffic from the West to the Atlantic said:

Waterways are the key of our transportation. Wheat or flour or anything else in the matter of coarse products can be carried by water at one quarter of the cost from Fort William to Midland or to North Bay that it will cost to carry the same traffic for that 500 miles over the railway. Now what sane man will assert, with the enormous difference in cost against railway transportation, that we should neglect our waterways?

If we but look around to the neighboring republic or to European countries, (and I am emphatically one of those who think we can learn by example) we will find convincing proofs of his views. The history of all the nations taking part in this mighty struggle for commercial supremacy is a record of the increasing development and value of national waterways.

France has 7000 miles of internal navigation and the water traffic of that country has increased between the years 1872 and 1897 by 140 per cent., whereas the said traffic has increased but 75 per cent. Belgium has expended since 1860 upwards of $50,000,000 enlarging its canals. Germany has just opened a new canal from Dortmund et Embden, a distance of 170 miles, which will carry barges very similar to those proposed for the Trent waterway, namely, 230 feet long, 30 feet wide and 7 1-2 feet draft and costing $5000 each. Russia has expended $30,000,000 in five years and there are in that country 60,000 canal boats with crews numbering 300,000 men.

Vessels 200 feet long can traverse the whole country from the Caspian sea to St. Petersburg.

In the United States the vast improvements made by the railways in levelling their grades, straightening curves, increasing the size of locomotive and cars, with other improvements needless to mention, enabled them at last to complete successfully with the Erie canal which had been allowed to become antiquated in every particular. (What was the result? The railways of the United States obtained control of the trade.

A NEW IMPETUS.

The wise policy of the Canadian Conservative government in deepening and enlarging the St. Lawrence canals supplied a new impetus and a new direction to western trade, which flowed and will continue to flow along the line of least resistance, with the result that Canada has gained a large share of the trade which the port of New York has lost. The trade of the port of Montreal has increased immensely; last year according to the Montreal harbour returns, the results were phenomenal.

Our astute neighbors to the south observed this quite as soon as we did and have taken immediate steps to improve their transportation routes for the purpose of recovering the trade which has been diverted to Canada. So long as the Erie canal was able to compete with the railways in handling freight just so long was the state of New York supreme in matters of commerce. It was the Erie canal that determined the rates not only between Buffalo and New York but Chicago and the seaboard with great profit to the farmers and producers of the west.

And to-day the Erie canal is being improved at an expense of $100,000,000. It is estimated by the Canal Improvement Committee that the enlargement of the Erie canal as now proposed will reduce the cost of transportation through that canal to one-third the present figures. The Trent valley waterway by reason of its superior advantages should be able to improve on this and thus remove for the present at least all fear of successful competition by the Erie route. Our canal boats will carry 35,000 bushels against their 8,000 bushels, and the distance from Lake Superior is 727 miles shorter to Liverpool via Midland and Montreal than it is via New York, which shows conclusively our advantages by this development over our American neighbors.

These are potent reasons why this government should act with energy. We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that our American rivals have entered into a gigantic enterprise, not only for the purpose of serving the interest of that country, not only to prevent Canada from capturing any more of their carrying trade, but to recover that which they have already lost, as well as to acquire that originating in Canada; and I fully believe that object will be attained unless we Canadians at once recognize our responsibilities and do what we can to prevent such a misfortune.

Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach a sermon to the Masonic fraternity at Uxbridge on Sunday next.

FIVE KILLED IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

IMPERIAL EXPRESS RAN INTO A FREIGHT TRAIN AND FIVE WERE KILLED.

The Governor General and Party were on the Train but Escaped Injury—Those who were Injured.

Special to the Review.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2—A terrible accident to the Imperial Limited took place at Sintaluta, one station east of Indian Head, last night. The express ran into an open switch and crashed into a freight train, which was standing there. Five were killed and five were wounded. They were all travelling in the tourist car. Only one body has been identified, that of Mrs. Dossett, who was en route to Edmonton. The Governor-General and Lady Minto and party were on the train in their special car, but they escaped without injury, and proceeded westward.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—The five passengers killed, together with those injured, were all on the same tourist car. Mrs. Dossett's three young children escaped unhurt. The injured are Mrs. J. Beckett, Miss Goldin, Miss Murray, Mr. Ira Ross and L. F. Hart, the porter of the car. Hart is the only one seriously injured. Three doctors were on the ground soon after the accident. The Vicoregal party resumed their journey at 3 a.m.

STREET CAR OPERATION

HOW THE RAILWAY WILL BE RUN ACCORDING TO AGREEMENT.

Information Regarding Intervals and Fares and Baggage — Special Rate for School Children.

The Review has been asked to publish for the enlightment of the public, the following extract from the agreement between the Radial Railway Company and the Town, relating to the operation of the street railway:—

The company shall operate and run its cars on its lines in the town of Peterborough from the hours of 6 a.m., until the hour of 11 p.m., of each day, (except Sunday). Between the hours of 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. the cars shall run on George, Lake, (between George and Lock), Lock, Smith (between George and Water) Charlotte, Park and Water streets at intervals of not more than fifteen minutes; and on the rest of the line now or hereafter constructed in the Town of Peterborough and at other times, at intervals of not more than 20 minutes, but the company shall be permitted to operate its cars more frequently if it shall see fit. Provided that when the population of the Corporation reaches 20,000 and thereafter the cars shall commence to run at 5.30 a.m., and run until 12 midnight, and at such intervals as the Corporation Engineer, with the approval of the Municipal Corporation, may from time to time determine, but shall not be compelled to give any more than a ten minute service.

In operating the railway the cars shall stop at the further crossing of intersecting streets, and the body of the car shall not stop on or overany intersecting streets, and cars shall not be left on any street at any time unless waiting for passengers.

The fares to be charged by the Company over any line within the town or the extension in North Monaghan shall be as follows: Ordinary fares, including transfers, not to exceed 5 cents each, or 25 of such tickets for $1.00; working persons' tickets to be used between 6 and 8 o'clock a.m., and 11 noon and 1 p.m., and 5 and 6.30 p.m., shall be at the rate of 6 tickets for 25 cents; tickets for school children shall be issued in non-transferrable form to all children attending the public, separate and high schools, upon a written order from the Principal of the school which the scholar attends, such tickets to be used during school sessions only, and forfeited is transferred, said school tickets to be issued at the rate of 10 for 25 cents. Children of six years of age and under, unaccompanied by an adult, to pay three cents, if accompanied by an adult to be carried free.

The tariff of charges and fares shall be kept posted up in all cars on the railway.

Transfers shall be given over all lines in the Town of Peterborough, and the extension to the River tOona-bee free of charge, passengers' hand baggage unchecked on all cars going to points outside town shall be carried free of charge; checked baggage under 100 pounds to be charged 10 cents, and for each additional 50 pounds 5 cents for any one passenger, and over that weight to be charged at the same rates as the steam railways charge for express baggage; charges for freight shall not exceed those charged by the G.T.R. or C.P.R. for a similar class of freight for the same distance.

The conductor shall be required to announce to passengers the names of streets and public squares as the cars reach them.

VISITORS IN TOWN

Party from Norwood and Hastings Enjoyed Trip Around Stony Lake

Last night Mr. H. G. Buck came down from Stony Lake with his yacht, which he is taking to Hastings to its winter quarters. He had on board Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Kirkpatrick, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss Lillie, Mr. and Mrs. J. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bork, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Patterson, Mr. Hermie Nicholl and Mr. and Mrs. W. Carbrey, of Norwood; and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buck and Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson of Hastings. The party have enjoyed a pleasant sail around the lakes, and left here at eleven o'clock this morning, expecting to reach Hastings some time tomorrow.

FIRST RUNAWAY REPORTED

Up to the present the horses in town are not taking unkindly to the street cars, and yesterday the first runaway was reported, and it was a case of negligence on the part of the driver, who left the horse standing on George street and went into a store to do some shopping. He heard the car coming, and ran out, only to see the rear end of the rig disappearing up Hunter street, near Coughlin's marble works. The horse was running at a good rate of speed, but some men managed to get it stopped before any damage was done. People should be careful in leaving their horses along the streets now, as they are naturally timid of the cars.

CURRENT ITEMS OF PASSING INTEREST

SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

There seems to be developing among the ratepayers of town what will undoubtedly prove to be a rather vigorous kick in regard to sewer construction. "What I object to as a ratepayer," remarked a citizen this morning, "is that in some cases sewers are not rushed through, and not necessarily in a careless manner quickly as possible. Now, for instance, I can show you cases where only two or three men have at times been employed on an important section of sewer, while other things important from a citizen's point of view had to be stood off until it was completed. I am not complaining against any one contractor, because I believe such a thing has developed into a bad habit and become general. I have always understood, further, that the sewer inspector was only to be on the ground while the pipes were being laid, and not, as in cases I have known, while the excavation was in progress. Of course, he draws his pay, and in sections where one ratepayer has a large frontage the bill comes rather high while the work is protracted. Another thing I would like to ask is this: When a contractor has the job for building sewers in more than one section of the town, is it impossible for him to do more than one piece at a time? It seems to me that where this is the case some of the people who want sewers immediately are not likely to get them before the frost sets in, and hence not until next summer. If there is a Sewer Committee, I think these things ought to be properly adjusted immediately.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

Peterborough is faking on city airs. In fact, she has been doing this for several years, and her latest triumph is the street railway, and it comes as a finishing stroke. That "underground street railway" touch has now become a thing of the past. It is wonderful what life the operation of the railway has created. For the first few days of test it brought to light more youngsters than could be concentrated in one spot by any other cause, outside of a show of some kind. Some of those youngsters were several times over the line the first day the car put in an appearance, and there was just enough variety in the appearance of those youngsters to make this mad rush interesting. But now, when the cars are running regularly the novelty remains, but the little people always have the necessary nickels. It all suggests that when extensions have been completed a trolley party to some of the parks would be mighty popular. Even a belt line of fair length would be a popular ride, for at the present both young and old people are treating themselves to trips. Apart from this the railway is already proving an accommodation to those who live at a distance from the centre of the town. The service is a good one, considering the number of cars which the Company have at the present time available, and it will be improved considerably when the new cars arrive from Ottawa. The equipment of the cars is in every way efficient, a somewhat striking feature at night being the electric headlight. The Railway Company have all kinds of electric power, and the running of the cars has nothing fitful about it.

NOTHING WRONG HERE.

Everything these days goes to show that this town is strung up to the proper tension of nineteenth century civilization. The broad smile of prosperity beams over all, and the community is undoubtedly in a contented frame of mind. The street cars are running, the Peterborough Fair is coming, houses are rushing up, merchant princes are returning from buying trips in the old country, and there is no glut of would-be workingmen hanging round the corners. Even the dogs on the streets are having their days, and a desire to contribute to the general commotion was shown last night by a canine on Hunter st. There was nothing particularly wrong with the animal, only he would have been fortunate had he been born in society and had his tail cropped the regulation length. In the ordinary course of events that night the dog's caudal appendage became attached to a tin can. There is nothing fiendish about a tin can, but the dog mistook it for something infernal and manifested his horror by torpedoing the street and emitting a prolonged series of blood-curdling yelps that called every dog in the neighborhood to the scene. Trouble was lurking about the outside edge of the canine congregation and one dog jostled another with the result that a general fight ensued. In the scrap the dog and can became separated and when the dust had cleared away the canine fraternity had been restored to its usual degree of quietude, and things went along as usual. (And all this enforces the impression that this here town is all right.

LITTLE PEOPLE HELPING

In the Work of the Childrens' Aid Society.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, receives many evidences of the hearty co-operation of citizens in the work of the institution which has done so much for the young folks, but the following letter shows that not only older citizens but little people as well regard it with kindly interest:

Peterborough, Sept. 1, '04.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, Agent C. A. S., Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—On the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 30, we three little girls held a children's bazaar on the lawn of Mr. Gumpricht, Aylmer st. The grounds were very prettily decorated, the day was fair, and the sale of candies and small fancy articles was very liberally patronized by our friends. With the proceeds, we have bought this flannelette, which we ask you to accept on behalf of the Society which you so worthily represent. We trust it may be of use to you in making clothing for the poor little ones under your charge, and we hope that some other girls will try some way to help you. We are in full sympathy with your good work and we wish you much success.

DAMAGE DONE AT C. G. E.

THE COMPOUND DEPARTMENT WAS GUTTED BY FIRE THIS MORNING.

The Contents of the Building Valued at $30,000 and Loss may Reach that Figure—Firemen had a Stubborn Fight.

At five o'clock this morning the heavy profundo whistle of the Canadian Demarel indicated in a manner more vigorous than is the case under ordinary circumstances that something was wrong, and there was hardly a citizen who was not made aware of this fact. The compound building was in flames. This locality had on two or three previous occasions been the scene of a stubborn fight between the firemen and an element which, encouraged by material of a highly inflammable character, threatened to do damage of a serious nature to the building in which it was confined and to other surrounding. The firemen were promptly on hand this morning and it was immediately seen that they had a stiff proposition to deal with. The compound department is in building No. 4, a structure 272 feet long, of which it takes up one half, the other being occupied by the wiring department. The name of the locality in which the fire occurred is suggestive of its purpose, for it is there that large pots of a compound containing asphaltum and other substances easily ignited are almost constantly kept boiling in the preparation of a material used extensively in the wiring and other departments. It appears that this morning the pots suddenly burst into flame. The workmen in the building immediately made use of available appliances to cope with such an emergency, and in the meantime an alarm was sent in to the town station. The Canadian General has a well organized fire brigade and the men on hand this morning did good service, and proved a splendid auxiliary to the town firemen. The latter attacked the fire with five strong streams, and after an hour's fighting got the flames under control and finally extinguished them. It appeared for a time an unequal contest for the consuming element raged furiously and it was only after most persistent and well directed efforts that the firemen secured the upper hand.

The Compound Department is now gutted. When asked the amount of damage this morning, Mr. Patterson, the superintendent, stated that no definite estimate had as yet been made. The contents of the department, including all that was in process of manufacture, was valued at $25,000, and the damage may reach that amount. The loss is covered by insurance. The work of restoration will begin as soon as possible. Mr. Patterson states that he considers the action of the fire brigade as most praiseworthy. He has written the following letter of appreciation:

The Review, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I desire on behalf of our Company to express our appreciation and thanks for the prompt and efficient services rendered by the local firemen at the fire in one of our buildings this morning, also to testify to the constant pressure maintained by the water works, which pressure is always maintained by them when a fire occurs.

I also desire to express on behalf of the Company our thanks to the kind friends and employees who assisted.

Yours truly,

E. G. PATTERSON,
General Superintendent, Canadian General Electric Company, Limited.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

Solemnized at St. Luke's Church Yesterday Afternoon.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large number of guests and friends, when Edith Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. Pratley, of town, was united in wedlock to Mr John Beverley of Lawrence, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., while the wedding march was capably rendered by Mr. John Armstrong. The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. Henry Potter and Edwin Curtis.

The bride, who was gowned in a costume of white silk muslin, trimmed with white baby ribbon, valenciennes lace and chiffon, and who carried a bouquet of white roses, was given away by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Pratley, sister of the bride, who was gowned in a dress of champagne voile trimmed with blue ribbon and lace and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr G. G. Pratley officiated as groomsman and little Queenie McIntyre acted as flower girl and carried a basket of flowers.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party and guests were driven to the home of the bride's father, No. 155 River Road, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. The tables were artistically decorated with flowers and smilax and the other decorations consisted off ferns and flowers.

The wedding presents formed a large and handsome array and were eloquent tributes to the estimation by friends of the excellent qualities of the bride and groom. About forty-five guests were present.

—A party of seventy newspaper men from Montreal passed through on the 5.10 train this afternoon for the St. Louis Exposition.

SAW GOOD POWER PLANTS

AN ORILLIA NEWSPAPER MAN'S LONG TRIP IN A CANOE.

Visited the Power Plants of the Canadian General and the Otonabee Light & Power Co.

The Orillia Packet this week has a most interesting account of a canoe trip by a member of its staff, from Orillia to Hastings. The following extracts may be of interest here:—

One feature of the trip of particular interest to Orillians was the power and light plants passed along the route, of which there were a number. We inspected particularly the plants of the Otonabee Power and Light Company, and the Canadian General Electric Company, near Peterborough. Comparing with them our own municipal plant at Ragged Rapids, one could not fail to be struck by the smoothness with which they worked, and with their finished appearance. Each had a machine capacity of fifteen hundred horse power, but both had difficulty in securing enough water to generate this amount. The two plants are so arranged that if either breaks down the other can attach to its wires, and do its work. The current is generated and transmitted at 6,600 volts. The General's plan cost, we were told, $460,000. It is hard to see value for a quarter of that sum. Yet the plant is very complete and perfect—a sort of model of what a plant should be. Though the water was ten feet high along the wall of the power house, not a drop leaked through the concrete, which was not even damp. We saw a large amount of concrete work, and a great number of dams, but none in which the work looked anything like that of the Ragged Rapids. While the locks are of solid masonry or cement, most of the dams have been constructed of wood, by lumbermen, but, except at Fenelon Falls and Burleigh Falls, none have anything like the head of water found at the Ragged Rapids, the average height being ten to fifteen feet. Competition between the three companies that supply Peterborough with the light and power, has brought the price of lighting down far below Orillia's municipal standard, and we were told of houses supplied with twenty-five lamps for $15 a year, or with fifteen lamps for $10. Up to the advent of the third company the rates were higher than Orillia's, and there is now a likelihood of an advance. But in the meantime electricity has been pretty generally adopted for lighting.

To revert for a paragraph or two, to the route from a canoeist's standpoint, it makes a capital trip, full of interest and free from the heavy labor of long portages. While some of the lakes are large, they are either narrow or are broken up with islands, so that there is little difficulty in navigating them in a canoe, even when winds are strong and contrary. We were able to make some progress every day, in spite of several hard blows. The map issued by the Grand Trunk Railway in connection with its Kawartha Lakes folder is a sufficient Guide, if occasionally supplemented by local enquiries. These latter must be taken cautiously, however, and it is often astonishing how little people know of the county five or six miles from their own door. We were given estimates of the distance between two points, ranging all the way from one to twenty miles, and in another case from three to seventeen miles. It is really surprising how help the may in question is, in indicating compass direction, channels, etc., and in case of a difference between local information and the map stick to the map. Mr. Rogers, Superintending Engineer of the canal, is preparing a map of the route which will doubtless be more elaborate and more exact; but for canoeing purposes we found the G.T.R.'s map quite sufficient.

"Which is the prettiest of the chain of lakes?" That is a question on which there is evidently difference of opinion, else there would not be cottages along them all, often in most unexpected places. One old gentleman, on whose shore we stopped to empty the water from our canoe after crossing Pigeon Lake in a heavy sea, had no doubts on the subject, and declared in no uncertain manner that "that this is the best lake on the route." Apparently there are not many who agree with him. I myself shall not venture an opinion, but shall hope that my readers may ere long have an opportunity of judging for themselves. Meantime a loyal Orillian can have no hesitation in awarding the palm over them all to our own lovely Couchiching.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 2, 1904.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Hamilton Hotelman Runs Amuck With a Butcher Knife.

Hamilton, Sept. 2.—Yesterday afternoon Joe Armstrong, proprietor of the Macassa House, whose license was cut off, walked into Rans Wilson's livery stable on Charles street with a long butcher knife, and asked Harry McCamis, a hostler, if he was prepared to defend himself. He then made a lunge at McCamis, according to the story told to the police, but McCamis dodged, picked up a neck-yoke and knocked Armstrong down. The hostler and others tried to disarm the hotelman, but he clung desperately to the knife and, in the struggle, McCamis got a nasty cut under his eye, and Armstrong's ear and face were slashed. He was so badly used up with cuts and bruises that he had to be taken straight to the hospital, where he is under arrest, with a policeman guarding his cot. The charge against Armstrong is attempted murder.

Scotchman's Day.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday was Scotchman's Day at the Canadian National Exhibition. All the Scottish societies were represented, and a program of genuine old Caledonian games was carried out in front of the grand stand. The Army and Navy Veterans presented the Black Watch with an appropriate address, and it was feelingly replied to by Major Ross. In keeping with the day the speeches at the directors' luncheon were entirely Scottish. Rain spoiled the evening performance in front of the grand stand.

More Charges.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—North Perth Conservatives filed yesterday three additional charges against John Brown, in effect, that he by and through Dr. Corcoran and Barrister McDonald offered William Hedley $5 for his vote. The others that R. T. Harding and Bailiff Thomas Tobin gave one Allen money to buy drinks, and that License Inspector John Carey offered John Whitelock $15 for his vote.

Cost Him Seat $70.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Hugh Clarke, M.P.P., for Centre Bruce, was examined for discovery in connection with the Centre Bruce protest before Special Examiner Boomer yesterday. He testified that his election cost him but $70, and that the vote came out spontaneously.

Published on Monday.

London, Sept. 2.—(C.A.P.)—Goldwin Smith's "My Memories of Gladstone" will be published on Monday.

Public Ownership.

Brantford, Sept. 2.—Last night, under the auspices of the Trade and Labor Council, W. F. Maclean, M.P., addressed an audience in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on public ownership. He elucidated the underlying principle of the policy, which was to increase the number of public utilities and public conveniences and distribute them to the greatest number of people. Hearty applause and a vote of thanks testified to Mr. Maclean's success in convincing his audience.

Will of Late J.J. Long.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Although the solicitors for the estate of the late J. J. Long decline to give any information, it is said that the will disposes of an estate of from one to one and one-half millions. The executors are Thomas Long and J. M. Hopkins, bookkeeper for the firm for a great many years.

Two Headed Symbols.

Both Russia and Germany display two headed eagles on their standards. Yet this symbol is considered by some heralds to be merely the result of the heraldic practice of "dimidiation." This was simply a child's way of impaling two coats of arms on the same shield by the primitive method of cutting each in half and taking the dexter half of one and the sinister half of the other and placing them back to back, as it were. Strange two headed beasts naturally resulted, as, for instance, when a lion and an eagle were halved and joined together. The griffin is supposed to have been evolved from two lions rampant by dimidiation. It robs the two headed eagle of half its terrors to know that it owes its origin to this sort of child's play.

JEKYLL AND HYDE BEATEN

ONE MAN POSED AS THREE PERSONALITIES.

His Undoing was the Jealousy he had Caused by Superseding a Young Man in the Affections of a Woman.

New York, Aug. 31.— "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," has been outdone in real life in New York by an humble bank cashier. In the tale one man had two personalities. In the case in real life one man posed as three separate personalities—had three wives, three names, three homes—and was caught at last by bungling in a bit of forgery.

Friends and acquaintances of Louis Bense of West Forty-eighth street; Leon Barrie, of Twenty-first street, and Louis Barut, of East Nineteenth street, on assembling and comparing notes, have discovered that one individual bore all these names and had a different home under each name.

This became known when the young man admitted a few facts concerning his identity. He is now confined in the prison attached to the East Fifty-seventh street court, accused of obtaining upon forged cheques about $25,000 from the firm of Pendas & Alvarez, cigar importers, for which he acted as cashier.

It is not believed that he has told all the truth about himself, and he may have been more than a triple personality, but before he is examined by Magistrate Whitman in the Yorkville court next Thursday morning, it is possible that other names and other residences may be disclosed.

At each of these three addresses he posed as a young man of means, whose connection with a large tobacco house enabled him to enjoy life, and his statement that he was about to run over to Paris for a little outing, and that he was going to Cuba to inspect certain tobacco plantations, were implicitly believed by each circle of acquaintances.

His undoing was the jealousy he had inspired by superseding in the affections of a young woman a young man less favored in looks and money. Needless to say, through the young woman the rival had learned enough when to play his trump card. Beaten in Cupid's game by the prepossessing Bense, or Barrie, or Barut, this defeated swain promptly notified the firm that their stylish young representative was about to go abroad. The firm, however, knew this, for Bense, or Barrie or Barut, had tendered his resignation, and told the members of the firm with the greatest assurance that he had come into a legacy from a wealthy relative in France, and was going home to enjoy it; but the manner in which the second notification of their employe's intended departure came to them led the firm to put an expert on the books.

Soon it was found, it is alleged, that Bense had opened accounts with two trust companies, but under fictitious individual names, had deposited $25,000, had withdrawn $12,000 and that therefore the balance of the firm of Pendas & Alvarez, as shown by their own bank books, did not totally with the balance indicated by their bank's ledgers. The arrest of the young man followed.

At each of the three places of residence where the prisoner spent a part of each week, astonishment was shown when it was learned that he had other cognomens and other homes.

His frequent absences from each place were explained as due to his business necessitating his making trips to other nearby cities, but it was remarked that it was quite surprising how he could have dodged the circle of acquaintances who knew him by one name when he mingled with another circle of acquaintances who knew him by a different name, only a few blocks away.

The prisoner by his pleasant manner charmed all the three households where he claimed an abode.

CHAPTER XVIII.

AGAIN THE UNEXPECTED.

AFTER the night riding at which I failed and Brainard succeeded we spent several days in worrying the enemy on our front, but when several cavalry dashes on a single day proved to us that the enemy had become weary of us and had abandoned the vicinity we all went back to camp and began to do our spring housecleaning. This work was greatly needed, for only the make believe sick men had occupied the camp in the last fortnight, and they made the place look like a lot of houses that had been abandoned to tramps. Indeed, in later days I've been compelled to believe that the war was the origin of the great army of tramps that has invested and infested the country ever since 1865.

After careful inspection our colonel decided that the best way to have a clean camp was to make a new one, so he formally asked for ground for the purpose, but the general said that all the troops at the post would have to make new camps elsewhere very soon, for since our trouble with Longstreet the war department had determined that the post was not worth the cost of holding it. Further, General Halleck, the president's right hand military adviser, declared that he could not understand why the post was ever occupied.

When this information reached us, all of us were amazed and disgusted. We had gone out almost a year before to help save the Union. We had spent all our time and suffered innumerable discomforts, privations and fears. Now, according to the highest authorities, we might as well have remained at home. Cloyne, Brainard and I held an indignation meeting over it, and Cloyne moved formally that we join the Mick McTwyny gang and assist big Pat Callahan in cursing the government, but Brainard objected, saying that governments, being human, had to learn some things by experience, and as on general principles I always sided with Brainard, Cloyne's resolution was voted down by a two-thirds majority.

Meanwhile preparations for evacuating the post had been made. The heavy artillery was removed, one regiment after another followed it, and finally there came an early July morning when we were informed we were to pack our own effects at once and be ready to abandon camp.

Up to that time we had supposed that our effects were only what could be carried on our horses, but some of us soon learned to our sorrow that we had accumulated enough stuff to load half a dozen horses. I, for one, had collected at least a ton of war relics, ranging in weight from a Johnny's iron stirrup to unexploded shells and solid shot weighing a hundred pounds. All of this old iron lay in a row on the topmost log of our room and directly over the inner edge of my bunk. I tried to bribe teamsters to provide transportation; I even labored with the sergeant of our howitzer battery, hoping to coax him to carry them in unoccupied corners of his gun caissons, but he, too, was obdurate—he had baggage of his own—so I had to content myself by selecting a single three inch shell that could go in my box of extra clothing without exciting suspicion by its weight.

One day the entire regiment except the stable orderlies were ordered on picket, the reserve station of which was the main street of the village. At 4 o'clock in the morning the pickets, instead of being relieved, were entirely withdrawn, and the relief was posted within a quarter of a mile of the main body of the regiment. The men on these new posts were relieved at 8 in the morning by members of a single troop, which happened to be our own. From the new outposts—I was the corporal in charge of one and Brainard of another—we were soon drawn in to camp.

On entering camp the order was given to prepare to fire the houses, stables, etc. The signal, the officers told us, would be the fall of the camp flagstaff, at which a man with an ax already stood, while the entire band, mounted, stood near by, playing "Auld Lang Syne." To prepare for firing camp was simple enough. It was merely to "stand by" with matches ready to light, for every bunk was of pine and contained a mattress full of hay, straw or leaves that had been well sunned and seasoned. The walls were of pine, and so were the roofs. No plaster or partitions could delay the spread of flame, and everything was as dry as a July sun could make it.

Down crashed the pole, hundreds of matches cracked, and the band began playing some solemn music, familiarly known as "Old Hundredth," and then dashed into "There's No Luck About the House," for "A Hot Time In the Old Town" had not yet been written. In a moment all the men were hurrying to the stables, where the horses stood all saddled. Orders had already been given to dash to the road as soon as mounted; the guidon bearers were already there as rallying points for the men of their respective troops. Already flames poured from the windows of all the houses and even from some of the roofs. The remaining hay in camp had been thrown by the stable orderlies upon the pine brush roofs of the stables. The instant a stable was entirely cleared of horses the roof was lighted and the fire quickly spread.

The spectacle that followed was as good as a fight, so some of our best fighting men said. At least 60 buildings were aflame, and 600 mounted men were dashing between and around them in their effort to reach the road. Some of the slower men were obliged to make a detour of half a mile, for the heat of that aggregation of burning pine was intense, even to men already in the road.

Finally, however, when the orderly sergeants called the rolls, the entire command was present or accounted for. The column was formed quickly. Then the bugles sounded "forward," and the band once more did the appropriate thing, for it played "Ain't I Glad to Get Out of the Wilderness?" a popular air of the period. But before half a dozen bars had been played the music ceased and the column halted instinctively, for we heard a shot like that of a field gun.

"Fours about!" shouted our captain. As we were the rear guard, the men who had dropped behind in rear guard skirmish had already turned their horses and brought their carbines to the position of "advance."

"Look sharp!" said the captain. "Find the direction from which the next shot comes."

The instant we heard another report we saw a mass of shingles go skyward from the roof of our troop's house.

Ivy Poisoning.

Country Life says that all the drugs in the world will not prevent a bad case of poisoning from poison ivy or sumac unless one does something as soon as the telltale itching begins. When the pustules break open, there is nothing to do but "grin and bear it." The remedy advised is extract of grindelia, which should be always kept in the house. Rub on the affected parts every five minutes till the trouble is averted.

Readmasking in New Ontario.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—"Good Roads" Commissioner Campbell is much pleased with the progress in the Temiskaming country, where about 60 miles of wagon road will be completed this year, at a cost of $40,000. The settlers were given an opportunity to work last winter, about 50 miles of chopping being done. There are now 200 miles of road open in Temiskaming Valley.

Bright Fears Chamberlain.

London, Sept. 2.—Allan Bright, M. P., speaking at the Liberal Association meeting at Tarporley said it was not only protection they had to fight, but Chamberlainism, which was far worse. Chamberlainism meant Imperialism, and Imperialism meant at home and abroad the exaltation and domination of the strong crushing the weak, the reign of brute force and the sacrifice of right.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL

King Edward Has Approved Appointment of Earl Grey.

London Press Opinions—Daily Chronicle Says Canada Will Be Pleased With Him—Daily News "We Cannot Imagine a Selection More Disadvantageous to the Empire"—The Times "Earl Grey Combines the Essential Qualities of Success."

London, Sept. 2.—King Edward has approved the appointment of Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada, in succession to the Earl of Minto.

The Daily Chronicle, referring to the appointment of Earl Grey to succeed the Earl of Minto, says that in all Imperial problems he has a keen interest and his practical experience as Administrator of Rhodesia in its early days enables him to understand the colonial point of view. By rank, integrity and knowledge of affairs and devotion to the public welfare Earl Grey is thoroughly qualified for the great task imposed on him. Canada will be pleased with her new Governor-General.

The Daily News says the appointment of Earl Grey is another indication of the hold South African influences have obtained over the Government. As an administrator he will find himself pretty closely tethered, but, unfortunately for the Empire the Canadian constitution is not entirely proof against opportunities for mischief-making and as a jingo and a Chamberlainite Earl Grey may be trusted to make the most of them. "Short of the appointment of Lord Milner, we cannot imagine a selection more entirely disadvantageous to the Empire."

The Standard says: "We may assume that Earl Grey will go to his duties with that inborn capacity for managing men which must always be the most valuable asset of anyone on whom falls the lot of representing the Crown in the great self-governing colony. He may be taken as the typical representative of that cautious type of aristocratic politician which by no means opposed to extensions of the franchise has no sympathy whatever with surrenders to violent agitation. Such a disposition should prove of much service in Canada when delicate questions of constitutional propriety comes before him for review.

The Times says: Earl Grey combines the essential qualities of success; an earnest belief in the Empire and an eminently conciliatory temper. He will hold the balance between parties and we doubt not will be able to maintain with firmness the position he, as representative of the Crown, is bound to maintain. He will be liked by French-Canadians as well as by English and will maintain cordial relations with the United States, while at the same time he will know how to treat those petulant demonstrations of a separatistic spirit which now and then in a few obscure quarters claim a certain notice. His African experience will lead him to look with sympathy on the expansion of the Northwest. He has what the professed politician often lacks—the gift of imagination necessary in the case of regions as large as the States ready for the plough. No problem will more appeal to Earl Grey's mind than the development of Canada as a field for British immigrants.

Preparing For Triennial.

Dublin, Sept. 2.—At yesterday's session of the executive committee of the International Sunday School Association a month of the time was taken up in framing plans for the triennial convention of the association, which is to be held at Toronto in July next.

Mother Also Succumbs.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Robert Funnell died from the burns and shock received in the accident at her home, 22 Mansfield avenue, on Monday night. Six children, the eldest aged 16, are left motherless.

SEND MESSAGE TO KING

French-Canadian Business Men Through the Archbishop.

Canterbury Asked to Assure His Majesty of the Good Results Which the Institution Under Which We Live Have Obtained For This Country and For the Different Races of the Dominion.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Yesterday, after a call at the flower show, the Archbishop of Canterbury, accompanied by J. Pierpont Morgan, Sir George Drummond, Bishop Carmichael, President George E. Drummond of the Board of Trade and others paid a short visit to the Bank of Montreal, where they were received by General Manager Clouston. There the most interesting incident of the day took place.

His Grace arrived in the Chambre de Commerce, where the leading French-Canadian business men had gathered. These Roman Catholic gentlemen delighted the head of the Church of England with the following address, read by President H. A. A. Brault: "The Chambre de Commerce is happy to unite with your flock and the citizens of Canada to tender to Your Grace our profound respects and our most sincere thanks for the honor of a well-appreciated visit to our chambre. Will Your Grace allow me to say that although we French-Canadians do not belong to your own faith, we believe in the one God, who wishes all His people to live in peace. You well understand His command and the broadness of your mind, of which you have given proofs, not later than a few days ago, when, in Quebec, you extolled the virtues and heroism of our missionaries, as well as those of the men of your own race. You are welcome among us, and may God preserve you and when you return home will Your Grace assure His Majesty our King of the good results which the liberal institutions under which we live have obtained for this country and for the different races of our dear Dominion."

His Grace in reply said that he heartily thanked the members of the Chambre de Commerce for their very kind words, spoken through their president. This reception would live long in his memory as one of the most welcome features of his visit to Canada, and above all he prayed that God would bless the Dominion and its people, and it was his earnest prayer that all would live in harmony and peace.

The City Hall and Board of Trade were likewise visited, also Notre Dame Church, where the Rev. Sons of St. Sulphice cordially welcomed the Archbishop and his friends.

Closed With Service.

The day's proceedings closed with a most impressive service at the English Cathedral, when the Archbishop delivered a very imposing address. His grace alluded to the fact that it was a strange thing to be 3,000 miles from home, but he met them here in their own field of work and could have a better appreciation of their labors. He also referred to the great resources and possibilities of Canada, which formed a support for the Empire and spoke of the great influence that the Church of England had in connection with the future of the Dominion.

Accident at D.R.A. Ranges.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—While shooting at the third range of the first stage of the Governor-General's match yesterday morning, the bolt of the rifle of Capt. Davidson, of the Q.O.R., blew out, striking Capt. C. K. Fraser, of the 53rd Sherbrooke Regiment, who was lying beside him. Capt. Fraser sustained a nasty cut on the right side of the head and on the hand, though fortunately the injuries are not of a serious nature. He was attended by Dr. Gardener.

Scores Phenomenally High.

Ottawa Rifle Range, Sept. 2.—The shooting yesterday in the first and second stage of the Governor-General's match was phenomenally high. Capt. Forrest, who made the top score, receives a D. A. R. silver medal.

Unknown Man Killed.

Port Arthur, Sept. 2.—The mangled remains of a man were found on the track at Murillo yesterday morning. There was found in his pocket $1.90, but nothing by which identification could be established.

Shot Through Heart.

Maxwell, Sept. 2.—Sandford Clemis, son of Robert Clemis, was found dead Wednesday near his home, shot through the heart. It is not known how it occurred, but it is thought to be a case of suicide.

Stubborn Skin Diseases.

Nothing is more discouraging than a case of eczema or salt rheum which refuses to heal. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment, however, you soon see that new skin is forming and the sore part is becoming smaller and smaller. The itching is entirely overcome after a few applications and you are given satisfactory evidence that a continuation of the treatment will bring a thorough cure.

ONLY A ONE-THIRD CROP.

Dominion Millers' Association Pessimistic About Ontario's Wheat.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association, held in the Board of Trade Council Chamber yesterday after noon, brought together about 75 members from all over the Province, and furnished an occasion for a general airing of pessimistic views regarding Ontario's crop outlook.

"The highest individual estimates given by any member of the 24 who have reported," said Mr. Shaw, "figures on three-quarters of a crop. Several went on but one-quarter, while most reports are on a basis of one-third."

Hedley Shaw President.

The election of officers for 1904 resulted: President, Hedley Shaw, Toronto; first vice-president, George Goldie, Ayr; second vice-president, S. W. Vogan, Walkerton; treasurer, William Galbraith, Toronto; Secretary, C. B. Watts, Toronto. W. B. Bailey (Hamilton), H. Barrett (Port Hope), J. I. A. Hunt (Toronto), M. M. Laughlin (Toronto), and H. N. Rice (St. Mary's), were chosen members of the executive.

On adjournment the members went to the fair grounds, where they were entertained by the directors.

CONSCIOUS FOR 5 MINUTES.

Mr. Blanchet, M.P., Was Taken From Grand Trunk Wreck Alive.

Richmond, Sept. 2.—Two bodies of Grand Trunk wreck victims yet remain unidentified. The man Bisson, who was supposed to be from Belœil, is apparently from La France, Mass., or Manchester.

Mr. Blanchet, M.P., when taken out of the wreck was still alive. He was attended by a priest who, while he lay on the grass near the wreck, gave him the last rites of the church. He was conscious for about five minutes.

The people of Richmond have done all they can to render aid to the injured. It is a peculiar fact that no women were killed.

While everyone appears to blame Conductor Atkinson it should be said that he has for years been considered one of the company's most careful and experienced conductors.

Official Statement.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 2.—Grand Trunk officials are emphatic in their declarations that the fact that two trains running to Richmond from almost opposite directions were both numbered alike, did not contribute in the slightest degree to the accident.

LEFT TO FATE.

Canadian Schooner Reports Fatality on Grand Banks.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 2.—The Canadian schooner Troop, Captain Fents, from the Grand Banks fishing grounds, reports that on August 20 Captain Zimmerman of the fishing schooner Coleraine reported having spoken a French barquentine, name unknown, 170 miles off Cape Race, with only three men left out of a crew of 34, the others having been lost while fishing with their dories. The French captain begged Captain Zimmerman to board his vessel and help him reach this port, but the weather was too stormy to permit compliance with this request, and it is feared that the French vessel and the remainder of her crew have perished.

An Eight-Year-Old Victim.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Kathleen Cockburn, eight-year-old daughter of M. J. Cockburn, 40 Delaware avenue, was instantly killed at noon yesterday by Carlton and College car No. 764, George Smith, motorman. She was crossing the road behind a furniture van, and did not see the approaching car. The car was running at full speed and struck the little girl on the left side, tearing the flesh from her face and terribly crushing her skull. Coroner Powell has issued a warrant for an inquest.

Man Mysterious Death.

Welland, Sept. 2.—Frank Arthur, who was working on one of the scows belonging to the dredge Chief, met a mysterious death while at work. It is supposed he was winding the pockets of the scow when the bar slipped and struck him. His body was found in the canal about an hour and a half afterwards.

Set Fire to a Barn.

Stratford, Sept. 2.—Wilson Dontater, the Indian charged with attempting to set fire to the barn of Jas. Stock, Inkora, on Aug. 21, and committed for trial by Police Magistrate O'Loane, appeared before Judge Barron yesterday morning. He was convicted and let off on suspended sentence.

City Threatened.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 2.—The city of Juarez, Mexico, across the river from El Paso, is threatened with destruction by fire. Already one block of the best business houses have been burned, and all efforts of the fire department have thus far been futile.

Killed in Powder Explosion.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Sept. 2.—By the explosion of 800 kegs of powder Wednesday in the Laflin and Rand Powder Works, near here, Leonard Blair was instantly killed, three others seriously injured, and considerable property destroyed.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Deliveries of live stock were large, 132 car loads, composed of 2000 cattle, 2265 sheep and lambs, 1600 hogs, and 160 calves.

In the shipping class of cattle, there was not a single good load of exporters at any price. There were a few odd lots picked out of some of the loads that sold for from $4.60 to $4.75.

As stated above, there were few good to choice lots offered, and for these the highest price quoted was $4.87½, which was paid by the Harris Abattoir Company. The other grades were much the same as on Tuesday, as will be seen by the sales quoted.

Deliveries of feeders and stockers were large. There were a few lots of good quality, and a large number of inferred mongrels from Eastern Ontario. The cattle of Ontario, judged by what is offered for sale on this market, are deteriorating during the past six years. It will be well for the Hon. John Dryden, minister of agriculture, to come and view the rubbish that is being offered on this market. Especially we would like him to see some of the bulls that have been used as sires, and are now being sold on this market at $1.75 per cwt.

There were a few lots of feeders, due to 950 pounds each, that sold at $3.20 to $3.75 per cwt; some medium, 700 to 800 pounds each, at $2.75 to $3.10, and common, 700 to 800 at $2.15 to $2.50.

Stockers, 500 pounds each, sold at $2.40 to $2.60, and some stock bulls at $1.50 to $1.75.

There were about 30 milch cows and springers offered, which sold from $30 to $51 each, the bulk going at $35 to $45 each.

Prices for veal calves have been firm all summer, with the exception of one or two markets. To-day they were firmer, as will be seen by the quotations of sales made.

The run was large but the demand was good, and notwithstanding the effort to lower prices, they were all wanted at quotations given below.

There was a fair delivery of hogs. Mr. Harris quotes selects at $5.00 and lights and fats at $4.75 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—800 cattle, 40 calves and 700 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the east end abattoir to-day. Trade was very dull, there being very little demand for butchers' cattle, but calves were in more demand, but some of them were very good. The highest price paid for cattle was 4c per pound, but some of the best were held for more, and from that down to 1¾c per pound for a lot of hard-looking small bulls. Calves sold at $2.50 to $7.00. Sheep at 3c to 3½c per lb. Lambs sold at $2.50 to $4.00 each, or 4c to 4¼c per lb. Fat hogs sell at 5c to 5¼c per lb.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 425 head; light demand; barely steady. Prime steers, $5.40 to $5.90; shipping, $4.60 to $5.25; butchers', $4.00 to $5.00; heifers, $3.50 to $4.75; cows, $2.75 to $4.25; bulls, $2.50 to $4.00; stockers and feeders, $2.75 to $3.85.

Hogs—Receipts, 2000 head; active and steady; unchanged.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2000 head; sheep steady; lambs 10c to 15c higher; lambs, $4.75 to $6.75; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; ewes, $3.75; sheep, mixed, $3.00 to $4.00.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Sept. 1.—Beeves—Receipts, 1573; no trade in live cattle. Nominally steady. Exports, 0 cattle.

Calves—Receipts, 270; steady to strong; veals, $6.50; fed calves, $5.00; buttermilks, $4.00; no westerns.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 3873; sheep quiet but steady; lambs slow but firm. Sheep, $3 to $4.25; culls, $1.50 to $2.50. Lambs, $5.25 to $7.00; culls, $4.00; Canada lambs, $6.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1200; steady. Pennsylvania and state hogs, $5.00 to $5.25.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Madoc, Ont., Sept. 1.—Nine hundred boxes of cheese were boarded. All sold at 9¾c.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 1.—To-day 1020 boxes of cheese were boarded, and all the stock was cleared at 9c.

Tweed, Ont., Sept. 1.—Five hundred boxes cheese boarded here to-night. All sold at 9 1-16c.

Good Weather Needed.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 2.—A little warmer weather prevails, but it is unsettled and showery, though not at all prohibiting harvesting operations. Apparently there is no immediate danger of frost, the thermometer Wednesday night registering 34 at West Selkirk as the lowest point. But good weather is indispensable to save the bulk of the wheat crop.

700 Tinsmiths on Strike.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—Seven hundred tinsmiths and sheet metal workers struck here yesterday for an advance of five cents an hour. Fifty firms are affected by the strike.

They Know It.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—ointments, suppositories and appliances—will not cure. The best of them only bring passing relief.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that removes the cause of Piles, hence, the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 2, 1904.

HONOR TO PETERBOROUGH

Col. Sgt. W. H. Moore Selected for the Bisley Team Next Year.

It is altogether probable that Peterborough will be represented on the Bisley team next year. Yesterday at the Rockcliffe ranges Col.-Sergt. W. H. Moore, in the Bisley aggregate scores, from whom the team is selected, made 310 points, while the highest made was 324 by Pte. W. G. Willoughby, of Australia, who is on his way home from Bisley. Col.-Sergt. Moore made 95 in this series, and in the Governor General's had 97 points in the first stage. Pte. G. Fitzgerald made 96 in this series and will also shoot in the second stage.

The Association closes to-morrow and the members from here will proceed direct to Barrie to-morrow evening to join the regiment there.

Mr. Jack Selby, formerly of the Times, but who has recently been in Ottawa, was in town to-day on his way to Toronto, where he has secured a good situation.

Mrs. Gertrude Holden and Mrs. Swift, of Rochester, who have been the the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones, 34 College-st., returned to Rochester yesterday.

Miss Caroline Turner, who has been the guest of Miss Beatrice Dutton for the past month, returns to her home in Brantford to-morrow. Miss Dutton will accompany her as far as Toronto and will spend a few days there.

Miss Wright, head milliner at Richard Hall & Son's, has returned from a three weeks' business trip to New York, while Miss Rose, head trimmer, Miss a Dawson and Miss Rose have returned from a three weeks' visit among the millinery establishments of Toronto.

Mr. G. E. Gilbert, who for the past twelve years has been connected with the freight office staff of the C.P.R. in town, left this afternoon for Lindsay, to take charge of the office there. He will make Lindsay his future place of residence, and thus Peterborough is losing a good citizen.

Lieut.-Col. J. S. Pugsley, who for some years has successfully filled the position of travelling evangelist for the Salvation Army in Canada, has received a change of appointment from Miss Booth. His new position is that of Provincial Officer for Central Ontario, with headquarters at Toronto.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

SPRINTING.

Fred. McGrath has again been winning honors in the sprinting world. In a telegram from Toronto to Mr. Williamson, of the Y.M.C.A., yesterday Fred states:—"Won quarter res, exhibition to-day for Y in fifty. Wet track." This means that Fred was the best men in a quarter mile race at Toronto exhibition.

LACROSSE.

The executive of the C.L.A. met last night and awarded Saturday's game to Brantford, and cancelled the certificate of Lambe and Querrie, who, it will be remembered, caused the disturbance. Without these two players the Tecumsehs may as well hang up their sticks, as they will be hard to replace this season.

It looks like Brantford again for the C.L.A. championship, although the Chippewas intend to give them a strong run. If the Chips win to-morrow the two teams will be tied, and the next games will be interesting.

The editor of the Hastings Star, who was some weeks ago deprived of an eye in a lacrosse match, has the following to say:—

Lacrosse is a game, which if liked, people grow very enthusiastic over and in small towns where the national game is played the whole populace, and others, who live miles away, turn out to witness. Those who enjoy lacrosse look upon football, cricket and baseball, as something "tame," while there are others who would not attend a lacrosse game at any price. The latter are generally those who believe a law should be passed, pre-sidering that the players risk their hibiting the playing of lacrosse, con-lives every time they enter a contest. This bad opinion of the game is due largely to the players themselves. We have failed to see a team yet but what there are one or two on it always prepared for trouble. This could be largely weeded out if competent referees were engaged and upon thier recommendation such players expelled. A part of the crowd are always partially to blame for there are always a few who encourage and are prepared to defend any dirty work, (a la Tecumseh-Brantford.) We have always enjoyed taking part in or witnessing a game, and during our ten years' experience have endeavored to keep it clean, but the loss of an optic in a game recently at Havelock, puts us down and out of the playing part.

(Doubtless many of the readers of the Star know of my recent accident, and just here I would like to correct the report that appeared in Peterborough, Havelock and other papers to the effect that Eastbrook's stick hit mine, and glancing off, hit me in the face. He did not try to hit my stock, and, besides the ball had been delivered and he could not reach the stick from where he stood. I heard the same person (on July 18th) boisterously speak of the dirty work he had done at Tweed, and what he would do when they met again; I learn from a reliable source that he threatened (at Havelock, on Aug. 5,) to lay a certain person out; and he left his position at one end of the field and deliburately slashed the writer in the face. I cannot believe that he intended to slash an eye out, but he certainly intended doing harm. I do not write this for spite or go begging for sympathy, but to correct a report that shields a person who does not try to play lacrosse as it should be played, and I intend at the next meeting of the T.V.L. Executive to make a request that this player be expelled.

To those who assisted me in my misfortune and those who expressed their sympathies, I wish to tender my sincerest thanks. I have found that "a friend in need is a friend indeed," and my belief furthered that in every heart there is love for its brother.—Editor.)

The T.A.S. team are now winners of the Trent Valley League by default. Havelock was ordered to play yesterday or today, but they have failed to make arrangements, and the T.A.S. are now winners. They do not wish to claim the game by default, and are willing to play off, but the repeated refusal of the Havelock team to arrange for a game will soon end the Havelock's hopes of any chance they may have of certain.

BASEBALL.

Lindsay Post:—In the last league game at home Lindsay took the Port Hopers into camp by, giving them a shut-out by 13—0. Lindsay played very snappy ball and everything that came their way was gobbled up as neatly as could be, while Port Hope let heaps of chances slip through their fingers. A team can never get along well and play good ball unless they all pull together. Port Hope are the opposite—the players could not agree and if the catcher gave a sign the pitcher would be sure to throw the wrong ball to him. The Port Hope players are getting too old to play ball, there being three or four with full grown moustaches on. Give the young fellows a chance. Although the game was all one-sided, the playing at times was good. "Carly" and "Cian" worked hard, "Carly" having 13 strike outs to Pethick's 5. Pethick, in the spectator's idea, is to——well, you know.

—Toronto News:—While in England Mayor Urquhart observed that the top dressing of concrete walks was darker than here, and upon inquiry found that coloring had purposely been mixed with the cement for the benefit of the eyesight of the pedestrians. The City Engineer says that similar treatment of the walks will be adopted here.

Any teams wishing to enter the mixed doubles will please notify the secretary not later than September 10th.

Owing to the short time left, each player is requested to arrange and play off their matches as quickly as possible.

THE RING.

San Francisco, Aug. 31— Jeffries next ring battle will probably be a six round affair with Jack O'Brien, in Philadelphia, or a ten round bout here. O'Brien's challenge has been accepted by Jeffries. The boiler maker can see no prospect of a championship bout and had made up his mind to accept some short fights.

BOWLING.

Owing to the rain, the match announced between the Bachelors and Benedicts did not take place last night. It has been decided to pull it off at 10 a.m. on Labor Day, and thus have an all-day tournament, as the afternoon is to be taken up by the club match between the President and Vice-President.

Sufficient players showed up last night that neither side could claim default. The following games were played:—

Rev. J. A. Wilson	J. Titterson
J. McClung	W. O'Brien
T. Pratt	S. Sharpe
R. M. Waddell	D. H. Moore
F. H. Dixon	R. J. Frost

PRISONER ESCAPED

John Potts Released Himself from Cobourg Goal.

John Potts, a prisoner in Cobourg gaol, escaped from custody last week. The Cobourg Sentinel-Star gives the following account of the escape:—John Potts, a denizen, of Brighton Township, whose deeds on several occasions have created trouble and expense for the administration of justice in these united counties, determined to relieve the community of his questionable presence and any additional cost of his maintenance in Cobourg gaol, by decamping for foreign parts on Tuesday afternoon last. In July he was sentenced under conviction for perjury (false swearing) in the County Judge's Criminal Court, and had served a month at hard labor in the common gaol, where he proved unusually agreeable and amenable to prison discipline, and was classed and treated by the gaol officials as a "trusty prisoner." So good was his conduct that the governor assigned him to assist the carpenter in repairing some buildings in the stable yard. But it was another case of misplaced confidence. On Tuesday, shortly before noon Potts succeeded in escaping through the garden into the country north of the gaol. The neighboring cornfields and woods were searched for the prisoner all day in vain by the gaol officers and county police. No trace of him has been found, and there can be no doubt he has gone into voluntary exile—left the county for the county's good. He is 45 years old and dark complexioned. He left behind him a new suit of clothes and some money in the warden's care. Having escaped from lawful custody he is just as liable to re-arrest in the United States as in Canada, wherever he may be located and identified, and if it is deemed advisable in the interests of justice, he may be brought back and sent to penitentiary. Perhaps it would be "a good riddance to bad rubbish" if more habitual law-breakers of the Potts silk could be induced to cross the American boundary line and stay on the other side without the intervention of the Extradition Act, and at no expense to the province and county."

Russians were safely away from Fort No. 6, the Japanese flag waved over it, several forts concentrated their fire on it, but the Japanese were compelled to retire.

Heavy fighting was heard by the Chinese on the night of Aug. 29.

Can't Find the Steamers.

London, Sept. 2.—The British cruisers of the Cape of Good Hope squadron have failed thus far to communicate with the Russian volunteer fleet steamers Smolensk and St. Petersburg, although Admiral Durnford's cruisers are constantly calling by wireless telegraphy, "Smolensk" and "St. Petersburg." The Russian commanders, it is asserted, may suspect this procedure to be a part of a plan of the Japanese to lure them within reach of their guns.

Warships at the Canaries.

Madrid, Sept. 2.—A telegram from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, announces that the military governor has received news of the arrival at Lanzarote Island (the most northeasterly of the Canary Islands) of several warships flying the Russian flag. The telegram says that the vessels sealed from steamers which were waiting there.

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."—MRS. FRANK BEYER, 22 S. Second St., Meriden, Conn.

Another case which proves that no other medicine in the world accomplishes the same results as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. After that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy wife within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, who is the pride and joy of my household. If every woman who is cured feels as grateful and happy as I do, you must have a host of friends, for every day I bless you for the light, health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought to my home. Sincerely yours, MRS. MAE P. WEARRY, Flat 31, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile let her write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all would-be and expectant mothers.

Rev. Father Whibbs Receives a Recognition of his Services.

Campbellford Despatch.—The gentlemen of St. Mary's R.C. church have for some time been contemplating some tangible expression of their good will and recognition of the untiring zeal and devotion of their beloved pastor. Accordingly a presentation was made in the form of a valuable young horse, an elegant rubber-tired buggy and complete equipment.

Since his advent to the parish Father Whibbs has endeared himself to all by his sacrificing devotion to the sacred and onerous duties appertaining to his vocation, and by his kindness and cordiality has gained the love and esteem of his large congregation. Accompanying the presentation were the well wishes of the donors, towards the long continuance of the pastorate of the reverend gentleman in Campbellford, their desire for health and happiness, and an earnest wish for his frequent enjoyment of their token of esteem.

Father Whibbs expressed his appreciation of their generosity and expression of good-will, and hoped for a continuance of the reciprocal relations of the past.

KUROPATKIN IN FULL RETREAT

A Report to this Effect has Reached St. Petersbnrg from the Seat of War.

Special to the Review

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 3.—A report has just been received here that Gen. Kuropatkin is in full retreat. The War Office admits that such a rumor has come from the seat of war but declares it is not official. The War Office declares it is still without official information in regard to the result of Kuropatkin's fight with Kuroki.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 3, 12:30—A bulletin just issued announces that Gen. Kuropatkin has assumed the offensive, massing his artillery and bombarding the Japanese Friday noon preparatory to an attack upon Gen. Kuroki's flanking army on the north side of the Taitse river.

TOKIO, Sept. 3.—The following despatch has been received here: "Headquarters of the Manchurian Army, Sept. 3, (9 a.m.) The remainder of the defeated Russians are making a stand outside the walls of Liaoyang. Our left and centre armies are attacking them."

TOKIO, Sept. 3.—A telegram from the front states that the Russians are gradually giving way before Field Marshall Oyama's assault. Gen. Kuroki has succeeded after desperate fighting in capturing an eminence overlooking the railway.

LIAOYANG A WATERLOO BATTLE IN PROGRESS

THE JAPANESE LOSSES GIVEN AT 25,000

Russian Losses Are Placed at 30,000--Kuropatkin Withdraws Main Portion of His Forces to Rigt Bank of Flooded Taitse River--Fire Rages at Liaoyang.

London, Sept. 3.—The Morning Post concludes a survey of the four days' fighting at Liaoyang with the opinion that the battle of Liaoyang will take its place beside that of Waterloo, and believes that "whether Kuropatkin's force is able to continue its retreat or not it will be broken and useless for some time to come."

The Russian view that Gen. Kuropatkin, by crossing the river, divided the opposing forces, meets with slight consideration, as it is pointed out that all the Japanese units can now attack simultaneously from different directions, which eliminates any advantage to the Russian side and really aggravates the seriousness of their position, the Japanese force being superior in numbers.

The suspense with which the developments at Liaoyang are awaited could be scarcely greater in Tokio than it is in London.

The Telegraph now admits that "it is not inconceivable that Kuropatkin may extricate a portion of his forces," though this is characterised as the "supreme effort of a forlorn hope."

The Standard bluntly voices the thought of all England, by saying "Is it retreat or rout?"

Cost It a Rout.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Military specialists treat the news from Liaoyang as indicating a great Russian reverse, that, with the railway northward cut, and bad roads, may be turned into a rout. As yesterday was being celebrated as the anniversary of the battle of Sedan, frequent allusions were made by editorial writers to the possibility of Liaoyang being the Sedan of the east, and parallels were drawn between the two situations. The semi-official North German Gazette alone regards Gen. Kuropatkin as saving his position by as skilful a retirement as possible.

JAPS LOSE 25,000.

Battle of Liaoyang Continues With Little Cessation.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The fighting at Liaoyang was continued until a late hour Thursday night. It was resumed at dawn yesterday. The fate of the great bulk of the retreating Russian army hinges upon the bravery and fortitude of its left flank.

Falling back, Gen. Kuropatkin, intended that his left to the eastward and northward of Liaoyang, should be greatly strengthened, in the hope of checking Gen. Kuroki's advance around his flank, and to protect his line of retreat and communication. The greatest portion of this protecting force seems to have been massed in the neighborhood of Hotyingtai, 12 miles northeast of Liaoyang, where it was fiercely assaulted by Gen. Kuroki at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. The result of this fighting is not known.

Casualty List Grows.

Nothing concerning the actual occupation of Liaoyang has been received here. Official despatches indicate that the Russians were still in possession of Liaoyang yesterday morning. The list of casualties in the fighting before Liaoyang is growing, and the indications are that it will prove to be the bloodiest battle since the Franco-Prussian war. The calculations of casualties must include the loss since Aug. 28, for the contest has been practically continuous since then. The Japanese have already reported over twenty-five thousand men killed and wounded.

Fires Rage at Liaoyang.

A private despatch received here reports that great fires are raging at Liaoyang. This statement is not confirmed officially. The fires are believed to have resulted from the Japanese shelling or from efforts of the Russians to destroy their stores previous to the evacuation of Liaoyang, with the additional hope of injuring the city as a future Japanese base.

Unofficial estimates place the Russian forces in the vicinity of Liaoyang at 15 divisions of 15,000 men each. These are probably excessive, but it is evident that, numerically, the Russians exceed the Japanese.

Russians Lose 30,000.

The opinion that the Russian casualties in the recent fighting will reach 30,000 is confidently expected in high quarters here. Neither Field Marshal Oyama nor the Japanese army commanders have yet estimated the Russian losses.

It seems that the Japanese avoided a direct assault upon Liaoyang itself, but devoted their energies to the troops outside the city, and an effort to cut off the Russian retreat. Liaoyang is strongly fortified, and it is probable that the Japanese will not attack the city directly until they have succeeded in isolating it. Should the Russians abandon Liaoyang, the Japanese will, of course, enter.

Liaoyang Burns.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—It is reported here that a conflagration is raging at Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg Worried.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—The text of the despatch sent to the Emperor by Gen. Kuropatkin Thursday evening, the gist of which, as given by the War Office, was cabled by the Associated Press at 4.50 Friday afternoon was not made public Friday night as expected. It was promised to the local press, and was awaited with feverish impatience until two o'clock in the morning, when it was announced that it would be issued to-day. All the public, therefore, as far as [illegible] concerned, is contained in telegrams from foreign sources, and there is painful suspense awaiting news from Russian sources. Continued and dogged confidence in Gen. Kuropatkin is expressed in many quarters, and the public generally, as well as many of the military authorities, refuse to believe that Liaoyang has been abandoned, or if it has been abandoned, that Gen. Kuropatkin is not in a better position to make a strong stand north of the Taitse River.

Kuropatkin Reports.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—At four o'clock yesterday afternoon the War Office received a despatch from Petershoff, sent to the Emperor Thursday night by Gen. Kuropatkin, dated 5 p.m. Thursday. As transmitted to the War Office for publication, the information is extremely meagre and only reveals the truth in the light of the interpretation of those who are conversant with the situation at Liaoyang. It is possible that this is justifiable on strategic grounds. As communicated to the press, the despatch states that an artillery battle proceeded till the hour of sending it, and that the Russians were retiring upon their "main positions," that Gen. Kuroki was attacking the Russian left north of the Taitse River, that the railroad station, which is situated a mile southwest of Liaoyang, had been set on fire by Japanese shells, that the telegraph station had been transferred across the river to a point on the north bank, that Kuropatkin had passed in review the third Siberian corps under Gen. Ivanoff, which suffered greatly in the earlier stages of the battle on the east front and finally that the Russian losses for two days were 8,000 killed or wounded.

Blown Up By Mines.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—Admiral Hosoya, commanding the third Japanese squadron, reports that last Wednesday morning a number of vessels weighed from Port Arthur and engaged in clearing away mines. The Japanese watched their operations from seaward. At 2.35 p.m. a steamer struck a mine and was blown up. The disaster occurred one mile below Chengtumshan, and it was plainly visible. The number of lives lost is unknown.

AROUND THE WORLD.

British Columbia Canoe Sighted Off Beachy Head.

Dover, Eng., Sept. 3.—A three-masted canoe, supposed to be the Tillikum, passed Beachy Head yesterday bound east. The British Columbia sailing canoe Tillikum is only 24 tons. It is an ordinary dugout canoe cut out of the trunk of a tree by an Alaskan Indian in 1896. The [illegible] is commanded of Capt. J. C. Voyr, who is accompanied by a single companion, named Harris. The Tillikum left Vancouver in May, 1901, bound for Europe by way of various islands in the Pacific, Cape Horn and the Azores. She was last reported as having sailed from Ponta Belgai, Azores, Aug. 11, for London. At that time she had already covered nearly 40,000 miles of her long journey.

Gypsies For Canada.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The vanguard of 2,000 Gypsies arrived yesterday en the Carpathia en route to Winnipeg, where they have been tracts of land, and expect to settle. There were 201 in the party, two women alone having thousands of dollars in Hungarian gold pieces dangling from their dresses. They were a picturesque, filthy crowd. The leader is the only English-speaking person. He says they have plenty of money. The queen is a beautiful woman, and is said to be worth $200,000. All are held at Ellis Island, pending investigation.

Steps Building Factory.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 3.—The British cruiser Charybdis has stopped the work of building a factory for the refining of whale products on the French shore. Commander Kerguelen de Koyllis, commodore of the French squadron in Newfoundland waters, has protested against its erection. Until the recently negotiated Anglo-Gaelic convention is ratified by the French Parliament the French claim that the building of the factory would be an infraction of existing treaties.

Mr. Bath Won.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—According to a report received at the Department of Agriculture, Robert Bath, M.P., carried off the principal prizes in the hackney class at the horse show at St. Louis Exposition. Mr. Bath entered seven horses owned by himself and his total winnings amounted to $900, besides which he received three diplomas. In the competition for the grand champion prize two Canadian-bred animals took the champion prize as well as the diploma.

HYGIENIC BARBER SHOP

Speaking a few days ago on the claims of the Barbers' association of province of Quebec, Dr. Dagenais, the chairman of the civic health committee, said the organization was of no practical value from a hygienic standpoint. His remarks may not be without some considerable significance in Ontario.

"It is ridiculous to believe that a superficial acquaintance with certain cutaneous diseases such as is required in the examination for admission to practice will protect the public from contagion," continued the chairman, "Moreover, it is not in the barber's interest to be too particular in these matters. An association composed of them very people whose practices may be dangerous to the public health is not likely to enforce any rules that entail additional expense to the members."

"In order to carry on effective sanitary work the association should compel the members to undergo medical examination at least once a week. If the barber is suffering from a contagious disease, as happens quite often, he should be suspended from work until health has been restored. In mild cases, however, he can perform his duty without danger to the customer by strictly observing the rules of hygiene. Frequently, affections of the skin have been communicated during the massage of the face. This can be prevented if the affected barber only takes care to wash his hands with an antiseptic solution before going to work.

"Sometimes a barber troubled with tuberculosis may communicate the bacilli to his customer by breathing or coughing over his face. Such cases are by no means rare, and they are extremely dangerous. It is right that even stringent measures be taken to protect the public against them, as tuberculosis is one of the greatest foes of mankind, causing the death of thousandes every year.

"The greatest danger of contagion comes from the instruments," continued Dr. Dagenais, "Razors and other articles used in the shop should be made in such a way as to render disinfection possible. No instrument ought to be used a second time before it is rendered harmless, either by boiling or by being soaked in some antiseptic solution. With razors the most convenient way would be by boiling, which would not injure the temper of the steel. For this purpose the handles should be made of metal, as in the case of surgical instruments. An apparatus can easily be imagined that would be employed by the barber for sterilizing his razors after each operation.

"It is useless to dwell on the importance of supplying a clean towel for every customer. Still, I know many barbers in Montreal who overlook this important rule. As for the straps they should also be submitted to some process of disinfection."

Dr. Dagenais said he knew that many people abstained from going to the barber shops because they feared contagion of some kind. Barbers of the city who claimed antiseptic methods said did not observe the rules of hygiene already mentioned, had no right to the title.

Dr. Dagenais thought the work of protecting the public from contagion through the barber shops could be more effectively carried on by the provincial board of health, although he admitted that the civic body could also render valuable services in this respect.

HEART PAINS AND INDIGESTION

Which Were Thoroughly Cured by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. J. Law, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Co., states: "For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time I can say that I feel quite different, and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about the heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia, and its accompanying symptoms."

ACQUIRING WATER POWER

MEMBER FOR EAST DURHAM PRESENTS SOME ARGUMENTS.

Says there will be no Water Power for the Government to Acquire Along the Port Hope Route.

Mr. E. Gus Porter, continuing his address in the House of Commons on the Trent canal said:

AN IMPORTANT STEP.

To complete the Trent Valley waterway will, in my judgment, be one of the most important steps we can take in that direction. The greatest development of this country will in future, be in the west, and the greater part of the carrying trade will necessarily originate there, and I think all will recognize the soundness of the business principle that will induce producers and shippers to transport their produce by the quickest and cheapest route. The advantages that will accrue to them in getting their produce to the markets of the world at the least possible cost and greatest saving of time will enable them to undersell their competitors and obtain the quickest and best returns.

The food material is in the west, the money in the east, and the important question is, by what means we shall exchange the one for the other with the best result. Goods for the wants of the farmers in the Northwest should be largely manufactured in Ontario, and to this end cheap transportation is necessary. [illegible] help the Canadian Northwest on grain improved via Montreal.

A glance at the history of the Trent Valley Canal will show that already there has been expended on the development of this waterway about $4,000,000, upon which this country is paying to-day and has been paying since it was expended 5 per cent interest, by about $120,000 per annum. Of the total 200 miles, the length of the canal from the Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte, 160 miles have already been completed, and only 32 miles remain to be completed. The difference between what has been constructed and what remains to be constructed is made up of navigable lakes and navigable rivers. No less than 25 locks have been constructed upon this waterway, among these one [illegible] the greatest, if not the greatest lift lock in the world. According to estimates it will require only between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 to complete the whole enterprise. I need only mention the fact to appeal to the judgment of any man, whether a member of this House or not, that unless this work is completed, all the work that has been done for the expenditure of $4,000,000 already incurred, and for the $120,000 that is being expended annually, in paying interest upon that investment, is entirely lost. There has already been so much delay in proceeding with the enterprise that some of the works along the line of the canal have fallen into disrepair. For this delay, not only this [illegible] but former governments have been responsible. The time has now arrived, however, when government should declare its policy, and declare it without equivocation, and should enter upon the carrying out of that policy in a most energetic manner. The importance of this enterprise is, perhaps, not very generally appreciated by the public; and there may be some hon. members of this House who have not given it such consideration as to enable them properly to judge of its importance. Therefore, notwithstanding the late date to which this session has been prolonged, the importance of the subject is such that I need not apologize to this House for submitting to it the evidence of some of the best informed persons upon the subject, in order to enlighten the House and to lead it to a conclusion as to whether the enterprise should be favoured or not.

Now, Sir, when nature has been so profuse in its distribution of favours do not let it be said of the parliament of Canada that we were so apathetic or so ignorant or so incompetent as to fail to take advantage of the opportunities that are to hand. Let me refer to the evidence of one or two other prominent gentlemen who have given this matter most thoughtful and earnest consideration, gentlemen who are entrusted in their constituencies, not from any personal or political consideration, but solely from the point of view of national interests and a desire to promote the prosperity of Canada. Mr. David Gilmour, of Trenton, one of the largest manufacturers and shippers of Ontario, has studied this question most carefully, and in the consideration of the trade and commerce of this country as it may be developed, through the completion of this great Trent Valley waterway he has not confined his attention to what might be learned from a study of the situation as it presents itself in this country alone, but in the pursuit of his studies he has followed the matter into the Old Country and has given to the public the result of his investigations and what he considers the effect will be of the policy that is now being advanced in the old country by that [illegible] able statesman, the Honorable Joseph Chamberlain. This gentleman has also made a very careful estimate, based upon reliable authority and accurate information furnished him by trade assistant engineers to R. B. Rogers, Asst. Whitbel and others, in addition to his own personal observations; and I may just state here, by way of parenthesis, that he is a gentleman, above all others in Canada, who is personally in a position to form a sound opinion on this matter. He has been engaged in lumbering operations in the Muskoka district of the province of Ontario, for a very large number of years, and he was not simply the nominal head of the concern but took pains to go through the country, so that he knows intimately that of which he speaks in this report. And by reason of his extensive lumbering operations and his own personal observations for many years, he is most familiar with the water supply that can be obtained by reservoir dams and with the power that can be developed along the Trent Valley waterway.

Mr. Gilmour, in a pamphlet issued by him, which I have under my hand, has summarized the Trent navigation in this way. The estimated area of watershed he puts at 5000 square miles, the estimated area of reservoir and improvement, at 300 square miles with an average depth, provided that water is conserved, of seven feet. The volume of water with reservoir waterpower is 74,155,544,000 cubic feet.

IMMENSE POSSIBILITIES.

One has only to stop for a moment in contemplation of these figures to realize in a measure the immense possibilities of the water supply in this portion of the country. Take for instance, the question of fuel. This canal in the route that I advocate for its construction, will run largely through a portion of the country which is thickly populated and will touch a large number of important towns and villages, one city, and many thriving populated municipalities. The amount of coal that would be used along this route is so great that the completion of this canal would mean a saving of many thousands of dollars to the people in that section, and the quantity will constantly increase.

Then too, the construction and permanent operation of this canal will produce markets and increase the local consumption of the products of the farms and gardens along the route; this is a matter of the most vital importance to the farming community and also to the manufacturers along the line of the canal. These advantages will be augmented by the development of almost unlimited waterpowers within its radius. The development of power in such a low rate as it can be supplied upon this canal, must in the natural order of things induce the investment of capital, and the investment of capital means the creation of manufacturing industries means the employment of labour, means the employment of labour means the consumption of the products of the farms and gardens. There are already a number of manufacturers along the line of this waterway who are using limited amounts of power, and these manufacturers desire and have for a considerable length of time expressed the desire not only to increase the power that they are using for their own purposes, but to secure a saleable commodity that they may supply to other smaller manufacturers be industries within the radius of their operations. And, Sir, with the development of the power upon the Trent river that has already taken place, the town of Trenton is to-day not only supplying all the power that is required in the town of Trenton, but it is transmitting that power to Belleville, a distance of some twelve miles. It is supplying electric light there and power for running different industries at a price that is less than they can possibly obtain in Belleville from any other source.

QUESTION OF POWER.

Mr. Sproule—What is the price per horse power?

Mr. Porter. They are supplying it in Belleville at one concern that I know of at $13 per horse power and I am told by the same man who is receiving that power from the development on the Trent Valley canal at $13 that he formerly paid $23 per horse power for power furnished him again. This revenue that is being derived from the water power already developed would be largely increased and I have no doubt in fact I am informed by those who have given the matter careful study, that the price at which power is now being supplied in Belleville, $13, could be very materially decreased if the corporations who are interested in this matter along the line of the Trent Valley waterway were allowed to develop the waterpower that exists there. If I am correctly informed that cannot be done under existing circumstances. I am informed that the government some time ago expropriated all the lands along the line of that Trent waterway and all the water power for the purpose of this canal, so that an individual or a corporation going in there and desiring—as one corporation that I know of, the Trent Electric and Water Company, desires—to develop greater water power would not be able to do that without the sanction of the government. We can all readily see that it would not be the policy of the government, if it has in contemplation the completion of this canal, to allow private individuals to acquire the right to develop water power along that route, because it would, as every one sees, create rights, which might upon the determination of the government to push this canal through involve the government in a very large expenditure of money to buy up rights that had been so acquired. Just in that connection let me point out that it seems to me most unfair—and this is one of the strongest arguments, perhaps, that I can urge upon the government to be more energetic in building the Trent Valley canal—that this immense water power is prohibitively tied up there. I am told upon very good authority that if the government were willing to-day to abandon this project and give it over to private enterprise, there is any amount of capital ready and waiting to go into the enterprise and develop it not only for the purposes of a canal, but simply for the revenue that would be derived from the water power. It seems to me that it is a dog-in-the-manger policy on the part of the government to refuse to private individuals or to corporations the right to develop this power and yet not go on and develop it themselves. What I have said in regard to the development of power in Trenton is perfectly true in regard to the villages of Frankford, the village of Campbellford, the town of Hastings, the city of Peterborough, and all the other towns and villages along the line of this Trent waterway. The development of cheap power is desired by all for the promotion of manufacturing industries. I have taken pains to ascertain some of the facts concerning the development of waterpower I find that on the portion of the canal from Peterborough to Trenton, that is, merely the southern portion of the canal, it has been carefully estimated that 100,000 horsepower could be developed. If that is on the basis of such an extent of water power would furnish a more than handsome return on all the money that would be required to be spent by this country in the completion of the canal, but me refer to some further remarks in this connection by Mr. Gilmour. In summarizing his investigation he says:

Trent canal route is some 1,464 miles shorter to Liverpool and return and to the European markets than the Erie canal, and over 500 miles shorter than our present St. Lawrence canals that actually supplied a good part of the trade this year, 1903.

He emphasizes what I have already pointed out to this House, that by reason of the Erie canal not being able to compete with the improved conditions of the railways the Erie Canal lost the control of the traffic and the railways captured it. That traffic which was then being captured by the railways—Mr. Gilmour does not say so but it is the fact—by reason of the policy inaugurated by the Liberal-Conservative party in enlarging the canal system of Canada has been largely acquired by Canada.

Now let me for a moment refer to the evidence of another eminent gentleman who has given the matter very careful consideration and who, I venture to say, has given that consideration under the direction of the government of which he is an employee. I refer to the statement of Mr. R. B. Rogers, C.E. He says:

"The estimated cost of transhipping at Midland is from one-quarter to one-half cent per bushel. The depth of water in the waterway when completed will be 8 feet 4 inches. The present barges on the Erie canal are about one-third the capacity of those intended for use on the Trent. The distance from Georgian Bay to Trenton will be about 200 miles, of which only about one-tenth of this distance will be natural canal. The Erie canal is about 352 miles long from Buffalo to Albany, about all of which distance is actual canal, and 150 miles of river navigation from Albany to New York. In comparing the length of time required to go from Midland to Montreal, and from Buffalo to New York, many different points have to be taken into consideration — but a single steam barge from Midland to Montreal would take 69 hours, and from Buffalo to New York, the Erie canal, about double that time. Regarding freight rates by rail or by water of course the rate on the Trent canal can only be arrived at by comparison with the rates on other barge canals, for instance, on the Erie canal. The distance from Midland to tidewater at Montreal is 445 miles From Buffalo to tidewater at New York is 503 miles. Freight is delivered now at Midland from the western ports at 1 cent per bushel, and Buffalo at 1.42 to 2 cents per bushel. By the new Erie Canal Major Symmonds, who is perhaps the most expert barge engineer in the United States, calculates that wheat can be taken from Buffalo to New York at 8-10 of one cent per bushel. Now if they can do that on the new Erie we can do it on the Trent canal, being, as I have mentioned above, a waterway, not a canal. This 8-10 of a cent added to the 1 cent rate to Midland and 1-2 cent for transhipping charges will make a rate of 2-3 cents from the western ports to Montreal. Rates from western ports to Montreal via Depot Harbour 5 cents, via Midland 5 to 6 cents. Rates from western ports to New York via Bufalo by water and rail 6 3-4 to 7 cents; by water about 5 1-2 cents.

Regarding the difference in distance from Port Arthur to Liverpool that via the Trent canal is 757 miles shorter than via the Erie canal, which on the return trip amounts to 1,514 miles.

I repeat that no one can consider the evidence of these eminent men, one of them an engineer in the employ of the government, and fail to realize the very great advantage that Canada has, if she will only use it by the improvement of the Trent waterway, over any means of transportation that the United States can offer against us. Besides the important advantages which will accrue to the Dominion as a whole through the completion of the Trent Valley canal there are very many other advantages that will accrue to the cities, towns, village, municipalities and individuals directly affected, by providing cheap freight rates.

It is estimated that to fully complete this section of the canal, including which has already been expended, by previous governments and by this government will cost about $10,000,000, which at ordinary rate of interest, 3 per cent., would involve an annual charge of about $300,000. Now, as to the revenue from power. I am confining my presentation of this part of the case to that portion of the canal between Peterborough and the Bay of Quinte and it has been shown beyond any reasonable doubt that at least 100,000 horse power can be got between these points. The income derived from this hundred thousand horse power sold or leased at the rate that it would command, would pay not only the interest upon the total investment of $10,000,000 necessary to complete the canal but it would be sufficient to provide a sinking fund that in a very few years would wipe out the capital expenditure upon this whole enterprise.

Suppose this hundred thousand horse power sold at $13 per horse power, a rate at which it is being sold between Trenton and Belleville, any hon. gentleman can see that it will not only pay interest upon the investment but that it will provide a sinking fund that in a few years will wipe out the whole obligation. But, that is only part of the possible revenue.

Take it from Peterborough to Midland; the water power, if developed all along the route, would increase the revenue of the government from day to day and year to year and enable them to pay off the capital expenditure entailed by the completion of this canal very much earlier than the date that I have shown by the figures that I have given. There is another very great advantage that it occurs to me would accrue to the people by the completion of this waterway, perhaps it is one of its most important results, and that is the competition that will be created between transportation by means of the railways. As I have already taken occasion to remark, I do not think that any question exists to-day in the mind of any man who has given the matter study but what transportation by water is really the regulating power or regulator so to speak of the rates that will be charged on railways. Railways now charge the very highest rate that commerce can endure and live and the construction of this canal would have a very important bearing upon this important proposition. The limit of rates for transportation would then be regulated or controlled by the cost of transportation by this water route, and every shipper would derive permanent relief and protection against railway monopoly. A very small saving per ton per mile when we consider the immense quantities of trade that will be carried over this route and the saving in distance will amount to a sum that is almost inconceivable. If one would sit down and figure it out the saving in distance and freight would be simply enormous and it is one of the reasons which to my mind should appeal to the government to lay down at this time a definite and positive policy and energetically enter upon the carrying out of that policy for the advantage of the people of Canada. Last year 23,000,000 bushels of grain were shipped to Midland and Depot Harbour and this would be very largely increased by the development of the western country and by the attraction of cheap transportation by means of this waterway. It is to my mind impossible to adequately conceive what the extent of that growth will be. The freight carried from points along the route of this canal already assumes large proportions. Peterborough last year alone shipped in and out by rail over 290,000 tons of freight, Campbellford over 80,000 tons, Trenton over 100,000 tons, Hastings, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon, Peterson Falls, Gambridge, Barrie, Orillia and other smaller towns and villages along the line shipped freight in proportion and all of these figures are sure to increase, and the trade is of proportionate advantage to the people resident in these particular districts. Added to these facts that by the Trent Valley waterway to Liverpool there would be absolute saving in distance of over 1,500 miles, that being the difference in favour of this route as against any other route either through Canada or the United States, I think one cannot fail to see the many permanent and great advantages to the people of Canada to be derived from putting into useful form this natural waterway; nor can any mean doubt that to allow local political or sectional difficulties to impede the construction of this great work would justly merit the condemnation of the Canadian people. So far I have endeavoured to deal with those features in connection with this proposition upon which I think all parties pro practically agreed. There are differences that exist, but those differences I venture to say are purely local and created by sectional interest without any party or the other may have in this enterprise.

"Eat Plenty of Fruit."

That's what the Doctors say when one is constipated. Because fruit acts on the liver, causing it to excrete bile which aids digestion and increases the peristaltic action of the bowels, thus prevents constipation. POTATO CROP DAMAGED

THE FARMERS STATE THAT ROT IS AGAIN CAUSING TROUBLE.

Farmers Report Small Crops of Wheat and Oats—Quite a Large Market This Morning.

There was quite a large market this morning, and garden produce was prominent—carrots, corn, tomatoes, onions, cucumbers, and everything of that character being on sale in large quantities. There was not a large supply of spring lamb, and the prices ran from 10 to 12 cents a pound; apples were sold at 10 cents a peck, or from 40 to 50 cents a bag; tomatoes sold at 50 cents a basket, containing a peck and a half; chickens from 55 to 70 cents a pair; eggs 20 cents a dozen, utter 23 cents a pound, potatoes 60 cents a bag.

Several farmers were interviewed with regard to the wheat crop prospects, and the reports were not encouraging. On account of the wheat rust, a good many crops will yield no more than 20 bushels to the acre. The grain does not fill when the rust operates upon it. Not a few crops were damaged by having large areas winter killed. The report from some parts of Cavan is that the rust has effected wheat there very little. Oats will not be as large a crop as last year—in some cases, indeed, hardly half as large.

Farmers also state that the rot is doing considerable damage among the potatoes. This is the third year for this blight, and the opinion is that as a result there will be a scanty supply of "murphies" as the season advances. It is quite possible to detect by the odor, a field in which the potato rot exists. A curious fact is that the large potatoes are almost always the ones destroyed.

Roots are reported to be doing splendidly, the wet weather being favorable.

The farmers are looking forward with expectation of great success for Peterborough Fair. They are quite enthusiastic over the efforts that are being put forward to make the exhibition a success.

BIG LABOR DAY EVENT

Will be the Demonstration to be to be held at Jubilee.

The big attraction for Labor Day will be the trip down the river to Jubilee under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council. This will be one of the best outings of the season and doubtless a large number of citizens will take it in. Mr. James Simpson of Toronto, a well known labor orator, will give an address and there will be a good programme of sports, including a tug-of-war open to the county for a prize valued at $25; a football match open to the city league for a prize valued at $25, a 100-yards foot race, a 200-yards foot race and a fat man's race. The steamer City of Peterborough will leave the wharf at 8 o'clock and the Water Lily at 9.30. Tickets—adults 50 cents; children, 25 cents.

Mr. Jas. Simpson will also deliver an address in the S. O. E. Hall at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

FUNERAL OF DR. BENSON

A Winnipeg Citizen who Formerly Resided Here.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

The residents of Winnipeg turned out in large numbers yesterday afternoon to pay their last respects to the body of one of the oldest citizens, the late Dr. Edward Benson. The funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence, 379 Bannatyen avenue, to Elmwood cemetery. A short service was held at the house, conducted by the Rev. R. P. Bowles, of Grace hurch, assisted by the Rev. Dr. DuVal, of Knox church, and the Rev. Dr. Sparling, of Wesley college, and the service was read by the Rev. Mr. Bowles. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, among them being noticed wreathes from the trustees of Grace church, Minto lacrosse team, Confederation and Canada Life Assurance Companies, school and Park boards, and the Medical Association. There were also many flowers from old personal friends of the late doctor. The pall-bearers were Prof. McDiarmid, Judge Walker, Dr. Harvey, W. R. Inman, H. Worsley and A. Dawson. The members of the School and Parks Boards attended the funeral in a body. Among those noticed present at the funeral were: R. J. Whitla, Nicholas Bawlf, A. Strang, F. W. Drewry, E. Robertson, W. S. Beecher, the Hon. Colin Campbell, K.C., W. F. Luxton, Ald. Harvey, Ald. Latimer, A. McT. Campbell, the Hon. William Hespeler, Hugo Ross, Dr. Blanchard, Dr. Chown, and many others.

Pitiful Helplessness.

Victims of nervous disease are sure to be pitied because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble, and there is no preparation so well suited for this purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

MARRIED.

OLES—BRODIGAN.—On Thursday, September 1st, in Old St. Andrew's church, by the Rev. John McEwen, Ethel Elsie, only daughter of Mrs. E. Brodigan, to J. Everett Oles, Peterborough.

In wishing wedlock and friends, I won't by fuss & pother; will be found very satisfactory.

LAYING CORNER STONE.

Interesting Ceremony in Connection with the Y. M. C. A. Building

An event which will undoubtedly be attended by a great deal of interest has been arranged for the afternoon of Wednesday next—the laying of the corner stone of the new Y. W. C. A. building on the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets. The construction has reached that point where such a ceremony is now in order. The building is assuming dimensions and one can already believe that it will present an imposing appearance, one most creditable to the town, and well adapted to the objects of its dedication. A programme is being prepared by the General Secretary, the ladies and friends of the Y. W. C. A. and the event will be one well worth attending. The ceremony will take place at 5 o'clock. A silver trowel presented by Mr. Alex. Gibson will be used.

CONCERNING GREAT FAIR

MR. CHARLTON OF THE GRAND TRUNK INTERVIEWED.

Some Interesting Information Regarding St. Louis — An Erroneous Impression Regarding the Atmosphere.

In conversation with Mr. H. R. Charlton, of the Grand Trunk Railway System, who has just returned from the "World's Fair" at St. Louis, some interesting information was gleaned regarding this largest of Expositions ever held. Many of the Eastern people, said Mr. Charlton, are under the impression that the temperature of St. Louis at this time of year is unbearable and that the mercury reaches a high point. This impression is quite erroneous, and the average for the past week shows 72 degrees. The day are pleasant and the evenings cool and comfortable. Thousands of people are now reaching St. Louis from all parts of the country, and during the rest of the life of the Exhibition, (December 1st) hundreds of thousands will have visited this MAMMOTH UNDERTAKING. To avoid the crowds that will undoubtedly be there later on those wishing to see the Exposition to the best advantage should go before the exceptionally large crowds are in evidence. The attendance is increasing every day, and last Monday nearly 200,000 people passed through the gates. Another erroneous idea which seems to have gained ground is the price charged for accommodation at St. Louis, the rumor of which is unwarranted. There are hotels and private boarding houses which cater to the pockets of all classes, and a letter to the Information Bureau, "World's Fair," will readily bring a list of these places. Without a personal visit no one has any conception of the magnitude, grandeur, artistic beauty, and greatness embodied in the 1240 acres that contain the displays from every country in the universe and embrace the acme of perfection and evolution of liberal arts and sciences up to the twentieth century. To see this with one's own eyes is worth years of study and is an education in itself.

SOME ATTRACTIONS.

His Majesty's famous Grenadier Band from England and renowned throughout the British Empire, opened a six weeks' engagement at the Fair on August 29th, and crowds surrounded the stand applauding lustily to every number. The night effect of the grounds with the buildings illuminated with myriads of electric lights is beyond description and must be seen to be fully appreciated. One noticeable feature of the Exposition is the facility for the economy of the visitor's time and the saving of his strength that has been provided. Gondolas, electric launches and boats traverse the two miles of lagoons which surround the main building and an intramural railway reaches every part of the grounds. Rolling chairs may be secured for trips through the buildings and elsewhere, and large automobiles with well informed guides make trips throughout the grounds. Meals can be secured on the grounds at reasonable rates from twenty-five cents up to any price one likes to pay. The Grand Trunk Exhibit in the Forestry, Fish and Game Building is attracting much attention and the concensus of opinion is that it is the finest in the building. The many fine pictures of the FISHING, HUNTING and summer resort districts in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec appeal to the Sportsman and Tourist and the animated picture machines showing the "International Limited" and scenic pictures of different sections of the line holds the attention of visitors, bringing Canadians prominently before the people of the American continent.

Those who desire to keep in touch with the world's progress and who wish to spend a most pleasant and profitable time should not fail to see the largest and most comprehensive Exposition that has ever been known as a "World's Fair," and now is the time to go.

The Grand Trunk have also installed exhibits at the Eastern Canada Exposition held at Sherbrooke, Que., at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and the Western Pennsylvania Exposition, Pittsburg, Pa., all now taking place. The Western Pennsylvania Exposition is one of the largest annual fairs held in the United States and lasts 46 days. The space occupied by the Grand Trunk is 7,000 feet and it is estimated that not less than half a million people will visit the display.

WARRIORS ARE AWAY

57th met with little Reminiscence at Barrie

There was a large crowd of people at the G.T.R. station last night to say good-bye to the officers and men of the 57th Regiment, who were leaving for Barrie. So interested were the people in the departure that one might be warranted in making the remark that "peace hath her quad-offs no less renowned than war." A message by wireless pigeon states that the regiment arrived in Barrie after a delightful trip, and that the people of that town offered little resistance. Communication was at once established with the points of interest, and everything promises a very enjoyable outing. Quite a number of the officers remained over and left for Barrie today.

MR. J. E. OLES MARIED

His Bride Miss Ethel Elsie Brodigan of Toronto.

Toronto Globe: A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon in Old St. Andrew's church, when Miss Ethel Elsie, only daughter of Mrs. E. Agnes Brodigan of Toronto, was married to Mr. J. Everett Oles of Peterborough, by the Rev. John McEwen, Toronto, only the immediate relatives and friends being present. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. C. A. Brodigan, and wore a handsome going away gown of brown silk grenadine over brown silk taffeta with hat to match, and carried a lovely sheaf of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Barrie Anderson, was in handsome white silk crepe de chene over white taffeta, and wore a large white picture hat. She carried pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. A. W. McPherson, of Toronto. As the bridal party entered the church Mr. Jeffers, organist, played the Lohengrin wedding march. After the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends in the vestry, and left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Oles have gone on a brief tour to the northern lakes, after which they will take up their residence in Peterborough.

Colonial Ink Co.

In the Toronto Globe's exhibition notices is the following of local interest: The exhibit of the Colonial Ink Company, of Peterborough, in the Manufacturers' building, of their well-known "Japanese" brand of Writing Inks, Printing Inks, Typewriter Ribbons and Carbon Paper, is proving one of the most interesting and popular attractions. The enterprise and progressive methods of this company are meeting with well-merited success. The high quality of their goods, combined with the fact that they are made in Canada, should commend them to all users. Their exhibit is well worth a visit from everyone.

STREET RAILWAY NOTICE

Until further notice, one single fare will entitle passenger to ride to either end of the Georger Street line and return to point at which the car was boarded, provided the passenger does not leave the car.

FIRE IN CANOE FACTORY

CANADIAN CANOE CO'S BUILDING SCENE OF A BLAZE.

Firemen Had It Extinguished Before Any Great Damage Was Done—Loss Covered by Insurance.

At five o'clock this morning again, the fire alarm sounded, and the brigade responded to the summons to save another manufactory from destruction. Fire had started in the north-east corner of the Canadian Canoe Company's building, on the corner of Water and Brock-sts. How it originated is not known, unless a lighted cigar stub had in some manner been thrown inside, or a match had been purposely dropped within the windows by some evily-disposed person. Fortunate it was that Mr. Grady, the hackman, was driving past at the time, and seeing the blaze sent in an alarm. The firemen were soon on the job and in short order extinguished it. The extent of the damage was inconsiderable, the woodwork of the corner being charred and the ends burnt from some material used for canoe construction. The building was filled with smoke, and some damage was caused in that way to finished canoes. An estimate places the loss at about $150, covered by insurance.

It is not so long ago that the other end of the building, occupied by M. Geo. Fitzgerald's carriage works, was gutted, and the fire was then supposed to be of incendiary origin.

Mr. Fitzgerald returned this morning from Ottawa, where he was attending the D.R.A. matches. He received a shock this morning on learning that fire had again visited the building.

Gave Satisfaction

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have received the following complimentary letter:

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Hear Simpson on Sunday.

Mr. James Simpson, the famous labor orator, of Toronto, will deliver an interesting lecture on labor topics in the Sons of England Hall, on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Remember the big Labor Day excursion on Monday, to Jubilee Point.

A Biscuit Manufacturer With a Mission.

The Mooney Biscuit & Candy Co., Limited, of Stratford, Ont., which is now celebrating its first birthday, is an example of the growth and progress of Canadian industries. Starting a little over a year ago, with a plant which should have fulfilled all demands upon it for some time to come, the company has already had to double it.

Of course there are reasons for this, outside of the natural growth of the Dominion. The chief reason lies in the biscuits themselves, which are known to the trade and the people as something different and better than any other biscuit on the market.

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas, as they are called, have firmly established their reputation all over Canada. As Mr. Mooney puts it, "They are the biscuits that made all Canada cracker-hungry." People who do not fancy the ordinary soda biscuit, developed the buscuit appetite once they had tasted Mooney's.

The Mooney idea is that "just as good" is not good enough. They realized at the start that their field lay in making a biscuit that would be crisper, daintier and better in every way than any other—in short, they resolved that they would make the best biscuits in Canada and tell the people about them through the newspapers, and then trust to the quality to place them on every table in the land.

That they will succeed is a foregone conclusion. One has only to taste the dainty, crisp deliciousness of Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas to discover the secret of their popularity.

All grocers have them, packed in air-tight, moisture-proof packages.

CURRENT ITEMS OF PASSING INTEREST

DEALING IN PEAS.

Few people are aware of the magnitude of the operations carried on by Hendrey & Son, pea buyers and exporters. This firm is engaged in receiving peas from the farmers almost all summer, and it is estimated that they handle as much as two hundred thousand bushels a season. This is an enormous quantity and means the distribution of an immense amount of money among the farmers, who have come to regard peas and oats as among their best paying grain crops. The firm find a ready market for the peas, a large amount going to the Old country and the continent. Immediately upon being received at the storehouse—the old Central bridge works—the peas are put through a cleaning process, and then prepared for shipment. Quite a staff of men are kept busy by the firm all summer.

DONT'S TO OBSERVE.

Here are some "don'ts" for people who ride on the street cars to remember: Don't forget to have your fare ready; don't form a habit of never having the right change; don't tamper with the motorman—he is always busy; don't expect the conductor to have the car stop at your street when you didn't give him proper instructions; don't forget that the cars run near the cemetery, but that a shorter route exists as the penalty of carelessness in getting off and on; don't experiment with the fender; don't chew tobacco on the cars—it is not nice if you want to expectorate; don't expect the car to return to your corner if you don't give the signal until after it has passed; don't put you feet up on the backs of the seats—it is bound to interfere with the ladies' back hair; don't jump off backwards, even if the mortuary statistics are lower than usual; don't invite your friends from the city to a ride on our "cayrs"—rather tell them that the power is never off here; don't lean out over the edge—you might lose your gum or your bat; don't tamper with the Company's property; don't forget that you live in one of the best towns on the face of the green earth.

THAT STRETCH OF LAKE.

Port Hope people may talk as they like about the pacific character of the stretch of lake between that town and the Bay of Quinte, but the experience of a steamer sailing out of Port Hope harbor a few weeks ago points to serious conditions in time of storm. It appears that the boat had a large number of people on board bound for Toronto. She put out into the lake, but such was the weather that the steamer could make no headway westward whatever, and in spite of everything that could be done, the steamer helplessly drifted to Brighton. It is hardly possible to say what would have happened to a tow of barges laden with grain, had such weather been encountered, when a steamer with only herself to look after was helpless during the spell of weather. Port Hope people say that it is possible there to tell five hours ahead when a storm will take place. That is all very well, but during that five hours, and while the storm lasts, a string of barges could make considerable headway through a protected canal that went by way of Trenton, the Bay of Quinte and Murray Canal to the St. Lawrence.

STRONG PRESSURE.

There was a mighty heavy pressure of water on for the fire in the Canadian General's Compound Building yesterday morning. The fact that the flames held a position where a considerable quantity of inflammable substance made their breath pretty hot, and certainly gave them the advantage, makes the victory of the brigade inside of an hour quite a triumph. Five streams were going, and such was their strength that nothing that would give at all could resist them. Window sashes were ripped away, as if they had been made of paper. Enquiry at the town pumping station shows that there was a pressure on of 95 pounds to the square inch and this would be increased to 115 pounds where the works are situated. It was a well fought fire, and the manner in which it was handled reflects great credit on the brigade and is decided proof of the efficiency of the waterworks. The town brigade was given great assistance by the C. G. F. Co's auxiliary, and pumps, the latter being always ready for an emergency. It is expected that the compound room will be in operation again within a very short time. The preparation which yesterday ignited is composed of highly inflammable substances and is used for insulating purposes. The machines destroyed were those which do the winding and braiding of wires and some were very valuable.

BE CAREFUL.

"I don't like them," remarked a farmer this morning as he watched a street car sail up George st., and he proceeded to predict that Peterborough market and store business would be affected by the operation of the street railway. For all that, there was no unusual stir among the agricultural horses that crowded George st. this morning and it would appear that with the exercise of a little care and precaution on the part of owners and drivers of horses, all possibility of accident might be precluded. There is no reason why street cars should not run here with as much freedom from danger to the general public as in other places where experience shows that there is no result to be dreaded when proper safeguards are taken.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

LACROSSE.

The Tecumsehs have protested the playing of John White, the Indian, by Brantford, and the big defence man will not figure on the champions' team in the game with the Chippewas at the Island to-day.

In the Exhibition tournament the Junction Shamrocks won from the Elms. Only ten men a side played.

BOWLING.

The only bowling event last night was the match between Skip Whiten and Skip Frost, the latter winning by 18 to 7.

The following is the schedule for the club match between the President and Vice-President on Labor Day, at 2.30 in the afternoon at 7 in the evening.

Afternoon at 2.30.
J. M. Brooks vs. Wm. Smith.
A. H. Stratton vs. F. Bell
R. M. Waddell vs. W. G. Ferguson.
R. J. Frost vs H. G. Giroux.
Dr. Greer vs. W. Sailsbury.

Evening at 7.
D. H. Moore vs. T. F. Matthews.
R. Kerr vs. J. McIntyre.
K. G. Lash vs. Ed. Bonnells.
S. T. Medd vs. J. E. Ohe.
Ed. Cox vs. H. Armstrong.

BASEBALL.

There was no baseball game this afternoon. Word was received from Port Hope that it was impossible to get together a team. Of course, from the talk that came from down Port Hope way, one would imagine they would stick to the schedule, or dates otherwise arranged, though the heavens fell. Port Hope may come up here next Saturday.

The Carmel correspondent of the Omemee Mirror contains the following item, and we hate to think that reference is made to a well-known baseball pitcher of town:—"Norman and Ruby are taking advantage of the moonlight Sunday evenings. How's the walking?"

The Marlboroughs, of Toronto, will play two games with the local nine on Labor Day and large crowds should attend each. The visitors have won 11 out of 12 events played, and are a swift aggregation. The morning game is at 10, and the afternoon at 3 o'clock on the T.A.S. grounds.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

Services to be Held in the Different Churches on Sunday.

Pastor Steinmagel will speak both morning and evening. Morning subject, "Our Bread Winners." Evening subject, "The Atonement." Afternoon service at 3.30 in Inverlea Park, subject, "The second coming of Christ." Communion and reception of members after the morning service. Everybody welcome.

GEORGE-ST. CHURCH.

General fellowship meeting in the S.S. rooms at 10 o'clock. The Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., will preach at 11 a.m. The Rev. Dr. Crothers will preach at the evening service, subject, "Lessons from Labor Day."

Strangers and visitors welcome.

The Rev. L. E. Skey, M.A., rector of St. Anne's church, Toronto, will preach in the morning and Rev. Dr. Rigby, M.A., of Trinity College School, Port Hope, at the evening service.

The Sunday school meets hereafter at 3 o'clock every Sunday.

Mr. J. J. Turner's junior Bible class will resume its meetings Sunday, September 9, at 3 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

In the necessary absence of the Rector at Barrie to-morrow Rev. Lawrence E. Skey, M.A., rector of St. Anne's, Toronto, has most kindly undertaken the duty. He will officiate in St. John's at 8.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. and at St. Luke's at 11 a.m. Mr. Skey is a preacher of some note and is rector of one of the large and flourishing churches of Toronto. He has not been in Peterborough before. At 11 a.m. Rev. Dr. Rigby, headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope, will officiate. The Holy Communion will be celebrated. Dr. Rigby is well known here. St. John's Sunday School will re-assemble at 3 p.m., when all teachers and pupils are expected to be present.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, will conduct both services. The Love Feast will begin at 10 a.m., and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the morning service. A memorial service for recently deceased members of the church will be held in the evening.

PARK ST. BAPTIST.

Services in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. H. Eaton, all day. Morning subject, "The Believer's Possession." Evening subject, "Who is responsible, the Government or the people." Ordinance of the Lord's Supper at the close of morning sermon. Sunday school and pastor's bible class at 3. "Buy your own shoveins," on Thursday by the choir. Hymn books provided; strangers made welcome. Special music for evening service.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The Rev. J. G. Potter will preach at both services to-morrow. Subjects as follows:

11 a.m.—"But I was free born."
7 p.m.—"Workingmen as Apostles"

Miss Margaret Bryce will sing at both services. Seats free. Strangers made welcome. St. Andrew's S. S. and Bible study class at 3 p.m.

CHARLOTTE-ST.

Re-opening services will be held tomorrow, when Rev. Dr. Crothers of George street church, will preach in the morning and the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, in the evening. Special music. All are welcome.

The music for the re-opening services of Charlotte st. church to-morrow will be as follows in the morning:

Anthem—"He that dwelleth" — Bellard.
Solo—"Come to the Land of Rest" —Miss Bellegham.
Male quartette — "Lead Kindly Light."
Solo—"O, Happy day." — J. Harry Schreiber.

Following is the music for the evening:

Anthem—"Sun of My Soul" — Tanner.
Solo—"Cavalry" — Rodney — Mr. Schreiber.
Solo—"I heard the voice of Jesus say" — Bischoff — Miss Davis, Cleveland.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The monthly collection for Missions will be received tomorrow. Rev. Rev. Dr. Torrance has returned from his holidays and will preach at the evening service at 7 o'clock. The morning service will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Wilson, assistant pastor.

The Sabbath school and Bible classes will meet at 3 p.m., instead of 10 a.m. Lesson for tomorrow:—"Elijah encouraged," I. Kings 19: 9—18. All are welcome.

A Kindergarten class for very young children is being organized. Parents will kindly see that their children are present tomorrow afternoon.

—The music at the George street church tomorrow promises to be especially pleasing at both services.

SKIN TREATMENT.

Be Careful About How You Use Glycerin on Your Face.

Glycerin cut with rose water is good for the skin. But one should work with it carefully, for not all skins can stand glycerin. There are certain cuticles upon which glycerin acts as a burning poison. There should be very little used in such cases, and the patient can tell only by experimenting. Don't use more glycerin than your skin will stand nicely or the result will surely be very unpleasant.

Many persons think they cannot use cold cream. Yet such is not the case. They can use it very nicely if they will get the right kind of cold cream. They can make it for themselves, or they can buy it if they will do so intelligently.

A woman wrote to us not long ago asking for a good cold cream. She said all cold cream irritated her cuticle, and that her complexion was red and rough as soon as she had used a cream for any length of time. Upon investigation it was found that she had used cold cream with glycerin in it. As soon as she made a cream without glycerin her face resumed its normal tone.

Don't try to use the very same lotions your neighbor uses. As well try to eat the same kind of food and the same amount. Remember that what is your neighbor's meat may be your poison, and that the very lotion which is excellent for the skin of the woman next door may be rankly injurious to your own skin.

That is the secret of beauty. Study your own personal peculiarities. You will soon discover your idiosyncrasies, and when you have learned to humor them you will have taken your first valuable lesson in being beautiful.—Boston Herald.

BOX PINCUSHION.

A Dainty Ornament and Useful Article For the Dressing Table.

The old fashioned box pincushions I love dearly, and wonder that they are so little seen now; certainly once you have known the joy of storing rings, bracelets and odds and ends therein you learn the charms of the modern cushion. The dainty box shown in the illustration can be made at practically no expense and with very little trouble.

preferably light wood. It is lined inside with satin and the outer sides covered with the brocade of which the cushion is to be fashioned; this can be done with glue, and the top edges made tidy by a row of tiny nails. A cushion of moderate plumpness is then made to just fit the lid of the box and stitched securely on to the lining, two little straps being provided to prevent the lid falling back. If the material is not plentiful the frill may be of plain silk and the box covered in the same. A bit of gimp heads the frill and makes all neat. Two smaller boxes made to match, but without the cushion top, to hold hair pins and combs and other odds and ends would complete a pretty dressing table set.—Woman.

Restoring the Tendons.

Lay a fowl with its legs left on, turn the bird on to its breast and hold the back of a leg in the left hand. With a very sharp knife cut just below the knee joint carefully, through the skin only. Inside will be found a group of tendons. There should be seven or eight in each leg lying in a groove. These are attached to the feet, but through the dark meat they run away up into the leg. With a wire skewer fish each tendon carefully and separately, hold the bird firmly and pull. If the chicken is young and tender each tendon will come out easily and can be removed by a slight effort. If the bird is exhaust a good deal of strength will be required to draw the tendons. Exit each tendon separately from its groove.

Fried Onions.

While the ordinary fried onions are a delusion and a snare, onions cooked in the Kenilworth ranch way will be found firm and thoroughly delicious. Cut in slices, soak in milk ten minutes, dip in flour and immerse in boiling fat, hot enough to crisp them instantly. Haste is necessary, as you cannot keep the slices whole after they have cooked six or seven minutes. Take out with a skimmer and put on brown paper just long enough to absorb the least suspicion of grease and serve at once.

INFANTS' FOOD.

One Way of Procuring Milk by Which to Obtain Good Results.

For the vast majority of infants of all classes of the community I have for the past six years found that the simplest, cheapest and best food for daily use is a fair average quality of cow's milk diluted with water according to the child's age and digestive capacity of the child. The "top milk," or the upper portion of milk that has been allowed to stand in a vessel at a temperature not above 60 degrees for from four to six hours, is sometimes preferable. The proportion of fat to proteids is much greater in such milk and will better bear diluting. A pinch of either table salt or phosphate of sodium is added, because cow's milk contains no soda salts, while human milk does, and a heaping teaspoon of raw cane sugar to the quart. The mixture is placed in a double cooker, with cold water in the outer vessel, and allowed to remain on the fire for ten minutes after the water has begun to boil. This is virtually pasteurising the milk, which has become modified by dilution and the addition of salts and sugar. The principal and most important object of this process is not so much to attack germs as to act upon the casein in such manner that the character of the curd will be modified by the milk curdling ferment in the child's stomach, analogous to rennet in the stomach of the calf, without doing injury to other nutritious components. This is materially aided by the dilution.—Table Talk.

YOUR SHOES.

Get Them Good and Then Give Them the Proper Attention.

If women knew how a rundown heel or a dirty shoestring spoils an entire toilet they would be more particular.

"When a woman is particular about her shoes, gloves and handkerchiefs," said a man, "you may be sure that she is a good housekeeper."

If you buy a well made, well fitting shoe in the beginning it may cost you more than you feel that you ought to pay.

But if you take good care of these shoes, cleaning them, keeping them in shape and seeing to their wants, you will find that they will endure three times as long as a cheap shoe and will always look shapely.

Shoes are not to be taken off at night and tossed anywhere. As each one is removed it should be stretched and pulled while still retaining the warmth of the foot. It should be rubbed with the palm of the hand and then allowed to stand until the wearer is ready to retire. At this point the adjustable foot tree should be inserted. The tree abolishes all danger of the half dozen creases which the action of the foot is bound to form on the front vamp.

It is well to have two or three pairs of shoes at least on hand and to change them as often as possible. Shoes changed in this way will last longer than those worn constantly.

THE REFRIGERATOR.

Keep the ice compartment full of ice. The more ice the greater the economy.

Do not put hot foods into the refrigerator.

Ice saving schemes are absurd, defeating the purpose of the refrigerator. It is food that is to be kept instead of the ice.

It should be sponged out often with warm water in which a little soda has been dissolved, and the drain should not be neglected.

A cellar or other damp place is no place for the refrigerator. On the other hand, it should not be put out of doors unprotected.

Should ants get into the refrigerator a saucer of tartar emetic mixed with sugar and water should be placed therein. It will drive them away.

Be Contented and Happy.

The world is much like a mirror, and gives back the reflection it receives. If you gaze into it with a scowling, disagreeable face you will see that face reflected, and the world soon criticises mercilessly the face that betrays what it should take pains to conceal.

The cheerful woman is a blessing, and that cheerfulness can be cultivated is patent on every side. Some of the most amiable, lovely women are the greatest sufferers. But it is a well established fact that the greatest sufferers are most silent and patient.

For the Teeth.

Up to date dentists have several new wrinkles for whitening and polishing the teeth. One of these is to first dip the brush into salty water and then apply the powder, which should be of the finest quality. After three or four minutes' brushing rub a little dry salt over the teeth and in time they will become perceptibly whiter. If you want to have teeth like polished ivory take a piece of chamois skin, dip it in lemon juice and rub the teeth until they are hot to the touch.

Oilcloth.

Oilcloth looks better and lasts longer if polished with beeswax and turpentine than if washed. To make the polish dissolve an ounce of beeswax in a pint of turpentine. Apply with one piece of flannel and polish with another. To get a good effect quickly be careful always to use clean cloths. Old woolen vests, etc., will answer the purpose, and it is really a saving of time in the end if they are washed each time they are used.

WHEN BOYS WERE MEN

By JOHN HABBERTON,

Author of "Helen's Babies," "George Washington," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY JOHN HABBERTON

"Strange about that!" muttered the captain. "I heard only one report, that of the shell. I didn't suppose a field gun could be fired without being heard."

Then came a deafening report.

By this time the colonel and the major of our battalion were beside us and scanning the surrounding country with their glasses. Then came a deafening report, and blazing logs as well as shingles flew from the late abode of our troop.

"That beats me," said the colonel—"bursting shells, but no gun reports. I don't see any balloon from which the enemy could drop them."

I, too, was mystified and looked inquiringly at Brainard, who in turn looked pale and as if a heavy load of guilt was on his conscience.

"Colonel," said he, saluting, "I think I can explain it. I—some of the men brought in unexploded shells after the siege as mementos, and they were too big to carry away and were carelessly left in the houses, and the fire has reached them and made them hot, and"—

"Thunder!" roared the colonel, turning almost black with anger. "Bugler, blow 'forward!'"

Again the column moved. Brainard and I had been glad we were of the rear guard, for we had planned to be together, if only for a moment, the last men to leave the post. Now, we almost wished we might never leave it, for the colonel's anger boded no good to the men who were to blame for the false alarm, and it would be easy for the colonel to learn who the men were.

CHAPTER XIX.

BETTER THAN WE HAD EXPECTED.

OUR destination, which we soon reached, was the Union line on the Peninsula, on the road by which McClellan had started in 1862 for Richmond, and we were cheered by quite a lot of letters from home. It appeared that the evacuation had been ordered for an earlier date, so mail matter for our regiment had not been forwarded.

No sooner had I opened one of my letters than I began to be mystified, for the writer, my mother, was praising me extravagantly for something gallant which she assumed I had done. I read rapidly, but only to be further mystified. A letter from my father was equally confusing. It informed me that the whole town was ringing with praises of me and that our district's member of the state senate had called to hear the story and declared that all the district as well as Summerton was talking of me and was proud of me.

I called Brainard to my assistance, but he was reading a letter from my cousin May and was utterly unresponsive, so I opened other envelopes, only to find congratulations from old schoolmates and even from some of the solid men of the village. What could it mean? Evidently some other John Frost in the cavalry service had done something in particular, and my family and fellow townsmen, like villagers in general, had not thought that there might be two men of the same name.

Little by little I learned from the letters that the deed of which I was supposed to be the hero was a midnight ride alone into a country swarming with the enemy. I had made no such ride unless it was on the night I was scared back to camp by the rattling trace chains of the artillery horses that Brainard afterward discovered. I had not recovered from my mortification at my failure that night, so of course it could not be for that affair that all Summerton and our senatorial district were praising me.

Slowly it occurred to me that some one of our Summerton troopers had heard of Brainard's successful ride of the same night and had known that I started to make the trip. He had got Brainard and me mixed in his mind, and so I was being glorified for work at which I had shamefully failed, and the real hero of the affair was being defrauded of his right.

"Charley!" I groaned. He was looking idiotically happy when I spoke, but said afterward that my face alarmed him. I quickly told him of the contents of my letters and of the only possible explanation.

"Is that all?" asked Brainard when I had concluded. "Do feel easy about it, for I'm not a bit jealous." Then he fell to rereading his letter from my cousin May, but I exclaimed:

"Stop being a fool! Listen to me! You know perfectly well that I'm not going to sail under false colors. The story will get pretty soon to the other Summerton men of our company, and they'll chaff me most unmercifully. I must find the man who wrote the yarn home, and you must help me, and we must make him correct the blunder before the story gets back here."

For the first time in my acquaintance with him Brainard looked irresolute. Still worse, he looked sheepish. Then he said:

"I'm afraid I'm the guilty man."

"You?"

"Yes. Don't be angry, Jack, when I explain. Of course I didn't suppose that your cousin May"—

"What has May to do with it?"

"Nothing. That is, she isn't in any way to blame. Say, old chap, I suppose you'll think me a fool, but—you can't understand. I'm not so modest that I couldn't see that my ride with dispatches that night was quite creditable to me, and I did wish your cousin May could know of it and that I might know how she regarded it. I began to write her about it, but my pen simply wouldn't work. Somehow I can't blow my own trumpet. Suddenly it occurred to me that you'd gone through all that I had—the sense of danger, the loneliness, the expectation of running into a camp of Johnnies or at least of being fired upon at short range. So I wrote up your ride just as I knew you felt while making it, and I didn't leave out a single heart quake."

"You infernal, blessed hypocrite! Did you make me deliver the dispatch? I never imagined you could lie, even for the sake of telling a good story. I"—

"I didn't lie. I said that despite the scares the dispatches finally reached their destination. And, oh, Jack, the letter she's written in reply! I'm taking all the praise to myself, every bit of it, but you may read it."

"Read it? I'll send back a denial by the first mail, and if ever again you trust a big hearted, excitable girl with any story that you don't want known by the whole world I'll dump you into a lunatic asylum for your own protection and for mine. Can't you see what an awful position you've put me in? I shall never dare face the boys again unless you explain to all of them, and, of course, you can't do that. I almost wish I could be shot or made a prisoner. Besides"—

"Heard the news, boys?" asked Cloyne, stopping a moment in front of our tent, "Hamilton has been promoted—a big jump, too, for he's made first lieutenant."

"It's an insult to the army!" exclaimed Brainard. "Hamilton's a— No, I won't say what I was going to, but he always dodges fighting."

"Yes, so our captain told the colonel, or so they say, but the colonel replied: 'It may be that he's no stomach for fighting, but he knows how to care for the stomachs of men who do fight, so he's to be regimental commissary and feed the regiment as well as he's fed his company. In war bellies count for as much as bullets.'"

"There's something to that," said Brainard, "and I'm glad Hamilton's found his proper place. That isn't all. I'll go at once and congratulate him on it."

"Don't!" said Cloyne, putting an arm about Brainard and looking down into the little chap's face with sad, tender, pitying eyes.

"Why not?"

"Because—oh, hang the mysteries of this tormenting world—because he's got a ten day leave of absence. He'll be a fool if he doesn't go to New York, get into an officer's uniform, then hurry out to Summerton, call on—oh, the girls—and"—

Brainard twitched himself from Cloyne's arm, looked up to heaven and shook his fist savagely at the great white throne. Then he dashed into our tent and dropped on his knees. I quickly tied the tent strings on the outside, an intimation that no one was at home, and hurried to Cloyne's tent. Cloyne exclaimed:

"Poor Brainard!"

"You knew—about her—and them?" said I.

"Haven't I eyes?" he replied.

"Yes," I answered, for I saw that his eyes were wet. "But give me paper and pen and ink and envelope—quick—and I'll try a flanking movement."

I wrote my cousin May a long letter, telling her of Hamilton's luck and also of its cause and intimating that should Hamilton's father ever lose his money Phil would be abundantly qualified to become head cook in a restaurant. This might have been an insult to the personnel of the army's entire commissary force, which contained thousands of superb fighters, though none of them was expected to fight, but I knew May wouldn't construe it in that way. Then I told of Brainard's successful dispatch carrying, which he had pretended was done by me, and of his work in the fight at the bridge and how many compliments he had received for it. I continued with a description of Brainard in his bunk after the fight looking with tearful eyes alternately at her picture and in his mirror at his bullet furrowed cheek, and I concluded by saying that the scar that remained was more coveted by all of us as an honorable decoration than if it had been a major general's shoulder straps. To be sure that the letter would reach its destination as soon as possible I rode with it to the general postoffice at post headquarters in the fort, a mile away.

I had scarcely reached the fort when a sound somewhat resembling the rumble of a distant railway train caused me to look over my shoulder, and I saw half a mile behind me the entire regiment approaching at the gallop. "I see here a divided duty," I quoted to myself from "Othello," but I did not hesitate. Whatever the danger to the post and the nation, both had hundreds of champions in the regiment; Brainard had but one, so I rode into the fort and did not leave until I had found the postmaster and placed my letter in his hands.

When I emerged, the regiment had passed the fort and was disappearing in the village. To return to camp for my saber, carbine and pistol would leave me 10 or 15 minutes behind my comrades, and "a stern chase is a long one." I had no weapon with me but the sheathknife I always carried in my boot, for it was a tool of all work—hatchet, carving knife, root digger and half a dozen other things. It would at least serve for self defense in a hand to hand fight, and fights of this character were almost unknown to us, thanks to the enemy's objection to getting within close reach of us. At the worst I would have the honor and pleasure of being "present for duty" should the affair prove serious.

My horse was as good as the best, so I soon passed through the village and galloped along the Richmond road, for the hoof prints in the dust showed that the regiment had taken that route. Unarmed though I was, my sense of exhilaration was intense. Over this same road had passed in other days the patriot soldiers of two wars, even great Washington himself. I—my regiment—was no longer at an out of the way outpost that had been held a year only to be told that it was not worth holding. We were now really in the enemy's country and with a possibility of seeing service of sufficient importance to be mentioned in the newspapers.

In fact, my head got so far into the clouds that I neglected to keep my eyes on the road, which is the worst blunder of which a trooper can be guilty. When I did chance to glance downward, it was to discern that only a few horsemen had preceded me. It did not take me long to learn that the few did not belong to the enemy, for on the moist ground beside a small stream that crossed the road I saw the prints of horseshoes and their nail heads. The enemy's troop horses were unshod, as a rule. I rode some minutes longer and was suddenly stopped by a familiar voice shouting:

'Twas the voice of Sergeant Mick McTwyny, who had been detached, with his platoon, to "watch" a portion of a crossroad far to the right of the old postroad. His platoon of 16 men consisted principally on this occasion of his own gang. "Birds of a feather flock together." But Brainard was also in it.

"Somebody lend me a revolver merely as a matter of form," said I, "in case anything may happen. I was in the fort when the regiment came out. I hadn't time to go back to camp for my things, so I just came along on general principles."

"That's the thing!" said Sergeant Mick, with a tigerish grin that was meant for an approving smile.

The platoon seemed to me to be in great luck. It was a hot day; the men were dismounted and resting at ease, their sabers strapped to the saddles, in the shade on the edge of a forest in front of which was an abandoned, bare plantation at least half a mile square. A gentle breeze from the northwest blew refreshingly. The line between the open ground and the forest was marked by a rail fence; how this had escaped the campfires of the hundreds of thousands of northern and southern soldiers who had tramped the Peninsula was a mystery to me, except that it seemed a great way from the Richmond road, which had been the bone of contention.

BAD SMASHUP ON C.P.R

Five Persons Were Killed and Five Were Injured.

The Governor-General and Lady Minto Were on the Train, But They Were Not Injured—Two Ontario Women Known to Be Dead—Responsibility Fixed—Engineer and Conductor of the Freight Arrested.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—The second section of the C.P.R. train No. 2, which left Winnipeg early Thursday morning and to which was attached special cars of the vice-regal party, crashed into the rear end of a freight train on a siding at Sintaluta at 8.30 Thursday night, causing the death of five persons and injuring several more. Fortunately the vice-regal party, at the rear end of the express, escaped uninjured, barring a severe shaking up and nervous shock. The party continued on their journey west, passing through Regina yesterday morning. But the accident has cast a cloud over the valedictory tour, which has taken on itself something of the character of a triumphal procession, with cheering crowds and addresses of welcome at every side point, testifying to the great esteem in which the people of the west held Their Excellencies.

Killed and Injured.

The following were killed:

Mrs. J. W. Donett, Edmonton, sister of W. L. Parrish, Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Mrs. Warren, Sand Point, Ont.

Agnes M. Shirley, Ottawa, to Strathcona.

Unidentified woman and girl.

Injured: Mrs. J. Beck and Miss Golden, en route to Manila from New York; Miss Murray, en route to Shanghai; Ira Ross, from Blenheim, Ont., ticketed to Victoria; porter, L. T. Hart, William Booker, porter, Montreal.

Responsibility Fixed.

The responsibility of the fatal accident on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Sintaluta has been fixed on Engineer T. Johnston and Conductor Irwin of freight train No. 118.

At the corner's inquest, held over the bodies of five victims of the wreck yesterday afternoon, a verdict of criminal negligence was returned against these men, and about 5.30 they were arrested and taken to Moosejaw, where they will stand trial. Both men are residents of Moosejaw.

Details of the accident indicate that the freight passed the switch at Sintaluta on the main line, and then backed on the siding, which had been opened by the brakeman on the rear of the train, while the brakeman on the front end walked forward along the main line to give the red signal to the engineer on the approaching passenger train, which would bring that train to a standstill, if the freight did not switch in time to let the passenger train go by.

The latter was some time reaching Sintaluta after the freight had been sidetracked, and it is surmised that the front brakeman had walked back to the train without thinking of the main line being still thrown open for a siding and probably under the impression that the switch had been returned by the other brakeman.

Passenger Tells Story.

Regina, Sept. 3.—Traveling at a high rate of speed, the second section of No. 1 Westbound crashed into the rear end of a freight at Sintaluta Thursday night, caused the death of five women, including a 14-year-old girl, and severely bruising and shaking up many others. Although only five are known to be dead, it is believed that others are yet in the wreck. A passenger on the ill-fated train stated that the sleeper immediately behind the engine collapsed most, as it was there that the shock was felt. He was getting ready to retire when he felt the air brake applied and a terrific shock immediately followed.

The scene was one of great confusion, money, valuables, watches and trinkets being scattered around promiscuously. A girl, 14 years of age, had a stick driven through her body and died as she was being carried away from the wreck. Two patients were brought to Victoria Hospital here, one, Ira Ross of Blenheim, slightly injured, and William Booker of Montreal, porter, with a broken leg.

Official Report.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—The official despatch to the head office of the C.P.R. shows that the five women killed by the Pacific express colliding with a freight at 40 miles west of Broadview were:

Mrs. Warren, wife of C.P.R. agent, at Sand Point, Ont.

Agnes M. Shirley, residence unknown.

Mrs. Donett, Edmonton, and two ladies still unidentified, having tickets from Toronto to Calgary.

The injured are:

Miss M. Murray, badly burned, en route to Shanghai.

Mrs. J. Beck.

Miss Golden, bruised, en route for Manila.

Ira Ross of Blenheim, Ont., leg broken.

L. T. Hart, leg broken. Two of the above will die.

Mrs. Warren Left Tuesday.

Arnprior, Sept. 3.—News was received in town yesterday afternoon, telling of the death of Mrs. Thomas Warren of Sand Point, Ont., who met death instantly in a railway collision on the C.P.R., west of Calgary, N.W.T., Thursday evening. The deceased lady left on Tuesday of this week on an extended visit to Palo Alta, California, there to visit a son.

On Way to School.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Miss Agnes Shirley, reported to be from Ottawa, killed in the C.P.R. wreck at Sintaluta, N.W.T., was a daughter of Thomas Shirley of South March, Carleton County. She was a school teacher, trained at the Ottawa Normal, and was on her way to Strathcona to take a position.

BLAZING OIL CUTS OFF ESCAPE.

Six Killed By Fire in House Near Oil Well.

Yellow Creek, O., Sept. 3.—Six persons were burned to death, and four terribly injured by a fire and oil explosion here yesterday. The dead: Mrs. Henry Fling and two children, and three unknown men. The injured, Rev. Mr. Stidd, Robert Alexander, Henry Fling and Mr. Fish.

The house of Mr. Fling was fired by a street lamp, and the intense heat set fire to the rig of an oil well near the house. The flames destroyed the derrick and communicated to the tank, which was full of oil. Before the occupants of the house realized their danger a terrific explosion occurred. The blazing oil was thrown all over the house, and their escape was cut off. The bodies were recovered after the fire.

Fell 70 Feet to Death.

Lethbridge, N.W.T., Sept 3.—Walter Raub, George Moore, and Albert Lombard fell 70 feet from the new steel waterworks tower Thursday afternoon. The last named is dead, and the other two are probably fatally injured.

Another Trolley Victim.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—At 12.45 this morning, the trolley claimed another victim. The fatality occurred at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue. The body was taken to the morgue. It is thought to be that of a cattle drover, but no means of identifying it was found. The body was mangled.

Boy's Lower Jaw Laid Bare.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Herbert Jones, aged 14, an employe of the Morton Check Book Company, was standing on the basement floor of the building, looking up at a descending hoist. The elevator slipped and fell, grazing Jones' face. The flesh was torn away from the lower jaw, exposing the lower set of teeth. It was thought at first that the injury was fatal, but the patient is doing very well under the circumstances.

WEEK OF UNSETTLED WEATHER.

But All Signs Now Point to Better Conditions in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—The past week has been generally wet or unsettled throughout the west, and consequently, progress in harvesting has not been so great as was expected.

Some districts, notably on the C. P. R. main line, west of Brandon, report hardly an acre cut for the whole week. Indian Head has been deluged, and crops on much of the low-lying land are sodden with wet, but the weather now shows signs of being more settled.

Storekeepers, who have been carrying farmers in certain districts badly hit by frost last fall, are getting anxious as to the present crop, as its partial failure would make considerable commercial embarrassment.

PRAISE FOR EARL GREY

London Evening Papers Comment on His Appointment.

Canada Expected to Take Kindly to the New Governor-General—Was a Statesman's Mind and a Diplomatic Temper—Whatever He Puts His Hand to He Does With a Will—An Imperialist in the Fullest Sense.

London, Sept. 3.—The Globe says that in the choice of Earl Grey for the Governor-Generalship of Canada, the Government have undoubtedly secured an excellent representative of the sovereign in our great North American dependency. In politics before all things he is an Imperialist in the fullest sense of the word.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Canada will obtain a Governor-General of parts in Earl Grey; whatever he puts his hand to he does with a will."

The Pall Mall Gazette remarks that it is a curious coincidence that Earl Grey's aunt and the wife of Canada's Lord Durham and his sister, is the wife of Lord Minto. Canada, therefore, should take kindly to him. He has a statesman's mind and a diplomatic temper.

To Reach Canada About Oct. 25.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—It is expected that the new Governor-General will reach Canada about Oct. 25.

Strange.

London, Sept. 3.—Hon. Mr. Webb, Australia's ex-Minister of Agriculture, admitted to the Butter Commission that he received £3,700 as his share of the secret commission given by British shipping companies to one firm of butter agents.

Without Imagination.

London, Sept. 3.—The Standard, in an article on Imperial place names, says that too many of these are characterized by a lack of exercise of the imagination, or sometimes the abuse of that faculty. "Canada" is of doubtful interpretation, some claiming that it is an Iroquois term for village, others as derived from the Spanish, "acanada," meaning nothing here.

WAS COMING TO CANADA.

The "English Dreyfus" Had Plans Spoiled By His Arrest.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Mr. Coley Bromfield, who is visiting Canada in the interests of the New Ontario Railway and Colonization Co., reports that the "option bonds" have been signed by all the parties interested, and notice thereof has been cabled to England for ratification by the board of directors. Mr. Blomfield learned yesterday, through his English solicitor, of the death of Mr. Cheesewright, the well-known Australian railroad engineer, who was to have superintended the construction of the new railroad.

The recent English Dreyfus case should be of peculiar interest to Canadians, in that Mr. Beck, who underwent such unjust punishment, was managing director of the New Ontario Railway and Colonization Company. He was making arrangements before his arrest to bring out some 2,500 settlers and settle them in the Rainy River district.

Diet and Looks.

Too many women sacrifice good looks to appetite. The woman who would have a nice skin and a clear complexion must be even more careful in the choice of the food she eats than in the gowns she wears. Stoutness and thinness are both very often caused by errors in diet, and a sallow and pimpled condition of the skin may also arise from the selfsame cause, says Home Chat. Light, easily digested food, avoidance of highly spiced and seasoned dishes, pickles and pastry, the substitution of milk or cocoa for tea, coffee and alcoholic drinks, with fresh air and exercise, will do much toward promoting a clear skin and maintaining a look of youthfulness. Women forget that the stomach is the furnace of the body and that it must not only have proper fuel, but that it must not be clogged with useless matter.

STORM ON LAKE SUPERIOR.

C.P.R. Steamer Forced to Turn Back on Course Into Harbor.

Port Arthur, Sept. 3.—One of the worst storms of the season raged on Lake Superior yesterday. All navigation has been affected. Thursday after the steamers Alberta and Wexford cleared from Fort William, as they got out into Lake Superior, they encountered a heavy sea. The wind was blowing a hurricane. Both boats began pitching so badly that they had to return. They came into this port for shelter. This is the first time that a C.P.R. steamer has been compelled to turn back for many seasons. Capt. Fayette stated that the boat could not live in such a storm. A large number of passengers got off the steamer and continued the journey by train.

William Stevens Dead.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—Willis Stephens is dead. This will be sad news to the many friends of William Stephens, brother of Lord Mountstephen, and who has traveled more than any other man in Canada. He had been ill for some weeks. Mrs. Robert Meigher is a sister of deceased.

Sir Charles Arrives.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., W. H. Tupper, Lady Tupper, and Mrs. Tupper, arrived here last evening by the Bavarian. The ex-Premier and his son will leave for Halifax, Sunday evening, while Lady Tupper and her granddaughter will go to Winnipeg.

McCauley Released.

New York, Sept. 3.—Thomas N. McCauley, manager and former president of the International Mercantile Agency, who was arrested on Tuesday, at the request of the police of Hamilton, Ont., charged with the larceny of $4,200, was yesterday rearraigned before Justice Wyatt of the court of special session and held in $5,000 bail for a further examination. No testimony was taken. Friends of McCauley furnished sureties and he was released.

Manufacturers' Day.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Although Manufacturers' Day was ushered in with rain the Canadian National Exhibition was a success yesterday. The dinner tendered to the manufacturers by the directorate was the most successful ever held. Among the speakers were Hon. G. W. Ross and Hon. G. E. Foster. Prof. Zavitz, O.A.C., lectured in the Dairy building on "Farm Crops."

Barn Struck By Lightning.

Tiverton, Sept. 3.—A heavy thunder storm passed over this section about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, doing considerable damage, the barn of Mr. John L. McKenzie of the Base Line, Kincardine Township, being struck. The loss is a heavy one.

Barn Struck By Lightning.

Fergus, Sept. 3.—Lightning struck the barn of Romeo Lisadoni, Living-Springs, West Garafraxa, during a big storm that passed over here last evening. A large part of the season's crop was entirely consumed.

Getting Serious.

"I guess Mr. Olden doesn't feel as young as he did several months ago," remarked the observant man.

"Why do you think so?"

"He used to joke with that waitress or who lives near him, but he doesn't do it any more."

Scrap on Education Trade.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—A party of 1,000 excursionists from Nova Scotia bound for the Northwest harvest fields made rough house on a C.P.R. train coming from Montreal yesterday morning. At Calumet some one entered a store and stole two bales of cloth. An Italian named Flanlaro of Sydney, C.B., and Hugh McDonald of Pictou, got into a scrap, and the latter was stabbed in the back. The Ottawa police were notified and a squad met the train. The Italian was arrested and McDonald held as a witness. The stolen stuff was recovered. Police accompanied the train West.

Vesuvius Active.

Naples, Sept. 3.—Mount Vesuvius is again in activity. Flames, ashes and stones are rising from it to a considerable height, and a wide stream of lava is issuing from the crater.

HIS GRAVEL WAS SURELY CURED

Dodd's Kidney Pills Removed the Stones.

Bristol, Que., Sept. 2 (Special)—Reuben Draper, a well known resident here, keeps th sprout right with him that Dodds Kidney Pills will surely cure the much dreaded Gravel. The proof consists of two stones, one the size of a small bean and the other as big as a grain of barley. He passed these stones and was relieved of all the terrible pains they caused after using Dodd's Kidney Pills for a short time.

Mr. Draper is confident that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else caused his cure, as he tried two doctors without getting help, and was fast getting weak and despondent when his stepped all other treatment and started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. In a week he passed the large stone and four days later the smaller one.

This cure causes a feeling of relief over people in these parts, as it shows those terrible operations, long thought to be unavoidable in case of Gravel, are no longer necessary.

Raffle Baskets

Wouldn't you like to have something novel in the way of presents for your friends this Christmas? If so, why not make some of these pretty raffle baskets that are both useful and ornamental. They are very easily and quickly made and several ladies in town who have become adept in the art would be willing to give some instructions in it for a small fee. Instructions may be found in several of the magazines which are widely read in town and in the issue of the Ladies' Home Journal for August 1903. The raffle comes in many pretty shades and is for sale only at the Review office. In the moments these long evenings in getting ready for Xmas pad avoid being hurried later on.

RAN INTO FREIGHT TRAIN

TWO NORWOOD YOUNG MEN HAVE THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

A Dangerous Crossing near the Village Station — What is Going on in the Eastern Capital.

The correspondent of the Review at Norwood sends the following particulars of the experience which two young men of Havelock had on Monday evening, as referred to in Tuesday evening's issue —:

Two young men from Havelock, named Taylor and Johnston, both employees of the C.P.R., had an experience in Norwood on Monday evening, which they will not soon forget and which will be a life-long lesson to them. They had procured a horse and rig from Mr. A. Richard's, liveryman, of Havelock, and drove over to Norwood to have a good time. Having enjoyed themselves until it was time to go home, they proceeded to go to Havelock about 9 p. m., and had got as far as the mill crossing when their progress was interrupted by an incoming freight train. They claim that the horse, which was always afraid of a train, became unmanageable and just as the train was almost past the crossing, dashed into the hind cars, with the result that the horse had to be killed on the spot, the buggy taken to the repair shop and the young men were badly shaken up. The wonder is that they were not both killed, as they were thrown from the rig

MUNICIPALITY OF

Voters' List 1904.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in Sections 8 and 9 of the Ontario Voters' List Act, the copies required by said sections to be so transmitted or delivered of the said list, made pursuant to the said Act of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Roll of the said municipality to be entitled to vote at said municipality at elections for members of the Legislative Assembly, and at Municipal elections, and that said list was first posted up at my office, North Monaghan, on the 2nd day of September, 1904, and remains there for inspection.

Electors are called upon to examine the said list, and if any omissions or any other errors are found therein, to take immediate proceedings to have the said errors corrected according to law.

entire satisfaction. This is a boon to the farmer, as it is said to do away with the help if two or three men in the straw mow.

Messrs. John Finlay & Son put in a couple of carloads of coal this week for fuel to the boilers in their factory.

Farmers in this vicinity have nearly completed harvesting, and, despite the discouraging reports of poor wheat crops, the threshers report a fairly good yield.

Oats and peas are turning out good.

The winter apple crop is going to be short.

STREET RAILWAY NOTICE

SPEAKING OF CHILDREN

A WRITER DISCUSSES THE PREFERENCE FOR BOYS.

Some Thoughts that Appear to be Well Applied — The Place of the Girl in the Home.

The Czar has been receiving congratulations from all over the world during the last ten days, because his luck has undergone a change and a boy has come to "bless his home." Of course the youngster will refrain from doing much blessing for a while yet, but sooner or later he is sure to break out and bless the old man with the true festive manner of an only son. But that is merely by the way. It is the idea of congratulating Nicholas that appeals to me. It shows a good spirit on the part of the whole civilized world

The Czar has been playing in hard luck ever since he was called to the throne. Think of it — four daughters hand running! Ma' enough to melt the heart of a pick-axe. And the price of bread in Russia! No wonder the autocrat insisted on a fight with Japan — the provocation was enough to make him assault his crippled old grandmother. The press comments that I have so far read seem to suggest that the cause for rejoicing is to be found in the fact that previously to the birth of his son the Czar had no heir to whom the crown could descend in the event of his Majesty's sudden taking off—say, a la Plehve. Such an idea is sheer nonsense. The Czar has uncles, brothers, cousins and nephews who could fill the position just as well as the kid could, without changing the name of the firm. The only cause for gladness was the sudden break in the alarming chain of girls that were so rapidly winding themselves around the ruler's neck.

Girls have ever been looked upon with regret when they make their appearance in a household. Boys are an asset; girls a liability. I am speaking now, of course, of the prevailing opinion of girls in countries in which the European, or erroneous, idea of civilization, controls society —that is to say, where the female sex has been exalted almost to the level of the male. In Oriental countries, where women are not yet artificially honored—and consequently where they have not become a handicap on their parents in the race for success—the birth of a son is not looked forward to with the joyous expectation that prevails among us. In Turkey or Persia, for instance, it is the daughter who receives the royal welcome. But in those countries the value of the female has not been absurdly removed by social whims and silly statutes. In the East a girl baby is worth almost her weight in gold. To be sure, she must be properly brought up—the cost of raising must be considered—but the net profit always promises to be sufficiently handsome to warrant no inconsiderable expense and pains in raising her to a marketable age. She can readily be sold—providing she possesses reasonable good looks—for a sum sufficient to gladden the hearts of the parents and to encourage the welcome and careful attention of the younger and newly-arriving sisters.

(With us, on the other hand, it is only from the boy that we can hope —and then we are taking tremendously long chances—for an adequate monetary return for the expense, anxiety and toil of his upbringing. He is at least fifteen—an age at which, in Persia, a girl can easily be disposed of—before we can expect him to earn his own living; and he is usually twenty ere he begins to contribute any substantial sum to the support of his parents and the other members of the family. In most cases he doesn't turn out to be of much account. He either hangs on to the old man and bleeds him as long as that patient sufferer will stand it, or—as soon as he can provide for himself—he leaves home and starts up business on his own account. In such cases he is a mistake, a blunder, a thoroughly bad investment. Not over three per cent of the boys born each year can be regarded as paying ventures. And yet we all look forward to their arrival with hopeful expectation. What a condemnation of the worthlessness of the girl! We are actually gratified if we have a man— when only three per cent. of the sons born ever bring in returns sufficient to justify their birth! From this it can readily be seen that girls are not wanted at all. And this is only the natural result of the artificial exaltation of women to a social status approaching that naturally held by man. In trying to honor them we have made them the victims of a social condition where their birth is regarded as a misfortune, where they are compelled to go out into the world and work for their livings and by reducing the value of labor make their existence even more regretted, and the lives of their fathers and brothers even more unhappy. Probably the greatest mistake of Western civilization was the attempt to lift woman from her natural level exalt her and give her a place on the dizzy height beside her brother. What false kindness! What prodigal, blind and stupid generosity on the part of our ancestors! How happy our women might have been to-day, how luxurious their lives, how prosperous the home, had the good old Oriental status of women been retained in the civilization of the West! No wonder the Czar hoped for a son No wonder the world yearned forth its felicitations when that son arrived. If we must raise families, the least we can ask to be excused for expecting is a protection against daughters.

I have had the substance of this article in mind for a good while, but it is only after I had been assured of the hearty sympathy of many lady friends that I finally consented to do what little I could to check the regrettable decline in female baby stock. —"Jaques," in Toronto Saturday Night.

ANOTHER LIFT-LOCK

One 52 feet high to be built on Trent Canal.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Mr. Collingwood Schriebr, C. M. G., deputy minister of railways and canals, returned yesterday from a tour of inspection of the Trent Valley and "Soo" canals. Mr. Schrieber found that the accident to the lift lock at Peterborough was due merely to a mistake by the operator and not any defect in the machinery. Tenders will be invited shortly for the construction of another 52 feet lift lock for the Trent canal. At the Soo Mr. Schrieber found a depression in traffic, common to both Canadian and American canals. The upper entrance to the Canadian lock is being deepened to a draft of 21 feet 3 inches. The lower entrance pier is being extended 500 feet. Most of the cribbing is in place and it is expected to have the crib work finished in a couple of months the cement superstructure to be constructed next spring. Mr. Schrieber paid a visit to the rolling mill of the Soo work. The mill is at present turning out about 200 tons of rails daily, but will soon be running at its full capacity of 500 tons. The quality of the rails Mr. Schrieber pronounces to be excellent.

A Great Farmer's Paper.

That enterprising and up-to-date agricultural journal, the Farming World, has issued a most valuable special exhibition number. It is full of good things for the farmer. In fact, everyone interested in the development of Canada's great agricultural resources will profit by reading it carefully. A particularly valuable feature is a series of articles by experts showing the condition and trend of agriculture in the various provinces of the Dominion. If the views expressed byy these gentlemen are correct, and we believe they are, the future prosperity of Canada is assured for many years to come. Mr. A. Blue, Chief of the Census Commission, Ottawa, contributes a valuable paper showing the present status of the farming industry in Canada. He gives figures to show that agriculture is by all odds the most important of Canada's industries and that the future of this country depends in a most marked degree upon the progress and success of our farmers. The practical matter on live stock, dairying, poultry, etc., is of a high order.

The illustrations and other mechanical features are excellent. Intending subscribers are invited to send to the Farming World, Toronto, for a free sample copy of this number.

Nursing Infants.

As the health of a nursing infant depends largely upon the health of the mother, it is very essential that no great strain, physical or mental, should be put upon her and that she should have a certain amount of rest and mental diversion. To this end it is advisable as early as possible, which means as soon as the baby is well started and gaining in weight, to give one bottle feeding of diluted cow's milk once in twenty-four hours. It is usually safe to commence this feeding at the end of a month, and it is best to give the milk quite diluted for the first two or three days, say one part of milk to four parts of water, until the stomach becomes accustomed to the change of food.—Harper's Bazar.

Obstinacy or Determination?

How often do we speak of a child as obstinate and pigheaded when he is merely determined! We fail to see that what we take to be obstinacy to give up some pet project is really a courage and tenacity of purpose which will prove a successful shield in years to come when fighting the battle of life. What a terrible mistake we make, then, when we try to subdue the child and, as we say, "break his spirit!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

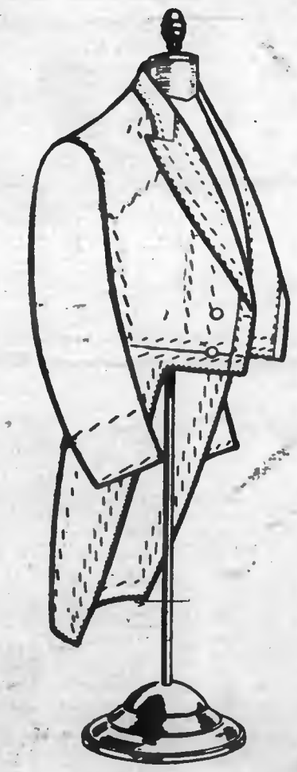
WORKING OUT OUR IDEAL



To tailor suits better than the best custom tailor.

To make each suit fit better, to have more careful interior workmanship, to give each suit an individual expression—the certain snap that every well-tailored garment carries—to so tailor that each suit holds its shape permanently, that was our purpose in '98.

That is our purpose in '04, but it's easier now —ever so much easier! and yet our different forepersons have mostly been with us since '98!

From the start it has been a steady process of education for us all!

By rigid adherence to our ideals—by rejecting the "not-quite-so-good" and exacting the "best" have we attained our purpose.

Because the demand for our carefully hand-tailored suits has increased—because we have established new selling branches just as we have here —our business has warranted many things.

We have been able to assemble skilled, clever tailors—men and women who are cunning and skilful with their fingers, who delight in their work—who know how to mould cloth with the needle—how to sew so as to render the cloth shape retaining. These skilful tailors we have grouped in units—each expert on some one suit part—as a part is finished it is carefully scrutinized for flaws and then quickly passed to the next unit.

The result is a suit that fits perfectly—possesses individual expression —looks well-bred—tasteful, and becomes a gentleman.

The one right we have to open a selling branch here is the fact that we can tailor suits better than the best custom tailor.

The growth from two selling branches in Canada in '98 to thirty in '04 is one indication that we possess that right—you will see the only other in the suits themselves.

We will be very proud to show you these suits. Please don't consider it obligatory to make a purchase.

If you do so and are at all dissatisfied we refund your money.

DISASTER OVERTAKES RUSSIANS

Russian Rear Guard was Almost Annihilated.

RUSSIANS LOSE 16,000 MEN

Main Army of the Czar is in Imminent Danger of Being Surrounded--Both Armies Racing Towards Mukden--Kuroki only Thirty Miles from the Northern Town.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported at an early hour this morning that Gen. Kuropatkin's rear guard has been almost annihilated, and that the main Russian army is in imminent danger of being surrounded. The Russian losses during the fighting at Liaoyang are placed at 16,000. Kuropatkin in his flight was forced to abandon 200 guns. The race to Mukden goes on. Kuroki is 30 miles away from the Northern Town.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—A despatch received from Gen. Kuropatkin forwarded Sunday evening indicates that Kuropatkin's army and Gen. Kuroki's army are racing for Mukden, and that the result is in doubt.

Mukden, Sept. 6.—Preparations for the evacuation of Mukden are proceeding. The Japanese advance is within 30 miles.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The Russian losses during the fighting at Liaoyang are estimated at 16,000. There is no doubt here that a number of guns, especially siege artillery, have been abandoned.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported here, but not yet confirmed, that Gen. Kuropatkin was obliged to abandon 200 guns at Liaoyang. Some of them were damaged in the fighting, and the rest were disabled by order of the Russian commander-in-chief.

Czar For the Front.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The report that the Emperor will go to the front is again revived, and seems to have foundation. It is known that the Imperial train has been fitted out for a long journey.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is officially stated that the United Russian forces are now north of Yentai, except a detachment left at that place to cover the retreat. The Japanese swarmed across the Taitse River, near its junction with the Pensi. The bulk of the Japanese forces is marching direct on Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—Field Marshal Oyama's whole army is across the Taitse River, and is pursuing General Kuropatkin's forces.

Mysterious Jap Army.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—An Associated Press despatch from Yentai, a place about 10 miles northeast of Liaoyang, makes the significant statement that desultory fighting occurred around Mukden on Saturday last. This must give signs of the presence of the mysterious Jap army.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—According to the latest but unofficial reports to the war office some rear guard fighting is progressing, and the retirement of Gen. Kuropatkin's main army is continuing.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported that the Baltic squadron will sail a week from date by way of the Mediterranean, but that it will not proceed to the far east if Port Arthur falls.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—General Kuropathin's defeat caused a drop of ¼ point of imperial fours on the local bourse.

On to Harbin Now.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is impossible at this hour (2.20) to obtain any statement from the authorities regarding the reported preparations for the abandonment of Mukden.

This is the first intimation that such a course is contemplated. If it turns out to be true, it means the abandonment of the whole of Southern Manchuria and the winding up of the present campaign.

In fact, should Mukden be evacuated, there would be no point for wintering the army of a quarter of a million with its many wounded, short of Harbin.

On the other hand, the evacuation of Mukden would give Field Marshal Oyama commodious winter quarters and the practical control of two lines of railway. The Kinchau-Sinmintin line, tapping rich Chinese territory, stops little short of Mukden, with which it is connected by a good wagon road. The report of the pro-

VACANCY IN NORTH PERTH

ELECTION OF JOHN BROWN, LIBERAL MEMBER, VOIDED.

Protest Tried this Morning in Stratford Before Chief Justice Moss and Justice Street.

(Special to Review.)

Stratford, September 6th.—The protest against the election of Mr. John Brown, Liberal member for North Perth in the local House, was tried here this morning before Chief Justice Moss and Justice Street. Only two witnesses were examined, H. W. Brenner and his wife. The former testified that money was offered him to vote for the respondent and the latter gave evidence as to having received $5 for the same purpose. It having been previously arranged between the parties that no further evidence would be offered, this one case being sufficient for the purpose, their lordship declared the election void and the seat vacant. The writs petition was dismissed without costs.

WILL BECOME A JOURNALIST

Peterborough Young Man, Mr. Robt Todd to Join the Staff of the Winnipeg Telegram

Peterborough young men are in demand. A few days ago a letter was received by Principal Fessenden, of the Collegiate Institute, from the Managing Director of the Winnipeg Daily Telegram, asking him if he could recommend from among his best students one with special ability and education to fit him for a position on the staff of that newspaper. Mr. Fessenden forthwith interviewed one of his successful pupils, Mr. Robert Todd, son of Mr. R. J. Todd, Aylmer street, with the result that his application was sent in and he was at once accepted.

Mr. Todd graduated in a very creditable manner, his junior leaving examinations at the close of the recent midsummer term of the Collegiate Institute, and the opening which has followed to engage in the influential field of journalism must be highly gratifying to his teacher, his parents and himself.

Mr. Todd has many warm friends in town who will be proud to hear of this advancement. He was an active worker in the First Church of Christ, Scientists, of town, and on Monday, learning of his early departure the members presented him with a purse of money accompanied by the following pleasing address:—

Peterborough, September 5, 1904.

To Robt. Todd, Esq., Peterborough:—

Dear Robert,—The members of First Church of Christ, Scientists, of Peterborough, join in congratulating you on the excellent position you have secured in Winnipeg, and wish you every success in the business in which you are about to engage there.

We shall be very sorry indeed to part with you, and shall miss you from our Church and Sunday school. We shall long remember your faithful, consistent work while among us, and we feel that, as fellow-members and co-workers, we cannot let you go away without in some way expressing our love and esteem, and we beg that you will accept this little gift as a token of the high esteem in which we hold you. May Divine Love guard your every step, and direct you in all things. (We know our Master has promised, "Lo, I am with you always," so that you do not need to feel quite alone, though away from home and loved ones.

Again wishing you a safe journey, and every success in your new work,

Signed on behalf of the Church,

JAS. C. BORLAND, Clerk,
G. A. YOUNG, Treasurer.

Mr. Todd left this evening for Winnipeg on the 5.10 C.P.R. train, followed by the numerous well wishes of his friends.

spective evacuation of Mukden, if well founded, would indicate that the crippling effect of the Liaoyang fight on Kuropatkin's army is more serious than has as yet been intimated.

Retreat Cut Off.

London, Sept. 6.—The Daily Mail this morning prints a despatch from Sinmintin, dated Sept. 5, giving a report that Gen. Kuropatkin's retreat has been cut off.

The despatch goes on to say that the Russian troops had advanced in strong force to the south-east of Mukden as far as Taping Hill to oppose any possible attack in the direction of their advance.

A Chinese official, who arrived from Mukden Sunday, says that the Russian troops are leaving for the north, that there are 18,000 men to the east of the city, that the officers and men have become dispirited and that much sickness prevails.

WITHDREW BULK OF ARMY.

Tokio, Sept. 6.—A mass of official reports on the battle of Liaoyang reached headquarters yesterday, but they will not be given out until it is possible to put them in order and make from them a concise and detailed story. In the meantime headquarters is refraining from giving anything to the public.

It is generally known that Gen. Kuropatkin succeeded by means of a desperate rear guard action and strong and well-handled flank movements in withdrawing the great bulk of the Russian army, and that he cut bridges to hamper the Japanese pursuit.

Critical interest centres in the operation of the Japanese right wing which occurred late Friday night and early Saturday morning. Gen Kuroki then swung to the westward, his movement being designed to flank the remainder of the Russians' left at Liaoyang itself. It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin is bound to lose many prisoners to the Japanese. It is possible, however, that the topographical difficulties, and the overwhelming opposition of the Russians may check this movement on the part of Gen. Kuroki.

Distinguished Japs Killed.

Among the Japanese officers reported killed in the battle of Liaoyang are Lieut. Learochi, a son of Lieut.-Gen. Learechi, Minister of War, and Lieuts. Fukishima and Muratta, both sons of Japanese generals.

Official figures of the Japanese losses and a list of the trophies captured are expected to reach Tokio to-day.

It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin's next stand will be made at Mukden, although there is defensible ground south of there.

Field Marshal Yamagata, chief of the general staff, and Lieut.-General Learechi were the hosts at a banquet given last night in honor of the Liaoyang victory. The guests included the Imperial Princes, the members of the Cabinet and the elder statesmen, the staff officers of the army and navy departments and the chiefs of bureaus.

Tokio was illuminated again last night and the principal streets of the city, where a series of lantern processions took place, were thronged with people.

ECZEMA ON LEG FOR TEN YEARS

Would Scratch Till the Blood Flowed—Entirely Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states—"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

My little girl two years old, has also been cured of eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. Today her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to us."

Stakelberg Emerges.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—General Stakelberg's first Siberian army corps, which was reported Saturday by Gen. Kuropatkin as having been cut off to the westward of Liaoyang, has been safely extricated. General Kuropatkin telegraphed at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening that the greater portion of his army was then south of Yentai, about 10 miles northeast of Liaoyang, and that the other portion of it was crossing the Taitse River, and taking up a position on the right bank.

No Hope of Peace.

London, Sept. 6.—Careful inquiry in official and diplomatic quarters here yesterday establish the fact that no hope prevails of the termination of the war at this moment as a result of the series of victories obtained by the Japanese at Liaoyang. There has been no interchange of official views by the neutral European Governments.

Till Close of War.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—The crews of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, which took refuge after the naval battle of Port Arthur, Aug. 10, and which subsequently dismantled, will remain in China until the close of the war.

Corean-Jap Agreement.

London, Sept. 6.—No official representation will be made by the British Government in regard to the Corean-Japanese agreement, the text of which was cabled to the Associated Press from Tokio last night, but the authorities are taking a lively interest in the extent of the intervention of Japan into the affairs of the Hermit Kingdom. Under the Anglo-Japanese alliance both powers agreed to respect the independence and integrity of Corea, and the agreement between Japan and Corea is regarded as an infringement of Corean independence. But it had been expected that if Japan was successful in the war she would establish a protectorate over Corea. The Russian Embassy pointed out yesterday that at the beginning of the war the Russian Government declared it would not regard the acts of Japan in Corea as binding agreements, and therefore they would not receive the recognition of the Russian Government, a fact, which it is stated in Japanese diplomatic circles, does not concern Japan.

CRUSH REST OF TURK.

Armenian Insurgents Successfully Resist Ottoman Troops.

Paris, Sept. 6.—A despatch to The Temps, from Constantinople, by way of Sofia, says that an official report which has reached one of the foreign Consuls there states that the Armenian insurgents at Van, Asiatic Turkey, are successfully resisting the Turkish troops, which until Sunday had been unable to reduce or disperse them. The Armenians advanced to within about 400 yards of the French Consulate. The population of Van is seeking refuge in the schools and convents. It is expected that Turkey will mobilize the fourth army corps and draw troops from Asia Minor in order to suppress the uprising.

A Good Recommendation.

An Irishman was charged with a petty offence.

"Have you any one in court who will vouch for your good character?" queried the judge.

"Yes, sorr; there is the chief constable yonder," answered Pat.

The chief constable was amazed. "Why, your honor, I don't even know the man," protested he.

"Now, sorr," broke in Pat, "I have lived in the borough for nearly twenty years, and if the chief constable doesn't know me yet, isn't that a character for you?"

A Sequence of Titles.

A German periodical states that a very strange but none the less true fact is that the predecessor of the late Queen Victoria of England was at one and the same time William I., II., III. and IV. He was William I. of Hanover, William II. of Ireland, William III. of Scotland and William IV. of England.

He Couldn't Tell.

The editor of an English paper recently received a fine chicken, which he, supposing it to be a token of appreciation from a discriminating reader, took home and enjoyed for dinner. The following day he received this letter:

Dear Editor—Yesterday I sent you a chicken in order to settle a dispute which has arisen here. Can you tell us what the chicken died of?

The New Stepmother.

A woman recently engaged to the father asked his son, a little fellow of seven years, "How would you like me for your stepmother?" "First rate, as far as I'm concerned," he replied. "You'll have to speak to papa about it, though."

Becoming.

"Isn't my new dress becoming to me?" asked the delighted wife.

"Yes," replied the head of the establishment, "and I suppose the bill for it will soon be coming to me."

Both Recovered.

LABOR DAY WAS CELEBRATED

day, as he felt that its aims and influences were quite as important as any of the religious problems of the day which were treated from the pulpit. No man lived to himself. His acts hindered or benefitted others as well as himself. No problem was worth more serious consideration than that of the responsibility of one man towards another.

For a few minutes he sketched the industrial conditions of to-day as compared with the past, and claimed that the advance was due solely to organization, the bulwark of civilization in the British Empire to-day. Organization was the only protection the working man had against rapacity, greed and oppression. The churches interposed no bulwark, the political parties no ensurance of consideration. The burden of his message to the working man was, "be ye also ready." A struggle was coming. Employers were organizing together for mutual support, just as the trades unions had organized. In Toronto, for instance, and the idea was becoming general employers would not have to be considered isolated, but as bound together in a strong body. All were invited to help the one with whom a trade dispute had arisen. Dues well paid, defence funds created to re-imburse any employer in the Association who stood out and resisted the demands of organized labor. Clearly the employees were benefitting from experience. The Toronto Employers' Association requires its members to pay into the common treasury 3 cents per month for any employee getting $2.00 per day and over, and 1 1-2 cents per month for those receiving less than $2.00 per day. This will form a defence fund. When trouble comes the Committee of the Association handles the case for the employer, the consequence being that all capital is organized to assist one employer, if necessary. Then there was the black list system, by which an employee when deemed a troublesome man was denied employment by any member of the Association. This was plainly boycotting. Taking up the question of capital and labor, Mr. Simpson sketched out the relations of each to the other, and pointed out how the allied forces of finance were massed together to rob the workman of his heritage. He referred to some of the recent disclosures made by Henry Lawson relative to the deal by which $36,000,000 was made out of Amalgamated Copper, and of the woes, distress, loss and privation that followed the operations of the financiers. The same thing, in a smaller way, has prevailed in Canada, and the losses quite as serious in proportion to populations and resources. Some attention was paid by the speaker to the difficulty known as the builders' laborers, strike, now on in Toronto. A scale was asked for, and some contractors agreed to pay the scale, and then found themselves denied materials with which to carry on the contracts. Incidentally it had developed that employers had agreed that they would never offer higher wages to any man employed by another, to induce him to leave his employer, thus making the workman a fixture and cutting off hope of advancement and higher wages for individual work. When employers were looking to the political parties for purpose of carrying out their ends, it was time for the workingman to do likewise. In the opinion of the leaders of the union men, it was time for the workingman and the trades-union man in particular to take a hand in politics himself, to organize a political party and secure relief from exactions. The ballot was the remedy.

A powerful feature of the labor movement was the close affiliation with the present union on the American continent. In every sense the union was international. He could tell his hearers that all that was said about the men of Canada out of the country to support foreign unions was shwer nonsense. Canada received as a support in her labor troubles from three to four times as much as she paid in dues to the parent organizations. It was the strength of the international treasury that enabled the unions to win strikes.

Taking up the question of the closed vs. the open shops, Mr. Simpson discussed the phases of the movement among employers for the open shop. It was held by employers that the employer had no right to say as to how and when and where he should work, but it was manifest that every employee had a right to say under what conditions he would be willing to work. Several other points in connection with labor matters were handled clearly and intelligently, and Mr. Simpson closed his address with a strong appeal to the men to stand firm for union principles.

A vote of thanks was unanimously passed and tendered the speaker, and the chairman urged all to celebrate Labor Day by taking in the annual demonstration at Jubilee Point.

Comfort for Old People

Most of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements, which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago and body pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active, and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

A Curious Freak of Lightning.

The old adage that "lightning never strikes twice in the same place" has often been disproved. Here is an instance in point: In the summer of 1894 the farmhouse of Henry Axtell, in Chemung county, N. Y., was struck by lightning three times in one day. First it split the chimney from top to bottom, ruined stove and pipe and bored several large holes in the floor. An hour later a "bolt" struck the same house and tore a milk bench, upon which several cans of milk were setting, all to pieces. The same evening a third flash entered the roof and tore the legs from a bedstead.

Quaint Cures of Old.

For epilepsy wear a ring made from a coffin ring and take seven drops of blood from the tail of a cat. These remedies are equally efficacious either separately or in conjunction. For toothache carry in the pocket the tooth of a soldier killed in battle or eat mouse nibbled bread or trim your nails on a Friday. To cure warts, rub a potato and give the potato to a pig, or rub them with a piece of chalk, then put it in a little bag and throw it across cross roads. Holding the affected finger in the ear of a cat for half an hour was reckoned an excellent remedy for a felon.

His Estimate.

"How far do you travel in crossing the ocean from Liverpool to New York?" asked the instructor at the night school.

"Four thousand miles."

"Oh, no. Think again."

"That's right," persisted the shaggy haired pupil. "I know the book says 3,000 miles, an' that's what it is in a straight line, but I'm countin' in the ups an' downs. I've been across."

His Trade.

"And you say you have a trade?" asked the kind lady at the door.

"Yes'm," said the tramp, "I'm a worker in precious metals and stones."

"Indeed! And can't you get anything to do?"

"No'm, de perlice and de jewelers are all on to me."

Used to It.

Tommy was visiting a neighbor's. At dinner the hostess apologized to him because the table linen was soiled at his plate.

LABOR DAY WAS CELEBRATED

Members of the Local Unions, Ladies and Other Friends Enjoyed an Excursion to Jubilee Point—Eloquent Addresses on the Labor Question by Mr. Jas. Simpson, Labor Orator, of Toronto—Urges the Necessity of Organization —A Good Programme of Sports.

The "full dinner pail" was laid away yesterday—Labour Day—by members of the Trades and Labour Unions of Peterborough and a fair representation of the membership attended the excursion run to Jubilee under the auspices of the Trades and Labour Council. Everything promised a successful day's outing and such indeed, it proved. Though the attendance was not as large as it might have been, owing no doubt to outside attractions, a crowd of about four hundred people embarked shortly after eight o'clock in the morning on the steamers City of Peterborough and Water Lily and stow. The trip to Jubilee at this time of year has much to make it popular, and the excursionists undoubtedly appreciated it to the full. Many young people indulged in the pleasures of the dance on the scow, a capable orchestra having been engaged for the occasion Every arrangement for the day passed off without a hitch, and Labour Day of 1904 was well celebrated, and takes its place among the records of past success. Arriving at the Point, the excursionists, many of them, had dinner at Jubilee House, while others deprived well-prepared baskets of their burdens. This important function over, the big feature of the afternoon, an address by Mr. James Simpson of Toronto, the well known labour orator, attracted a large audience. In a very able and entertaining manner he discussed those questions which are dear to the heart of the toiler. He is a young man, but his prominence in Labour's world points to the fact that his judgment is sound and his arguments well founded. This indeed was apparent from his eloquent address.

from his eloquent address. Mr. Geo. Shaw, President of the Trades and Labour Council was in the chair and in a brief speech introduced the speaker.

THE LABOUR QUESTION.

Mr. Simpson stated at the outset that his endeavor would be to present some truths with reference to organized labour in this country and in other parts of the world. It was pre-eminently a time when men believed in organized labour, progressive and permanent, irrespective of influences brought to bear against it by those opposed and it would continue to grow in strength and solidity. There never was a time when that strength was as great, as the present. Its deeds were in a large measure philanthropic, and it cared for those associated with it as well as itself. To consider that organization had in view the securing of a better wage, the reduction of the hours of labour and improvement of many conditions in labour's world, was to have some conception of its aims. To-day it was lightening the burdens of many men who might otherwise have gone to the grave prematurely because of the distress created by experiences which they could not combat. Hence a fraternal feeling was developing. The speaker impressed the necessity for young men to give more thought to industrial conditions—it was not encumbent upon them to return the same ideas as those who had lived many years before. They must get out of the rut of custom and use their own brain power, for many conditions that existed now did not exist years ago.

SACRIFICED THEIR ALL.

History furnished numerous instances of not only workingmen but statesmen sacrificing their all for the cause of industry. Reference was made to Lord Shaftsbury who had used all his influence and power to place laws on the statute books prohibiting the employment of children in the work shops of England. True he was ostracised, ridiculed by those in possession of wealth in this country, but how little pointed to what achievements were possible as the result of well directed, persistent effort. It was after all the discontented people who really made history. The speaker emphasized the fact that the workingmen on the American continent to-day only received from 19 to 25 per cent. of the total profit of of production, while the employer received remainder. This he considered was neither a fair nor equitable share for those who did the work. It was most necessary that men should organize in order to turn to their advantage the many changes that were being brought about, more especially by the increasing use of machinery. Organized labour must so regulate the industrial world that it would not suffer by the introduction of machinery.

THE HOURS OF LABOURR.

"We shall," said he, "improve in such a way as to command the respect of men. We are not satisfied with eight hours a day. I say right here fearlessly, without hope of successful contradiction, the time will come when men will not have to work eight hours a day, and will have more time for culture and recreation. He will produce all that is necessary without working that long. For instance certain printers in New York only work four hours a day and receive $15 a week."

The invention of machinery had no limit and the next score of years would see the most wonderful inventions. He pointed to the amount of waste labor being done, and mentioned that 50 per cent of the labour done to-day was wasted.

EFFORT COMMEMORATED.

The future would see greater concentration of effort and every branch of human industry simplified. Speaking of the principle of municipal ownership, he asked, as an instance, if they had ever thought how it would play havoc with the legal profession, a great many members of which were parasites living upon the productive classes, obtaining an existence out of corporations which could come under municipal control and hence the necessity for these people might be done away with. He was pleased to see that the co-operative principle was growing in favor with the workingmen, in regard to those commodities constituting the necessaries of life. The pace of the twentieth century was tremendous and the speaker held that just so far as labor was minimized in that proportion would there be reduced hours to labour. Again he impressed the necessity of organization and compactness and in this connection he reviewed the strike of Toronto street railway employees and the struggle of the Colorado miners for an eight hour day, which they eventually obtained, and were acquitted of all responsibility for the outrages committed in opposition to their courageous stand. Young men should become inoculated with those ideas that would establish them in their industries. Their purpose and interest should be in doing away as far as possible of the competitive system as it existed to-day. The history of the movement was such that greater encouragement than ever before existed at the present time.

WOMEN NOT ISOLATED.

Mr. Simpson stated that women were by no means isolated from the men in this great movement. The day had arrived when woman retained the purchasing power; the money of union men was spent at the stores by the women. No woman would favor her husband getting a low wage if she had any sympathy with her husband as an organized worker. Further, her interest should be such that her purchases should consist only of union goods obtained in stores where these were carried. If all women observed this, the merchants would soon see the necessity of getting union goods from union factories, employing union men.

In conclusion Mr. Simpson explained the working of the Building Trades Union, of Toronto, formed for the purpose of greater solidity, to facilitate the settlement of disputes that might arise, and to maintain the interest in a common cause. He pointed to a condition to be deplored in connection with the union movement; it was too often the case that a few men in it did all the work, stood all the abuse, were active in securing improved conditions that would benefit the whole, while the majority did not measure up to their responsibilities. If there were any such in Peterborough they well might blush at the niggardly manner in which they were manifesting loyalty to the movement. He hoped they would carry out in practice what he had said to them in principle during his address, and closed with an expression of appreciation at the opportunity afforded to address them.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. W. H. Joyce, and seconded by Mr. M. A. McNamara, and carried with three cheers and a tiger for Mr. Simpson.

THE SPORTS.

The programme of sports was next tapped, and the different events held the interest of a large number of people. Following are the results:—

100 Yard Race—1, Fred. McGrath; 2, R. Lee.

Fat Man's Race—1, Mr. A. McNamara; 2, J. Murphy. These two gentlemen state that they can beat any man of their age and weight in the two counties, and are prepared to meet all comers in their class from this locality at the Peterborough Exhibition.

A tug-of-war between the Quaker team, under the management of M. A. McNamara, and an eight made up for the most part of Hiawatha braves, was won by the Quakers in three straight heats. The men on the teams were:—

Hiawathas—Jas. Humbert, D. Cowie, D. Cowie, jr.; B. Venette, J. Howard, M. Howard, W. Dennis and F. Simpson.

A half hour's football match between the bachelors and benedicts bristled with much play that ranged from the amusing to the brilliant. The benedicts won by 3 to 1. teams were:—

Benedicts—Peter Gillespie, A. Blodgett, J. Lasure, P. Haley, S. Fry, D. Doxsee, W. Judd, H. Donovan, J. Sullivan, C. Wesley and C. Snyder.

Mr. Jos. Delaire was referee.

The day's outing proved a most enjoyable one, and great credit is due the gentlemen who carried out arrangements, Messrs. Geo. Sloan, President of the Trades and Labor Council; W. J. Johnston, Secretary; C. Murty, J. McAuliffe; E. Ward, M. Ward, M. Dobson, Thos. Cronin and W. Meagher.

The boats left Jubilee about five o'clock, and a delightful sail home concluded the day's pleasure.

SUNDAY'S LABOR MEETING

Addressed by Mr. James Simpson—Questions of Interest to the Labor World Ably Discussed.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. James Simpson, of Toronto, and who is identified with the labor interests of the city, addressed a meeting of workingmen in the Sons of England Hall. There was a very good attendance, including members of nearly all the bodies in town. The chair was taken by Mr. George Sloan, who introduced Mr. Simpson, and spoke of his work and efforts in aid of the labor movement throughout the province.

Mr. Simpson in his opening remarks expressed the pleasure he felt in having the opportunity to speak to so representative an audience. He said he should not apologize for discussing so vital a question on the Sabbath

March 1898—there were two Semi-ready stores in Canada—Toronto and Montreal.

September 1904 sees twenty-four Semi-ready wardrobes in Canada—an immense well lighted, well ventilated, sanitary tailorey in Montreal—total employees five hundred skilled tailoring experts.

Also extensive branches established in the Metropolitan centres of the United States.

The growth of Semi-ready is due to the principle of selling well tailored suits at a reasonable price at the "trying on stage" with the delivery two hours after fitting.

Because of the success of Semi-ready we are now establishing a wardrobe in this City.

You will now have an opportunity of securing a suit tailored by experts on each part.

You can prejudge the effect before you buy —As the seams are left with outlets and the inner parts basted only—you will be fitted to perfection.

If there is then the least dissatisfaction we give you your money back.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE

Mrs. Eliza Fitzgibbons, Aged 82 Years — Funeral of Miss Austin — Death of William A. Brown.

One whose long life in Peterborough recalls memories of the very early days, passed to her reward on Sunday last—Mrs. Eliza Fitzgibbons. She was in her 82nd year at the time of her death, and had been a resident of Peterborough for over sixty-five years. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas McWilliams, 73 Lock-st. Mrs. Fitzgibbons was born in Ireland; her husband died about twenty years ago, and there survives a number of grown up children, who will keenly feel the severance from one whom they held very dear. The funeral took place this morning to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of the late Miss Mary Austin, who died on Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital, from heart failure, which followed an illness from diptheria, took place yesterday to Little Lake cemetery. Miss Austin was only 19 years of age, and her death will be deeply regretted by those who regarded her as a friend.

News received with regret in Peterborough came from Collingwood on Sunday, that William Albert Brown, formerly a resident here, had suddenly passed away. He was 41 years of age, and had at one time been in the grocery business here with his brother, the late Edward Brown, afterwards moving to Collingwood, where he engaged in the grocery and insurance business. Mr. Brown was born in Port Hope, where his mother, Mrs. Henry Brown, is still living. His wife, formerly Miss Nettie Harris, of Peterborough, and one son, Sam, aged 9 years, survive him. Mr. G. H. Brown, of Chemong, Mr. J. J. Brown, of Port Hope are brothers, and Mrs. A. Milne and Mrs. T. Hill, of Toronto, are sisters.

The funeral was held this afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Edward Brown, Stewart street. Rev. J. G. Potter conducted the service at the house and at the grave in Little Lake Cemetery. The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. Alex. Elliott, Chas. McLennan, Thos. Boddy, Chas. Stapleton, Robt. Munroe, John Mervin.

George St. Church.

The music at George street church on Sunday was especially pleasing, two solos at the morning service being nicely sung by Miss Bessie Sperry and Miss Bertha Parnell. At the evening service, Mr. Harley Goldey, of Toronto, sang, "'Twill not be Long," by H. Johnson. Miss Parnell's solo was, "My God, My Father," by Marston, and Mr. Heard, of Toronto, sang, "Dream of Paradise," by Gray. There were large congregations at both services, and the music was much enjoyed.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC MEET

Those who Wish to Compete in the Y. M. C. A. Championships at Toronto.

All members of the Y.M.C.A. who wish to make the athletic team to compete in the First Annual Championship of the Athletic League of Canada, at Toronto, on Oct. 1st, are asked to meet the Physical Director at the Association tonight.

The events will be as follows—100 yard dash, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, high jump, pole vault, running broad jump, 16 lb. hammer. Additional there will be—100 yard dash and 440 yard run for boys under 17 years of age. There will also be a 5-mile team road race, open to all Harrier clubs in Canada, 6 men to constitute a team.

Gold and silver medals will be given for each event. Entrance fee 50c. for each event, $2.00 for team in 5-mile road race. This meet will be an interesting one, and it is necessary to get together as strong a team as possible.

KITCHEN REFUSE.

The use of what we call the middle hole of the kitchen stove is a very important one, especially to those who have to burn most of the refuse from the kitchen. From my youth up I was taught that no refuse of any kind was to be put directly upon the fire. The place for everything of that sort, especially if moist, was in "the middle hole." The reason for this is a very simple one. If anything moist is placed directly upon hot coals an unpleasant odor arises from it before the covers can be replaced. If, however, it is placed in the middle hole of the stove the moisture is gradually evaporated, and then what is left of the substance, when pushed over on the hot coals, will burn without odor. A careful housekeeper never allows anything, paper or refuse of any kind, to be placed directly upon her fire. The "middle hole" is the one directly above the door of the oven.—Good Housekeeping.

TOILET TIPS.

In warm weather bathe with diluted vinegar. It is cooling and will make the skin soft.

If the skin on the hands is dry and cracks, wash with oatmeal instead of soap. Rinse well and dry on a soft towel.

To lighten the hair use two teaspoonfuls of salts of tartar to the basin of shampoo water. This is also good for very oily hair.

The hands can be cleaned better with warm water than with cold, but they should always be rinsed afterward with cold water, as this keeps them in a better condition.

Tartar, one of the greatest enemies of the teeth, may be kept away by the daily brushing of the teeth and the use of a few drops of myrrh in a half glass of water. Use a moderately stiff toothbrush.

House Plants.

A man who knows something about plants and flowers gave this bit of advice to a woman who complained that she could not raise any kind of a plant, although she was always patronizing the florist and investing in ferns and palms: "I'll tell you what may be the matter. The plants you buy have only just been repotted or transplanted. They look sturdy in the florist's shop, but if he were to keep them in the window a day or so they would droop and die too. What they need is just darkness and coolness, not heat and light. Give them a chance in some cool, dark place to sink their roots into the soil and become accustomed to the new earth and the new pot. Also try the plan of putting palms and ferns in the cellar once in awhile to give them a rest. They need it just as much as we do at times."

Fury Mama.

For candy or an ice cream treat
She didn't care a bit;
At least, she told the boys as much,
And so she made a hit.

Superfluous Knowledge.

"But how can he hold the job. He knows enough about music to run the scale."

Could Love Part of Them.

"You should love your neighbor as yourself."

"But, my dear sir, my neighbors are not all young ladies."

Vain Quest.

Each night she looked below the bed,
But fruitless was the plan,
Although she looked for years, 'tis said,
She never found a man.

A Heroic Remedy.

"Doctor, how can I break myself of the habit of smoking?"

"Get a box of campaign cigars and it will be easy."

Hard on Him.

WHEN BOYS WERE MEN

By JOHN HABBERTON,

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY JOHN HABBERTON

Mick leaned upon this fence and appeared to undergo a transfiguration, for he looked intelligent and seemed to have something on his mind besides liquor, tobacco and a desire to snarl at some one. As already intimated, my head had been in the clouds for an hour, so I "pulled myself up sharp" by reminding myself that Mick, though a sergeant and therefore my superior officer, was merely a Summerton "tough," with all that the name implied. Besides, I still was without "shooting irons." I looked about me at the men lying at ease beside the fence, their horses being tied to trees near them. I started to ask Brainard for carbine or revolver, it mattered not which, when Mick shouted:

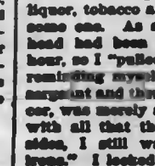
"Coppyral Frost, take me carbine an' lift into yer pockets the cattridges from me belt an' take some av me percussion caps. Oi think Oi'll be aither doin' most av the foightin' wid me eye an' wits." Then he looked about the men on the ground, approached a small man who owned a big horse, kicked him gently and said:

"Git on yer horse an' go like a millman that's been on a dhrunk an' woke up two hours late. Foind the rigimint an' tell the colonel that the whole ribil army is a-comin' across the field beyant."

All the men on the ground jumped to their feet as the messenger proceeded to obey orders, and they saw almost half a mile away a gray line that might have been mistaken for the shimmering "heat band" that lies near the surface of any flat, open, dry ground on a very hot day had not the line been flecked with spots of color and topped at regular intervals by spots that resolved themselves, through troopers' eyes, into mounted men. 'Twas not as Mick had said, the whole rebel army, but it was at least a regiment, probably a brigade, advancing slowly in line of battle formation, the mounted officers in the rear. We were but a quarter of a company. And our regiment was—where? And we were so far from Summerton or any part of the north!

CHAPTER XX.

THE FIGHT AT THE FENCE.



"YAS," said Sergeant Mick as I made haste to get his carbine, ammunition and some percussion caps. "we are here to bould the fince till the rigimint comes. D'ye moind me?"

"If the gov'ment"— began big Pat Callahan, but Mick snarled:

"Bould yer jaw an' talk wid yer carbine! All av ye fix yer carbine soights at 600 yards. Lois down an' take good rest on the fince rails. Count off from the roight up to 16. Whin I give the worrud, number wan is to foire at the first mounted officer at the right facin' him, number two at the nixt, an' so on, an' nich av ye kape on shootin' till you bring down yer man. Whin they ain't got any generals an' colonels an' majors an' things, mebbe they'll shtop to talk about it an' give our rigimint a chance to come up an' change 'em. Them min that ain't got no mounted officers to shoot at, foire loike blazes at the colors. Don't say man shoot till I hollor 'raise!'"

The jacket filling heart throb that all soldiers can recall came upon me as I lay down and selected a "rest" where there was a clear way between the strawberry and weeds which always infest a country fence row. The premise was of a fight of a kind for which I had always longed—a fight with a mass of troops instead of with occasional heads and shoulders half screened by trees and stumps. But I had also longed to be in the saddle and following a dashing, trusty commander and with an even chance of success. Now I was hugging the ground, with an unfamiliar carbine in my hands, a Summerton ruffian for my commander and the odds against me at least 50 to 1.

"Toime!" screamed Mick.

Our carbines reported almost in volley form style. The heat shimmer prevented good aim, yet there were three less heads visible above the gray line when the smoke had been blown away.

"Kape poggin' at 'em!" said Mick as he leaned on the fence, shaded his eyes and peered forward. A few more shots were fired in quick succession by each man, after which no more mounted officers were visible. The gray line stopped quivering like a heat band. Evidently it had halted.

"Kape on foirin'," Mick ordered, "an' make aich shot tell! Pepper all along their loine! Take a lot of ground to the roight an' lift, youse fellers on the flanks, so they'll think our loine is longer an' there's more of us than there be."

The order was obeyed. The gray line had decreased the distance between us to about a quarter of a mile, so we could note breaks in the ranks whenever our shots told.

I was of the same opinion, and I was beginning to wonder what would happen should we run out of cartridges. There was a standing order in the regiment that every man should always have 60 carbine cartridges in his box and 10 full rounds for his revolver, but so short had been our many previous fights that all of us had become careless as to quantity of ammunition. Seldom had any man more pistol ammunition than that already in his revolver. No one was astonished to hear big Pat Callahan growl:

"Dhivil another cattridge hev I to me name."

"Nor I," said Brainard.

"Ye're dhivils, both av ye! But kape yer revolvers—all av ye—for close action!" shouted Mick, "an' pray for the rest av our rigimint to come up."

The carbine fire continued, but more slowly, while men who were out of cartridges borrowed from comrades with fuller boxes. Soon the firing ceased entirely. Mick frowned, glared wildly and said to me:

"Coppyral Frost, ye've the biggest eare in all Summerton. Go out to the road an' lay yer ear down to it an' see av ye can hear the rigimint a-comin'."

I obeyed orders and at first mistook my heartbeats for hoofbeats, but I was obliged to report that I could hear nothing.

The silence was becoming appalling, for the enemy had not yet fired a shot. The Johnnies, more sensible than their adversaries, seldom or never wasted their bullets on smoke puffs and "ears" behind which figures did not show.

"Oi'd loike to bit into the clyes av the folly that's a-boastin' 'em an' see phat his throath'll be," said Sergeant Mick. "Av Oi was him an' things so quoit in front av me, Oi'd think he was nonsinse' for a boast boit. Coppyral Brainard, phat's yer own opinion?"

"Same as yours, sergeant," Brainard replied. "He doesn't know how few we are, for we've fired a great many shots, and he doesn't imagine we have breechloaders. Probably he thinks his enemy has left his front and is trying to flank him. I wonder, though, that he doesn't send out skirmishers to look into the situation over here."

"There for yez. It's ividint yez didn't have yer brains in yer hunk back in camp. Now moind whatle Oi spake to yez all. Call in thim min on the flanks—tell 'em to come on their hunk's an' knees. Are yez all here? Thin listen: Av they sind skirmishers over, we mustn't let none av 'em git back, lest their boss'll know how wake our line is, an' they'll try to cut off our rigimint from camp, unless maybe the rigimint's already done the same by them, an' they'll ate us up intoirely.

"So we must kape ivery dhivil av 'em from gittin' back. Scatter to the roight an' lift whin the skirmishers come. Let 'em git over the fince an' toward the horses. Thin close in an' give it to 'em in the back wid yer pistols, an' don't foire till yez so close that yez can't miss 'em. They can't foire more than wan shot apiece—the skirmishers can't—if ye don't give 'em a chance to reload."

"An' how'll we git away then, with the Johnnies close to our horses?" asked big Pat Callahan.

"Git away, is it? Ye don't git away till ye kill me—ye or any av ye. We're here to bould the fince, an' here we stay till the rigimint comes, or we go to glory. If yer pistol gits impty, pick up a fince rail an' use it loike a lance or a polke. Glory be to the polkes av auld Oirelend that me gran'father an' his neighbors used ag'in the English! Thim pine rails is loight, an' they're longer than a musket with a bay'nit on it. Punch below the belt wid 'em. Don't fear, for Oi'm the referee in this foight, an' Oi won't cry 'foul!' no matter phat ye do to 'em. A fince rail jab below the belt 'll kape any wan av 'em quiet till we can rayson wid him. Whin"—

"Sergeant," said Brainard, "I beg your pardon, but the enemy's going to do something."

"Attin-tion!" Mick commanded. All of us peered between the rails. There was a perceptible movement along the enemy's front, and at their left flank a single fieldpiece was pushed forward. Suddenly that fieldpiece was fired, and we heard a loud volley of musketry and hundreds of bullets whistling over us, cutting tree trunks and cutting twigs. Sergeant Mick, the only man who was standing, turned suddenly on his heel and looked behind him as if he had dropped something. Apparently shot or a bit of grape from the fieldpiece had come his way, for Mick's left arm was severed just above the elbow and hung by a strip or two of his sleeve.

"Will somebody lease that thing from me?" said Mick.

I drew my knife from its sheath in my boot and cut the shreds of sleeve, dropping the arm to the ground. Two other men quickly bound the stump with a handkerchief twisted rope fashion, putting under it a bit of dead stick in lieu of tourniquet. It was every trooper's duty to know what to do in case of accident. Mick turned and looked again toward the enemy, laughed and said:

"Do you moind the cunnin' av the baste? That volley was to bolde the skirmishers wid shmoke. Here they come! There's not more than wan comp'ny av 'em. Oi hope it's big. Remember the fince rails, min. Glory be to the polkes av auld Oirelend! Don't let a man git back! Scatter, now, roight an' lift. Coppyral Frost, would you moind givin' me that arm av moine?"

"What is"— I began. Mick opened three middle buttons of his jacket and said softly—the first time I had ever heard a soft note in the nothing gentle voice of Mick McTwyny:

"It's been around me sweetheart. If Oi'm hit, Oi'd loike it buried wid me."

'Twas no time for ceremony, yet I loved Irish, first to the arm, then to its owner, as Mick thrust the fragment of himself into the front of his jacket, and he and I made way to the left with cover of the fences.

The skirmishers came on in fine style, firing bayonets as they ran. We afterward learned that they had supposed the way clear and had merely come to make assurance doubly sure. They soon found themselves in error and the next few minutes were uncomfortable in the extreme for all concerned. Shooting at men at short pistol range is depressing work unless the shooter is drunk. Shooting any man in the back is unmanly work. To fire into the backs of brave soldiers for whom you know that fathers and mothers and brothers and sisters and sweethearts and wives and children are longing and hoping and praying is not doing as you would be done by. But war is war. Besides, not all our shots took effect. Revolver shots seldom do except when men are never out of practice. I begged Mick to save his own revolver charge for self defense, but he snarled at the suggestion. Then I reminded him that an empty revolver would do some effective work if held by the barrel and used as a hammer. When the pistol firing began to slacken, Sergeant Mick shouted:

"Don't forgit the fince rails! Glory be to the polkes av auld Oireland!"

A fence rail could not be wielded with one hand, but Mick did not seem embarrassed. He thrust his empty revolver into his belt and fought with his uninjured arm, the winner in many a fist fight. He did wonders at dodging, tripping and "slugging" as he ran to and fro near the fence to head off such gray skirmishers as might attempt to fall back. I, with my fence rail, followed him closely and succeeded in preventing some awkward situations, for the reach of an arm does not equal that of a musket with a bayonet on it.

700 BABES SET IN ROWS

Most Unique Feature of Toronto's Labor Day Program.

Two Mile Procession in the Town of Gait—5,000 Marched in Barrie—Trades Seven Unions Represented in Monster Parade at London—5,000 Walked in Montreal and Stars and Stripes Flew Alongside Union Jack.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—"The miracle of childhood, that upon this sin-ridden, time-weary earth, there should dawn this eternally, angelic mystery of infancy! It was the race carelessly given back to itself, redeemed with a patience that somewhere knows no limit."

These are the words of the latest of the great Canadian novelists in her splendid story, "He That Eateth Bread With Me," and she must have been at last year's baby show to get the inspiration. This year's "exhibit" at the Labor Day baby show yesterday was so much finer than last in its assembly of babies that the judges desire to have it known that nothing like it was ever seen. Seven hundred angelic little mysteries were lined up in rows in the grand stand, and the patience that knows no limit, quite a different and far more exciting game than poker, was in full play. But the babes were "real good," considering the two hours during which they stood on their merits. On a first ballot there were weeded out all but ten or twelve of the miracles of childhood in each class, and last year's champions were also excluded from the competition. The leap-year class for babies resident in Toronto, born on Feb. 29, drew thirty entries.

In the procession there were over 12,000 union men in line, and the parade was one of the finest ever seen here. In addition to the baby competition, already referred to, there was a great program of games and sports.

Good Day in Galt.

Galt, Sept. 6.—A most successful demonstration was held here yesterday by the local trades and labor council. The crowd was the largest that has been in town in many years, and not in the history of the county has there been so big a demonstration. The procession in the forenoon was over two miles long and numbered 1,100 unionists.

Sarnia, Sept. 6.—5,000 marched in the Labor Day procession here.

The Day at London.

London, Sept. 6.—The holiday was a brilliant one in this city, despite the fact that large numbers of citizens are out of town. The demonstration by the different labor organizations of the city was the largest ever held here, and was witnessed by thousands of citizens at Queen's Park. The monster parade left the market square at 12.30 p.m., and was very largely attended, twenty-seven unions being represented. Both city regimental bands were present, as well as a pipers band.

As in Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 6.—The labor organizations of the city held a grand demonstration here yesterday, commencing in the morning with a trades procession of all the different trades of the city and businesses, and was at least half a mile long, and was headed by the Berlin musical band, and the Guelph band and ended up with the Hespeler-Weimer band. In the morning games were held in the park. In the evening a grand musical concert was held by the Berlin and the Guelph bands.

5,000 in Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—The annual Labor Day parade took place yesterday. Five thousand took part in the procession, and it must be said that it would be difficult to find a better dressed and more prosperous looking body of workingmen than that which marched through the streets. The Union Jack predominated, while a delegation from Burlington, Vermont, carried the Stars and Stripes. There was no religious ceremonies connected with the demonstration.

Hamilton's League.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—The Labor Day demonstration was the biggest kind of success. The procession was one of the longest ever seen in Hamilton. Its only weak point was the scarcity of floats. The games and sports at the Jockey Club drew a crowd of nearly 10,000. There were fifty-one events for unions and special open program.

Labor and Citizens' Day.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Yesterday was Labor and Citizens' Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and there was an immense attendance. The judging of the horses and cattle continued apace, and an immense amount of work in these lines was got through.

The attendance at the Fair yesterday was considerably in excess of any prior day in the history of the Exhibition. As nearly as the directorate could estimate at 9 o'clock last night 96,000 people had passed through the turnstiles.

Death in a Church.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—While conducting the service at All Saints' Church Sunday evening, Rev. F. Burt threw up his hands and fell to the floor in the reading desk in a dead faint. He was carried to the rectory, but died in a very short time. He was 77 years of age, and was superannuated by the Diocese of Toronto. England was his birthplace, but he had spent the greater part of his life in Canada. At one time he was rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal.

Two May Die.

New York, Sept. 6.—The twelve persons injured in the fatal fire in the Attorney street tenement house Sunday were still alive yesterday, but the condition of several of them was reported as extremely critical. Two of the injured are in such a serious condition that they are not expected to recover.

HEARTRENDING ACCIDENT.

Fire in Farm House Near Fredericton, New Brunswick, Causes Loss of Six Lives.

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 6.—In a fire which destroyed the farm-house of Alfred Jewett, the leading farmer of Douglas, six miles from here, early Sunday morning, six people were burned to death. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett, alone of the household, escaped.

The dead: Edward Clarke of Caverhill, N.B., aged 62; Mrs. Edward Clarke, aged 58; Mary Clarke, their daughter, aged 15; Zella Jewett, aged 15; Wesley Jewett, aged 12; Ethel Jewett, aged 6, children of Alfred Jewett.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke leave nine children.

Mr. Jewett was severely burned and he and his wife are under a physician's care.

Killed While Duck Shooting.

Lachine, Que., Sept. 6.—Allan Wurtels, aged 14 years, was accidentally shot and killed by a companion while duck hunting yesterday afternoon. Young Wurtels and three other boys went in a boat to Dixie Island and while one of the lads was stepping from the craft his gun struck the side and was discharged. The charge lodged in Wurtel's head and he died before reaching the country clubhouse at Dixie, where his companions hurriedly took him for medical treatment.

Train Kills a Child.

London, Sept. 6. — Christopher Biggs, the eight-year-old child of Fred Biggs, of this city, met a terrible death yesterday. He was crossing the G. T. R. tracks on Adelaide street, when he was struck and instantly killed by an eastbound train. The body was almost cut in two.

Was a Trenton Woman.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—The body of the one unidentified victim of the terrible railway collision Saturday was identified yesterday at the morgue as Mrs. Bessie Merkley of Trenton, Ont., wife of John J. Merkley, train dispatcher, who was visiting at the home of J. Spring, Kinlock, Mo. Mrs. Merkley's body was shipped last night to Trenton for interment.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—Edward Cowing, a lad 16 years of age, who lives on Euclid avenue, was the victim of one of those "didn't know it was loaded" accidents. Yesterday afternoon he went out hunting near Dundas with Percy Cole, another lad, and a shotgun. He was walking home ahead of the gun and his chum, when the gun went off, and the load tore the muscles off the back of Cowing's leg. Doctors hope the limb may be saved.

Lt.-Col. McLaren Dead.

Hamilton, Sept. 6. — Lieut.-Col. Henry McLaren died about noon yesterday. After serving five years as commanding officer of the 13th Regiment he was placed on the retired list of officers about two years ago. He was 57 years of age.

IRELAND GRATEFUL.

Sir Goldwin Smith's Fearless Presentation of Irish History.

London, Sept. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The Freeman's Journal, referring to Prof. Goldwin Smith's book on Gladstone, says that Prof. Smith must always, despite his unionism, which is much weakened in recent years, be regarded with gratitude by Irishmen as the first English historian who fearlessly exposed the brutalities of English rule in Ireland.

Most Unique.

London, Sept. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The London correspondent of The Edinburgh Scotsman, referring to the Canadian exhibit at the Bakers' and Confectioners' Exhibition, says it is probably the most unique display of the kind ever seen in this country, demonstrating as it does that Canada is quite capable of competing with the mother country in the production of certain articles of food consumption.

Pacific Cable.

London, Sept. 6.—(C. A. P.)—The movement for the extension of the Pacific cable to Cape Colony and Natal is being revived in South Africa.

Cotton Spinners' Wages.

London, Sept. 6.—(C.A.P.)—The American delegates to the Trades Union Congress now being held at Leeds say that the wages earned in the United States, except in the case of spinners, are no better, considering the purchasing power of money, than obtains in this country. This is no doubt due to the fact that in some centres of cotton spinning and in the manufacturing department French Canadians and Poles were becoming more employed, and generally at considerably less wages, but this more often than not increases the cost of production.

CATTLE MARKETS.

London, Sept. 5.—Cattle are steady at 10½c to 12½c per lb; refrigerator beef, 9c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight.

TORONTO JUNCTION LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the Junction market were the largest of the season—114 cars all told, consisting of 2278 cattle, 237 sheep and lambs, 4 hogs, 13 calves and 1 horse.

Shipping cattle ranged all the way from $4.25 to $5.12½ per cwt., but only a very few brought the latter figure, not more than three or four loads. The bulk of exporters sold at $4.50 to $4.80 per cwt., fully two-thirds of them going at these figures. Export bulls sold from $3.25 to $4.20 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle were, if anything, a little higher, especially for the best grades. Best loads of butchers' sold at $4.25 to $4.40; loads of fair to good butchers' at $4 to $4.20; medium butchers' $3.75 to $3.90; common butchers' at $3.60 to $3.75; common butchers' cows, $2 to $3.25, and rough to inferior at $2.50 to $2.60 per cwt.

Several loads of short-keep feeders, for which there was a fair demand, sold at $4 to $4.20 per cwt. for cattle weighing from 1100 to 1200 lbs each.

All offerings, sold at $4.75 to $4.80 for lambs, and $3.75 per cwt for sheep.

Veal calves sold all the way from $4 to $5.20 per cwt. The best calf was sold by McDonald & Mayhew at $12.

The bids offered sold at $3.40 per cwt.

William Levack bought a large number of export as well as butchers' cattle at the prices given above, which are his quotations.

Steam Barge on Fire.

Goderich, Sept. 6.—The steam barge Abercorn, a Cleveland boat, owned by Captains Baxter and Willoughby of Goderich, was somewhat badly damaged by fire about three o'clock yesterday morning. She had discharged a cargo of coal last week, and was undergoing some repairs here before starting out again. The fire originated from the explosion of a signal lamp and the crew had to make good time to get out of the after part of the boat. The fire department subdued the flames, though it looked as if the whole boat would go. The direction of the wind saved the big elevator from a close call. Insurance amounts to $4,000.

THE HYDRAULIC LIFT-LOCK

Description and Illustrations of this great Work in the Canadian Magazine.

The September number of the Canadian Magazine contains a description of the hydraulic lift lock here by Mr. F. H. Debbin. The information thus given is familiar to our readers, but will be instructive to the many readers of the Canadian Magazine at a distance. The photographs illustrating the article give a very good idea of it, one representing it in profile other in face, the third being one of the main lifting rams.

A BOY'S CLOSE SHAVE

Almost Another Drowning from the North Star.

Several excursions were run to Jubilee Point yesterday, and the fleet of steamers was kept busy until a late hour at night. With the exception of the Labor Day demonstration the excursions were all of a private character. A very narrow escape from drowning was the experience of a small lad on the steamer North Star. It appears that he was sitting on a stool in the front of the boat, when in some manner it upset and he fell through the railing at the side. Fortunately a man standing near, grabbed his coat, and was able to hang on by a very short hold until assistance arrived, and the boy was raised to the deck. It was a close shave for the youngster.

The steamer City of Peterborough had to go to the assistance of the Water Lily last night to help her into port with the scow full of young people, who had patronized the Labor Day excursion.

CAMBELLFORD WENT DOWN

Charlotte St. Guild Baseball Team Administered Defeat.

Yesterday was a winner for Peterborough baseballists. At home the senior team cleared up everything, and abroad victory also perched upon the shoulders of the local players. The champion Charlotte street Guild team journeyed to Campbellford yesterday, and won a victory from the Trent Valley League team of that place by a score of 12—6. It was the first defeat that the Campbellford team has met this year on their own grounds, the team being tied for first place in the League. The game, which was a most interesting one, was witnessed by about two hundred spectators. The local club was unable to get the full team away, but the absent members' places were filled by strong players, who put up a good game. The winners fielded well and batted the ball in good shape. Roddy, on the slab for the winners, pitched a fine game, keeping the hits well scattered, and being very effective with men on bases. He twice struck out the side, fanning eleven men in the eight innings. He retired in favour of Pilling in the last innings. "Ted" was a little wild at the start, and poked two men in the ribs, but soon steadied down, and retired the next three men on strikes. Thornton caught splendidly, catching four men at second by perfect throws. Ivey, who pitched six innings for the losers, had one bad innings, in the third, when a bunch of hits, aided by a couple of costly errors, gave the winners enough runs to win the game. Chasan, who played with the Auburns last year, pitched the last three innings, and didn't allow a score. The teams were:—

Peterborough — H. Roddy p, W. Thornton c, J. Squires 2b, J. Merchet lf, E. Pilling ss, G. Campbell 2b, A. Fuller rf, L. Durocher cf, N. Jelliffe 1b.

Score by innings:

Peterborough... ... ...100012000—12
Campbellford... ... ...000010101— 6

P. J. Sargisson gave good satisfaction as an umpire.

The local team was well pleased with the treatment received, and several of the boys are very anxious to again visit the town. There are other attractions besides playing ball, however.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

PETERBOROUGH WON TWO

Local Ball Team Defeated Toronto Marlboroughs Twice.

Peterborough won two fast games from the crack Marlobros, of To- (champions of the Don Valley League) yesterday, the scores being 7—4 and 9—5. The morning game was a see-saw affair and the spectators were kept on the anxious seat until the last visitor was retired. Sarpin kept the locals guessing for a couple of innings but after that time they fell on his shoots regularly, but gilt edged fielding behind him, helped him out of many a bad hole.

Dan McCorry for the locals seemed to have everything in the way of shoots and had the hard hitting Marlboros at his mercy. Dan was particularly effective with men on bases. Chris Graham's two fine catches of foul flies near the grand stand was the feature of the game.

The afternoon game was a hard hitting contest on the part of the locals. Nearly every man on the team hit the ball hard, the visiting team's outfield having a busy time gathering in long drives. Lackey, the Marlboros' star slab artist, was reserved to pitch the afternoon game and the way the locals went after him shattered all his good intentions. In one innings he hit five batsmen and with a couple of bingles netted four runs. Two men were out when the trouble began. McCorry worked in the afternoon game also and was just as strong and had better control than he had when he pitched the first innings at the morning game. One of the Marlboro players was heard to remark: "I say, Dan, old boy, what kind of coal are you using now?"

Besides pitching both games in fine style, McCorry was there with the stick, making five hits in the two games, four of them in the afternoon struggle.

All the team worked hard and it would be hard to choose between them.

NOTES.

McCorry's work was very creditable yesterday.

McDonald's hitting was a feature in the first game.

Both games were well contested and the crowd certainly got their money's worth.

Keep up the good work boys.

Port Hope will play here next Saturday Another victory.

The teams were well matched and there was but little to choose between them.

The Marlboros won from the I. C. B. U. team by 4—2 on Saturday.

BOWLING.

It is safe to say that in no half acre in the town of Peterborough was there a better sustained hot interest maintained all day and night than at the Brookside bowling green yesterday, for from the time the dew was well off the grass till 11 p.m. you could hear the encouraging shouts of each rink as one or other of their sides made a good shot.

In the morning the bachelors showed up two rinks strong, and one of them, with the aid of a benedict, qualified themselves to join the benedicts as soon as circumstances will permit. There was a third game gotten up, and it was agreed between the skips that they should represent the contending parties, the rink with the bachelor on it representing that class, but as the benedicts won by 7 shots, the bachelors objected to be bound by it, so that it can only be given as a game "on the side."

The following are the scores:—

Majority for the bachelors, 4, but as the benedicts had beaten them in the previous game by 31 shots they are still 27 shots down.

Mr. Seymour was changed for Mr. Blackburn, a Westmount benedict, before the game was completed. This doubtless accounts for the success of that rink.

At the close of above games a discussion arose as to permitting the above named side game to be counted in the Bachelor—Benedict game, when R. M. Waddell challenged any rink of Benedicts to a match to decide the point in dispute, and it was decided to pull it off at once in a game of 18 ends. They started out well, but the night was cold, the grass was wet, some were sending for overcoats, and it was not long until they began to complain of the rheumatic pains that would be their's in the morning, so at the conclusion of the 12th end —about 11 p.m.—they decided to quit. It is unfortunate that the game was not finished, as it remains still in doubt.

57TH REGIMENT IN BEAUTIFUL BARRIE

The Town Was Captured Without Resistance and the Reception by the 35th Regiment and Citizens of Barrie was of Most Cordial Character--Regiment Returned to Town This Morning.

Shortly after two o'clock this morning the town was awakened by the sound of the bugle and drums, as the 57th Regiment marched from the G.T.R. station to the drill hall, and the brisk morning air made the soldiers step out smartly, and their marching was done as correctly as when on parade in Barrie. Since leaving here on Friday night, they have had one "continual round of pleasure," so to speak, and everyone reports having had one of the best trips the 57th Regiment has yet taken.

The train pulled out about 9.30 on Friday night, and at once everyone started in to enjoy the trip. The regiment was nearly 300 strong, and the train was a heavy one, but record time was made, and Barrie was reached shortly after one o'clock. Trainmaster Irwin, of Lindsay, accompanied the regiment as far as Orillia and the officers had as guests Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Captain Ackerman, of the Midland Field Battery, Major Langford, and Mr. Craig, of Belfast, Ireland. On the train's arrival at Barrie, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, the station platform was well filled with officers of the 35th Regiment and citizens of Barrie, who greeted the 57th with cheers and warm handshakes, and the men at once saw that they were going to enjoy their visit. The regiment marched to Queen's Park, where tents had been pitched, and blankets, etc., were issued to the different companies, but if they thought they were going to sleep, they were greatly mistaken, for the men were not tired, and made things lively around the camp. Reveille sounded at 6.30 Saturday morning, and immediately the camp assumed a business-like aspect. Everyone arose and prepared for breakfast, and after rolling up the tents and folding their blankets, the companies were paraded by their sergeants to the different hotels.

Saturday morning was spent in viewing "Barrie, the Beautiful," as it is termed, and rightly so, as a short walk would soon convince one. Situated on Kempenfeldt Bay, as it is, and surrounded to the northwest by hills, the town is certainly one of the prettiest the regiment has ever had the pleasure of visiting. The population of the town is only about 6,000, but a more sociable people would be hard to find. The regiment's visit there was something out of the ordinary, as they have not had a visit from any regiment since 1886, when the Grenadiers, of Toronto, took a trip there. The headquarters of the 35th Regiment, "Simcoe Foresters," are situated at Barrie, and two companies are made up in the town, while the remaining companies are taken from Orillia, Collingwood, and other places. They have a very neat and compact armory there, and during the 57th's visit to town, the officers and men of the 35th did everything in their power to make our stay pleasant.

A PLEASANT SAIL.

In the afternoon the regiment formed up on the park, and marched to the wharf, where the steamer "Islay" was boarded, and a sail taken down Kempenfeldt Bay, to Lake Simcoe, a distance of about ten miles. Kempenfeldt Bay, as we mentioned before, is a very beautiful one, and all along the banks are summer residences and camping outfits, and a fine view of the surrounding country could be obtained from the steamer. Mayor Boyes, of Barrie, and officers and men of the 35th accompanied the 57th on their trip and proved themselves to be good entertainers. On the boats return, the chaplain, Rev. J. C. Davidson, who had just arrived on the train, headed the procession, and the men started out for a "time." They evidently had it, too, for the town rang with their cheers and other noises, and their fun was taken in good part by the citizens, who appeared delighted that the boys were enjoying themselves. A reception was tendered to the ladies of Barrie at 5 o'clock in Queen's Park by the officers of the 57th, and a pleasant social hour was spent in becoming acquainted. During the reception the band rendered a concert in the pavillion, and the affair was a most successful one.

CONCERT AND BALL.

In the evening the 57th Band put on a concert in the Grand Opera House, and a fair number of people gathered to hear them. The citizens did not anticipate such a treat as the band had in store for them, and those who attended were agreeably surprised with the concert, and complimentary remarks were heard on all sides. The Grand Opera House is a most magnificent one, and one which would be a credit to a large city. It is a very modern one, and finished up magnificently inside. The seating capacity is very large, and the citizens of Barrie are justly proud of it, and point to it with pride when showing you the different buildings of interest. The band was about forty strong, and they never played better. People remarked on all sides that it was the best that had ever played in Barrie, and Bandmaster Gliddon and his men have great reason to feel proud of themselves in putting on such a good concert, and performing it in such a masterly manner.

On Saturday evening, also, the officers of the 57th were tendered a ball in the town hall by the ladies of the town and the Tennis Club, and considering the awkwardness of the evening, a most pleasant time was spent. Music was furnished by a Barrie orchestra, and it was perfect. The Barrie people proved to be very sociable and the officers were made to feel at home at once. Dancing was continued until 11.30 and everyone stopped with many regrets.

CHURCH PARADE ON SUNDAY

Sunday broke cloudy and chilly in the camp, and everyone hated to turn out when reveille sounded, but there was no help for it, and they all marched off for breakfast, returning at 9.30 to prepare for the church parade. Sharply at 10.30 the regiment was formed up in divine service order, and accompanied by the two companies and band of the 35th Regiment, and veterans of Barrie, marched to Christ church, where service was held. The day had turned out to be very fine and cool and the men presented a very neat appearance on the march to the church. The special service was conducted by the chaplain, Rev. J. C. Davidson, and the address was delivered by the rector of the church and chaplain of the 35th Regiment, Rev. W. Witten. The lesson was read by Lieut.-Col J. W. Miller, and the speaker chose as his text, St. Luke, 7, vii. "For I also am a man set under authority."

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—MRS. E. A. KUROPATKIN IS SLOWLY RETREATING

Field Marshall Oyama Reports on Fighting of Aug. 24-Sept. 4

SEVERE REAR GUARD ACTION

Left and Centre Jap Armies Halt on Taitse River-- Strong Possibility of Battle at Yentai--An Attack is now Due--Alexieff Goes to Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—There has been no news from Gen Kuropatkin since Monday afternoon. This is attributed to the interruption of direct communication with the commander-in-chief, owing to transfer of telegraph office to Mukden, whither messages have to be sent by courier. The utmost confidence prevails at the War Office that the Russian army is slowly but surely effecting the retreat without serious risk of being cut off. Nevertheless intense anxiety is felt throughout the whole nation, and this feeling is shared by the Emperor.

Late Tuesday evening the Associated Press obtained the following statement from the War Office: No telegrams whatever were received to-day (Tuesday). It is inferred that only Russian troops remaining at Yentai, Sept. 6, are on the rear-guard, whose mission is solely to retard the enemy's movement. It is quite evidential from the position of affairs to suppose that a portion of the Japanese forces entered Yentai, there being no intention to hold this point, as it is of no intrinsic importance. The stores there have already been removed, and whatever was not removed was burned.

Russia at Yentai.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—An extended report from Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese commander-in-chief in the field, was received in Tokio yesterday and made public last night. It is largely devoted to a review of the fighting which took place between Aug. 24 and Sept. 4:

The announcement that the Russians will retain possession of the Yentai collieries, indicates a strong possibility of a battle there. Yentai is the only colliery in Northern Manchuria, and its possession is of vital importance to the Russians in connection with the operation of the railroad.

Field Marshal Oyama reports that a portion of the Russian troops hold Yingshuiliuseu, south of Yentai, and that General Kuroki's right is in close touch with the Russians. He announces also that the left and centre Japanese armies, under the command of Generals Oku and Nodzu, have halted on the left bank of the Taitse River and that it is his intention to despatch a portion of them to occupy the heights north of Mucheng and along the railroad. Gen. Kuropatkin burned all the railroad bridges over the Taitse River.

General Kuroki encountered desperate opposition in the battle on the heights to the west of Haiyingtai, where he fought continuously and fiercely for four days before he succeeded in dislodging the Russians. It is manifest that the stubbornness of the Russians defence at Haiyingtai saved the Russians line of retreat and averted an overwhelming disaster.

Alexieff Goes to Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Viceroy Alexieff is on his way from Harbin to Mukden.

Severe Rear-Guard Actions.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Private reports from Mukden say that some of the rear-guard actions in progress are quite severe, but no details have been received.

Kuroki Occupies Yentai.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—It is reported here that the Russians have retired beyond Yentai. Gen. Kuroki has occupied the town.

Russians Wake Up.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—It is stated by the end of October, the 4th, 9th and 18th army corps, totalling 192,000 men, will reach the front, and that before the end of Sept. 1,000 guns will have been despatched to Gen. Kuropatkin.

Hurried to the Front.

Warsaw, Russia, Sept. 7.—Twenty quick-firing batteries which the Emperor expected to inspect this week have been hastily placed on trains and have left for the front.

Attack on Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The attack of Port Arthur continues, and Chinese arriving at Che Foo say the Russian garrison expects a general land and sea attack to-day (Wednesday).

Child Instantly Killed.

Hamilton, Sept. 7.—Agnes Hazel Black, the eight-year-old daughter of James B. Black, Fullerton avenue, was instantly killed last evening about 6 o'clock in a most distressing accident. It is supposed that she had been riding on the back of a corporation wagon driven by Andrew Smith. In some way she slipped off and fell under one of the heavy wheels, which passed over her head, crushing her skull and breaking her collar-bone and left arm. She was killed almost instantly. Coroner McNichol decided not to hold an inquest.

Fell to Death.

Wiarton, Sept. 7. — Zacharias Proulx, an Indian from Cape Croker, fell off the tug Waubaushene Monday night, when about two miles out, and was drowned. He in company with thirty other Indians were on their way to Cockburn Islands to peel tan.

Four Die in Wreck.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—A Wabash Railroad passenger train, southbound, from Des Moines to St. Louis, was wrecked near Pendleton, Mo., sixty-six miles northwest of here yesterday, killing four passengers and injuring twenty-five others.

OUR AGRICULTURAL SHOW

There are few things in which Peterborough is behind the rest of the community, and in some it may fairly claim to take a leading position. It must, however, be confessed that this does not apply to our Agricultural Exhibition. During recent years it has been surpassed by other localities, and we have no reason to be proud in this respect. This should not be, and there is no reason why this unsatisfactory state of things should continue. In agriculture, in dairying and in our live stock we are, at least on a par with counties where the annual exhibition is one of the important events of the year, and is a credit to the whole community. Besides this, the products of our various town industries are well worthy of being brought to the attention of the public. Neither our town nor county has done itself justice in recent years. This has led to our people being apathetic on the subject, and this indifference has naturally made matters worse. This year the direction has been taken in hand by gentlemen whose energy, ability and powers of organisation have led to success in other matters they have undertaken, and they should be equally successful in this respect. But to render the Peterborough Exhibition what it should be, dependence should not be placed on the exertions of a few gentlemen, however competent they may be. To ensure an exhibition which will really do us credit, every one should do his share. If he cannot contribute directly to the exhibition every one can use some influence with others and show an interest in making the exhibition what it should be. A united effort, and a united effort alone can bring about this very desirable result. Peterborough should not be content to lag behind.

The temporary majority for the Ross Administration is now two.

The first of the bye-election protests has been decided. Mr. John Brown, of North Perth, has been unseated for bribery by an agent. This reduces the vanishing majority of Mr. Ross to two.

The protest against Mr. Mahaffy, M.L.A. for Muskoka, is now being tried. The first charge against him, it may be presumed as one of the strongest, was dismissed as unproved. At the same time in North Perth the first charge against the Liberal, Mr. John Brown, was so fully proved that he made no further defence, but threw up the sponge, thus confessing that corruption had prevailed, which was not of a trifling nature.

Whistler's Refined Revenges.

In "Whistler as I Knew Him," Mortimer Menpes, the author, has a good deal to say about Whistler the fighter and his quickness in resenting an affront. He is careful to add that Whistler was always refined in his methods:

Still, he was not actually brutal. He never treated his enemies in a coarse way. Any man who had offended him Whistler would rap sharply over the shoulders with his cane, and then, by the time the sufferer had recovered, the master would be in the next room explaining to every one how he had just felled his enemy. Once he caught a man, with whom he was for the moment enraged, washing his face. Without a moment's hesitation Whistler dashed the unfortunate head straight into the basin of water, and while the foe was endeavoring to clear the soap from his eyes to see the cause of this sudden immersion Whistler was in the smoking room setting the men there in a roar with the account of his adventures. When I first met Whistler he was in the act of searching for a man who had dared to criticise his Venetian etchings. "If you want to see some fun, Menpes," he said, "come with me." Fortunately the man had been warned and was nowhere to be found.

The Fable of the Four Men.

"I got off a street car this morning," said a doctor to me, "and, being in no hurry, I began moralizing on the actions and probable character of three men who had alighted just ahead of me. The first one was even then halfway down the block and was going on with such rapid strides that he had already put a couple of hundred yards between himself and the next man. 'There,' thought I, 'goes a hustler, a man who's bound to succeed in life.' The second man was walking rather slower and impressed me as one who would do fairly well perhaps in this world. But the last fellow was just dawdling along in the most shiftless sort of way. I very quickly set him down for a loafer.

"Just then another idea came home to me. All three were ahead of me!"—Hubert McBean Johnston in Success.

A Strange Accident.

Some time ago a man fell dead in a crowded street of San Francisco. The hospital surgeons were astonished to find that he had died of what appeared to be a bullet wound in his temple. A hundred people who witnessed the accident were ready to testify that no firearm had been discharged at the time. An examination exposed a small pebble in the man's brain. For a long time the case was a mystery, until an ingenious detective solved it with an explanation which he proved by experiment. The wheels of a heavy dray had jammed the pebble against the steel rails of the car track and then discharged it up into the air with such terrific force that it crashed into the brain of the passerby as if it had been a bullet.

Shakespeare as an Actor.

About the year 1590 one of the London companies received an addition in the person of a young man who was not only a skillful and useful actor, but who also possessed the accomplishment of being able to adapt older plays to the taste of the times, and even proved to have the gift of writing tolerably good plays himself, though older and jealous colleagues might hint at their not being altogether original. This young man, whose capacities became of no slight use to the company and the theater, was named William Shakespeare.—From "A History of Theatrical Art."

A Cheerful Liar.

One time the late ameer of Afganistan asked the English diplomatic agent at his court to give a description amid a circle of Afghan boys of the largest gun in England. The Englishman described the 100 ton gun, and when he had finished the ameer observed to his admiring subjects, "I have seen a gun the cartridge of which was as large as the gun which has just been described to you." It would never do for an ameer to be astonished, much less to confess himself beaten.

ROSS AND BROWN PART

Judges Declare North Perth Seat Vacant For Bribery.

John Collins Pays $5 For One Vote As Candidate's Agent—"Go and See the Missus," Said Mr. Brenner, and He Also Who Told the Same Night That She Had Got the Money—He Got It Afterwards.

Stratford, Sept. 7.—The North Perth election trial was heard yesterday. At the general Provincial election on May 29, 1902, John C. Monteith, Conservative, defeated John Brown, Liberal, by two votes. The election was protested and Mr. Monteith was unseated on a technicality, a supporter who had a perfectly good vote in the county, having voted in the city by mistake, thus preventing him from voting. The bye-election took place on January 7, 1903. The same two men were again candidates, and this time Mr. Brown was elected, his majority being 206. It is that election which was protested yesterday, and there were 130 charges to be ventilated. The Liberals had a cross-petition consisting of some forty charges.

The trial judges, Chief Justice Moss and Judge Street, arrived here yesterday morning. For the petitioners, Messrs. E. A. DuVernet, K. C., and E. Sydney Smith, K.C., appeared; for the respondent, Messrs. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., and R. T. Harding. A large number of witnesses from outside points attended the trial.

The trial opened at eleven o'clock, Mr. DuVernet read a part of Mr. Brown's examination for discovery. The questions and answers therein were largely devoted to bringing out the names of agents and prominent Liberal workers.

Bribed the Wife.

The first witness called by Mr. DuVernet was Mr. Brenner, who was living here at the time of the bye-election. The day before that Mr. John Collins came to his house and offered him money, which he declined.

Afterwards the visitor talked to his wife. Three days after the election she gave him a $5 bill. Collins had asked witness to vote for Brown.

Cross-examined, witness said that the money offered had not influenced his vote. Mr. Collins had asked him whether he was going to "Give us a lift?" Witness had said he did not know what he was going to do. The witness caused a laugh by saying that he had told Collins that if he wanted to offer any money he had better "Go and see the missus." The same night his wife had told him that she had received a $5 bill. Mrs. Brenner was called. She told of Collins' handing her a $5 bill, and produced a memorandum made at the time, showing the bill to be No. 88,928 on the Ontario Bank. Collins did not say what the bill was for. She did not know Collins, but he said that such was his name. Extracts were read from Mr. Brown's examination showing that Mr. Collins was known to him as a party worker.

Mr. Aylesworth admitted to the bench that there seemed little doubt as to the giving of the bill. "Our conclusion must be," said the Chief Justice, "that this charge is established."

On behalf of the respondent, Mr. Aylesworth said that he did not propose to ask for the benefit of the "saving clause" in the statute.

Mr. DuVernet stated that there was no evidence to prove that Mr. Brown knew of the corrupt act.

After a consultation, the Chief Justice announced that the statute provided that if a case of bribery were of such a trifling nature as not to affect the election, it might not be sufficient to cause the election to be declared void. As the case stood, their Lordships could not see their way clear to say that the evidence was of that trifling nature or not. It might be found so on further investigation. Did the respondent wish that further investigation to proceed?

Mr. Aylesworth answered that he simply could not satisfy the court on that point.

The judges therefore declared the election void and the seat vacant. The costs of the trial must be paid by the respondent. The cross-petition they dismissed without costs.

The Muskoka Election.

Bracebridge, Sept. 7.—The protest against the return of A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P., for the electorate district of Muskoka, opened in the court house here yesterday morning before Chancellor Boyd and Justice Teetzel. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., and Mr. Beaton appeared for the petitioners, and O. T. Blackstock and O. M. Arnold for the respondent. There are 146 charges, and application was made yesterday morning to add more to the number. The right to enter new charges was held in abeyance, as the respondent has had no opportunity of meeting them, and whether they will be admitted or not depends largely upon the progress made in the case.

The morning court was largely taken up in proving agency. The charge against Dr. Williams was dropped. Evidence adduced re Oliver's charge of having had an account reduced proved conflicting and the charge was dropped. Charge of intimidation was dismissed. Charges hinging on a bottle of whiskey failed. Charge that William Lambe paid money to William Peacock and others most important, but agency was not admitted, or proved. Judges will not go into the question till other charges are heard.

North York Particulars

The particulars of the charges against Hon. E. J. Davis were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The trial will begin at Newmarket on the 20th. There are 180 charges, a number of which are of a personal character against the Minister of Crown Lands.

Centre Bruce Protest.

Forty-five charges are made in the petition against the election of Major Hugh Clarke of Centre Bruce. The particulars were filed just before 4 o'clock by C. J. Mickle of Kerr, Davidson & Grant.

More in North Grey.

Fifteen additional charges against the election of Alex. McKay of North Grey were filed by James Baird.

Forest U.S. Hands.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Hon. Mr. Prefontaine declared yesterday that the activity of the Canadian authorities in the matter of the British Columbia salmon fishing had been the means of the State of Washington, through Secretary Hay, applying to the Canadian Government for a conference. McMurton of Lachine, said it would be granted and means would be taken to protect the Canadian salmon fishery. He said that Canada had refused her own right to catch salmon by means of traps, which is the most modern method, while the Americans had no less than 200 traps catching fish with impunity.

Notes From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Mr. Blair, jr., has been appointed law clerk to the Railway Commission.

James Hardwell, traffic expert to the Railway Commission, returned yesterday from Washington, where he has been studying the operation of the inter-state commerce commission.

H. A. Collins, assistant private secretary to the Minister of Public Works, has been appointed private secretary to F. B. Wade, chairman of the Transcontinental Construction Commission.

It is now thought that the Arctic will leave for Hudson Bay on or about the 15th inst.

Will of Late J. J. Long.

Barrie, Sept. 7.—The will of the late J. J. Long of Collingwood, was filed for probate yesterday. He left an estate valued at $419,815.80. Among the more prominent bequests are $2,500 to the Marine and General Hospital, Collingwood; $10,000 to St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto; $5,000 to the House of Providence, and within three years of death $25,000 is to be placed with the Trusts Corporation for the education of Roman Catholics for the priesthood, and in event of any dispute, the decision of the new Archbishop of Toronto is to be final.

Wheat Cutting Well Advanced.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 7.—The C. P.R. crop report for the past week was issued yesterday, and shows that the period covered has not been favorable for harvesting operations. The territories especially have suffered much from continued wet. Cutting, however, is well advanced in some districts, notably in the territory adjacent to the main line of the C.P.R., and also the Souris branch. In the above districts fully 70 per cent. of cutting has been done.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7, 1904.

THE YUKON'S COMMISSION

REV. J. J. WRIGHT STATES HOW THE CHURCH IS FULFILLING IT.

Delivered an Interesting Address in St. Andrew's Church — What is Being Done to Satisfy Social and Spiritual Hunger Among Miners.

A large congregation in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, listened with great interest to an address by Rev. J. J. Wright, who has just returned from the Yukon, where he labored for several years as a representative of the Presbyterian church. His remarks were descriptive of the country, the resources and the people of that great territory, which he fittingly termed the "Treasure House of Canada," and he gave consideration to the manner in which there is being fulfilled in that country the commission of Christ. Mr. Wright said he considered it a great privilege to again stand in St. Andrew's church, for it had been closely associated with his whole religious training, and his memory took him back to many cherished experiences. He remembered Rev. Mr. McDonald, and said his first idea of an angel was to see Mrs. McDonald teaching a class in the gallery which was at that time in the church. It was there, too, that he had his first idea of life being a contest between two nations, the good and the bad, for he recalled the time when, sitting in his father's pew in front of the gallery, he had to strive against an inclination—at one time in vain—to drop a hymn book on the head of the man who sat below.

CHRIST'S COMMISSION.

Before discussing the work as carried on in the Yukon, he pointed to the divine commission as given in the text, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature," and "All power is given unto Me; go therefore, and teach all nations, and lo, I am with you alway"—in all places, at all times, until the work was accomplished. There was set forth Christ's charter, his authority, his orders, and it revealed to all Christians the claim upon them, the field, the work and the equipment. The claims which Christ set forth in regard to the world as his field sat well upon Him; there was nothing narrow or small, nothing of the sect—the message was to every creature. It was seen to what extent it was being fulfilled, in the spreading of missionary work, the greater recognition of the fact that there was no boundary line, the Church was interesting itself in all work that had to do with the improvement of conditions surrounding humanity.

THE YUKON.

Rev. Mr. Wright considered the application of the Commission to the Yukon territory from which he had so lately come. It was one of the uttermost corners of Canada, and only within the last eight years had anything with regard to its resources become known. An immense territory it was, of 196,000 square miles in extent, a very little less than Ontario, and ten times as large as Nova Scotia, a province which remained so high and was considered such a rich inheritance for the Dominion. The Yukon seemed to be Canada's treasure house—where those great beds of rock or glacial deposits, thousands of years old, were guarded by the strongest of winters, and had remained sacred for centuries. How great the riches of that territory were might be judged from the neighboring state, Alaska, which in 1867, was purchased by the United States from Russia for $7,200,000. In the Alaskan building at the World's Fair were two blocks of gilded stone; one representing the price paid for that territory, and the other the output of one small portion of that territory—the Treadwell mine at the entrance to Lynn Canal—equal to twenty millions of dollars. This, said Mr. Wright, should be an object lesson to Canadian statesmen to place a proper estimate upon a part of the country which had been too generally regarded as a wilderness.

A MIGHTY RIVER.

The Yukon territory had a mighty river, which, like a main artery, had a course of 2,000 miles, about one-third of which was in Canada, and which, before finding an outlet, wandered for 2,000 miles, and was, in fact one of the provisions of Providence to facilitate entrance and egress. The speaker drew a picture of winter in the interior settlements of that country, where for months a frigid hand held everything fast, and with what joy the first steamer on the river was welcomed, insuring, as it did, the freedom of the summer months and opening of communication with the outside. The climate of the country ranged from 90 degrees above in August to 90 below in winter, still the cold there did not cause as much suffering as might be supposed. The snowfall was generally from 18 to 20 inches, and Mr. Wright said he had experienced more discomfort in an Ontario winter than in a Yukon winter. The sky in summer was as blue as any Italy could boast of, but there was something wanting in the climate that made recovery from sickness very slow; it was on the other hand a country where strong people found the best of health.

MANY NATIONALITIES.

The people of the Yukon were of all classes creeds and nationalities; people who had gone there to make a stake quickly, or persons to bury a past record, or left a mortgage at home by new found wealth, to send a younger brother to college perhaps, or a sick sister to hospital. The motives for the delving were most diversified, as were also the nationalities. Few comforts existed in the early days, but at the present time the people were learning how to make the country a not unpleasant place in which to dwell. Fresh fruit was almost unknown, and it was a fact that when the first cow came into Dawson City, six years ago, her milk sold for $30.

Discussing the work of the church in the Yukon, Mr. Wright said there was a tendency among the men there to become careless and forget the home training. Men had gone in there to work upon the weakness of the miners in saloons, gambling dens and dance halls, and there was a most organized effort to get the better of the miners and others who worked hard for what wealth they acquired. There existed a great social hunger, and hence the necessity for conditions to counteract those that made for evil. Mr. Wright referred to the alarming number of divorces granted in Kings' County, as being in one year more than had been given in Canada in a decade. There were a great many children who had been left by fathers or mothers to shift for themselves.

DIVISION OF WORK.

In the population of 25,000 people there were five Roman Catholic, four Anglican, two Methodist, one Salvation Army and six Presbyterian places of worship. The Anglican Church had had a Bishop there for 25 years, yet he had not lost his culture nor saintliness of character. The people were scattered over the territory, and it was only possible to get twenty-five or fifty of one hundred together at a time. Sickness among the men was frequent, and of a serious character in a country where the means of relief were sometimes most inadequate. Typhoid fever, pneumonia, and accident were the chief ailments; scurvy was not as prevalent as when the men lived in poor huts, in which no light entered during the winter, save through windows formed of bottles placed side by side. There was a tendency also to disregard the law among those men, a great many of whom were Western miners, who held to the opinion that law should be administered from a miners' meeting. Not only had there to be an education as to respect for the law, but as to the foundation for righteousness, the ten commandments. He pointed to the fact that the people of the country were solving the question of unity in regard to churches, for it was seen there what a waste existed in the duplication of effort. As the church was interested in all life, so too, might it better meet the conditions there presented by a unity of effort. Where two churches existed one might be adapted to some other line of work in connection with the missionary effort, while the other might be used as the place of worship. There was great want in Dawson for a place of innocent recreation. In White Horse the Presbyterian church had a library, and a bright room with games, for the men to frequent. The Presbyterian church was doing a work which its people had no reason to be ashamed of. In conclusion he pointed to other responsibilities as ambassadors of Christ's estate and to their duty as Presbyterians, Canadians and Christians in regard to the missionary work of the Yukon.

ACQUIRING WATER POWER

MEMBER FOR EAST DURHAM PRESENTS SOME ARGUMENTS.

Says there will be no Water Power for the Government to Acquire Along the Port Hope Route.

Mr. Gus Porter, continuing his speech in the House of Commons in favor of the Trenton outlet of the Trent Canal, said:—

In the early part of this session the Minister of Finance announced that he had a magnificent surplus, and seeing the advantages which the country as a whole will derive from the development of this waterway, it appears to me that the Minister of Finance could not do better than to recommend that a certain portion of that surplus of which he boasts should be applied to the carrying out of this work. Differences exist as to the plan of this undertaking, but these differences do not in any manner detract from the principle which I advocate, namely, the completion of the Trent Valley Waterway. It is contended by my Hon. friend from East Durham (Mr. Ward) that the southern terminus should be at the town of Port Hope, while I contend that the southern terminus should be at the town of Trenton. In view of such differences of opinion, the sound principle to adopt would be to follow the expert testimony of a competent person who has studied all the evidence that can be supplied, both for and against either of the routes mentioned. I think, in view of what has occurred in the past, the House will have no hesitation in arriving at the conclusion that Trenton is the natural and proper outlet of this great waterway. In the determination of a matter of this kind, the cost of construction and maintenance should not be the sole consideration; utility and the advantages to be derived by the country generally should control the action of the Government. There have already been several surveys made of the two routes by engineers appointed by the present and by the previous government. Owing to the pressure brought to bear upon the present government by those who are in favor of the Port Hope terminus, the government saw fit to appoint Mr. McLeod, an engineer of the most eminent respectability and ability, to investigate all the reports, surveys and estimates that had been made by previous engineers. Mr. McLeod had placed in his hands all this data furnished from the time that Mr. Mainsy, under the British government, made his first report. Mr. McLeod went over the route, and after a most careful investigation of the whole situation, and a thorough consideration of the benefits that might be derived, not only by the two towns more particularly interested, but by the country at large, he made his report. After Mr. McLeod had made his report, the assertion was made from the town of Port Hope that that gentleman, in making his report, was actuated by some ulterior motive, and did not report in accordance with the true facts. Knowing, as most of us do the eminent respectability and ability of Mr. McLeod, we know it is an unworthy insinuation for any one to make. Mr. McLeod is a gentleman in whom I have the utmost confidence. He is a gentleman in whom the government has placed their confidence, and there is no doubt that he reported impartially and according to his honest convictions.

In briefly considering the differences that exist as to the southern terminus of this canal, perhaps I could not deal with the matter in a better manner than by taking up and discussing the advantages claimed for the Port Hope route by its advocates. The principal advantage claimed is the saving in distance in construction from Rice Lake to Port Hope over Rice Lake to Trenton. The Port Hope route is said to be twenty-three miles, the Trenton route fifty-eight miles, and they thus claim a saving of thirty-five miles.

In this connection the advocates of the Port Hope route forget or avoid stating that the distance from Rice Lake to Montreal by way of Port Hope is greater than that by way of Trenton by a distance of forty miles, that being the distance of Port Hope from Trenton via Lake Ontario and the Murray canal, and thus the mere matter of distance is more than made up by the Trenton route. They also minimize or omit to mention the dangers of lake navigation from Port Hope to the Murray canal for light draft barges such as would be used in this canal. Any thoughtful consideration of these dangers, and the necessary delays by such a route, is sufficient in itself to condemn the adoption of such a proposition. Port Hope harbor being an artificial one, these barges could enter it from the lake, or leave it only in favorable weather. The prevailing winds during the season of navigation are from the south and west, thus blowing in upon the Ontario shore; and between Port Hope and the Murray Canal there are no natural protected harbors in which in case of storm these barges could take refuge. Along that coast or shore are also a number of reefs and dangerous places, notably the Bluff and Presqu'ile Point—the latter stretching out into the lake in a southerly direction, and separated from the Murray shore by only a narrow channel. This channel, I am told, is constantly shifting owing to the sandy formation of the shore along the Murray side, and the water is exceedingly shallow outside this narrow channel. I have a personal knowledge of many wrecks at this point, having been born and brought up within a few miles of that place. To enter the Murray Canal from Port Hope these barges would be obliged to describe three-quarters of a circle around the Presqu'ile Point, surrounded by these dangerous shoals, with only a narrow channel to work in, to navigate which at any time would be difficult, and in a rough sea would be almost impossible, and undoubtedly dangerous. If these considerations alone were not enough to counterbalance this question of distance in construction, I would call attention to the fact that of the fifty-eight miles by the Trenton route, I am informed there is about thirty miles of it river navigation, thus leaving only about five miles difference in direct canalage.

RE-OPENING SERVICES

Held on Sunday in Charlotte St Methodist Church.

Large congregations attended the services in the Charlotte-st. Methodist church on Sunday, the occasion being the re-opening after a complete renovation of the interior of the edifice. Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the pulpit in the morning, and the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, in the evening. The music was of a particularly pleasing character, the morning anthem being "He that dwelleth." A solo, "Come to the Land of Rest," was very sweetly rendered by Miss Clara Bellegham, and Mr. J. Harry Scriver, of Hastings, sang in excellent voice, "O Happy Day." The evening anthem was "Sun of My Soul." With voice of great purity of tone, and with a depth of expression, Mrs. Davis, of Cleveland, Ohio, who is visiting here, sang the solo, "I heard the Voice of Jesus Say," and Mr. Scriver, of Hastings, again sang most effectively, his selection being "Calvary."

Charlotte-st. church has been re-painted, decorated and papered within, and a very handsome new pulpit installed. The cost of the improvements amounted to about $1,000.

57TH REGIMENT IN BEAUTIFUL BARRIE

The Town Was Captured Without Resistance and the Reception by the 35th Regiment and Citizens of Barrie was of Most Cordial Character—Regiment Returned to Town This Morning.

Before Mr. Witten began his address he extended a most cordial welcome to the 57th Regiment on behalf of the citizens and officers of the 35th Regiment and said he hoped that they would carry away such happy reminiscences that they would come again. He said the Barrie people were proud to welcome such a shooting regiment as the 57th as they had watched with pleasure the recent results at Rockliffe. He said that life was made up of changes, and when the regiment left for home they would be sorry to part and most happy to meet again.

Rev. Mr. Witten in a very enthusiastic chaplain, and his address was listened to with a great deal of pleasure. After the service the two regiments marched back to the park, and the streets were crowded with citizens who greatly admired the soldierly bearing of the men.

The afternoon was spent very quietly in boating and driving and walking about the town, and the 57th Regiment band rendered a sacred concert at Queen's Park at 4.30, and a large number of the citizens enjoyed the treat. In the evening the men marched to the different churches in squads, and in Collier Street Methodist Church at which most of the officers attended. A special service was held. Lieut.-Colonel J. W. Miller read the lesson and Pte. J. Legg of the band sang "Abide With Me," very nicely.

Monday morning was spent in a very amusing and lively way by the members of the regiment. They procured a cannon and formed an artillery squad and the air resounded with the noise of shrapnel and shot, and a person could imagine the Japs were attacking Port Arthur.

THE TROOP PERFORMED.

At 1.30 the regiment was again formed up in review order and marched to the market square where they were joined by the 35th Regiment Band and companies, and then paraded to the Agricultural Grounds, where the troop was performed, and it was done in such a manner as would have done credit to a regular regiment of England. The marching and counter marching could not have been improved upon, and the bands were in their places at the proper time, notwithstanding the fact that Sgt. Peters, the drum-major, was forced to leave for home in the morning. Sgt. T. Miller filled his position very capably and not a mistake was made. The march past was so creditably performed that it called forth cheers and applause from the citizens. Col. H. C. Rogers said he never saw it performed better in all his experience in soldiering. A programme of sports, consisting of football match, horse and lady race, tug-of-war, etc, were run off, and the afternoon was a very pleasant one.

BANQUET TO THE OFFICERS.

At six o'clock the officers were tendered a banquet at the Queen's Hotel, and the affair proved a very successful one. Seated around the table, besides the officers, were, Lieut.-Colonel McCarthy, M.D., Lieut.-Col. McPhee, Capt. McLaren, Capt. Scott, Chaplain Witten, Lieut. Burton, Lieut. Thomas, Lieut. McCarthy, Lieut Black, and Lieut. McCarthy of the South African Constabulary, who is home on a short visit.

After the toast to the King had been enthusiastically honored, Major Boyes, on behalf of the citizens of Barrie and the Tennis Bowling Club, thanked the officers of the 57th for their kindness in performing the troop in the afternoon. They had greatly enjoyed the regiment's visit and he hoped that they had had a pleasant stay. He spoke very complimentary of the band and said that Barrie people had never listened to sweeter or better music. They had been whisted by many bands, but none were so generous and dispensed their music so freely and willingly as the 57th band had done. He congratulated the regiment on the military bearing they had maintained around the town and spoke in very high terms of the church parade on Sunday and the efficiency with which the regiment marched and performed their drill. He hoped that at some future date the regiment would come back again. In conclusion he proposed the toast of the officers of the 57th Regiment, and they all joined lustily in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

On behalf of the regiment, Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller responded in a very able speech, thanking the Mayor, officers of the 35th and citizens of Barrie for their kind hospitality during the 57th's visit there. They would never forget their kindness and if it was the regiment's good fortune to be invited again, they certainly would be delighted to come.

Lieut.-Colonel McCarthy proposed the toast of "The Cavalry and Battery Division," and Lieut.-Colonel H. C. Rogers and Capt. Ambermen responded.

The next toast proposed, and one which was most heartily honored, was the toast to Lieut. McCarthy of the South African Constabulary, proposed by Chaplain Witten. Lieut. McCarthy went to South Africa as a private, but he rapidly rose by daring acts of bravery. He was a very modest young man and loudly responded to the toast.

Dr. Arnold favored the gathering with a song and Major Stevenson proposed the health of the officers of the 35th Regiment, which the officers of the 57th heartily drank. Lieut.-Col. McPhee responded very briefly. He said that the regiment's visit had done more good than we could imagine. They had watched with interest the regiment's manoeuvres and drills, and the conduct of the men had been all that could be desired. He hoped to see the 35th a city regiment in the near future, and said he would do all in his power to make it so.

Lieut.-Colonel Miller was called upon for a recitation and he was forced to respond to an encore.

Major Stevenson sang a song and after singing Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem the gathering adjourned to the camp where the men were preparing to leave for the station.

Lieut.-Col. Miller was taken to the camp grounds in a carriage drawn by the non-coms. of the 35th Regiment, and on their arrival there was presented with an address by the sergeant major, Sgt. Ingold briefly. He was also conveyed to the station in the same horseless carriage.

The men of the regiment were also having a good time on their last evening in town, and their time-honored "Cook's Parade," was not lacking in its enjoyment. The band and bugle band took the leading parts and their antics and costumes were very amusing. Bonfires were lit along the street and the scene was a very lively one, as the people of Barrie were beginning to feel sorry that the boys were leaving when they were just becoming acquainted. The streets were crowded with people who assisted in making the evening as enjoyable as possible.

Shortly after nine o'clock the regiment left their camping grounds for the station, and the route was lined with people who cheered them lustily as they passed and shouted farewells, the band playing "Auld Lang Syne." On reaching the park at the station the regiment was halted and the band took up a position in the centre of the park. Lieut.-Col. Miller proposed three cheers for the citizens of Barrie and the regiment heartily gave about a dozen. The band played a few parting selections and after many hand shakes and sweet good byes by the boys, the train was boarded and Barrie was left to resume its usual quietness again. The men were all pretty tired and were quiet on the way home. On marching to the drill shed they were congratulated by the commanding Officers on their good conduct during the trip and he said he hoped they had enjoyed themselves. Captain Ackerman asked permission to propose three cheers for Colonel Miller and the men responded heartily.

NOTES OF THE TRIP.

"We'll return to Barrie again soon," was frequently heard on the train last night.

"The finest band that ever played in Barrie," remarked the Mayor at the banquet, which speaks well for the band.

Pte. Cranfield had the pleasure of escorting Pte. Richards, attired in feminine costume, to the band concert on Saturday night, and all the boys were envious of his good fortune in securing a handsome companion. We won't give the fellows away for what happened after the concert at the drill hall of the 35th.

The cake-walking in the cook's parade was magnificent, and the costumes were well made up.

Some of the boys, as usual, returned to town minus their buttons, badges, etc. They had a great weakness for the Barrie ladies. It is even rumored that some of the married officers were guilty in this respect.

The "Retreat" on Sunday night by the band was one of the prettiest features of the trip, and notwithstanding the pouring rain, was listened to by a large number of citizens.

"I have yet to see a soldier drunk," remarked the Mayor just before the train started for home, and no better guarantee of their good conduct could be wished for.

The bugle band, over twenty strong, was a most popular feature of the regiment, and their singing was greatly appreciated. At the hotel before mash meal they all rose and sang the doxology. On the train and on the boat, also, they were not selfish with their songs and provided a high-class entertainment by singing, dancing, banjo playing, etc.

A few of the boys were unruly on the way up but otherwise their conduct could not have been better.

Refreshments were provided on the train by Mr. T. Hooper and his assistants, and they were greatly enjoyed.

"Who's alright?" The Officers, patted the boys during the trip. They tried to make everything enjoyable for the regiment and they certainly succeeded.

The ambulance corps had a few patients, but the cases were not very serious.

The boys of the fire brigade were right royally entertained at Barrie and Allandale during the trip by their brethren.

Everyone was delighted to meet Sgt. "Bob" Henderson and were all sorry when they had to part at the station.

The yacht race of the officers on Saturday morning resulted in a win for Major Dennistoun, 1st; Capt. Ackerman, 2nd; and Lieut. Wallace, 3rd.

The Colonel's kitten was a great favorite with the officers.

The Fontang band came to Barrie on Monday and their music was dispensed freely.

SOME SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS

A Number of Interesting Matrimonial Events Solemnized To-day.

CARRUTH—STEWART.

This afternoon at three o'clock Miss Annie Stewart, daughter of the late George Stewart, and Mr. W. C. Carruth, of Renfrew, were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Miss James Finney, Argyle street, and was very quiet. Both bride and groom were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Carruth leave this evening for Renfrew, where they will reside.

DONALDSON—TOGAS.

This evening at 7.30 Miss Florence Togas, daughter of Mr. Joseph Togas, Water street, and Mr. Arthur Donaldson, of Millbrook, will be the principals in a pleasing matrimonial event. The interior of the home has been prettily decorated with flowers and the knot will be tied beneath an artistically arranged arch. Rev. A. H. Bruce, of Park Street Church will officiate and the bride will be given away by her father. Her charming gown is of crepe de chene over taffeta silk and her bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid is Miss Harriet Downing, of Peterborough, and two little maidens, Pearl Togas, sister of the bride, and Inas Duncan, her cousin are flower girls. Miss Downing's gown is of crepe de chene over grey taffeta. Mr. Andrew Pearson of town, is best man. Miss Nellie O'Donnell will play the wedding march. The honeymoon will include a trip to Toronto and other western cities. The bride has received a very large number of handsome presents, which testify to the popularity she enjoys among her friends.

McDONALD—THEOBALD.

In St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning at five o'clock, Rev. Father McCoil united in marriage Miss Amy Theobald, daughter of Mr. Thomas Theobald, Albert street, and Mr. Edward J. McDonald, son of Mr. Charles McDonald of town. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Fagan, and the groomsman, Mr. F. J. McDonald. The happy young couple left on the 7.10 C.P.R. train for a wedding trip to Toronto and other cities and on their return will reside on Albert street.

MAKING SUPPLY SECURE

DOMINION GOVERNMENT'S ACTION IN REGARD TO TRENT CANAL WATER.

Conference With Commissioner of Public Works Respecting the Taking over of Maintenance of Northern Dams.

(Toronto Globe).

A conference was held yesterday between Hon. F. R. Latchford, Commissioner, and Mr. A. W. Campbell, Assistant Commissioner of Public Works, representing the Government, and Mr. H. H. Hansard, Law Clerk, of the Railway and Canals Department, Ottawa, and Chief Engineer Rogers, of the Trent Valley Canal, representing the taking over of certain Ontario waters by the Dominion for the maintenance of a supply of water for the Trent Valley Canal. The result was that an understanding was reached, which will be embodied in an agreement. The idea is that a large number of waters in the northern parts of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough and Hastings counties act as feeders for the Trent system, and with the use of dams a number of reservoirs have been created, which maintain a more even supply of water for the canal system for the summer or dry months. The Dominion Government propose increasing these dams and making better and larger reservoirs. The object of the Ontario Government is to secure the rights of the settlers and lumbermen, so that there will be chutes and slides for the latter, and where lands are flooded they will be paid for. This step on the part of the Dominion Government gives further color to the understanding that it is intended to push the work on the Trent Canal with renewed energy.

POLICE COURT

At the Police Court this morning a boy was fined $2 for throwing stones at another boy.

The Grand Trunk allowed a train to block King-st. for a considerable length of time, and were fined $2 and $2.30 costs. The Magistrate remarked that the accommodation for handling the traffic is not nearly what it should be, and that they must build more tracks.

A woman laid an information against her husband for using abusive and insulting language towards her. The case was enlarged until Friday morning. R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution.

NEW STREET CAR ARRIVES

One of the Handsome Quartette for the Radial Railway Co.

There arrived to-day over the C.P.R. one of the very handsome quartette of cars which have been built by the Ottawa Car Company, Limited, for the Peterborough Radial Railway Company. The car was removed to the barns, and in a very short time will be doing service.

MR. FRED WESTCOTT MARRIED

An Old Peterborough Boy Takes unto Himself a Wife.

A despatch from Albion, New York, refers to a wedding in which Mr. Frederick G. Wescott, a former resident of Peterborough, was one of the principals:

Albion, Sept. 6—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Howard, 309 Mingo street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 1 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 1st, when their daughter, Miss Frances A. Howard, was given in marriage to Frederick G. Wescott, of Grand Rapids, in the presence of a large company of relatives and near friends.

The house was tastefully decorated in green and red; the dining room in green and yellow. As a prelude to the wedding march, Miss Georgia Pratt sang, "As the Dawn," a song peculiarly appropriate to the occasion. Then as Mendelssohn's march was played by Miss Clara Day, of Springport, the wedding procession advanced, led by Rev. Wm. Colby, of Parma. Following were the bridesmaids—Miss Elizabeth Kuhn, of Grand Rapids and Miss Elizabeth Jane Hall, of Cadillac. The best man, Fred. S. Nicholas, of Bannister, and the maid of honor, Miss Bertha Howard, sister of the bride, were next in line. The groom then came and just preceded the little ring bearer, Miss Dorothy Griffin. The bride, attired in a handsome white wedding gown and carrying a bouquet of white asters, leaned upon the arm of her father, and concluded the wedding procession.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Colby, of Parma, and the friends then rushed forward with congratulations.

A wedding luncheon was served by friends of the bride, and the presents, which included many pieces of cut glass and solid silverware were duly inspected. The happy couple left by afternoon train for their future home in Grand Rapids, where the groom is a prominent engraver and printer. The bride, a popular young lady of Colligwood, has been a nurse in Grand Rapids for about two years.

SONS OF VULCAN MEETING

THE MASTER HORSESHOERS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO.

The Aims and Objects of the Institution — Two Sessions of the Convention To-day.

The brawny sons of Vulcan, representing the Western Horseshoers' Protective Association of Ontario, met this afternoon in the Forester's Hall, Simcoe street. There were about seventy-five delegates in attendance and great interest was taken in the proceedings. The Master Horseshoers' Association is not a union—as such organizations are known today—and it may be of interest here to state its aims and objects. These are as follows:—

1. To elevate the craft throughout Ontario.

2. To facilitate the thorough organization of the trade for mutual benefit and protection, and the advanced education, by means of scientific schools, which will impart to the horseshoer a thorough understanding of the art of farriery.

3. To promote concert of action among our members, relative to reforming present methods of competing for work, and inducing each city to adopt a uniform scale of prices.

4. To effect the establishment of a national apprenticeship system, whereby young men desirous of acquiring the trade may be duly indentured and properly taught for a term of four years, and that the employer, having done full justice in all respects to said apprentice, shall furnish him with a certificate of workmanship. And it is further recommended, at the beginning of the apprenticeship period, an agreement shall be entered into and signed by both parties.

5. To eliminate from our ranks all incompetent and unworthy hands who bring discredit to our trade, much to our injury.

6. To decide all differences that may arise in and between local associations, and in general to determine and decide upon all customs and usages affecting the trade or business interests of the craft.

7. To concentrate our ideas to create harmony and reliance towards one another, to assist each other in business necessities, and to rescue our trade from the condition into which it has fallen.

8. To provide for the widow and orphans or dependants of a deceased member, by having our membership to guard and care for the business of their deceased brothers in the interests of his dependents.

9. Finally, we aim to elevate ourselves to that position in society which, as horseshoers, we are justly entitled to; and as a means to that end we resolve to enter deeply into and intelligently discuss the methods whereby "man's best friend," which is our means of support may be benefitted.

At two o'clock the session opened, with acting president, F. P. Herns, of Brantford, in the chair. He made a short address, and regretted that the president had been unable to get here today. He introduced Mayor Roger, who extended a cordial welcome to the Association on behalf of the Council and citizens. He said he was surprised that the local brethren, who had only belonged to the Association for a year had received the consent of the Association to meet here this year. He was glad they had chosen Peterborough, as the citizens were always glad to meet any body of men who gathered here. He had had a glance at their constitution and was delighted with the principles of the organization. He said that these days are days of combination in many respects, and it was a sensible thing to combine together and co-operate for the national good of the Association. He trusted the meeting would be a satisfactory one, and hoped that while they might imbibe something from a good lively Canadian town, we might also derive some good from this gathering. He wished the Association every success, and was sorry to see it not as well attended as it should have been. He concluded by hoping that they would enjoy their visit here, and wishing them a safe return to their homes.

Ald. Jos. Batten, a member of the Association, replied to the Mayor's welcome. He said they were always pleased to have the Mayor of any town, where any association or society meets, as they had today. He wished also to welcome the brethren to the town today, and hoped they would enjoy their stay. He said that a finer or healthier looking lot of men had never gathered than at this meeting. The object of the Association was not only to benefit themselves, but also the public at large. It was a well known fact that too many young men left their trades before completion, and did work at outrageous prices, and he said the Association was trying to get around this condition of things, and turn out the young men with proper papers and fully fitted to perform good work. The main object of the Association was to get a union, for in union there is strength. He was glad to see the Mayor present today, and thanked him on behalf of the Association for the cordial welcome extended.

President Herns then addressed the Association and gave a very instructive address on the objects and principles of the Association.

Toothache.

Life is hardly worth the living
When one has an aching tooth.
Who can gentle and forgiving
Be in such a case? In truth,
Candor makes me here declare
Then I'm cross as any bear.

I am hating all creation
When my tooth is beating time;
When it aches like all tarnation,
I am fit for any crime;
Still it takes a lot of grit
To step up and part with it.

When I try the pain to cover,
Playing that there is no ache,
Half a dozen mishaps hover
Round me to advantage take,
To beset me as I grin,
Keeping all the swear words in.

It is safest, when that molar
Takes the center of the stage,
Plunging one in darkest dolor,
Causing one to wildly rage,
To sidestep and quiet keep
Till the tooth is put to sleep.

WHEN BOYS WERE MEN

By JOHN HABBERTON,

Author of "Helen's Babies," "George Washington," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY JOHN HABBERTON

When either of us downed a man, Mick followed with a vigorous kick below the belt. The kicks were brutal, but it was Mick's duty to hold the line of that fence. The odds were heavily against him, and he was obliged to use any and all means within reach.

Fighting with fence rails as weapons was new to us, but we took to it kindly. We had to. They demanded a lot of free space, which was not always to be had, for the tree trunks would not get out of our way, and some of us came to grief while downed by our weapons having collided with trees. Once I rushed to Brainard's assistance, supposing him in deadly peril, for two of the few remaining Johnnies closed on him with their bayonets ready to lunge. But Brainard turned like a tectotum, holding his rail horizontally. It struck one of the Johnnies and knocked him down. In an instant Brainard jumped and landed with both feet on the stomach of the fallen man. He also said, "I beg your pardon," but the fallen man's reply was couched in language unfit for publication. Then Brainard's rail struck the other man below the belt, and he, too, fell. Sergeant Mick saw the encounter and screamed:

"Hooray, Brainard! Ye little dhivil! I'll thrain ye up to the loightweight championship av Ameriky whin we git back to Summerton."

About this time there was a visible scarcity of Johnnies in fighting trim. In fact, there was but one—the only officer who seemed to be with the party. He had an eye like a hawk and had dashed to and fro as rapidly as if trying to learn our number and resources. Suddenly it occurred to him that he had done and learned all in his power and that it was time to return. I tried to head him off and bring my rail to bear upon him. At the same moment Mick roared:

"Grab their muskets an' their ammynition! Git back to the fince an' foire wid 'em as fast as yez kin! Niver moind aimin', but make all the noise yez kin, so they'll think we've cleaned out their skirmishers an' are beginnin' the foight ag'in!"

Fully half of us had had some militia practice with muskets, and all the others had used muzzle loaders against large or small game before the war, so we made quite a racket, which, to my delight, caused the enemy to break into companies and move to the rear under the natural impression that their skirmishers had been overcome and we had resumed business at the old stand.

But I was still in chase of the officer. Once I succeeded in knocking him down by tripping him, but he was on his feet again in an instant. Suddenly I saw Sergeant Mick near me, brandishing his severed arm. The sleeve had fallen from it, and it was really a sightly though displaced human member. I would give half my possessions and hopes for one like it, for 'twas a mass of muscle, with an elbow joint as big and protuberant as a cobblestone. Mick raised it to the position of "rear cut against cavalry" and landed it fairly on the back of the officer's neck. The officer instantly landed on his own back, and the fight for the fence was over. Then Mick looked across the fence, saw the retiring enemy and croaked:

"They've throwed up the sponge! Niver moind the killed an' wounded just yet. Look quick to the Johnnies as was punched wid the fince rails! Glory be to the pathos av auld Oireland! An' tis the han's an' fate av thim that's gittin' over bein' groggy."

We obeyed orders and found some very sick men, whom we bound so they could not get away when they recovered. Then we did our best for the wounded. Mick had already sent another mounted messenger in search of the regiment to report that the enemy was retiring, and there was a fine chance for a chase and a charge. But the regiment was not found. It found us two hours later. The affair appeared to have been one of many of its kind, in which an advance of the enemy, reconnoitering in force, had been reported so imperfectly by negroes from beyond the lines that our regiment had taken the wrong road, found nothing and, like many times before, cursed "the reliable contraband" and grumbled at a long, hard ride for nothing. But they buried the enemy's dead for us, which was great comfort, for to kill a man and then have to bury him is worse than war. I think it's worse than hell.

"Hadn't you better go back to camp, sergeant, now that the fuss is over?" suggested Brainard as we waited for the regiment. "Your wound needs attention."

Mick did not seem to hear. He was leaning against his horse, looking tenderly at his severed arm, and we heard him say, as if he were alone with it:

"Ah, Norah, little did yez liver know av the strength ye was puttin' into that arm whin 'twas around yer swate waist!"

CHAPTER XXI.

A CHAT WITH THE COLONEL.

FOR Brainard's sake I was glad the fight had occurred, for it seemed to me that it should have put Phil Hamilton's possible chance out of his mind. But as soon as we reached camp the few sick list men and shirkers who had remained behind began to croak a story supposed to have filtered from the colonel's tent through several intermediaries that the colonel had been in a rage about the explosions of my relics in our old camp, that had made him suppose the enemy were shelling us as we evacuated the post, and that he was going to make an example of the guilty party. Sure enough, we had not been in camp more than two hours when the orderly sergeant of our company came to our tent and said:

"The colonel wants to see you two at once."

We looked at each other and tried to smile, but failed.

"It seems to me," said I, "that our share of the fight at the fence ought to mitigate our punishment—I mean my own punishment, for you did nothing in that shell affair but tell about it, like a fool. I suppose that even now you'll try to make the colonel believe that you had some share in it, so as to shield me."

"I wish I could," replied Brainard meekly. "I wish I hadn't told of it when the colonel was so mystified about the shots, but really it did seem for the good of the service."

"You're too good to live," said I. "Come along. I hope you'll come in for some share of the punishment, you unspeakable lunatic."

Nevertheless for a corporal to be summoned by his colonel has a sobering effect, so I fought down my feelings and tried to assume a bold front as I dragged Brainard across the parade ground.

"Pass them in, sentry," said the colonel from the open front of his tent as we drew near. We stopped at the tent flaps, saluted and stood at "attention."

"Come in, gentlemen," said the colonel, with an odd smile which nevertheless seemed not ugly. "Sit down."

Both of us dropped nervelessly on the colonel's camp bed, the only seat visible. The colonel was handling some papers which I promptly assumed were court martial charges against us.

"I was greatly surprised and also pleased," continued the colonel, still handling the papers, "at receiving today commissions for both of you—commissions as first lieutenants."

I looked at Brainard, and Brainard looked at me, and I don't understand why both of us did not drop dead with astonishment. The colonel went on:

"I had hoped to promote both of you in the course of time, after you had reached sergeant's grade—Brainard, because of your rescuing your party from the enemy after capture and for getting that dispatch through to the left a few nights ago, and, Frost, because I've learned that you spent a lot of money in trying to get recruits for the regiment at the time you entered it. I'm not the only influence with the appointing power. Political and other strings are being pulled for scores of my noncommissioned officers, and some of this sort of work seems to have been done for you boys."

"Not for me, sir, that I know of," said Brainard quickly.

"Eh? Well, so much the more to your credit. Nevertheless 'tis true. You're both commissioned to the Forty-third. It seems from a letter accompanying your commissions that the Forty-third is in a bad way—good men, bad officers—so bad that the command can't be trusted to take the field. A lot of the officers have been weeded out, and the governor wished to replace them with men from regiments that are in good shape and have seen hard service. The senator from your district strongly recommended you, Frost, and called your father up to Albany, and it seems that your father took with him a handsome young woman who told an extraordinary story of your bravery and produced a letter in evidence. I can't understand how I, your colonel, failed to have learned the facts, but"—

"Your cousin May!" exclaimed Brainard. Then he sprang to his feet and hit me between the shoulders with a force which I could not have believed was in his tiny frame. The colonel looked surprised, and Brainard murmured "I beg pardon" and collapsed in confusion.

"It seems, further," continued the colonel, "that the governor said he wished he knew of some other trooper of equal courage and ability, upon which the young lady said she could name one and straightway praised you, Brainard, without stint and declared that if you two could be sent together you could end the war. I can't imagine where the young lady obtained her knowledge of the special requirements of the service or how she came to know so much about the soldierly qualities of two of my corporals, but these commissions are the result."

"We can't accept them, sir," said Brainard, "if they've been granted on such hearsay and misapprehension."

I didn't approve of Brainard's "we." He had the right to decline for himself, should he insist on being so foolish, but I wanted my own commission, no matter through what mistake it was issued. The colonel, too, was of my way of thinking, for he replied:

"Nonsense! Never lose a chance to reach higher rank, especially to move your insignia of rank from your sleeve to your shoulder."

"But, sir, there are other men more deserving of it," said Brainard. "I'd feel ashamed to wear shoulder straps if McTwyny must go on with only a sergeant's stripes. You ought to see him fight!"

"Eh? McTwyny? That freckled Irish tiger that's a sergeant in your troop? Oh, he couldn't help fighting if he tried!"

"But there's brains behind his fighting, sir. If you'd seen and heard"—

"There's brains behind all real fighting, corporal—er—lieutenant. Don't ever forget it, or your enemy will get the better of you."

"But there's such a lot behind McTwyny's, sir," persisted Brainard. "Think of the odds that were against him. He had only 15 men with whom to fight what looked like a brigade—certainly a thousand—and he talked and acted like a general instead of a mere sergeant."

"When? Where? How do you know?" asked the colonel, with a quizzical smile apparently at Brainard's assuming to know how a general would act.

"This afternoon. Way off to the right of the road our regiment took. We saw him. We were in the fight with him and were proud of it and of him."

"Bless me! I heard such wild stories of that skirmish that I've already asked your captain for a written report. Tell me all about it."

Brainard told him without a word of exaggeration, yet as he talked the colonel arose and paced his tent like an excited lion in a cage. He clinched his hands, and his eyes flashed, and he spattered small groups of Scriptural words that were not prayers. Brainard stopped abruptly after telling how Mick foiled the skirmishers' captain.

"The tiger!" exclaimed the colonel. "I wish there were more of his kind in the regiment."

"But isn't he a man, too?" asked Brainard. "And shouldn't he be rewarded"—

"It shan't be my fault if he isn't a man from this day forth," interrupted the colonel. "Come with me. I suppose he is in the hospital."

"Or dead," I suggested.

"Nonsense!" growled the colonel. "Loss of a fore paw never kills a tiger. Lieutenant Bunlow of our regiment has shot them in India. He was in the British service and has told me all about it."

Instead of going direct to the hospital the colonel stopped at a captain's tent and asked for one of the occupant's jackets—an old one. The captain looked surprised, but complied

SLEEPLESSNESS AND HEADACHE

Tell of Exhausted Nerves--A Peterboro Man Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Harold Crane, Sophia street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed in Hall's store, states:—"I believe the close confinement of shop work was responsible for my becoming very nervous, and as a natural result I did not sleep and at times had severe attacks of splitting headaches. I heard of the good results obtained by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and decided to try it. I can now say that I am more than pleased with the results, as it has benefited me very much. It built up my system, restored my nerves, and I am now entirely free from headaches. I have every reason to give the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

MUNICIPAL INSURANCE

Big Scheme For Corporation of Municipalities Broached.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa Launches His Scheme at a Representative Gathering of the Ontario Municipal Association—Purchase of Public Utilities Should Be Made Practicable—Motion For the Training of a Municipal Code.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The Ontario Municipal Association began its annual convention in the City Hall yesterday morning. Controller Hubbard presided, and there was a good attendance of mayors and municipal officials.

Municipal Insurance.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa gave notice of motion outlining a scheme for the establishment of a Dominion municipal insurance corporation. The plan proposed, that a Dominion charter be secured and be conducted as a joint stock insurance company; that every municipality becoming a member be entitled to have all share holders' rights in the proportion of one vote for every 10,000 of population, and all municipalities under 10,000 to have one vote; that municipalities may join only when authorized by a vote of the ratepayers; that there be five directors, representing Ontario, Quebec, Maritime Provinces, Manitoba, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, and one from at large; that the directors have power to appoint all officials and fix the rate of insurance in each municipality; that the corporation enter into competition with existing insurance companies; that each municipality joining the corporation pay in in cash an amount equal to 1-100th of one per cent. of the assessed value of all the property in such municipality; that the corporation deposit with the Department of Finance as security four per cent. debentures at par of each joining municipality to an amount equal to one per cent. of the total assessed value of the municipality; that all insurance in a municipality be done by the municipal officials without commissions; that the whole plan be submitted to the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance and such actuaries as may be deemed advisable. In each municipality belonging to the corporation property would be insurable as follows:

"In each municipality a property-owner may, by giving notice to the municipal authorities and paying the premium in advance, have his real property other than land insured up to two-thirds of its assessable value when such assessable value is not more than $10,000, up to one-half of its assessable value when such assessable value is over $10,000, and not more than $25,000, and up to one-fourth of its assessable value when such assessable value is over $25,000, and not more than $100,000, and in no case more than $25,000 of insurance on any one property. The matter of the insurance of personal property to be considered later."

The question was referred to a special committee.

Municipal Ownership.

Ald. Rodd of Weston moved that it be referred to a committee to consider and recommend to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario such amendments to the Municipal Act as will enable the municipalities to effectually take over public utilities such as gas plants, electric plants, etc., the present law being inadequate and practically unworkable. The motion was approved.

City Solicitor Mikel of Belleville moved that the Legislature be asked to appoint a committee composed of municipal officials to frame a municipal code. He explained that it was an attempt to prevent the contradictory and confusing amendments to the municipal law of the Province. The motion was referred to committee.

Votes to All Municipalities.

Solicitor Caswell of Toronto moved that the constitution of the association be amended to provide that all municipalities in the Province be eligible for representation. At present only cities and towns may send representatives. Upon motion of Solicitor Mikel of Belleville the motion was referred to a special committee with instructions to draw up a constitution.

The following were appointed to the Committee on Resolutions: Mayor Boys, Barrie; Mayor Ellis, Ottawa; Ald. J. A. Leitch, Brantford; Solicitor Mikel, Belleville; Mayor Drake, Windsor; Solicitor Caswell, Toronto; Ald. Cooper, London; S. H. Kent, Hamilton; J. H. Hamilton, Guelph; W. J. Berry, Ingersoll; M. A. Marrison, Ingersoll; D. M. McIntyre, Kingston.

A proposal to provide the means for selling municipal debentures at a uniform rate was not kindly received, but was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

A Dominion Registration.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The second biennial convention of the Canadian Dental Association was opened last evening in the medical building. The chair was occupied by Dr. J. H. Willmott, president of the association. In his annual address reported the association to be in a flourishing condition. He notified the meeting that the provisional Dominion Dental Council had not met during the afternoon to consider what steps should be taken to bring about a Dominion registration; that is to say, a general standard for all the provinces.

Soo Rails For Intercolonial.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 7.—The steamer Neepawah of the Montreal and Lake Superior Line, is loading one thousand tons of steel rails for Montreal for the Intercolonial Railway, the first shipments since the resumption of operations. Steel plant shipments will continue regularly now.

Numbered With the Missing.

Hamilton, Sept. 7.—J. Vivian, restaurant keeper, 108 North James street, and May McAllister, are missing. Vivian left a pretty wife, several young children and a great many unpaid bills that his wife thought had been paid. The deserted wife says all her money, $800, was lost in the business. Writs against the business have been issued on behalf of James Jackson, butcher, and the Pure Milk Company.

Dock Sheeter's Death.

Brockville, Sept. 7.—A young man named Sheppard, 21 years of age, who lived near Mallory Town, died in Brockville yesterday from terrible injuries sustained by the accidental discharge of his gun while duck shooting in a boat near his home Monday. His stomach and breast were terribly lacerated, several ribs and the breast bone were shattered, and the liver and intestines exposed.

Better in New York.

London, Sept. 7.—The Canadian Associated Press understands through a reliable source that the Ontario Government can obtain better terms in New York to sell the bonds to build the new railway than here. The city financiers are anxious that the issue of bonds should be postponed until January, so as to give them a chance to deal with them.

Chained to a Manger.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—George Black of Shawville, a lunatic on his way to an asylum, near Montreal, was found chained to a manger in the stable of Moore's Hotel on Wellington street by C.P.R. Constable Law. Constable Elliot of Shawville did not seem to think he had done anything out of the way.

Sir Wilfrid's Movements.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has returned to Arthabasca, where the Prime Minister will spend the week, returning to Ottawa on Sunday. Senator Pandurand, with whom Sir Wilfrid had been staying at the Baie Des Chaleurs, states that the First Minister is in excellent health.

Dr. Telford Acquitted.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 7.—Dr. Telford, accused of causing the death of Miss Hattie Bowell, by performing an abortion, was acquitted by Judge Dole yesterday morning on the ground that the case depended largely on circumstantial evidence which was not strong enough to convict, while the expert evidence was considered too weak and of little value. The court room was packed, a large number of prominent residents being within the rail. The verdict was received with loud applause, which could not be stopped by the sheriff. The verdict is popular throughout the city.

Accidents in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 7.—Edward Kenney, 433 North Ferguson avenue, accidentally shot himself in the ankle last evening while shooting at birds on North Wellington street. He was taken to the city hospital, where the bullet was removed with the aid of the X-ray.

Albert Snider, 141 Yonge street, had his hand badly crushed at the International Harvester Works, yesterday afternoon. Three fingers had to be amputated at the city hospital.

Conductor's Skull Fractured.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—George A. Placey, a conductor on the Belt Line route, while walking along the foot board, slipped and fell. His skull was fractured. It is doubtful whether he will recover.

THE BAY AT THE FALLS.

How His Grace the Archbishop and Mr. Morgan Spent It.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 7.—His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, Mrs. Davidson and J. Pierpont Morgan, arrived on a special train over the Grand Trunk at 11.15, a.m. yesterday morning. His Grace was met and welcomed by Very Reverend Dean Houston, in an appropriate speech, which His Lordship replied to in graceful manner. Mrs. Dr. Walker, on behalf of the ladies of Niagara Falls, presented Mrs. Davidson with a beautiful bouquet of Niagara flowers, which was received with charming grace by the lady. The party viewed the upper rapids and falls for fully one hour, returning to Niagara Falls, N.Y., where the party was met by V. B. Rankin, president of the International Traction Company, and His Grace Bishop Walker of Buffalo. The party was escorted in a private trolley car, inspecting the great electric power house, in which Mr. Morgan is heavily interested financially, and were taken on the Gorge loop trip, after luncheon leaving by special train last evening for Albany.

THE HISTORY OF THE Y.W.C.A.

Will be Outlined in the Document to be Placed Beneath the Corner Stone This Afternoon--A Movement That Has Acquired Strength in its Progress--The First Officers of the Institution.

The document containing the following information relative to the Y.W.C.A.'s history, and referring to events of interest in Peterborough and other parts of the world during the present year will be placed beneath the corner stone of the new Y.W.C.A building this afternoon:—

The people of Peterborough are today the interested witnesses of a ceremony, the lesson of which has been demonstrated on many occasions, viz., that just as the aims of the individual are shown by his deeds of self-sacrifice for those about him, so the community manifests in great measure, the loftiness of its purpose on behalf of its constituents, its zeal for the welfare of humanity, its acquaintance with progress by the erection of buildings dedicated to high purposes. Such a building is that whose corner stone will to-day be well and truly laid, and succeeding years must testify to well-directed, consecrated Christian effort, in carrying on a work which for twelve years has enlisted the sympathy and co-operation of the citizens of Peterborough, a work that has in view the improvement of the physical, social, intellectual and spiritual condition of young women.

It is just about twelve years since a young man, in appreciation of what the Y.M.C.A. had done for him, pointed to the necessity of a similar institution for young women. This suggestion was not allowed to drop, and at a meeting of ladies held shortly afterwards the proposal to form a Y.W.C.A. was presented by Mr. Colville, the then Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Of the sixteen ladies who attended the meeting three remain in the Association—Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Walsh and Miss Nicholls.

There had been in town prior to this a Young Women's Temperance Union, which had met with financial difficulties, and this fact pointed to the possibility of a like problem with the new institution. The question and its responsibility were considered with prayer, and the result was a decision to go forward. The sum of sixty-five dollars was subscribed at this meeting, and thus began a work which has during the past years been abundantly blessed, and which now realizes the near completion of what it has long required, a building adequate for the work.

The first officers of the Y.W.C.A., elected in December, 1891, were:—President, Mrs. Fairbairn; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. (Rev.) Locke; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Pearce; Secretary, Mrs. J. McKee; Treasurer, Mrs. (Dr.) Bell. The ladies purchased the furniture belonging to the Y.W.T.U., and rooms were opened over Mr. Harry Long's shop on George-st. The ladies took charge of the quarters by turns, and after a most successful year engaged Miss Elizabeth Barker, now Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, as General Secretary, in which position she remained about four years. The opening of a Boarding Home was next successfully accomplished, the work being kindly undertaken by Mrs. W. M. Roger, and though there were occasional seasons of difficulty and discouragement, there was a continued outpouring of God's blessing upon the work. The General Secretaries of subsequent years have been: Miss Kate Lewis, Miss Annie D. Collings, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Agnes Dickson, of Fenelon Falls, a graduate of Toronto University, and Miss Mary E. Lough, of Clinton, also a graduate of Toronto University, the present Secretary.

The boarding home was situated on Brock-st., where later the public work of the Association was carried on, until through the kindness of Hon. Geo. A. Cox this department was enabled to occupy rooms on George-st. Here for two years the work went forward most successfully, and the necessity for larger quarters emphasized itself. The growth of the town to a city's dimensions with a population of about 15,000 created conditions that called for better accommodation.

Such was the demand for buildings that the boarding home had to be vacated, and the Y.W.C.A. was face to face with a problem. The erection of a suitable building had often been discussed, and in January of 1904 a way appeared. A most generous proposal was made by Hon. George A. Cox to contribute a sum equal to one-fourth of any amount that might be subscribed by the citizens towards a building. The amount required was large, but it soon became evident from the fact that the citizens of Peterborough were giving practical and liberal assistance, and the amount subscribed up to this time is $20,100.

The members of the Association went energetically into the work, which had so grand an object in view. Early in the year, 1904, it was decided to proceed with the erection of a building. Estimates were considered and the plans of Mr. W. Blackwell, of Peterborough, were accepted, the cost of the building being placed at about $30,000. The contract was awarded to Mr. J. J. Hartley and Mr. A. A. McIntyre, of Peterborough, and actual work was begun in May, of 1904.

The object is to have such a building as will in every way meet the requirements of the work carried on by the Y.W.C.A., and to-day's ceremony points to an accomplishment worthy of the continued interest and co-operation of all citizens. There is every assurance that the building will be constructed of the best material, substantial in every way, and a monument in future years to a movement, which from a small beginning, has acquired strength in its progress and which, with the blessing of God, shall go forward, realizing the truth that "We live not to ourselves; our work is life."

To those who have assisted in the furtherance of this work, which is now hastening to its completion, all those actually connected with the management of the Y.W.C.A. would express their deepest appreciation. It was unanimously decided that an invitation be extended Mrs. Geo. A. Cox to officiate at this ceremony. Repeatedly has that lady manifested her great interest in the work of the institution, and in many ways have both Mrs. Cox and her husband, the Hon. George A. Cox, shown a friendly attitude and a kindly and generous support which gave impetus to the work and strengthened the hands of those who were engaged in it. Most pleasing is it that Mrs. Cox has graciously accepted the invitation to be present at this an occasion which to all will have its message of inspiration and encouragement.

The present officers are:—

President—Mrs W. D. Scott.
1st Vice-President—Miss A. J. Roberts.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Jory.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. Garvin.

SUFFERED MANY YEARS WITH A COMPLICATION OF FEMALE DISEASES.

Two Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Pe-ru-na.

MRS. J. E. FINN, 82 East High St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete change and rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look around for other means of restoring my health.

"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated me, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose or two of Peruna is all that I need."—Mrs. J. E. Finn.

Pelvic catarrh is a phrase coined by Dr. Hartman, covering all that large class of diseases that used to be known as female weakness. The lower portion of the abdomen is called by anatomists the pelvis. The organs contained in this portion of the body are known as the pelvic organs. There are several of them, very delicate and very subject to catarrh. Few women escape entirely catarrh of these organs. While each case presents some minor difference as to detail, they are all in reality alike. Peruna does not relieve these cases by temporarily mitigating some symptom, but by a removal of the cause. Many a woman can testify that local treatment does not permanently cure. A large multitude of women are constantly going from doctor to doctor to receive local treatment, with little or no result.

Peruna has come to be recognized as the greatest remedy for catarrh in the world. At first competitors tried to deny this and insisted that their remedies were just as good. This was found to be impossible, however, and now imitations are springing up everywhere.

To successfully palm off an imitation of Peruna even for a short time is sure to be a money-making scheme, but no one who has ever taken Peruna can be fooled on these imitations. No conscientious druggist would sell one of them. Every purchaser should look carefully at each package of Peruna he buys, to be sure that he is getting only genuine Peruna.

Miss Ruth Emerson, 72 Sycamore St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for two years with irregular and painful menstruation, and Peruna cured me within six weeks. I cannot tell you how grateful I feel. Any agency which brings health and strength to the afflicted is always a welcome friend, and to-day the market is so filled with useless and injurious medicines that it is a pleasure to know of so reliable a remedy as you place before the public."

This cheque represents the largest purchase of Ladies' and Misses' Rain Coats ever made by any firm in Peterborough.

The, English manufacturers, J. Mandleburg & Co., with branch house in Montreal, took to Toronto last week 900 Rain Coats to clear at a price, being overmakes of this season's goods. After they had sold a portion of them, we made an offer for the entire balance, running away up in the hundreds. Our offer was not much more than ONE-HALF what the other portion had been cleared for—but on being submitted to the Montreal office was accepted, as it made a clean sweep.

This in brief is our Rain Coat story. Coming as it does at the beginning of the season, there is only one thing to do—and DO QUICKLY—put the prices SO RIDICULOUSLY LOW as to clean up the entire lot at once.

KUROKI HITS THE RUSSIANS

A Great Battle is Now in Progress Before Mukden.

KUROPATKIN IS ON THE MARCH TO HARBIN

Has Bulk of his Troops Thirty Miles North of Mukden-- The Rear Guard is Making a Retreat--Russians Lost 21,000 at Liaoyang-- Firing at Port Arthur.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Echo de Paris says: "A great battle is going on before Mukden. The First and Seventeenth Corps are engaged against Gen. Kuroki. They compose Kuropatkin's rear guard. Gen. Kuropatkin with the bulk of the troops is moving towards Tieling," which is 30 miles north of Mukden. He is on his way to Harbin as fast as he can go.

Tieling is a narrow defile, and is a likely place for Kuropatkin to make a stand if he cares to risk another fight with the Japs.

His Next Stand.

Shanghai, Sept. 8.—Chinese reports are to the effect that thousands of Chinese are being forced to construct earthworks at Tieling, where Gen. Kuropatkin will make his next stand.

Kuropatkin at Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—By Associated Press received here yesterday there was no news from the Far East, either from Russian or Japanese sources. For the world-watchers of the great tragedy the curtain has been dropped, and all is conjecture. Not even an expression of opinion comes from Japanese sources, but from St. Petersburg it is indicated that the authorities are confident the critical stage of the Russian retreat is past and that Kuropatkin is no longer in danger or losing any part of his forces to the pursuing Japanese. The Russian commander has arrived at Mukden and it is given out in St. Petersburg that the bulk of his army is now near there, while a despatch from Mukden to the Associated Press, filed Tuesday, says that the main Russian army is pushing forward and evacuating that place. It is indicated that the Japanese are still harrassing the Russian rear. Further than this nothing is known.

St. Petersburg Silent.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—The general staff is not displaying great anxiety over the alarmist reports that Gen. Kuropatkin is in serious danger of being cut off, but if they had any information from the front Wednesday they have not revealed it, and they also decline to say even if they know whether Kuropatkin purposes taking his army north of Mukden.

Where Will He Stop.

London, Sept. 8.—The trend of the view of the morning newspapers on the war in the Far East is that Gen. Kuropatkin's arrival at Mukden does not solve the problem of his retreat. "Where will Kuropatkin stop?" is what is asked. The Daily Telegraph holds that the latest developments are merely the prelude to "the colossal conflict looming in the future."

Firing at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 8.—Firing was heard here indistinctly last evening. A steamship which passed Port Arthur Tuesday night reports that she heard no firing from the Russian stronghold. A Japanese torpedo boat recently fired on Tiger's Tail Fort. She was found by searchlight and repulsed by Russian batteries. She appeared to be somewhat damaged.

Russians Lost 21,300.

New York, Sept. 8.—A special from St. Petersburg says: Russian losses on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 2 are estimated at 21,300. Kuroki's scouts are twelve miles east of Mukden, and Kuropatkin will have to fight another battle after passing through Mukden. Rear guards are fighting continuously.

Man is Well Killed.

Woodstock, Sept. 8.—While working at the bottom of a thirty-foot well north of Woodstock late yesterday afternoon, John McGachon, a well-digger, was buried alive by the sides of the well caving in. Rescue parties were at work last night endeavoring to remove the earth. Nothing is heard from the bottom of the well and it is presumed that he is dead. McGachon was a middle-aged man, living near Strathallan. He leaves a family of grown up children.

Uruguayans Routed.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 8.—Two thousand men were killed and 4,000 wounded in a battle lasting three days between the Uruguayan Government forces and the revolutionists. Gen. Vasquez, Minister of War, who led the Government troops, was defeated and he has retreated, abandoning arms and ammunitions.

J. P. Mallory Drops Dead.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—J. P. Mallory, aged about 45 years, traveler for agricultural implements, and here to see the Fair, dropped dead at the Grand Union Hotel last night. Heart failure was the cause. The remains will be removed to Brockville for interment.

Three Marines Killed.

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 8.—While the British gunboat Comet, (tender to the gunnery ship Excellent), was engaged in firing practice off Spithead yesterday, the breech lock of one of her guns was blown out, killing three seamen, and injuring three others.

Lever's Y-Z (Wine Resol) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other soap powders, as it also acts as a disinfectant.

ELECTION TRIALS

The result of the trial of the election petition in North Perth is satisfactory, so far as it relieves the constituency of the incubus of a sham representative, who admits that he only held the position by purchase, and also has the good effect of commencing to wipe out the bogus majority by dint of which Mr. Ross usurps office. The proceedings, however, afford a typical specimen, showing the defects of the law and of the rules and regulations governing election trials. Though the electors of North Perth have secured relief, the proceedings have been a farce as far as the interests of the Province at large are concerned. The petitioners gravely laid a great number of charges of heinous offences against the unseated member and his agents and with the one exception these have all been dropped by mutual agreement without being investigated. In other legal proceedings serious charges are not allowed to be dropped in this unceremonious manner, and especially by collusion between the parties. It is recognized that the community has an interest in seeing justice done, and in having a full investigation.

In this case, as in others, the proceedings seem to have been treated as if they were the more private concern of the two candidates. The petitioner was content with unseating his opponent, who was glad, on his part, to stave off further investigation. He had secured a seat in the House for two sessions without the slightest right to it, and having obtained this nefarious advantage, he was ready enough to withdraw without having his corrupt methods exposed. So, according to the reports, counsel agreed to desist. There was no attempt to contest the proof of the single act of corruption, no evidence was offered as to other charges, nor in support of the cross petition. The seat was voided and the mass of corruption was covered up.

Under the present law and procedure, the judges are dragged into this objectionable bargaining. They cannot compel the petitioner to proceed with his other charges. By statute they have the duty imposed upon them of determining and reporting whether the proved corruption was of a trifling nature or whether it prevailed to an extent that might effect the result. Yet they have no means of pushing the investigation, till they are satisfied one way or the other on this point.

Counsel for the respondent informed the judge that he would not ask for the benefit of the saving clause of the statute that the seat should not be voided if the corruption proved was trifling. The judges said they could not see their way clear to decide whether it was trifling or not, but might be able to do so on further investigation, and asked the respondent's counsel if he wished further investigation to proceed. The answer was that he could not satisfy the Court on that point. This was a virtual confession that the corruption was not trifling but extensive, in view of the fact that there was a majority of more than 200 to overcome. Of course, while the law continues as it is, such an unsatisfactory result cannot be prevented. The petitioner having obtained his end, the vanishing of the seat, is not willing to incur additional expense in the interests of public morality. The bogus member is the more ready to throw up the sponge in proportion to his consciousness of the extent of his corrupt methods and to his desire to hide them from scrutiny. The judges are not unwilling to close the case and have no wish to prolong it further than the law requires. So there is a miscarriage of justice, for which the law alone is to blame.

The reign of the Ross Administration is nearly at an end. One of the first steps of their successors should be to remedy this defective law. There can be no insuperable difficulty in compelling a petitioner to proceed with the charges he has chosen to make, or to suffer some penalty for having brought them without cause. Neither would it be difficult to provide that a public prosecutor should see that the investigation is thorough, as in regard to other offences. It is not a matter of only private, personal, interest, and should not be so regarded or treated.

The Offertory.

The offertory occasionally yields its humors. I can see no fun myself in dropping into the plate buttons or peppermint drops or gilded farthings. But these and other such like votive offerings occasionally come our way.

On one occasion a mild hint was given to a dirty looking verger when a small coin was carefully wrapped up in a bit of paper inscribed, "For a bath for a prominent church official." On another occasion, when the officiating clergyman had been somewhat bungling through a difficult litany, a similar piece of paper was marked, "For a singing lesson for the curate."

After a somewhat rambling discourse from one of my colleagues, who shall of course be nameless, the church warden told me that a man at the bottom of the church, when he offered him the plate, took out a sixpence and looked at it resfully and then cast it in with the remark, "Well, you shall have it, old fellow, but it's a deal more than that sermon was worth."—Cornhill Magazine.

A Singular Method of Treatment.

A peculiar case of poisoning by a physician was that of Dr. Stephen Eotvos in Hungary many years ago. Eotvos undertook to hasten the death of patients whose cases he considered hopeless by putting them out of their misery, as he termed it, with fatal drugs. He encountered no opposition to his peculiar methods of benevolence while he practiced them on people of no particular standing, but when the doctor hastened the death of a well known land proprietor named Szlavy, who was slowly dying of cancer, the relatives of the dead man presented a violent protest and demanded the prosecution of Eotvos.

The physician declared on trial he was actuated by humane motives and had merely eased the journey of his victims to the inevitable goal. This defense was not accepted by the court. Eotvos was acquitted of malice, but found guilty of homicide without malice and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment.

Whistler's Fine Airs.

Mortimer Menpes, the artist, in his book on Whistler, says: "Sometimes we visited a dealer who owed him money, and Whistler would receive a check. Once the check was not handed to him in what he thought a sufficiently dignified manner, and he said to the dealer: 'This is careless of you. You push this check toward me, and you do not realise what a privilege it is to be able to hand it to the master. You should offer it on a rich old English salver and in a kingly way.' Once a dealer borrowed a gorgeously embossed silver salver for the occasion, and when the master arrived for his check—he was very punctual—presented it on the salver with a carefully worded and elegant little speech that he had taken some pains to rehearse. The master was pleased. 'This,' said he, 'is as it should be.'"

SHOOTING PAINS THROUGH THE BACK

Not a Day Without Suffering Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section forman, and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterboro, Ont., states: "For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the C.P.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became effected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I had heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Municipal Association Will So Petition Government.

The New Scheme For Municipal Fire Insurance Endorsed By the Association—Exhaustive Report of the Committee on Resolutions—Working of the New Assessment Act—Toronto the Meeting Place—Officers Elected.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The Ontario Municipal Association concluded its annual meeting at the City Hall yesterday morning, after deciding that in future the annual meeting be held permanently at Toronto. The officers were elected as follows: President, Mayor W. A. Boys, Barrie; Vice-Presidents, W. A. Greer, Owen Sound; Controller W. P. Hubbard, Toronto; Mayor W. W. Chown, Belleville; Secretary, S. H. Kent, Hamilton; Executive, Mayors of Toronto, Ottawa, Guelph, London, Brantford, Kingston and Brockville, F. Mackelcan, K.C., Hamilton; D. M. McIntyre, Kingston, R. P. Slater, Niagara Falls; W. C. Mickel, Belleville.

Municipal Insurance Approved.

The special committee appointed to consider the municipal insurance scheme propounded by Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, reported that this committee recommend the approval of a scheme to organize a Dominion Municipal Insurance Corporation, such corporation as nearly as may be to be incorporated and conducted in the same way as a joint stock insurance company, with the municipalities which become members as stockholders; as it is deemed advisable to forward this recommendation to Union of Canadian Municipalities in order that the corporation may become a Canadian one from the beginning, the committee does not deem it necessary to consider at this time the details of the scheme and recommends that the principle be endorsed and commended to the favorable consideration of the Union of Canadian Municipalities for the purpose of elaborating the details and placing the scheme in workable form.

Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, explained that his immediate object was to get information. He thought that could be done between the Union of Canadian Municipalities, since they had more funds. What was required was expert information, and it should be obtained systematically.

Mayor Urquhart of Toronto, heartily endorsed the principle of municipal insurance. He said he had obtained figures showing that over one-third of the premiums paid to insurance companies went to pay expenses and profits. The report was adopted.

Committee on Resolutions.

The Committee on Resolutions reported recommending that in cities and towns fire insurance companies be required to file annually, on the first day of June, with the Clerk of the municipality, a sworn statement showing their gross receipts and losses in such municipality for the preceding year, to enable the municipality to determine whether the rates are equitable or otherwise; that the Councils of municipalities be given power to regulate the salaries of Police Magistrate, unless the body that appointed the Magistrate pays the salary; that in towns and cities Council may add two ratepayers to the Board of Police Commissioners as at present constituted; that municipal Councils be given power to construct underground conduits and to erect poles and compel all electrical companies to use such conduits or poles and pay a reasonable rental therefor; that all expenses of registrations and elections for the Ontario Legislature be borne by the Province and that this association present a petition to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council in accordance therewith; That the Legislative approve the appointment of an advisory committee of municipal officials to confer with the Municipal Committee of the Legislature in case there is a consideration of the municipal act in 1907. That the Mayors of Ottawa, Windsor, Toronto, St Thomas and Aylmer be appointed to examine into the question of the municipal debentures and that they report at the next annual meeting. That power be given to municipalities to buy or expropriate on equitable terms any existing gas lighting and water plant. The report was adopted.

Government Trunk Telephone Lines.

Controller Hubbard moved that the Dominion Government be petitioned to take over and operate the trunk telephone lines. He pointed out that the lines being in private hands was the principal drawback to the establishment of municipal telephone systems in town and cities. The proposal was received with general approval and passed.

Working of New Assessment Act.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the working of the new assessment act, which comes into force on January 1st. It was introduced by a very able paper by Assessment Commissioner F. R. Hutton, Hamilton, explanatory of the working of the new measure. He drew special attention to the points of difference between the new act and the old, and the paper, which the association decided to have printed, will prove valuable to those engaged in the work of assessment in the various municipalities throughout the Province.

Assistant Assessment Commissioner Forman of Toronto, read a short paper on the business tax and new income assessment.

Borden Coming

Montreal, Sept. 8.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Ottawa Opposition, is expected here about the 10th or 11th, and will be in Toronto about the 12th. He intends to hold a series of meetings in Ontario at as early a date as possible.

Kills Family of Four.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A special from South Dayton, N.Y., says Mike Michsack, employed at the canning works, shot his wife and two children while they were in bed yesterday morning and then shot himself.

12,000 Harvesters at Work.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 8.—Harvesters have now all arrived, some 15,000 in number, and apparently quite sufficient to harvest the wheat crop. There are varying estimates of the crop given.

How He Won Her.

She was a sweet girl graduate,
The choicest of the brood.
He was almost a savage,
Uncultured, raw and crude.

He didn't know beyond the Alps
That Italy lay fair;
He didn't know that at the top
Were scenes of room to spare.

But he owned thirteen sections
And paid bills in advance.
So when he said, "Please marry me,"
She thought she'd take a chance.

Deserve the Treatment.

"Mosquitoes are very bad about the place this year."

"If they are so bad, why don't you have them sent to a reform school?"

Would Be His Choice.

"More people die from overeating than from starvation."

"But think how much pleasanter a death it is!"

A Double Loss.

"Why did he marry her?"

"Jenks bet him he couldn't."

"That was where he lost out twice."

Well Named.

The little coin is fickle
And simply will not stay;
It's called the nimble nickel
Because it gets away.

The Modern Way.

"Those who dance must pay the fiddlers."

"Unless they dance to beat the band."

A Poser.

"I make it a point to believe just half what I hear."

"Which half?"

A WORLD POWER

Gained by Peaceful Means and Which Saves Life Instead of Destroying It.

MUNYON

Has This Power and is Prouder of It Than Mikado or Czar Can Possibly Be.

Just now Russia and Japan are engaged in a bloody struggle and are sacrificing the lives of their subjects by the thousands to demonstrate that they are to be recognized henceforth as "World Powers."

I look upon my campaign for health, strength and life as being far more honorable, and my power over disease as far more praiseworthy and more to be proud of than the empty bauble which the Czar and Mikado are now struggling for.

I save life. They are destroying it.

Do you realize what a work I am doing in this country? Do you understand that if those who have been cured in all the countries of the earth by Munyon's Remedies were assembled in one grand army it would far exceed in numbers the combined armies of both Russia and Japan?

It is a fact which is susceptible of proof.

Surely you are interested in knowing that there is a cure for every ill, and that these cures bear the name of MUNYON.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve in one to three hours, and cures in a few days.

Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure positively cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Laxative Pills will keep the liver in order and positively cure constipation, biliousness, jaundice and all diseases arising from a torpid liver.

Ask your druggist for Munyon's Guide to Health. It will tell you how to cure yourself, or write for it to Munyon, Philadelphia. It is free.

Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap, Witch Hazel Face Cream, Witch Hazel Talcum Powder will give you a clear skin and a fine complexion.

THE TRENT WATERWAY

Further Misrepresentation and Attempted Obstruction of this Great Work.

The attempt to obstruct the completion of the Trent Waterway to further selfish private interests is still being pressed. Mr. Culverwell has called and addressed a public meeting at Bewdley on Rice Lake in favor of the Port Hope scheme.

The following resolution, the authorship of which is evident, was carried:—

"That the business men and farmers residing near Bewdley in public meeting assembled, ask for a reply publicly as to why the Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, did not give a survey of the Port Hope and Trenton outlets of the Trent Valley Canal last year, as instructed by the Government; and also, why he presented the Government with a report only for six feet depth of canal and eight and one-third feet on the lock sills only instead of survey for eight and one-third feet on the lock sills, and the necessary corresponding rise and one-third feet depth in the canals and reaches.

"This meeting also wishes to set forth publicly, that the deeper the canal by Trenton outlet the cheaper in comparison will be the Port Hope outlet, knowing as we do that the Trenton route is composed principally of rock cuttings, whereas the Port Hope route is mostly deep ravine."

Dated at Bewdley, Sept. 2nd, 1904, at a crowded meeting publily called and held in Bewdley meeting hall."

It is only necessary to remark that the promised survey and report was made, and that there are no heavy rock cuttings on the Trent, which will be dammed so as to afford long navigable reaches.

New Hope New Courage

Persons whose nerves are affected get blue and discouraged, are easily irritated and annoyed and learn to look on the dark side. The restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon shows its effect on the feelings. It gives new hope and courage, new energy and confidence. By creating nerve force it affords new vigor and vitality for both mind and body.

Human Ear a Deformity.

"While the ears of animals," said a naturalist, "are erect and comely, the human ear is crumpled, crushed and flattened. It is man's intelligence that is responsible for this deformity of his ear. Man's brain, you see, has made his head top heavy. An animal's neck alone furnishes enough support in sleep, but man's neck is too weak to sustain his brain weighed skull, which in consequence must be laid, with the ear underneath, upon a pillow. Man, I have no doubt, had an erect, smooth, shapely ear in the beginning, but his head, with its developing brain, outgrew his neck's power to support it. Thence came the headrest or pillow with its consequent crushing and crumpling of the ear, and thence came the ear of today—a deformity which, being universal, is not deemed a deformity at all."

A Silver Library.

There is in the royal library of Konigsberg a silver library consisting of a collection of twenty books, mostly theological, bound in pure silver and having a rich, symbolical ornamentation partly in gold. The library has been in possession of this treasure since 1611. These books were made by order of Albert, the first duke of Prussia, in the latter half of the sixteenth century. It is supposed that they were made at Nuremberg, where Albert was stationed for three years. Through the efforts of Ostander and afterward Luther, Duke Albert became a friend of the reformation. Copies of the silver library are made accessible to students by taking heliographic copies of the same.

A Painter's Retort.

Shortly after Franz Lenbach had painted the portrait of Emperor Wilhelm I. a privy councilor called on him to express the emperor's satisfaction. There was only one criticism to make—would the professor be so kind as to paint more distinctly the buttons on the uniform, which were only indicated vaguely? Lenbach looked at him a moment over his glasses and said: "Look here, Mr. Councilor, I paint heads, not buttons (ich mal' nur koepfe, aber keine knoepfe!) Tell his majesty that!" The emperor, when this answer was brought to him, laughed heartily.

Traveling Whales.

The whales that swim about the islands which lie off the coast of Norway and Finland in March and April travel immense distances. In May they turn up at the Azores or even at the Bermudas and sometimes pay a visit to the Antilles. They swim fast, for in June they are back off Norway. Some of these whales have been known to bring back evidences of where they have been, for harpoons of the peculiar kind used off the coast of South America have been found stuck in them.

An Outrage.

When Major General Sir John McNeill, V. C., was badly wounded at Ensaman, in the Ashanti war, he emerged from the bush exclaiming, in angry and indignant tones, as if some one had deeply insulted him, "An infernal scoundrel out there has shot me through the arm!"

FOR OUR READERS

Robert Barr's Best Story

We have secured the rights for "Over the Border," by Robert Barr, author of "Tekla," "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," etc., and will begin the serial publication

IN OUR NEXT ISSUE

Robert Barr has won an enviable place among the successful authors of the day. He has written nothing better than

Over the Border

Critics regard it as his masterpiece. Following are the opinions of a few taken from a large number of complimentary reviews:

It is a fine, gay romance, with a yellow haired cavalier and a lady whose locks are like the raven's wing. The story goes with a sweep and swing that take the reader gallantly to the end and give him a pleasant time by the way.—NEW YORK TIMES.

"Over the Border" is a strong story of one of the most interesting periods of English history, and there are no weak spots in the story.—INDIANAPOLIS SENTINEL.

A genuine old fashioned romance in which the hero is both physically and intellectually a giant, the heroine beautiful beyond the dream of a Mohammedan, and with no faults visible to the eye. It deals in swordplay, hairbreadth escapes, wild riding and love.—CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR.

A thrilling romance of the struggle between King Charles the First of England and Oliver Cromwell. The love story is an intricate one, but it is so well told that it is followed with ease, and the climaxes hold one spellbound.—CHICAGO EXAMINER.

This is one of Mr. Barr's best books. It is not a complicated story. The figures of the drama are not numerous, but they are original and striking.—THE CHURCH STANDARD, PHILADELPHIA.

Robert Barr's "Over the Border" is a dashing, clean, swords and pistols love story, in which we meet King James, Strafford, Cromwell, Pym and one of the nicest pairs of lovers that ever galloped through dark nights and hairbreadth escapes.—NEW YORK OBSERVER.

CASTING LOTS.

A Curious Military Custom That Was Once In Vogue In Europe.

In the armies of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the custom of casting lots to decide what soldiers should be punished for the offenses of all was common. At Winchester, England, in 1645, complaint was made that after the surrender there had been unfair plundering. Six soldiers were tried and found guilty, and it was decided by lot which one of the six should be hanged. At Tangier in 1663, and again in 1665, two soldiers had to cast dice on a drumhead, and he who threw the least was executed. Thomas May's translation of Barclay's "Icon Animorum" gives a curious story of this sort. Speaking of English courage, he says that during the war in the Netherlands some soldiers of the Spanish party were taken prisoners by the Dutch, who decided to make reprisals for the previous cruelty of their enemies. Out of four and twenty men eight were to be hanged. "There were lots, therefore, thrown into a helmet," says May, "and the prisoners were commanded to draw their fortunes—whoever should draw a blank was to escape, but whoever should draw a black lot was to be hanged presently.

"They were all," says May, "possessed with a great apprehension of their present danger, especially one Spaniard. Their pitiful wishes and tears in some of the standers by did move pity, in others laughter. There was besides in that danger an Englishman, a common soldier, who, with a careless countenance, expressing no fear of death at all, came boldly to the helmet and drew his lot. Chance favored him; it was a safe lot. Being free himself from danger he came to the Spaniard, who was yet timorous and trembling to put his hand into the fatal helmet, and receiving from him 10 crowns he entreated the judges—oh, horrid audacity—that, dismissing the Spaniard, they would suffer him again to try his fortune."

May further relates that "the judges consented to the madman's request, who valued his life at so low a rate, and he again drew a safe lot." May seems rather to regret the second escape of the foolhardy Englishman, whom he denounces as "a wretch unworthy not only of that double, but even of a single preservation, who so basely had undervalued his life."

WOMAN.

Unhappy is the man to whom his own mother has not made all other mothers venerable.—Richter.

The best thing I know of is a fust rate wife, and the next best thing is a second rate one.—Josh Billings.

A beautiful woman is a practical poem, planting tenderness, hope and eloquence in all whom she approaches.—Emerson.

They govern the world, these sweet voiced women, because beauty and harmony are the index of a larger fact than wisdom.—O. W. Holmes.

A good book and a good woman are excellent things for those who know how to appreciate their value. There are men, however, who judge of both by the beauty of the covering.—Dr. Johnson.

We Mean Well.

Heaven send that no friend with a pocketful of pebbles be tempted by the shine and glimmer of our glass houses, for indeed we meant well! Here it is—the knowledge in which imagination must take root if stone throwing is ever to go out of fashion and the world become a pleasant place to live in—namely, that most everybody else means well too. The creed of the imaginative and kindly heart which will not throw stones is brief:

There is so much good in the worst of us,
There is so much bad in the best of us,
That it ill becomes any one of us
To talk about the rest of us

unless we can do it with truth and sympathy—in other words, with imagination.—Margaret Deland in Harper's Bazar.

British Naval Red Tape.

The British navy can produce fine samples of red tape as well as the army. Not long since an admiral took the trouble to write a long minute on the back of an ordinary routine paper submitted to him to the effect that the margin on the left hand side was fully one-eighth of an inch too narrow. We all know that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains, but I hardly think that the genius of Blake or Nelson is likely to be exemplified in an admiral who goes over his official papers with a tape measure in order to see that the margins are the right width.—London Truth.

Too Suggestive.

"The health officer advised me to ask every man with whom we had domestic dealings if he was careful to boil the water he used in his business."

"Yes."

"Well, I asked the milkman first. And what do you think? He got mad and wanted to lick me."

VICE-REGAL TOUR.

Lord and Lady Minto Presented With Addresses at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 8.—Their Excellencies, the Governor-General and Lady Minto, were presented with addresses yesterday by the City Councils of Vancouver and New Westminster, after which a reception was held. The party left last evening for the east on the Imperial Limited. It is being arranged that Lord Minto will ride across the prairie from Edmonton to Saskatoon, and not to Prince Albert, thence to Qu'Appelle. The start will be made from Edmonton on Saturday, and Saskatoon will be reached Sept. 23. Lady Minto and her daughter will camp at the Qu'Appelle Lakes and rejoin Lord Minto at Regina.

Association With Cleft Palate.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The Canadian Dental Association held two interesting sessions yesterday. In the morning a treatise on the preliminary education of the dentist by M. C. Godon of Paris, France, was given. A discussion which was generally participated in followed. The afternoon session was opened with a paper by Dr. Ottolengui of New York, on artificial appliances for cleft palate. S. T. Church, specialist in speech defects, read a paper on the cleft of the palate and the possibility of articulate speech. He held that the widely accepted theory that distinct articulation of speech in the case of a cleft palate is impossible was incorrect. A varied discussion followed and the session was concluded with the passing of a hearty vote of thanks to Drs. Ottolengui and Angle and Mr. Church. The convention concludes to-day.

Stock Breeders and Fruit Growers.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Yesterday was Stock Breeders and Fruit Growers Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and they were there in great numbers. At the directors' luncheon Hon. John Dryden pointed out the strong necessity for a pavilion for judging live stock in such fashion as to permit large crowds to get the benefit. In the course of his speech, Prof. Curley of the Colorado Agricultural College said this was the best exhibition on the continent. The live stock exhibit both in numbers and quality surpassed that of last year, but the fruit was not equal to that mark on this occasion.

Railway Commission.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The following appointments have been made to the staff of the Railway Commission: Mayor E. C. Lalonde, Longueil, to be inspector of accidents; J. H. Tessier, Drummondville, to be assistant engineer; Frank C. Magee of Ottawa and C. E. McManus, Montreal, to be clerks; David Langelier, St. Hyacinthe, to be messenger. The Railway Commission is expected to return to Ottawa about the 21st inst.

Three Roads In It.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—The report is current here that the Canadian Atlantic Railway is not to be the absolute property of the Grand Trunk, but is to be held jointly for the Grand Trunk, the Intercolonial and the Canadian Northern. All are to have running rights over it and together guarantee the purchase from the Booth owners, and each is to contribute toward the maintenance on a wheelage basis.

Hays at Fort Simpson.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 8.—A special despatch to The Times states that C. M. Hays and the G.T.P. party reached Fort Simpson Tuesday. They boarded the steamer Mount Royal and left on a trip to Tuck's Inlet and the Upper Skeena.

An Interesting Ceremony at the New Y.W.C.A. Building--Mrs. (Hon.) Geo. A. Cox Presented With a Silver Trowel with Which She Officiated—Addresses by Mayor Roger, Rev. J. G. Potter and Rev. W. J. Jolliffe—Great Reason for Congratulation.

The work of construction on the new Y.M.C.A. building at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer-sts. has reached that interesting stage at which it is possible to see the finished structure gradually taking form and the splendid dimensions and excellent fitness for the purposes required may easily be discerned. The building will cost about $30,000, and will be a structure of which the town may well feel proud, and which is admirably adapted to its purpose. That the people of Peterborough are deeply interested in the progress of the building and the work which will be there carried on was most evident yesterday, when the corner stone was well and truly laid. An outstanding fact was yesterday emphasized that the people have so far subscribed the sum of $20,100 towards the erection of this building, and appreciative acknowledgement was made of this practical interest, and of that of Hon. George A. Cox, whose generous contribution of one-quarter of any amount raised gave considerable impetus to the movement.

MAYOR'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Yesterday's ceremony took place at five o'clock, at which hour a large number of people had gathered about the building. Men are now at work on the first storey, and the sheeting over which the flooring is to be laid made an excellent platform for the ladies and gentlemen constituting the officers, Board of Directors, the Committees and Advisory Board of the institution. His Worship Mayor Roger presided, and called upon Rev. Dr. Torrance, who read a passage of Scripture, the 127th Psalm, beginning: "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it; except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." Prayer was then offered by Rev. J. A. Wilson, who besought the divine blessing for the movement under whose auspices they were meeting, and for Christianity, also for the leaders in the work, the Secretary, the President and ladies associated with her, and the workmen engaged upon the building.

His Worship Mayor Roger followed with a short address. He did not think it necessary, he said, that any explanation of the occasion should be made. The fact that the citizens had subscribed over $20,000 towards the erection of the building was ample testimony of their acquaintance with the objects of the Y.W.C.A., of their full sympathy with them. His Worship did not know of any building they could erect that would more correctly indicate the moral and material progress that Peterborough is making than such an institution as the Y.W.C.A. Though foundations of several churches had been laid, of which there was every reason to feel proud, they only represented separate sections of the community, while this represented the entire town, irrespective of denomination or other distinction. The people of Peterborough could lay no more sure foundation to secure its future standing or progress. Everyone would unite in congratulating the ladies upon the success of the the movement, and that had attended their efforts, and all would hope for a most propitious conclusion.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun now read the document (published in yesterday's Review), which was placed beneath the corner stone.

Mayor Roger read a number of letters of regret. One was from Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., who was to have given an address. He had been called out of town unexpectedly, but expressed his best wishes for the success of the work.

Rev. J. C. Davidson regretfully wrote that he had been called to Toronto to attend an important meeting. His prayer was that the divine blessing might rest upon the work of the Association.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, who was also to have delivered an address, regretted that he was unable to accept the invitation. He was sure that the aims and objects of the institution would ensure its success. A cheque for $.50, his contribution to the building fund, was enclosed.

Mayor Roger made a further interesting announcement to the effect that as soon as it was learned that the laying of the corner stone was to be made a public ceremony, a prominent George-st. business man had presented for the occasion a handsome silver trowel, of which the Association would now make a gift to Mrs. George A. Cox. This was done by the President, Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, who assured Mrs. Cox of the deep appreciation by the Y.W.C.A. of her practical sympathy and interest in their work, and of the important factor she had been in making the movement to ereet the building the success it was.

Mrs. Cox gracefully accepted the gift, and upon being escorted to the corner stone, performed the interesting ceremony, a sealed receptacle containing papers relative to the institution and the town having first been placed underneath. The block was lowered to its place by Messrs. John King and J. H. Sherwood, contractors for this part of the work, as Mrs. Cox declared it well and truly laid.

REV. J. G. POTTER.

Addresses most appropriate to the occasion were now delivered. Rev. J. G. Potter, of the Advisory Board, congratulated the ladies and citizens on the laying of the corner stone, and all that it implied, and he further spoke in appreciation of the kindness and liberality of Hon. Geo. A. Cox, for there was now in vision the completion of the building for work among the young women. On such an occasion he could not but feel the beauty of the poet's words, that "Our daughters may be as polished stones." This ceremony marked the beginning of happier and better days for the young women of Peterborough—rest for the body, stimulus for the soul, friends for the heart, encouragement and strength for the spiritual life. It was a work worthy of the deepest interest of all citizens, and all should desire to have a share in it because of its noble character. They would look forward with joy and gladness to the time when it would be completed and the work carried on in its many fideness. He was sure that the young women of the town would take advantage of it and interest themselves in the work, and would grow up an honor to the community and a blessing to the home in which they live. Mr. Potter recalled the words of Mrs. Hemans, in emphasizing the importance of the scriptural side of the work and in recognizing Christ as the Chief Corner Stone:—"I feel like Mary sitting at the Mother's feet learning lessons from Him in meekness and loveliness." As the mind and body are cared for, the spiritual life would also be developed and strengthened. The Saviour must be recognized as the leader and guide, and in this connection the speaker recalled the words of Raphael, "I dream dreams, I see visions, and I follow the dreams and visions that I have had." As Joan of Arc attributed her success to the fact that she followed the banner that was constantly set before her, so, too, the young women under the leadership of Christ must go forward under the banner of Salvation.

The building, which would soon be completed, would be a great benefit to the town of Peterborough, and would again point to the munificence of Canadian people, as so many other institutions had done. It represented an investment for which would be made a glorious return.

A HOMELIKE PLACE.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe also congratulated the ladies on the erection of so splendid building. It appeared to him that a woman's work was never done. An active mind, and energetic soul must do something. He regarded the building as of the nature of a home, and was sure it would prove such to the young women of Peterborough. It would in the first place afford protection from evil, and fathers and mothers would appreciate it, when any of their children, especially girls, were leaving them. The surroundings would be a help to their moral well-being. Mr. Jolliffe also regarded the home as one for education. There could be nothing grander than its objects, the physical, social, intellectual and spiritual development of womanhood. He emphasized the paramount importance of the spiritual life as the foundation of all, and reference was made to the splendid work being accomplished by the Young Men's Christian Association. In congratugating the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. and citizens generally on the construction of the building, Mr. Jolliffe expressed the belief that Peterborough would become a great commercial centre, the place of many enterprises, and so was assured that the magnificent building realised future opportunities. The institution would add to the moral standard of the town, and would, with God's help, go forward in the work of character building. He again congratulated the ladies upon the work being done, and hoped the future would be greatly blessed.

The ceremony closed with the benediction by the Rev. A. H. Brace, and the National Anthem played by the 57th band. During the laying of the stone the musicians appropriately rendered "The Maple Leaf Forever."

The men engaged on the building also had their little ceremony in connection with the corner stone yesterday. A sealed bottle was deposited in the corner containing the names of workmen and other information of interest from their own point of view.

WILL AVOID CONFUSION

Indian Village Post Office Chemong Changed to Curve Lake.

The parties owning cottages at Chemong Park, and others who live in the vicinity of Bridgenorth, will be pleased to learn that upon the recommendation of Mr. R. R. Hall, Chemong post office at the Indian Village is being changed from Chemong to Curve Lake, the English equivalent for Chemong. It seems that in the past a great deal of correspondence from Peterborough and other places has been addressed to Chemong instead of Bridgenorth, with the result that the letters have gone to the Indian Village and then have had to be brought back to Bridgenorth post office, and much inconvenience and delay has been caused. It is satisfactory to know that this delay and confusion will now be at an end.

HATHERLY — DOUBE

Happily Married at St. Andrews' Manse Yesterday.

At St. Andrew's manse yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, Mr. James Lewis Hatherly, of Otonabee and Mrs. Harriet Rutherford Doube, of Peterborough, were united in the bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Jas. G. Potter, B.A. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Tully, of Fowler's Corners, and the bride by Mrs. J. E. Tully, of the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatherly left on the 5.10 C.P.R. for Toronto, Guelph and Buffalo. At Guelph they will be the guest of the bride's sister, Mrs. Isaac Windrem. Mrs. Hatherly will be at home after the 15th Sept., Lot 21, 9th Concession, Otonabee.

GOOD HORSES OF EXHIBITION

Took Many First Prizes at St. Louis Will not Compete in Prizes.

Word was received Tuesday by Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, from Mr. Robt. Beith, M.P., of Bowmanville, that he would be pleased to send his exhibit of prize-winning hockey stallions and mares, which won many prizes at the World's Fair at St. Louis. Messrs. Graham Bros., of Claremont, will also send an exhibit of their imported Clydale stallions and mares. These horses will not be here for competition in any of the events, but the owners are doing it to the encourage the directors in their efforts to promote the better class of horses in this district. The farmers in this district should consider this a great privilege, as the horses are the best in the country.

Directors H. P. Kennedy and Geo. Fitzgerald are untiring in their efforts in advertising the exhibition, and they report that the greatest interest is being taken in Lindsay and other places over the large prizes offered, and suggest that the directors send more prize lists to the different places.

The Choir of George St Methodist Church will have a special practice on Friday night under the direction of Mr. W. M. Clarke Organist. A Full Attendance is Requested.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Prizes Awarded for the Best Kept Lawns and Grounds.

The committee of the Horticultural Society yesterday inspected the lawns and grounds of the competitors for prizes. The committee consisted of Col. H. C. Rogers, Peter Campbell, Manager of the Bank of Toronto; Mr. Frank Wisp, of the Little Lake Cemetery, and D. W. Dumble, the President.

The prizes are awarded to two classes, 1st, where all the work is done by the owner, and 2nd, where the work is not all done by the owner.

The prizes were awarded as follows:—

First Class—1st, to Mrs. Thornton, corner of Murray and Aylmer-sts., $5.00.

3rd, to Mrs. Barclay, No. 583 George-st., $1.00.

The Society recognise those as most deserving who have got the best results under their existing conditions and possibilities.

Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Barclay with most adverse conditions, obtained splendid results. Mrs. Thornton particularly deserves credit for making a dry gravel bank a charm and pleasure for beholders; her flowers were good, varied and artistically planted. Mrs. Barclay, out of a small back yard, made a pleasing garden of good flowers.

Mr. Beal had good flowers and a good artistic result.

The chief aim of the Society is to encourage such development of taste and love for flowers as was exemplified in these cases.

In the second class Miss Annie Thompson had good flowers, but the chief merit was in the artistic planting and arrangement of very modest grounds, and so the committee granted to her first prize over grounds more extensive and very beautifully kept, like Mr. Stratton's.

Mr. Taylor, at the C.P.R. station, is paid for his labor, but he deserves great credit for a splendid display of flowers of superior excellence and growth. To persons waiting at the station the fine flower display is an exceedingly interesting and pleasing feature.

The committee were highly pleased with the well-kept and pretty gardens of Mr. James Stevenson, Simcoe-st., and of Mr. R. D. Hamilton, 273 George-st.

The Society cannot but be gratified at the increasing taste displayed by the citizens in beautifying their grounds, and it is hoped that the greater attention paid to the boulevarding and keeping of the streets will assist in getting rid of that feature of roughness which characterizes all new towns.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

—Last evening, shortly before six o'clock, an elderly man who was riding a wheel, was run down by a rig at the corner of George and Simcoe-sts., and badly hurt. He was carried into Ormond & Walsh's drug store, where his injuries were dressed and he was able to proceed home.

—A brand new $100 American bank note was found on one of the collection plates at the evening service in St. Alban's Cathedral on Sunday. This is the major premise. The minor is that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan was present at the service. From these premises the churchwardens would complete the syllogism by concluding that it came from the well-filled wallet of this king of American finance. Mr. Morgan may not have been to blame, for there were five hundred other people present, but up to the time of going to press none of them has come forward to plead guilty.—Toronto Star.

Amongst other large canvases which will be on view at the Y. M. C. A. next week will be "A Storm at Sea", "Steady" (after Landseer), "To Greet the Sunrise", original painting by Miss Irene MacFarlane, and a wonderfully accurate and beautiful painting of "Rock of Ages", "Niagara" by the same Artist.

SONS OF VULCAN MEETING

THE MASTER HORSESHOERS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO

Election of Officers — The Association Prospering — The Apprentice System — Next Meeting in London

After the Mayor's address of welcome yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Master Horseshoers' Association, business was proceeded with. The roll call showed a large number of absentees, including President J. G. Stuart, of Hamilton, and Vice-President W. C. Andrews. Mr. F. P. Herns, of Brantford, occupied the chair, and Mr. R. B. McGill, of town, was the secretary-treasurer.

A credential committee, composed of Messrs. G. Church, J. R. Metheral and W. A. Bull reported the following delegates present: Messrs. John Labister, Lakefield; Jas. Moore and R. Pearson, Bobcaygeon; B. Yelland, T. B. Staples, J. R. Metheral, W. E. McColl, Wm. Hetherington, W. J. Kennedy, town; P. J. Smith, Montreal; W. D. Nugent, Millbrook; W. A. Bull, Woodstock; Frank P. Herns, Brantford; Geo. Church, Hamilton, besides many visitors.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The secretary reported that the association was in a very prosperous condition. Since October 22nd last, thirteen new local organizations have joined, namely, Port Perry, Woodstock, Paris, London, Glanford and vicinity, Hagersville and vicinity, Halton county, Caledonia, Cape Town, and Hamilton and Ottawa have been reorganized. The prospects for next year were very bright, and the membership was over 200.

Mr. Geo. Church, of Hamilton, addressed the Association on their work. He congratulated them on their good progress, and Bro. Batten on the success of the Peterborough organization. He said that Hamilton could not be beaten. The work of the Association was worthy of much attention. The craft needed protection, and it was up to this Association to do it. Speaking of the need of organization, he said it was very necessary, and more work should be done amongst those who did not believe in it. Speaking of prices, he said that instead of thinking about them, and the hardest labor and least pay, they should educate themselves more, and leave the price question in the background. He recommended them to read the Horse Shoers' Journal. He said as the horses were entrusted to their care, they should be educated men.

Woodstock, Lindsay and Peterborough representatives reported on the progress of their local organizations and all were very favorable.

The acting president spoke briefly on the need of an apprenticeship system. He said the wages of jurors were far too low, and their class of mechanics had to work harder and in a much more dangerous position, and received less pay than other mechanics.

Mr. P. J. Smith, of the Montreal Rolling Mills, addressed the meeting on the question of the better education of horseshoers.

A resolution of sympathy was unanimously passed to Bro. Duncan Brown, of Ottawa, who has recently been bereaved by the death of his wife.

The meeting then adjourned until 8 o'clock.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The Association resumed business at 8 o'clock last evening.

An auditing committee reported that everything was in good shape.

A vote of thanks was tendered Bro. Smith, of Montreal, for his help to the Association, and also to the Montreal Rolling Mills, in showing their interest in the Association by sending Mr. Smith.

It was decided to hold the next convention in London on Labor Day, 1905.

Mr. R. B. McGill was appointed delegate to the Horse Shoers' Master Association to be held in Detroit on Oct. 10th to 14th.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and resulted as follows:—

President—F. P. Kerns, Brantford.
1st Vice-President—Geo. C. Church, Hamilton.
Second Vice-President—D. Brown, Ottawa.
Secretary-Treasurer — R. B. McGill, Peterborough.

A letter was received from Mr. Buckley, managing editor of the Detroit Horse Shoers' Journal, congratulating the Association on the many new local organizations formed.

An Executive Committee composed of Bros. Jos. Batten, W. J. Kennedy, and Groves, of Hamilton, was appointed to assist the executive in procuring a provincial charter.

The meeting then adjourned.

WEDDED IN CAMBELLFORD

Two Peterborough People the Participants in the Happy Event.

The Campbellford Herald has the following wedding notice, which will be of interest to our readers:—

"A wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's church on Tuesday, Sept. 6th, at 10 o'clock, when Miss May Malone of Peterborough, was married to Mr. Alfred LaHam, of the same town. Rev. Father McGuire, of Weelar, performed the ceremony, after which Mass was celebrated.

"The bridesmaid was Miss Minnie Mulhearn, cousin of the bride, and the best man was Mr. Frank Pope of Peterborough. The bride's dress was champagne silk voile, the bridesmaid being gowned in cream cashmere trimmed with point lace. The bride and bridesmaid each carried a shower bouquet of white lilies and asters. Miss Marguerite Gallaghan officiated at the organ, and Miss Madge Blute ably assisted in the singing.

"After the ceremony the guests, to the number of about twenty, assembled at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Brian Mulhearn, where they partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast, after which the newly-married couple left for Kingston, where they will spend a few days, then returning to Peterborough, where they will celebrate the 'hanging of the crane.'"

NOT ALWAYS DAMAGED.

The Goods That Are Known in Trade Circles as "Seconds."

"It does not follow," said the buyer for one of the sections of one of Washington's big department stores, "that goods which are known to the public and to the trade, and especially to lady shoppers, as 'seconds' are damaged goods.

"Goods of all classes are known to the trade under three great subdivisions—the absolutely perfect, the seconds and the short ends—and their importance and value are regulated accordingly.

"The manufacturers of goods of all descriptions, from a locomotive to a spool of thread, do not try to dispose of their products as perfect unless they really are such, however light the consciences of some retail dealers may be on this point. Woolens and cottons at the mills and all goods sold by the yard and down to bicycle tires are carefully inspected for flaws and defects of the minutest description. Such as are not up to the standard of merit placed thereon by the house turning them out are laid aside by the experts and classed as seconds. These are disposed of to the trade under this name and at a greatly reduced price as compared with the perfectly made article.

"For instance, let us take the case of men's collars, and especially the high turnover collar. After being laundered they are examined for defects, the most prominent of which is a slight break in the linen on top in front where they button. It may be scarcely perceptible, but it is enough to cause it to be thrown aside, and the name of the maker is not stamped thereon, as would be the case if it were perfect. Very often one of the buttonholes is slightly torn or there is a little scratch in the linen on the outer side. Some firms sell thousands of dozens of these collars a year at a very low price, while some of the defects are not perceptible to the eye of the purchaser, who buys the goods at retail at less than half the cost of the perfect article. The same is true with bicycle tires, the makers cutting their names off the rubber. Dealers are careful not to have their names go on seconds, as the public would judge their perfect articles by the imperfect, relying upon the name of the manufacturer to buy a perfect article.

"In weaving yarn goods a broken thread or a loose pin or a few drops of oil from the loom will make half a dozen or more yards imperfect, yet salable as short ends. These are cut off from the bolt and sold cheap to dealers who make a specialty of handling such goods. Some mills will have at the end of the season thousands of these short ends. The retail buyers and jobbers secure them at low prices, the public very often supposing that they are getting 'bargains' in the perfect goods at less than known market rates. Usually they receive full value for their money.

"The loss to the manufacturers and the mills from seconds and short ends makes a big hole in the profits at the end of the season, and this loss is taken into consideration in the wholesale price asked for the perfect goods. In some mills they have a system of making the operatives pay for any difference in the damaged goods where the loss may be traced to their personal fault and not that of the machine. This system makes the operatives very careful, as it materially affects their wages. If a manufacturer attempted to put on the market seconds for perfect goods, the retail dealers would not buy from him, and the public would likewise withdraw its patronage."—Washington Star.

Detected by a Misspelt Word.

In a case of political importance, the whole case of which hinged upon the question of the genuineness of certain letters, the most important witness was, while under examination, suddenly taken by surprise by being called upon to write down a particular word which occurred in the letters. The slip of paper was handed back with the word misspelt in an identically similar fashion to that in which it appeared in the correspondence, and the clever forger was soon after detected in the witness himself.

with the request. The colonel strode rapidly to the hospital tents, followed by Brainard and me. Entering the surgical ward, he asked:

"Is McTwyny here?"

"Prisint, sorr," came from a red face on a cot, and a big freckled hand came to the side of the face in the position of salute.

"I'm sorry to hear of your loss," said the colonel, "and I've brought you the best consolation I could think of. This is the jacket you shall wear when you get up again, Captain McTwyny."

"Whoorooo!" exclaimed Mick. He closed his eyes an instant, then opened them and said, "Av Norah cud only see it!"

"She shall see it, with you inside of it, as soon as you're fit to go north on leave of absence. Is there anything else I can do for you?"

Mick pushed aside his sheet, displayed his severed arm lying on his breast and said:

"Don't let 'em throw this away."

"He knocked me down for trying to take it from him," whispered the nurse, "but of course a thing of that kind can't be kept."

For a moment the colonel seemed to be choking. When he recovered, he said:

"Let me take it. I'll have it buried with the honors of war. The company you're to command, captain, shall fire a salute over it."

"Oi thank yez very koindly, sorr, for that an' that lise ye've done, but how about thim two little dhivils forninst ye? In the foight wid the fince rails—glory be to the poikes av auld Oireland—they were wort' more than all the rist av the platoon put together. Little Brainard, ah, that a shillelah twister he'd make! An', as for Frost, he saved me own loife two or three toimes in succession."

"Good!" exclaimed the colonel. "They shall be taken care of. Now keep as quiet as you can, captain, so as to get well quick—and see Norah. Nurse, hang this jacket at the foot of his cot in some way so he can always see the shoulder straps when his eyes are open. Come along, men—I beg your pardon—gentlemen."

"Now," said the colonel, "as you two have declined (I hadn't) the commissions granted, as you think, under a misapprehension and through the imagination of a young woman, I shall at once recommend you for commissions in your own old regiment, and you may be sure that you'll get them.

The colonel looked surprised.

I've no more captaincies at my disposal. To make a vacancy for McTwyny I'm going to force a good for nothing captain to resign. But you shall both have lieutenancies—first lieutenancies, if possible."

"In the old regiment!" exclaimed Brainard. "Hurrah!"

"Hurrah!" I echoed. The colonel grasped our hands and almost crushed them in his own. Then he said:

"Meanwhile, on the basis of the commissions to the Forty-third, I'll have both of you as enlisted men discharged at once. That will enable you to go home and tell your story, and McTwyny's—he came from your town, I believe. 'Twill also enable you to see that imaginative young woman."

"'Twill also enable you to draw your pay, and, as the paymaster is about six months overdue, you'll be able to go home in officers' uniform—shoulder straps and all—eh?"

I looked into Brainard's eyes and saw that the fight with Phil Hamilton was on.

"Give a man an inch, and he'll take an ell, colonel," said Brainard. "Would it be possible to get our papers at once? I think it—it might save a life if I could start for home tonight."

"It shall be done. Please say to your captain that I would like to see him."

* * * * * * *

After tattoo, and also after a bowling time in our company street, our comrades having learned of our good fortune, we started for Yorktown, 12 miles distant, to catch the morning boat for Fort Monroe. We were in time for the Fort Monroe boat for Baltimore and the morning train for New York. We got officers' uniforms, and I made it my special business that Brainard's should fit perfectly. He was in such haste to reach Summerton that he would have been content with anything topped with shoulder straps. I even saw to it that he wore sash and sword belt. Meanwhile I prayed that my letter about Brainard might reach Summerton before us.

We did not reach town till long after dark. As our house was on the direct way to Brainard's I suggested that he should stop with me, if only for a moment, and he did not refuse. As we approached the house I was glad to see that it was still lighted. Village people retire early, and I had feared I might have to rouse a sleeping family. On reaching the piazza I tiptoed to the parlor blinds and open window to reconnoiter and to increase the pleasure of anticipation. There sat my cousin May, and I was startled at the change that a single year had wrought, for she was no longer a girl, but a vision of womanly beauty. I could have stood there many moments for the joy of gazing at her, but I heard a familiar voice and then saw, at the left of the room, Phil Hamilton. How handsome he was, confound him! Oh, if I could know that my letter about Brainard had reached May! For Hamilton was saying:

"I asked you an important question in two or three successive letters, but you did not answer it, so I've used my earliest possible opportunity to repeat the question in person."

Quickly I drew Brainard after me through the doors and pushed him into the parlor. Hamilton rose quickly, and despite his habitual and superb composure he literally staggered as he saw two of his late brother noncommissioned officers in lieutenant's uniforms. Apparently May had received my letter and been properly affected by it, for, though she turned pale as she rose and looked at us, she quickly became rosy, courtesied to Hamilton and said:

"I like you very much, but here is my answer."

Then she hid the red scar on Brainard's cheek with two red lips. At that moment our dog Rover entered the room and sprang upon me with a joyous whine, and as I tried to abate his frenzy of affection I heard Hamilton say:

"Lieutenant Brainard, I esteem it an honor to be the first man to congratulate you."

* * * * * * *

Of course we called on McTwyny's Norah, a rosy, modest, dainty girl who compelled us to recall the story of "Beauty and the Beast." We had not intended to tell her all the details of the fight for the fence, but she extracted them from us, and she shivered, shuddered, cried and laughed. She also kissed us both and commended us to the eternal guardianship of all the saints.

Brainard and May were not married till after the war, by which time Brainard was a brigadier general in a high staff position, and General Grant and many other general officers attended the wedding; so did Phil Hamilton and his wife, who was as handsome and distinguished looking as he; so did Norah and Mick McTwyny, the latter in the uniform of a lieutenant colonel of cavalry. But, as "journeys end with lovers' meeting," this story, too, must end.

THE END.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN

Women drift into a condition of half invalidism without knowing what ails them. Languor, exhaustion, aching back, flitting pains, indigestion, headache. ANTI-PILL will lift these burdens. Any women can prove this by writing Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free trial bottle.

This announcement is particularly addressed to women, because of the peculiar adaptation of ANTI-PILL to help sick and ailing women, who feel that they are gradually losing strength and vitality.

The use of ANTI-PILL never fails to arouse energy to search out and overcome the ailing cause. It's a revelation in medicine that brings relief to the distressed, and brightens the despondent. It doctors but don't drug—is purely vegetable and can be used with perfect safety by delicate women at any stage of life. Its gentle and effective.

An Apple Tree's Roots.

For the purpose of erecting a suitable monument in honor of Roger Williams, the founder of Rhode Island, his private burying ground was searched for himself and wife. It was found that everything had passed into oblivion. The shape of the coffins could be traced only by the carbonaceous matter. The rusted hinges and nails and a round wooden knot remained in one grave, while a single knot of braided hair was found in the other.

Near the graves stood an apple tree. This had sent down two main roots into the very presence of the coffined dead. The larger root, pushing its way to the precise spot occupied by the skull of Roger Williams, had made a turn as if passing around it and followed the direction of the backbone to the hips. Here it divided into two branches, sending one along each leg to the heel, where both turned upward toward the toes. One of these roots formed a slight crook at the knees, which made the whole bear a striking resemblance to the human form.

Made His Own Jail.

Among the early Comstockers, the makers of Virginia City, Nev., were some of the toughest specimens of humanity loose in the world in those days, and perhaps the most primitive one in the lot was "Red Mike." The fellow appeared to be equipped only with brute instincts, but there was human intelligence of a sort in the back of his head, and he gave an exhibition of prudential forethought that would have been creditable to a wiser man.

"Red Mike" was employed as bricklayer in the building of a jail, which was one of Virginia City's first and most imperative needs, and he thoughtfully omitted the mortar and laid a number of bricks dry and loose at several places in the wall.

In the natural order of things "Red Mike" committed a serious offense and was thrown into jail to await trial, for even in the early days the Comstock usually tried a man before hanging him. The next morning the jail was empty. "Red Mike" had made a hole in the wall by taking out some of his own handiwork, and when he went out he took all the other prisoners with him.

Italy and the Evil Eye.

It is hard for us to realise the deadly significance to an Italian of the suggestion that one may have the evil eye. I was walking one day with a young American girl to whom I had been unfolding some of the tragedies I have known connected with the superstition. She took it all lightly and joyously, after the manner of her kind, and later, during our walk, when a saucy, tormenting beggar pursued us, she made the sign of the corni as I had described it to her, shaking the hand slightly, with the first and the fourth finger extended. Then the beggar became convulsed with anger and seemed almost beside herself, shrieking out such a torrent of abuse that we were glad to jump into a cab and fly from the wrath to come. The poor creature was not to be blamed; she knew that once the shadow of suspicion falls it means social excommunication, banishment outside the pale of whatever society one belongs to.—Century.

A Sensitive Conscience.

Carrie—Goodness, it's that horrid old bore, Wilkins. Tell him I have gone out. Belle—No, I won't tell a story, but I will say that you have not come back yet.

Her Secrets.

"Never tell a secret, dear. It would be a great breach of confidence."

"What must I do with it, mamma?"

"Well—bring it to me!"

He Was a Stayer.

She (desperately)—Don't you believe they will worry over your absence if you fail to return home until such a late hour? He (carelessly)—There's nobody to worry except the landlady, and I make a point to keep her worrying by always owing her a month's board.

He Retired.

"Papa," remarked the congressman's daughter, looking at the clock.

"What is it, Lou?" asked papa, who had lingered in the drawing room with the young people.

"It is 9 o'clock. At this time George and I usually go into committee." Then papa retired.

Insulting.

"She's the most insulting woman I ever met."

"I never liked her myself."

"Just think! The last time she visited us she didn't wipe her feet when she came in, but she did wipe them when she went out."

THE MUSKOKA ELECTION

More Evidence Submitted to Court at Bracebridge.

The Trial Still Goes On—More Light Thrown Upon Election Methods in the North—Mr. Mahaffy Denies That He Knew Coats Until Months After the Election—Many Charges Already Dismissed As Unsupported.

Bracebridge, Sept. 8.—Yesterday's session of the court under Messrs. Justice Falconbridge and Street, trying the protest against the election of A. A. Mahaffy, M.P.P. for Muskoka, resulted in numerous charges being made, but proven to be without effect.

In No. 83 W. R. Lowry was charged with hiring rigs to convey voters to the polls. Mr. Dodds testified that Lowry had promised to make him game warden if he voted for Mahaffy. This charge naturally overlapped charge No. 46, in which one Coats is said to have promised to have a road grant made if Dodds voted right, and might even get Dodds the position of spending the money. Dodds said he did not speak to Mahaffy about the grant.

Dodds and Coats.

Charge 88 was then proceeded with. William Dodds, a resident near Bala, knew J. O. Coats, a jewellery pedlar, who visits the lumber camps. He had been at his house at various times during the past five years, and hired a rig from him. On the day previous to the election Coats gave him $4. It was paid to take three men from Brandy Creek to Gravenhurst in the morning of the election. These men were Nipper Hill, William Grey and E. House. Mr. Dodds son drove to Brandy Creek on the morning of the election, but when he got there the three men had gone earlier in the morning, and his son did not take them. It was worth from $4 to $5 to carry men over that rough road to Gravenhurst. Coats had on previous occasions paid for his rig in advance. Coats did not canvas his vote, and as for the pay of the rig he left that to Coats' own generosity. He was under a compliment to him for past favors, and would willingly have let him have the rig.

Coats Was No Agent.

His Lordship in summing up said that he was not clear as to the payment of the $4. He drew from the evidence that Coats was spending this money with the view of having voters taken to the polls. That was strengthened by his promise to have the road grant seen to if Mr. Mahaffy was elected. Mr. Coats was authorized to act as agent at the polling booth by Mahaffy. Mahaffy left Leavitt to organize and be heard Coats was there.

Here Mr. Blackstock interposed and pointed out to His Lordship that Mr. Mahaffy had stated in his examination that he knew nothing about Coats being in the riding till a few months after the election.

Mr. Mahaffy was then called and stated that he had never seen or heard of Coats until after the election. He knew that Mr. Boyer, who was a young man under salary, was doing committee work for about 10 days before the election. Leavitt was general organizer of Medora and Wood.

Would Not Call Coats.

Justice Falconbridge suggested that Coats, who was present, be put in the witness box, but Mr. Johnston did not choose to accept the suggestion.

His Lordship remarked that while a corrupt act had been done he could not help but dismiss the contention in regard to agency.

Justice Street said that the court disagreed as to the payment of the $4. There was nothing to show that the three men who were conveyed in the rig were voters and were going to vote.

The Martineau charge, No. 84, was made by W. J. Martineau of Lake of Bays, who swore that Mr. Crump of the lumber company offered him $5 if he would vote for Mahaffy. This charge was similar to charge No 85, in which Martineau swore that Hicks, a bush foreman, had approached him in a similar way.

Charge No. 80.

Theo. Gudmanson, an Icelander, who had been looking after voters for Mahaffy among friends of his own nationality in Cardwell Township, accepted $5 from Edward Little, M. P.P., which charge, No. 80, said, was improper. Gudmanson said that Mahaffy had not offered him anything. He had worked for Mahaffy one day fixing a fence, since the election. He never worked for him before. He was going to Cardwell, and drove out with Mr. Little, to whom he was introduced by Mr. Mahaffy. He canvassed there, but did not spend any money among the Icelanders. Mr. Little paid the expenses when he was with him. Mr. Little found the work difficult, not knowing the language of the people. He had no expenses, no board bills, and no rig to hire. When Mr. Coats left Gudmason at the Monteith House, Rosseau, he gave him $5 to pay his traveling expenses. He did not spend the $5 for that purpose. He put the money in his pocket, and walked to the house of the people he knew. He was a strong Conservative.

Charge Dismissed.

His Lordship, in dismissing this charge, said that Mr. Little paid the $5 for a bona fide purpose, and the fact that Gudmason walked and did not use the money for that purpose did not make the act corrupt.

Then followed nine charges but nothing was made of them.

William J. Hamilton, a lifelong Reformer, was brought to show that Newton Langford had receipted $12 on a store account on condition that Hamilton did not vote.

The old man denied being credited anything on account. No one spoke to him about going away. He had to go. He was foreman of the Niagara Falls Hunting Club, and got work to take timber to the woods and build dog houses.

This charge was dismissed, as also were four others, in which there was not a tittle of evidence.

E. B. Ryckman, barrister of Toronto, secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Association, produced books and vouchers, showing that $1,250 was paid in the bye-election in organization, and that $304.55 was paid the organizer, Leavitt, and $143.15 to Mr. Wright. This charge also failed.

Counsel on both sides agree that the case will end to-day.

AMMUNITION NOT DEFECTIVE.

Militia Department Does Not Consider There Is Ground For Complaint.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Globe Special.)—With respect to the alleged complaints from D. R. A. competitors that the ammunition was defective, the Militia Department does not consider there is any ground for complaint on that score. Owing to the demand for increased velocity the charge in the cartridge has been strengthened. This results in some cases in an escape of smoke from the shell of the cartridge after the bullet has been fired. The remedy for this would seem to be to strengthen or reinforce the cap and shell at the base of the cartridge. Before anything is done, however, the advice of the Imperial authorities will be sought. They had a somewhat similar experience when they increased the charge in their rifle cartridges, but the difficulty was overcome and no trouble is now experienced.

Mr. Gamey at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 8.—R. R. Gamey last night addressed a large meeting in the City Hall. Captain Bay presided, and many prominent Conservatives were present from the surrounding towns and country. He vigorously criticized the Government's policy in New Ontario, before entering on a partial history of his own affairs. He was listened to attentively, and frequently applauded. Speeches were also made by Dr. Jessop and William McCleary, ex- M.P., Thorold.

WOMAN DRANK HELLEBORE.

Crazed By Husband's Cruelty, Mrs. Haley Attempts Suicide.

Chatham, Sept. 8.—Crazed by her husband's cruelty and neglect, her little children and herself on the verge of starvation for the want of proper food, Facilia Haley, who lives in the township of Raleigh, while in a fit of despondency, attempted suicide Tuesday by taking a teaspoonful of hellebore. Prompt medical attention was the means of saving the unfortunate woman's life before the deadly drug had got in its work. The woman's story is a pitiful one. Her husband, a worthless character, who was sentenced to do time in the common gaol, had cruelly neglected the poor woman and her children, and it is supposed that this was the cause of her mad act. The children are in the hands of the Humane Society, and the woman is being attended to by physicians.

The Farmers' Association.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The annual convention of the Farmers' Association of Canada opened yesterday in Victoria Hall and will continue this morning at 9 o'clock. The Association does not purpose forming a third political party, but is prepared to deal in a broad way with all questions affecting farmers in legislative matters. President J. Lockie Wilson was in the chair, and delivered his annual address.

The secretary's and auditor's reports were first taken up and over 1,400 members were stated to be in affiliation. Organization work was discussed and the members spoke their views freely. One speaker thought they should not be a party to saw-offs. Papers on co-operation were read, and a number of other subjects were discussed.

Unions For Free Trade.

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 8.—The Trades Congress yesterday adopted by an almost unanimous vote a resolution declaring that any departure from the principles of free trade would be detrimental to the interests of the working classes. Conscription was condemned, and King Edward was described as the only statesman England possessed.

Little Indian Girl Drowns.

Rat Portage, Sept. 8.—A little Indian girl named Theresa, aged nine years, was drowned here Tuesday night. She was in company with four others in a canoe 15 feet from shore when by some means or other the canoe upset. The remaining four were able to swim.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the older members of last year's Choir Rugby Club will be held this evening in the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30. All are requested to attend, as there will be "doings."

BASEBALL.

The local ball team demonstrated on Labour Day that they are capable of playing good, fast ball, when they took the fast Marlboros in camp in two closely contested games. The teams have won three games in four days and played Port Hope in Port Hope a hard ten innings tie last Wednesday. These two teams play here Saturday in the return game of the Midland League series. The winners taking both games, a large crowd should turn out to see the boys win as they are certainly playing gilt edged ball at present.

Lindsay plays in Bowmanville today and should they lose the locals still have a chance of landing in second place.

GOLF.

The players in the club championship have until the 12th instant to qualify. They are asked to hand in their cards at the club house by this date.

MR. T. F. BEST MARRIED

General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Brantford and Well Known Here.

The Hamilton Spectator of September 6th, has the following account of the wedding of Mr. T. F. Best, uncle of Mr. E. M. Best of town, and very well known here:—

A very quiet home wedding took place this afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Somerville, 130 Hunter street west, when T. F. Best, the popular general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., was united to Miss Belle Somerville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Sycamore, pastor of the James' Street Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Stewart, of Rochester Theological college. The bride was attended by Miss Ortgies of New York, and the little flower girl was Miss Lorne Somerville. The groom was supported by Rev. Mr. Irmie of Brantford.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with yellow and white flowers—hydrangea and golden glow. An altar was constructed, before which the ceremony took place. The dining-room looked beautiful with floral decorations in pink and white.

The bride was clad in white crepe de chene and the bridesmaid in white muslin. Miss Best, niece of the groom played the wedding march.

The intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties who were present came from Toronto, New York, Chicago, Woodstock, Brantford, Prescott, Smith's Falls, Peterborough and other places.

The presents were numerous and very handsome. Among the many tokens of esteem were a dinner set from the Y.M.C.A., a handsome clock from the directors of the Y.M.C.A., and a Morris chair from the Brantford basketball team.

The gift of the groom to the bride was a pearl brooch set with turquoise and diamonds, and to the bridesmaid a crescent brooch set with pearls. Shortly after the ceremony the happy couple departed for points east, the bride's travelling costume being tan colored broadcloth trimmed with white broadcloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Best have the best wishes of a host of friends, who hope that their walk down the pathway of life may be peaceful and happy, and that in old age they may be honored and respected by all.

Comfort for Old People

Most of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements, which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago and body pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active, and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal diseases.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC RUGBY MEETING

LARGELY ATTENDED LAST NIGHT AND PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Will Enter Senior Series — Club in Good Financial Circumstances — Several New Players.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Rugby Club, held last night at the Oriental Hotel, was most enthusiastically attended by the old players and several new ones who have came to town during the summer. Prospects for a successful season never looked better, and the club's action in entering the senior series of the O.R.F.U. met with the hearty approval of all. In former years grounds were not available where a gate could be collected, but this year, with the street cars running direct to the driving grounds, there will be no difficulty in this respect and citizens will not be troubled with subscription lists. Mr. Frank Burnham, who has played with the locals in former years, and who played with Varsity last year, was at the meeting and announced that he would help them chase the pigskin this year. Mr. Shaw of Baltimore, who has played with the Princeston college team, has secured a position in the Cereal Works, and will be seen with a local uniform on here this year. Besides these are many other new players, and the team will have no difficulty in making a strong bid for the championship. At last night's meeting were noticed besides Mr. E. S. Charry, Pres., and Mr. C. S. Graham, sec.-treas.; Messrs. K. Hardley-Wilmot, R. F. McWilliams, A. Noble, E. Hurtubuise, W. Crowley, captain; R. Craig, J. Craig, R. Cameron, F. Ford, Alex. Gillespie, Frank Bradburn, A. Scriver, A. Lang, R. Burgess, H. Walkey, Shaw and others.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. E. S. Charry, the president, occupied the chair, and announced that the past year had been a most successful one financially. He was very pleased to see such a large gathering present and said it augured well for their success this season. Speaking of the series of the O.R.F.U. the locals should enter, he read a letter from Mr. Frank D. Woodworth of Toronto, secretary of the O. R. F. U., strongly urging the locals to enter the senior series. A deposit of $25 was asked by the union for every home game. He also read a telegram from Mr. Woodworth, stating that if the locals would enter the senior series, that this deposit could be satisfactorily arranged.

The election of officers was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:—

Hon.-President—Mr. R. A. Morrow.
Hon.-Vice-President—Mr. R. F. McWilliams.
President—Mr. E. S. Charry.
1st Vice-President—Mr. W. Crowley.
2nd Vice-President—Mr. F. R. Clarke.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. C. Graham.
Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. and Mrs. K. Hardley-Wilmot, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. J. Crane.
Committee of Management—Messrs. A. A. Hollingshead, E. Hurtubuise, A. Noble, Frank Bradburn, F. Ford, and Frank Burnham.

Mr. Wilmot briefly thanked them for the honor and wished the club every success during the coming season.

The secretary-treasurer gave the report of the past year, which was a very satisfactory one. He gave a list of the games played, and said that the locals had scored thirty-four points against their opponents' thirty-five. He recommended that no subscriptions be solicited this year, and that a new course be adopted. The receipts for the past year had been $404.60 and the expenses $402.40, leaving a balance on hand of $2.20. At the end of last season a club photo was taken and each member presented with one. On February 16th, a club dinner had been held, and $15 had been given to the T.A.S. turkey club in reciprocation of a former favor from that club.

On motion the report was received.

The question of electing a captain for the team was then discussed. Mr. Crowley last year's captain, and Mr. McWilliams, thought that the captain should be chosen by last year's players.

Mr. Graham suggested that last year's captain act until after the first game.

It was finally moved by Mr. F. Bradburn that the selection be left until after the first practice, and that Mr. W. Crowley act until then. The motion was seconded by Mr. A. Noble and carried unanimously.

THE SENIOR SERIES.

The series question was next introduced, and was discussed at some length.

Mr. McWilliams enquired if they had any idea what teams would compose the senior series, and the president replied that Hamilton and three Toronto teams would be in the western district. He thought that the travelling expenses would not be very great, just as the intermediate series was put up to a very strong sum, it would be their best plan to enter the senior.

Mr. Hurtubuise and Mr. Graham, also spoke similarly.

Mr. Charry mentioned that arrangements were under way with the street railway company to supply light for the driving park grounds, and the team would have every advantage of practising.

Captain Crowley thought there was no reason why the locals should not play senior. He thought they could play as good, and even better than some of the teams that were in the series. The travelling expenses would be light and we would have four home games, and as the facilities for reaching the grounds were much improved, there would be no difficulty in getting a good gate.

Mr. Frank Burnham also was in favour of playing senior. It was moved that the locals enter the senior series, provided that they were put in the western district and satisfactory financial arrangements could be made.—Carried.

A delegate will be sent to the annual meeting of the O.R.F.U. to be held in Toronto on Saturday.

A special committee composed of Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, E. S. Charry, K. Hardley-Wilmot and W. Crowley, was appointed to make satisfactory arrangements with the street railway company in regard to lighting grounds, etc.

Mr. Shaw of Baltimore was introduced and he announced his willingness to learn the Canadian game and turn out with the locals.

The time of practice was next discussed and for the present practice will be held on Saturday afternoons from three to five o'clock.

A unanimous motion was passed thanking Mr. C. Graham for the use of his rooms in holding the meeting.

The president thanked the members of the club who had attended and taken such an interest in the meeting, and hoped that the season would be a successful one.

The meeting then adjourned.

MOVEMENT TOWARDS TIELING

Taken to be Significant of Coming Battle.

THE RUSSIANS ADMIT LOSSES

Report that Gen. Kuroki has Been Shot is Unconfirmed--Kuropatkin is Overworked and Will be Given Help--Russia Re-organizing.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—Besides the formation of two fresh army corps as the first answer to the Japanese successes at Liaoyang, the Russian army at the front will be reorganized, probably in the form of two armies, in command of General Linevitch and General Baron Kaulbars, respectively, with General Kuropatkin as commander-in-chief. General Kaulbars will go out with the two army corps now organizing in the Governments of Kazan, Odessa, Vilna and Kieff. General Linevitch has been ordered by telegraph from Vladivostock to Mukden. This decision is due in part, doubtless, to the growing unwieldiness of the big force under General Kuropatkin's command, and which will be largely increased by constant reinforcement.

General Kuropatkin heretofore has handled every detail of the vast organization. The work is too much for one man, and he is now almost broken down under the strain.

A Coming Battle.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—General Kuropatkin reports, in a telegram sent Wednesday evening, that he had not lost a single gun in his retreat, and that Kuroki is on his east flank and Oku on the left, and officials here surmise that a big battle may be fought if the Japanese continue to press on to Mukden. The story of bad roads and hampered transport is repeated, and from Mukden, in the last despatch received, comes the significant intimation that "there is an interesting movement towards Tieling," the nature of which is not disclosed.

MINE A MILE LONG.

How Russians Are Said to Have Blown Up Jap Column.

Che Foo, Sept. 9.—A Japanese column, numbering approximately 700 men, while marching along at night on a road in the valley between Long Hill and Division Hill, met a frightful disaster through the explosion of an electric land mine Sept. 7. The mine was carefully laid by the Russians three weeks ago. It covered nearly a mile of available marching space. The explosive was placed at the bottom. Rocks were placed next, and on top of these clay was packed so carefully that the ground gave the impression of not having been disturbed. The indications of Japanese activity in this vicinity put the Russians on guard. Near midnight the outposts rushed in and reported that the Japanese were approaching. The Russians withheld their fire for some time. Suddenly they threw a searchlight up the valley. The Japanese opened with a rifle fire. The Russians waited until apparently the whole Japanese column was in the danger zone. Then the mine exploded. The force of the explosion knocked a number of Russians down, and the sight of Japanese rifles, water bottles, legs and arms hurling through the lighted space made by the searchlight was an awful spectacle. Some rocks landed inside the Russian lines. There was one appalling moment, during which the garrison itself was stunned, then a deathlike silence. The searchlight coldly lighted up the road and hillsides strewn with dead. The following day the Russians buried the dead, but owing to their dismembered and mutilated condition the Russians were unable to accurately estimate the number of killed. A few Japanese escaped, however. The foregoing information is contained in a small sheet issued by The Port Arthur Novikrai, a breakage in the press having made it impossible to issue a full edition. The Chinese arriving here at midnight confirm the above to the extent of saying that they heard a report that many Japanese had been killed by a mine. On the nights of Aug. 26 and 27 a similar disaster befell the Japanese near Redoubt No. 2, it is reported, but details have not been ascertained.

Hasuki Reported Dead.

Mukden, Sept. 9.—News of the fight at some point between Sinashe, 11 miles northwest of Liaoyang and Mukden, is hourly expected. Among the reports current here is one to the effect that Gen. Kuroki has been killed and that two Japanese generals have been made prisoners, but no one seems to know where the reports originated and no confirmation is obtainable.

Lost 17,000 Men.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—The best information of the War Office indicates Kuropatkin lost about 17,000 men during the ten days' battle of Liaoyang.

1,500 French Pilgrims See Pope.

Rome, Sept. 9.—The Pope yesterday received 1,500 French pilgrims, mostly priests and nuns. The Pontiff, in replying to an address, said the reception was most important, being the first French pilgrimage to visit Rome since the conflict between France and the Vatican.

Jockey Killed.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—George Irwin, a jockey in the employ of H. H. Learmant, was thrown from his horse, Nadinus, while competing in a steeplechase, and killed almost instantly.

Headsman Daibler Dead.

Paris, Sept. 9.—Louis Daibler, who directed the guillotine of Paris for twenty years, died at Auteuil yesterday at the age of 81.

Paralyzed By Fall.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—A. Coyne, 15 Wood street, a painter, employed by the Polson Iron Works, while working on a scaffold, fell 20 feet to the ground, lighting on his shoulders. He was removed in the ambulance to Grace Hospital, where it was found that the shock had caused paralysis.

To Accept Hunter's Offer.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, stated that the offer of the Russian Government of $46,000 in settlement of the Canadian sealers' claims against Russia, would probably be accepted.

In washing woollens and flannels, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will be found very satisfactory. 56

Muskoka Protest Against Conservative M.P.P. Fails.

No Agency Was Proved and His Lordship Thinks the Election Was Fairly Conducted—Little Money Involved in Sparrow Case of Bribery or Attempted Bribery in the Constituency—Petition Dismissed With Costs.

Bracebridge, Sept. 9.—The petition against the election of A. A. Mahaffy for Muskoka was yesterday morning dismissed with costs. The cross-petition was also dismissed. A great number of charges were gone into yesterday morning; but in none of them was there even the suggestion of evidence of corruption. The hearing, which has lasted three days, brought out only five cases which could possibly be construed into corruption, and these were of a trivial nature and open to question. His Lordship's charge at the close of the case was as follows:

"We have occupied three days with this enquiry and there has been no lack of diligence and energy on the part of the petitioner in bringing out the evidence. It does appear that very few cases have been proved. A great many of the charges have fallen through. At present there appear to have been five corrupt acts, or illegal acts, found. Charge No. 49 was proved, that payment was made for a rig by W. J. Lamb. Charge 52 was proved, that expenses of a voter back from poll were paid by Lamb. Charge 46 was proved, showing a corrupt promise by Coates to Dodds. Charge 54 was proved, showing a corrupt offer of $5 to Martineau by Crump. Charge 56 involved Lamb in another matter of a payment of $6. As to this we reserve judgment. The disposition of it does not affect the general disposition of the case to-day.

"That being so, four or five cases being proved, it remains to be considered what the effect of this is now if these matters were all brought

FOREST CONSERVATION

Among the exhibits at the St. Louis Exhibition one of the most interesting and instructive is that showing the methods of reafforestation adopted by the United States Government. Not at all too early is this important work being undertaken, but with partial success it will no doubt be adopted on a larger scale. Some of the States are also moving in the same direction. Notably in New York two large nurseries and plantations have been established for the propagation of forest trees and much is being done towards the reproduction of timber on the depleted woodlands. In the Dominion attention is also being turned to this important matter. At the various model farms large numbers of forest trees are being raised for distribution among the settlers, so that the prairie lands especially may not remain bare of timber. The Provincial Agricultural College at Guelph has also made a beginning and has its plantations of young trees for distribution. Not only in Ontario but also in Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the other Provinces steps are being taken showing that the depletion of our forests is attracting the attention of the authorities. It must, however, be confessed that, although a beginning has been made, the measures so far adopted are far from being adequate. We are still in the period when the process of depletion and destruction is greatly in advance of reproduction. Next to the settlement of the country this is perhaps the most important question for the welfare of the future community that will grow up in Canada. Every one who has that welfare at heart should strive to do his share to aid and encourage further progress in measures for the conservation and reproduction of our forests. One way of doing this is to join the Canadian Forestry Association, which is doing good work, but should have a far larger membership that its influence may be extended and strengthened.

Mr. Harcourt, Minister of Education has been sent to England to raise money for the Temiscaming Railway. Mr. Latchford, Minister of Public Works, to whose department this matter belongs, is said to be aggrieved at being thus slighted and declared incapable.

In reference to the proved purchase of a vote in North Perth the Globe says:—"There was nothing to show that it was part of an organized campaign of corruption or that Mr. Brown's expenditure was suspiciously lavish." The purchase of one vote if it stood by itself would undoubtedly have been held to be too trifling to effect the result. That Mr. Brown made use much haste for fear of further investigation was a virtual confession that it was part of an organized campaign of corruption.

Comfort for Old People

Most of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements, which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago and body pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active, and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

GARTUNG IS IN HIDING

Warrant Issued For His Arrest on Charge of Embezzlement.

Superintendent of Canadian Order of Foresters, With Headquarters at Brantford, Said to Have Stolen Over $2,000—Said to Have Appointed Mythical Organizers and to Have Drawn Amount of Their Pay Cheques Himself.

Brantford, Sept. 9.—A big sensation was sprung in this city yesterday, when it became known that a warrant was issued for the arrest of Ernest Gartung on a charge of embezzlement. Gartung was superintendent of the organization department of the Canadian Order of Foresters, with headquarters in this city. He left the city hurriedly Wednesday night, and the police have as yet no knowledge of his whereabouts. The amount of shortage is not exactly known, but will probably be considerably over $2,000.

In pursuance of his duties, Gartung journeyed all over the province appointing county organizers. These organizers were paid by cheque upon receipt of a voucher from Gartung. It is alleged that Gartung appointed fictitious organizers, sent in the vouchers and then cashed the cheques for himself in some clever manner. It is also charged that he got ahead of the Order on his expense account.

Auditors have regularly examined the books, but since the vouchers were correct nothing was suspected until recently. It is understood that cheques came back from a mythical organizer named Langdon at Alexandra, with Gartung's endorsation. Wednesday Gartung was up on the carpet before one of the Order's officials, and the hearing was adjourned till a later hour, but Gartung failed to show up. The police were notified about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. Gartung has been in the employ of the Order for twenty years. He was one of the most trusted officials, nothing being suspected till very lately. Gartung has a wife and two children living at New Hamburg. His predicament has occasioned much regret in this city, where he was well known and much respected, as he was throughout the province.

At present many officials of the Order are in the city examining the books of the Order. It is claimed more shortages are being found, but the amount will in no way affect the Order, as a guarantee company is liable. Before leaving, it is known that Gartung procured a revolver.

STANDARD FOR DENTISTS.

Formation of a Dominion Dental Council Approved of.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—At the final meeting of the Canadian Dental Association yesterday the scheme for the formation of a Dominion Dental Council was approved of. Representatives from each of the provinces met and drew up a plan for the establishment of the Council, which will have power to grant certificates that will be accepted in all parts of the Dominion.

The other business of the meeting was reading of a technical paper by Dr. Loveau of Paris, France, which provoked considerable discussion of a most beneficial character.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, the result of which was:

President, Dr. Dubeau, Montreal; vice-president, Dr. S. W. McInnes, M. P.P., Brandon; secretary, Dr. Morrison, Montreal; treasurer, Dr. W. G. L. Spaulding, Toronto; registrar, Dr. G. K. Thompson, Halifax. Committee, F. W. Ryan, Nova Scotia; Frank A. Godseau, New Brunswick; F. A. Stevenson, Quebec; G. E. Hanna, Ontario; W. F. Taylor, Manitoba; W. D. Cowan, Northwest Territories; F. A. Lefugey, Prince Edward Island.

BORDEN BEGINS CAMPAIGN.

If Returned to Power Will Operate Transcontinental Railway By the People.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 9.—R. L. Borden made the first speech of what promises to be a hot campaign, preparatory to the approaching general election, last night.

The largest theatre in the city was packed to the doors by a crowd that welcomed their chief with acclamations and listened for two hours to his address. A cheering throng accompanied him to his hotel, where he had to make another speech before he was allowed to retire.

Mr. Borden in his speech contrasted the policies of the two parties with reference to public appointments, the Audit Act, the Election Law and the Grand Trunk Pacific Bill. He discussed the latter question at length, and reiterated his declaration that if the Conservatives were returned to power he would take immediate steps to annual the present contract and have a transcontinental railway built and operated by the people.

Mr. Borden leaves to-day for Montreal.

He makes his first speech in Ontario at Cayuga, on Sept. 14.

Borden in Ontario.

St. Thomas, Sept. 9.—A. B. Ingram, M.P., was notified yesterday morning by wire that R. L. Borden, K. C., M.P., and party will be at Aylmer Thursday, Sept. 15, at 2 p. m., and in St. Thomas the same evening at 8 o'clock.

Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for, and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. Children like it because it is pleasant, adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

For Over Sixty Years

An old and well-tried remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

THE REFERENDUM.

Professor Goldwin Smith Addresses The Farmers' Association of Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—In an address by Mr. Goldwin Smith to the convention of the Farmers' Association in Victoria Hall yesterday morning, upon the question of the party system of Government, urged the farmers to organize for the coming elections, Dominion and Provincial, and to pledge candidates to keep out of the caucus. Replying to a vote of thanks, Mr. Smith said there were two things for consideration by the electors: the adoption of the referendum, for which he saw great use in the settlement of questions which should be taken out of politics, and the superseding of party conventions for the selection of candidates by a preliminary ballot of all qualified to vote to determine who should be the candidates.

Mr. W. F. Maclean and Prof. McCurdy also delivered addresses, the first on Government ownership and the last on militarism. The association adopted questions to candidates, a platform in a series of resolutions, and elected its officers.

Little Girl Had Eczema

Which Defied All Treatment Until Dr. Chase's Ointment Was Used and Cured Her.

Many children suffer from scald head and eczema who could be cured if their parents only knew about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. C. Wiley, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., states: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for eczema on my little girl some few years ago, and soon brought about a thorough and permanent cure. She suffered for considerable time, and although we tried a great many remedies, Dr. Chase's Ointment was the only preparation to prove effective. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Ointment, as it certainly effected a prompt and permanent cure in this case."

GRIME AND COFFIN NAILS

HARLEM POLICE COURT MAGISTRATE DENOUNCES CIGARETTES.

Their Moderate Use More Detrimental than that of Liquor Upon Boys and Men.

1—Cigarettes.
2—Beer and liquors.
3—Craps.
4—Horses—Gambling.
5—Larceny.
6—State Prison.

In this order Police Magistrate Crane, of the Harlem Police Court, named the vices to which cigarette smoking by boys will lead. This conclusion was reached, he says, by his personal observations as a Police Court Justice.

He further states that in ninety-nine out of every one hundred boys from ten to seventeen years of age who come before him charged with crimes ranging from misdemeanors to burglary their fingers are stained with the yellow discolorations that result from the use of cigarettes.

Search for these stains on the fingers of criminals arraigned before him has become quite as commonplace in the proceedings at the reading of the hearing of evidence. By these telltale marks of mental decay and moral weakness the Justice professes to understand as much of the case as in any other way.

"Hold up you hands," followed by the question: "Do you smoke cigarettes?" is by no means an unusual way of opening a case in this court.

"I am convinced of the great evil of cigarette smoking by actual observations made as a Magistrate," said Magistrate Crane to a reporter of the World yesterday afternoon. "I am not a crank on this subject and do not care to pose as a reformer; but it is my opinion that cigarettes will do more than liquor to ruin boys."

"Do you find from your inquiries and observations," the Magistrate was asked, "that the practice of cigarette smoking among boys is increasing?"

"Beyond doubt, and to a most alarming extent. The concessions made in my court by boys arraigned there are positive evidence to this growth."

"Do you think moderate use of cigarettes more detrimental than that of liquor upon boys and young men?"

"The 'moderate' cigarette smoker is a rare exception among the victims of that vice, and as a parent I would prefer to see my boy given the use of liquors rather than to cigarettes, for the latter is one of the very worst habits to break from."

"Boys who use cigarettes," continued the Magistrate, "have such an appetite for them that they will steal the money to get them."

Two cases in which cigarette smoking was said to be responsible came before Magistrate Crane yesterday. William Thompson, of No. 123 East One Hundredth and Thirteenth-st., was charged with wife-beating and with driving her and a year-old child out of the house. Thompson admitted that he was a cigarette fiend, but had tried to break off the habit. After some friendly advice the Magistrate gave Thompson another chance.

It was different with Patrick Ahearn, who was charged with assaulting Louis Hunter with a knife. Magistrate Crane learned that Ahearn was a cigarette fiend, and when the Magistrate proceeded to give the prisoner advice, Ahearn said:

"It's none of your business whether we smoke cigarettes or dope. You are here to judge us and not to ask what we smoke. That's none of your business."

He was held in $500 for trial.

New Hope New Courage

Persons whose nerves are affected get blue and discouraged, are easily irritated and annoyed and learn to look on the dark side. The restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon shows its effect on the feelings. It gives new hope and courage, new energy and confidence. By creating nerve force it affords new vigor and vitality for both mind and body.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A LESSON IN ASTRONOMY.

You Can Study It and Perform a Trick at the Same Time.

With an eggshell and a breakfast plate our boys and girls can perform a little trick that will interest and instruct at the same time.

The next time you eat a boiled egg moisten the rim—not merely the edge, but all the raised part—of your plate and place the empty eggshell on the wet surface.

The shell should be broken off evenly all around so as to form a little cup.

Now, if you hold the plate up and tip it slightly, the egg will not merely slide but spin along the rim, and by continually altering the inclination angle of the plate you can make the shell spin all the way around it. I do not mean that it will spin rapidly like a top, but that as it goes around the plate it also revolves slowly about its own axis in the same direction.

Now this, you know, is just what the earth does in traveling around the sun, so here you have an easy and pretty lesson in astronomy at the breakfast table.

It is not exactly nice to muss with one's food, but in this case it may be allowable to make a daub of egg yolk in the center of the plate, with rays streaming out all around to represent the sun.—New York Mail.

THE HORSESHOE.

How a Peasant Taught His Little Boy a Good Lesson.

A peasant was going on a journey with his son Thomas. "Look," said the father, on the way, "there is a horseshoe lying in the road; pick it up and put it in your pocket."

"Oh!" said Thomas, "it is not worth the trouble of stooping down."

The father picked up the iron without saying anything more and put it into his pocket. In the next village he sold it to the smith for a few farthings and bought some cherries with the money. They both traveled on. The sun was shining very fiercely; far and wide there was no house, no tree, no spring to be seen, and Thomas was almost fainting with thirst.

His father now let drop—as if by accident—a cherry. Thomas picked it up as eagerly as if it were gold and put it directly into his mouth. After awhile his father let another cherry fall, and Thomas stooped down as eagerly for that. In this way from time to time his father let him pick up all the cherries, and when Thomas had devoured the last, he turned round to him laughing and said, "See, now, if you had been willing to stoop down only once for the horseshoe, you need not have stooped down so many times for the cherries."—From German of C. von Schmid.

A Robin's Queer Home.

Although any member of the bird tribe is apt to do this, the robin is the most frequent violator of the laws of bird propriety. A robin if it followed the laws laid down for it by nature would build in some shallow hole or depression in a grassy knoll. Some are content to do this, others are not.

For example, one robin chose an old tin kettle that was lying on one side under a hedge. This was in full view of the passers by and in constant danger from marauding cats and dogs. But it was waterproof and extremely convenient, so the robin chose it in saucy defiance of inquisitive visitors. Another robin chose a still stranger nesting place, and where do you suppose? In church!

The Smallest Church.

Until very recently the little church in the village of St. Lawrence, on the Isle of Wight, was the smallest church in existence. It was built nearly 900 years ago and was probably at first only used as the private chapel of some wealthy family. It was twenty-five feet long, seven feet high and eleven feet broad. It held only twelve people. Not long ago it was slightly enlarged and is no longer the very smallest church, although it is still quite small.

Reminding the Hen.

"It's well I ran into the garden," Said Eddie, his face all aglow. "For what do you think, mamma, happened?
You never will guess it, I know.
The little brown hen was there cackling 'Cut-cut!' she'd say, quick as a wink,
Then 'Cut-cut!' again, only slower.
And then she would stop short and think.
"And then she would say it all over—
She did look so mad and so vexed.
For, mamma, do you know, she'd forgotten
The word that she ought to cluck next!
So I said, 'Ca-daw-cut, ca-daw-cut!'
As loud and as strong as I could.
And she looked round at me very thankful.
I tell you, it made her feel good.
"Then she flapped and said 'Cut-cut-cut-daw-cut!'
She remembered just how it went then.
But it's well I ran into the garden—
She might never have clucked right again!"
—Baby World.

In Spain.

"One meets with queer opposites in Spain," said a man who has traveled in that country. "In the Basque provinces the people are alert, up to date, thrifty and industrious. In Barcelona I was agreeably surprised at the evidences of modern progress, and its principal street, the Rambla, is undeniably finer than any boulevard in Paris. In some other sections the natives are about the limit of sloth and evince a don't care spirit in everything that concerns their temporal welfare. They tell a story of a Spanish shoemaker who was approached by a customer with wornout shoes with a request that they be repaired immediately. The cobbler called to his wife to know how much money there was in the house. She answered enough to supply the family wants for another day, whereupon the customer was told that if he was in such a great hurry he had better try some other shop. This is the spirit that prevails in some parts of the kingdom, but must not be taken as a national characteristic."—Washington Post.

The Word "Cad."

"Cad," it is pointed out by a writer, is a word furnishing "a pathetic instance of verbal degeneration." He says: "Its grandfather 'cadet' and its father 'caddie' are still alive in the language, though the relationship is recognized by few. 'Cadet,' signifying by derivation from the Latin a 'little head,' or 'little chief,' was a sufficiently honorable word for the younger son of a noble family, and acquired its modern army sense from the fact that the army was often the destiny of younger sons. But it also begat 'cadie' or 'caddie,' a junior or subordinate in general, such as a bricklayer's assistant or the familiar golf caddie. Then 'caddie' or 'cad' came to mean an odd job man, and from calling the men who hung about to pick up jobs by this name, Oxford undergraduates presently applied it to 'town' in general, as contrasted with 'gown.' As no compliment was thereby intended, its final degradation is obvious."

Charles Kean's Afflictions.

Charles Kean, the actor, could not pronounce the consonants "m" and "n." In the first scene with Jarvis in "The Gamester" he began by inquiring, "Well, Jarvis, what says the world of me? I'll tell thee what it says. It calls me a false friend, a faithless husband, a cruel father—in one short word, it calls me Galeaster!" In Shylock he was wont to say:

"You take by life
When do you take the beans whereby I live."

But his most unfortunate slip occurred in the last line of "Money," where Evelyn says that, in order to enjoy the good things of life, we require "plenty of money." In this situation Kean always brought the curtain down with a roar by sarcastically remarking that the one thing necessary to complete their happiness is "plenty of putty!"

A Great Engineering Feat.

The Oroyo railroad, which runs from Callao to the gold fields of Cerro de Pasco, is considered one of the wonders in the Peruvian world. It is certainly the greatest feat of railroad engineering in either hemisphere. Commencing in Callao, it ascends the narrow valley of the Rimac, rising nearly 5,000 feet in the first fifty-six miles. Thence it goes through the intricate gorges of the Sierras till it tunnels the Andes at an altitude of 15,645 feet, the highest point in the world where a piston rod is moved by steam. The wonder is doubled on remembering that this elevation is reached in seventy-eight miles.

Wealth of Ancient Jews.

A writer in the Jewish magazine, the Menorah, says that there were richer men before the Christian era than there are now. He estimates Korah's fortune at $3,000,000,000, and says that Solomon, after spending $250,000,000 on his temple, was still worth between $900,000,000 and $400,000,000. In Roman times there were three Jews in Jerusalem who between them offered to spend $100,000,000 for twenty-one years in feeding the inhabitants of the city rather than surrender the city. One of these Jews, Nikodemon, gave his daughter a dowry of $425,000,000.

Permanently Ineligible.

"Mr. Bliggins has just inherited a fortune," said the woman who knows all the news. "I suppose he will now succeed in getting into the smart set."

"No," answered Miss Cayenne. "Before he was rich they said he had more brains than money. Now they will say he has more money than brains."

For a "Snack.

For luncheon, for dinner, for bedtime suppers, at mealtime and between meals, for outings and parties—there's always a time and an occasion for

THE CANADA ATLANTIC

A Chance to Benefit the Public is Thrown Away by the Government

The Grand Trunk, it seems, has bought the Canada Atlantic. The transaction clinches the grasp of the Grand Trunk upon the transportation system of Canada. Consider the advantages which that line will have when its plans have been worked out.

1. It will have a transcontinental system with the best port on the Pacific coast for one terminus, and a choice between Portland and St. John for the other.

2. It will have the best lake-and-rail route on the continent from Winnipeg eastward.

3. It will have the best trunk line in Canada, possibly in North America, from Winnipeg to Quebec.

4. It will have the developing of the plains of New Ontario and New Quebec, and will control the whole of the James Bay basin.

5. It will have the best network of branch lines in Old Ontario, if not in Old Quebec.

The acquisition of the lake-and-rail route by way of Depot Harbor, binds all the other advantages together. It makes the Grand Trunk interest the dominating power in our future. The influence of the Canadian Pacific in its most powerful days was weak to the authoritative position of the Grand Trunk ten or fifteen years from now.

The Intercolonial henceforth will be bound hand and foot. It will lie at the mercy of the private railways. Its western terminus will be Montreal, and every avenue to Montreal, except the all-water route will be controlled by the three great railway corporations of Canada. It will feel the blow at once. It has competed successfully for the Canada Atlantic traffic eastward. At a stroke that traffic will belong to the Grand Trunk, and will go to Portland, unless the corporation railway chooses to allow the Government railway a share of the traffic it now contends for and captures. We may almost give up hope of the Intercolonial paying. Even under good management, it would after this blow be a difficult proposition.

Had the Government bought the Canada Atlantic two things would have happened. The Government railway would have been immensely strengthened. The Grand Trunk would have been balked of its present predominance. It would have had the best all-rail route east of Winnipeg, and would also have had several excellent lake routes. The best of the lake-and-rail routes, however, would have been in the hands of the Government railway, and to that extent there would have been a check upon the Grand Trunk. The road in which the people of Canada have invested their millions, would have become a paying investment. It also would have dominated the freight situation, and have curbed the exactions of the corporation-owned railways. Private interests proved too strong for the public interest. The Government threw away its chance and deliberately sacrificed the great permanent interests of the country.—Toronto News, Indep.

LIBERALS THROW UP HANDS

View Taken in Perth County of the Crooked Election Trial.

The Stratford Herald published in North Perth has the following remarks on the future of justice in the electoral trial for the constituency:—

On August 24th The Herald printed a prediction that the North Perth trial would be ended very suddenly, that a charge not involving personal corruption on the part of Mr. Brown would be proven, and that the seat would then be declared vacant. That is exactly what happened this morning. It was proven that a Mr. Brenner had been offered a bribe by one John Collins, a "commercial traveller," admitted by Mr. Brown to be one of his agents. The $5 bill offered was refused by Mr. Brenner, but was left with his wife. The respondent did not attempt to fight the charge, and the judges declared the seat vacant. This means nothing more or less than that Mr. Brown has been occupying a seat in the Legislature which did not belong to him. More than that, he had been a consenting party to this usurpation, which has lasted from January, 1903, until now. For, had he agreed to it, the protest trial could have been held last winter, in spite of Mr. Ross, who called the Legislature in order to make the trying of a protest illegal, except by consent of the respondent.

The Liberals may now say that the present case is "just like that in which Mr. Monteith lost his seat after the general election." The cases are not by any means similar.

Mr. Monteith lost his seat because his majority of two was cancelled by the mistake of a country voter, and that it was a mistake was admitted by the Liberals.

Mr. Brown has lost his seat by the proven corruption of an admitted agent, and it is significant to note that the $5 bill which was given Mrs. Brenner was one of the Ontario bank's bills, not a common thing around Stratford. Similar bills figured in the Gamey case. The question of where the money came from may not be answered by this, but it looks as though the money were coming from one central source. In the Gamey case, Ontario bank bills; in the Collins case, an Ontario bank bill! The recipient hands a memorandum and leaves the bill, when to the member. There seems to be something more than a coincidence in these bills of the Ontario bank.

The law governing election trials was not made by us but by the Liberal Government at Toronto, who have arranged it to suit their purposes, even to the extent of making it possible by the numbered ballots for party agents to find how a given ballot was marked. A proper law would lay it as a duty upon the judges to push enquiry in the case of an election like that in North Perth where notoriously corrupt and improper means were resorted to on behalf of the Ross Government to win. Proceedings covering less than an hour cannot by any stretch of imagination be regarded as adequate enquiry. Of course by the Liberals throwing up their hands, crying quits and accepting an adverse verdict with costs, there was nothing to do but to close the case, as the law now is. The corruption that was practiced can of course be inferred by eagerness to avert exposure.

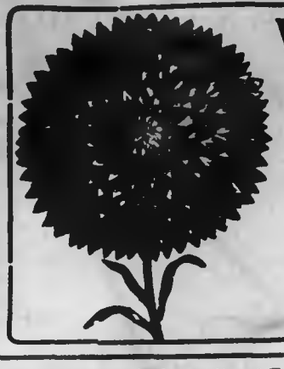
THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Prof. Clark's Lecture on the "Water Babies".

The Rev. Prof. Clark, of Trinity University, Toronto, who is to preach at St. Luke's church on Sunday, has consented to remain over and give his famous lecture on the "Water Babies," on Monday night, at the Y.M.C.A. Hall, at eight o'clock, under the auspices of St. Luke's church.

Choir Association Formed

At the regular rehearsal of St. Andrew's choir last evening it was decided to form a Choir Association. This Association will look after the interests of the choir before the Presbytery and will take charge of the music. Mr. George Laing was elected President and Miss Alice Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer. An Executive Committee, consisting of Miss Florence Stephenson, Miss Alice Stewart, Mr. Geo. Laing and Mr. T. Tilley was appointed, who will represent the choir in church matters.



WAS THE BEST SHOW EVER HELD

Exhibits at Horticultural Show More Numerous and Better Than Ever Before--Exhibition Was Opened Yesterday With a Good Attendance--Band Will Render Programme This Evening.

The Peterborough Horticultural Exhibition, which opened yesterday in the drill hall, surpasses all former years for the number of exhibits and the interest being taken in this particular branch of work. Last year the exhibits numbered 164, while this year they have reached 240. Some fine specimens are worthy of special mention. Mr. B. Cooney has on exhibition a beautiful Hydrangea; Mr. F. Woods, a very large Fuchsia; Mrs. Kent, a Pomegrantea plant, with small fruit on it; W. J. Francis, a collection of Dahlias; Wm. Taylor, a Petunia, and other special varieties.

The children's table was quite attractive, and contained a pretty display of flowers. The exhibitors were: Alice Clementi, Ward Bell, Pearl Bell, May White, Hugh Dark, Angus McIntosh, Ross Little and Willie White.

The judging and awarding of prizes was performed yesterday, Mr. F. Maxsom, florist, Lindsay, being the sole judge. Mr. Maxsom is well qualified for the work, as he was in charge of the Governor-General's conservatory and flower beds at Ottawa, for 20 years.

The drill shed was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting, the work being done by Mr. A. Kingscote.

The show will be continued to-day and to-night, and everyone should appreciate the interest taken in this work by the society, and attend the exhibition.

The band will be in attendance this evening and a good programme will be furnished.

EXPRESS PARCELS

New Rules in Regard to Collectin Including Customs Charges.

Following on the new regulations in regard to the prompt collections insisted upon by the two express companies in towns come some new rules in connection with the securing of parcels held in bond for customs charges. Heretofore the customer paid the amount of the duty, and on the delivery of the parcel by the driver then paid the amount of express due, and signed a receipt for the package.

Now the customer has to first go to the express office, pay the charges, get a receipt, wend his weary way down to the Customs House, pay his customs duties, sign the book, and wait for his parcel. After delivering the receipt to one of the staff, the rule is, "no receipt, no parcel," and no deviation is allowed from this regulation. The drivers will deliver the parcels after all charges have been paid.

This new rule causes a little extra exertion for the customer, but if it is borne in mind by intending importers it will save much confusion.

—Colborne is accredited as being the prettiest little village in Eastern Ontario and offers exceptional inducements to bachelors to locate—46 widows and 23 spinsters appear on the voters' list, and this by no means represents the female aggregation eligible for matrimony.

Amongst other large canvases which will be on view at the Y. M. C. A. next week will be "A Storm at Sea", "Steady' (after Landseer), "To Greet the Sunrise", original painting by Miss Irene MacFarlane, and a wonderfully accurate and beautiful painting of "Rock of Ages", "Niagara" by the same Artist.

OUR MILITIA AT BARRIE

Our Unfounded Attack Disproved by the Local Press.

The Toronto Telegram republishes with sensational headings an account imposed upon the Catholic Register by some unscrupulous sorehead in regard to the visit of the 57th Peterborough Rangers to Barrie. The unfounded nature of this scurilous attack is shown by the report of the proceedings given by the Northern Advance, of Barrie, which will be found in another column. Both the Register and the Telegram should have made enquiries before giving circulation to such slanders.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME

Rendered at Park St. Church Last Night.

Last evening at the Park street Baptist church a large and liberal attendance gathered to hear, "Buy your own cherries." Mr. D. W. Dumble, K.C., gave a reading, representing naturally each character in the narrative.

Solos and recitations by Miss Nellie Pilling and Miss Edna Boyse were fitting introductions to the service of song. The choir was in good form and rendered each selection with good expression. The whole programme was well rendered and met with frequent applause.

Hearty votes of thanks were tendered to the reader and those who took part in the programme.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mr. J. Vincent, and the hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds."—Com.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE COLLEGIATE.

Largest in the History of the Institute—Annual Field Day at End of Month.

The attendance at the Collegiate Institute this year is larger than ever before, the register showing the number to be 240. A few years ago the number reached 226, but the present attendance exceeds all previous records. In the first three forms, there is an attendance of fifty in each, which, also, is the highest number yet reached. There are six teachers now in the Institute, and the new timetable will be put in operation on Monday.

It is the intention to hold an afternoon on sports in the near future, and any one who would like to contribute prizes may do so. None will be solicited. Two cups are now in possession of the officials, namely the staff cup for seniors, and the McDonald cup for the juniors. These cups may be held only one year.

SCORED A GREAT SUCCESS

Peterboro Vocalist at Salem—Mr. M. J. Hutchinson's Solos Much Enjoyed.

Mr. Melville J. Hutchinson a pronounced vocalist of Peterborough and who has many friends in this vicinity, was one of the soloists at a concert here last week. Mr. Hutchinson has a fine, well trained, baritone voice, and his several numbers' "The Holy City," and "Because," were very much enjoyed. Mr. Hutchinson has a fine stage presence and is equally at home in sacred and comic selections. Miss Mason accompanied him very acceptably.—Salem Correspondent of the Bowmanville Times.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow has resumed tuition in Piano Singing and Theory, at her studio 380 Brook St. - and desires that all pupils will make arrangements at once for lessons in order to avoid confusion.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Brevities.

—The Council meets tonight.

—St. Luke's choir will practice this evening at eight o'clock.

—At the Police Court this morning Peter Peterson was fined $2 for being found drunk on the streets yesterday.

—The annual meeting of the Charlotte-st. Young Men's Guild will be held this evening at eight o'clock, and a full attendance is requested.

—The Horticultural Show is the finest yet held and the attendance to-night is expected to beat all records. The band will be present.

—An exhibition of fine oil paintings will be opened in the Endeavor Room of the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday next by Miss MacFarlane, of Toronto. tf —Last evening between 5 and 7.30 o'clock, some boys badly damaged the new pavement being constructed on Brock street. The Chief is on their track and intends to prosecute them.

—Miss A. J. Roberts and Mr. F. E. Kerr will have charge of the Sunday school lesson for Sept. 11th, at the meeting of the Primary and Junior Union, to be held in the Y.M.C.A. tonight.

—The probabilities are that the Cordova gold mines which were closed down some months ago, will in the near future, resume operations with as large a staff as was employed prior to the closing down of the mines. After work in the mines was stopped the shafts were allowed to fill with water, but for some weeks now the pumps have been at work steadily, and two shafts have been pumped out. The feeling in Cordova is buoyant, and the re-opening of the mines is now thought to be a matter of a short time, which news will be received with pleasure by all who are in any way interested in this mine, or in mining in Eastern Ontario.

STAR OF THE EAST GOLD MINE

Satisfactory Annual Meeting of the Shareholders—Election of Officers and Directors.

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Star of the East Gold Mining & Milling Co., Limited, took place in Peterborough Ont., Sept. 7th Very much interest was taken in the business of this Company by capitalists and investors, the chief being from Pittsburg, Pa.; Oil City, aP., and Peterborough Ont. All seemed to agree that the Company had made a good showing. The increased promising outlook relative to bulk and ore values as depth is attained, together with the developments that have been made on the property by way of sinking, buildings, lumber cutting, mill building, etc., were matters of pleasing interest. It was also shown that from a financial point of view the Company was in a prosperous condition, showing a cash balance of over $20,000.

The number of directors was increased from five to nine, only five of which could be legally elected at the present meeting, which were as follows:—

E. J. Cowain, Cloyne, Ont.; D. Frits, Oil City, Pa.; Dr. J. N. Lear, Pittsburg, Pa.; M. Smith, Pittsburg, Pa.; A. O. Kidd, Peterborough, Ont.

The remaining four will be elected on September 28th, 1904.

The newly appointed Directors met in the evening for organization, which resulted as follows:—

President—M. Smith.

Secretary and Treasurer—A. O. Kidd.

Superintendent—E. J. Cowain.

Knew How it Worked.

Said the copper to the farmer who was visiting in town,
With his ancient carpet satchel and his dusty suit of brown,
"You had better look out lively or you'll run against a trick.
Sharpers here watch out for strangers, and sometimes they're might slick."

Uncle slowly pulled his whiskers, setting down his bag the while,
As he looked the copper over, then he answered, with a smile,
"Like as not I'd better ask you just what might your meanin' be, Cause I'd like to be a-larnin' anything that's good fer me."

"Oh," the copper answered briskly as he deftly swung his stick,
"Just look out they don't sell to you while you're here a big gold brick."
Said the farmer: "If they ask you, you can say I'm in the game.
I am here to do some business, and I'm mighty glad I came."

"What's your business?" asked the copper, smiling at the farmer gray,
As he turned to take his bearings ere he shuffled on his way.
"I've a little game myself, sir, to increase my meager hoard.
I am looking for the people who are wanting summer board."

CHAPTER I.

THE end of October had been more than usually fine, and now the beginning of November was following the good example set by its predecessor. In the Home park, the only part of the extensive grounds surrounding Hampton Court palace that was well wooded, the leaves had not entirely left the branches and the turf beneath was green and firm, as yet unsodden by autumnal rain.

Along one of the forest aisles there walked a distinguished party, proceeding slowly, for the pace was set by a disease stricken man whose progress was of painful deliberation. He was tall and thin. His body was prematurely bent, though accustomed to be straight enough if one might judge by the masterful brow, now pallid with illness, or by the glance of the piercing eye, untamed even by deadly malady. That he was not long for this earth, if nature had her way, a scrutinizer of that handsome, powerful face might have guessed, yet he was singled out for destruction even before his short allotted time, for at that moment his enemies, hedged in secrecy behind locked doors, were anxiously planning his ruin. They were wise in their privacy, for had a whisper of their intentions gone abroad the Earl of Strafford would have struck first and struck hard, as indeed he intended to do in any case.

Thomas Wentworth, earl of Strafford, was accompanied by an imposing train. On either side of him, accommodating their slow steps to his, were some of the highest in the land, who waited on his words and accorded him a deference more obsequious than that with which they might have distinguished the king himself, for all knew that this shattered frame was more to be dreaded than the most stalwart personage who that day trod English soil.

Behind this noble circle followed a numerous band of attendants, alert for beck or call, each having place according to his degree. A huntsman was surrounded by dogs kept in thrall by fear of the whip. Falconers with hooded hawks attested a favorite sport of the earl, who loved to have the birds near him even though he made no trial of their flight. And here he walked the grounds of the king as if he owned them; as though he were permanent master instead of transient guest. Here he rested for the moment, hoping to recover some remnant of health by the placid Thames, after his troublous journey from Ireland, which turbulent country lay numb under his strong hand, soon to be vocal enough when the hounds were upon him. No echo of London's clamour came to this green paradise. He knew the mob was crying out against him, as in truth the whole country cried, but he heeded not the howl, despising his opponents. Better for him had he been more wary or more conciliatory.

Among those now in his company was young De Courcy, one of the numerous band of Frenchmen smilingly received at court because the consort of Charles had a predilection for her countrymen—a preference unshared by any save her husband. The French contingent thought little of the scowls of the English so long as those in authority smiled on them and the smile brought profit. They were regarded as titled mercenaries, spies probably, anxious to feather their own nests at the expense of the treasury, possibly the propagating agents of a church of which England had a deep distrust, certainly possessing an overweening influence at court, dividing still further the unfortunate king from his suspicious people.

It might have been imagined that so thoroughly English, so strenuous, a man as Strafford, the last to be deluded by suave manners or flattery, although he had an insatiable appetite for cringing deference, yet uninfluenced by it (as witness his crushing of Lord Mountmorris in Ireland), would have shown scant friendship for frivolous French nobles, but it was a fact that he bore from young De Courcy a familiarity of address that he would have suffered from none other in the kingdom.

Courtiers find a ready reason for every action, and they attributed Strafford's forbearance to the influence De Courcy possessed with the queen, for his lordship was well aware that his sovereign lady showed small liking for the king's most powerful minister. Strafford was too keen a politician not to make every endeavor to placate an enemy who at all hours had access to the private ear of his master, on whose breath depended his own elevation. Therefore it may well be that he thought it worth while to conciliate one of the haughty lady's favorites.

The conversation under the trees was lightly frivolous, despite the seriousness of the time. Strafford was not one to wear his heart on his sleeve, and if he was troubled that the king insisted on his presence in London, refusing to him permission to return to Ireland, where he was safe—the wielder of the upper hand—his manner or expression gave no hint of his anxiety. A cynical smile curved his bloodless lips as he listened to the chatter of De Courcy, not noticing the silence of the others, who disdained a conversational contest with the voluble Frenchman.

"I give your lordship my assurance," insisted the young man, "that his majesty was much perturbed by the incident. All Scots are superstitious, and the king has Scottish blood in his veins."

"As to superstition, I have never learned," said Strafford, speaking slowly, "that the French are entirely free from some touch of it."

"That's as may be," continued De Courcy airly, "but her majesty, who is French, advised the king to think nothing more of the encounter, so he regards but lightly any predictions of doom from an old gypsy hag."

"There were no predictions of doom and no gypsy hag. The case was of the simplest, now exaggerated by court gossip," amended the earl.

"My lord, I have it almost direct from the king himself."

"Your 'almost' will account for anything. It was merely a piece of youthful impertinence which should have been punished by one of the park rangers had any been present. The king had honored me with his company in the park. We were alone together, discussing problems of state, when there suddenly sprang out before us a smiling, froward girl, who cried, 'Merry gentlemen, I will predict your fortunes if in return you tell me where I may find the Earl of Strafford.' His majesty looked at me, and the hussy, quick to take a hint, evidently saw that I was the person sought. In any case the king's remark must have confirmed her suspicion. 'Your predictions are like to prove of small value,' said his majesty, 'if you ask such a question. Here you have two men before you. Choose the greater,' whereupon the wench seized my hand before I was aware, and the king laughed."

"It was an uncourtier-like proceeding," said De Courcy. "That young woman will not advance in a world which depends on the smile of the mighty for promotion."

"The choice shows her a true prophet," muttered one of the nobles, but Strafford, paying no heed, went on with his account:

"The words which followed were more diplomatic than the action. 'You are the king's best friend,' she said, examining the palm she had taken. Then his majesty cried, 'What do you read in my hand?' 'You are the king's worst enemy,' said the pert hussy. This nonplussed Charles for the moment, who replied at last: 'I think you are more successful with my comrade. Read all you find in his palm, I beg of you.' Then the gypsy, if such she was, went glibly on. 'Your fate and that of the king are interwoven. If you overcome your enemies, the king will overcome his; if you fall, the king falls. Your doom will be the king's doom, your safety the king's safety. At the age you shall die, at that age will the king die and from the same cause.' His majesty laughed, somewhat uneasily, I thought, but said jauntily, 'I have the advantage of you, Strafford, for you may die at any moment, but I am given seven years to live, being that space younger than you.' I was annoyed at the familiarity of the creature and bade her take herself off, which she did after making vain appeal for some private conversation with me."

"Was she fair to look upon? In that case I do not wonder at your indignation. To learn that a handsome and young woman was searching for you in the lonely forest, to meet her at last, but in company of a king so rigid in his morals as Charles, was indeed a disappointment. You had been more favored with any other monarch of Europe beside you. Had you no chance of getting one private word with her, of setting time and place for a more secluded conference? It is my prayer that when next you meet the woodland sylph you are alone in the forest."

As if to show how little profit followers the prayer of a French exquisite there stepped out from behind a thick tree in front of them the person of whom they spoke. She was tall and slender, with dancing eyes of midnight blackness, which well matched the dark, glossy ringlets flowing in profusion over her shapely shoulders. Her costume betokened the country rather than the court, yet its lack of fashionable cut or texture was not noticed in a company of men, and the almost universal gaze of admiration that rested on her showed that in the eyes of the majority she was well and tastefully garbed.

"My lord of Strafford," she said in a sweet, clear voice, "I crave a word with you in private."

De Courcy laughed provokingly; the others remained silent, but turned their regard from the interloper to the earl, whose frown of annoyance did not disappear as it had done before. Strafford spoke no word, but his underlings were quick to interpret and act upon his black look. Two attendants silently took places beside the girl, ready to seize her did his lordship give a sign. The huntsmen let loose the dogs that had been snarling at the newcomer. They made a dash at her, while she sprang nimbly to the tree that had concealed her, having first whisked from the scabbard of an astonished attendant the light sword with which he was supposed to guard himself or his master.

"Call off your hounds, you villain!" she cried in a voice that had the true ring of command in it. Indeed, to many there the order had a touch of the earl's own tones in anger. "I ask not for my own escape from scath, but for theirs. I'd rather transfix a man than hurt a dog. You scoundrel, you shall feel the sting of this point if you do not instantly obey."

The thin shining blade darted here and there like an adder's tongue and as painfully. Yelp after yelp showed its potency, and the dogs, quick to learn that they were overmatched, abated their fury and contented themselves with noisy outcry at a safe distance from the semicircle of danger, jumping sideways and backward, barking valorously, but keeping well clear of the rapier. At a glance from the earl the huntsman whipped them back into their former places.

"Yes, lash them, you whelp, but it's over your own shoulders the cord should go had I the ordering, thou meanest of the pack."

"Madam," said the Earl of Strafford sternly, "I would have you know that none gives orders here but me."

"In that you are mistaken, my lord. You have just heard me give them, and, furthermore, have seen them obeyed. But, aside from the ordering of either you or me, I understand this to be the king's park."

Again De Courcy laughed.

"She hit you there, my lord," he had the temerity to say.

Strafford paid no attention to his gibe, but gazed darkly at the fearless intruder.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"I have told you, my lord. I wish a word in your private ear."

"Speak out what you have to say."

"'Tis to be heard by none but the Earl of Strafford—no, not even by the king himself—for, you should know, were it other fashion, I would have spoken when last I encountered you."

"I have no secrets from the king."

"Nor need this be one. 'Tis yours to proclaim to the world at your pleasure. But first it is for your ear alone. Send that painted popinjay to the rear with the dogs. The others are gentlemen and will retire of their own accord when they learn a lady wishes to speak privily with you."

It was now the turn of the English nobles to laugh, which they did merrily enough, but De Courcy seemed less pleased with the rude suggestion. He fumbled at his sword hilt and muttered angrily that if any present wished to make the girl's reference his own a meeting could be speedily arranged to discuss the question. Strafford, however, had no mind for any byplay. His glance quelled the rising difference; then he said harshly to the young woman:

"What do you here in the king's park, lacking permission, as I suspect?"

"Indeed," cried the girl, with a toss of the head, "they say, where I come from, that everything seemingly possessed by the king belongs actually to the people, and being one of the people I come to my own domain, asking permission of none."

"You are young to speak treason."

"'Tis no treason of mine. I but repeat what others say."

"Still, how came you here?"

"Easily. Over the wall. I was refused access to you by any other means, so I took the method that suggested itself."

"You were feigning yesterday to be a gypsy. Who are you?"

"That is what I wish to tell your lordship when I get the opportunity. As for yesterday, I feigned nothing. I but retold what an old gypsy once said to me regarding the king and Lord Strafford. I wished to engage your attention, but, like the underlings of this palace, you turned me away."

"Your persistence shall be rewarded, but with this proviso: If the news you make so much of is not worth the telling, then shall you expiate your impudence in prison. If you fear to accept the risk, you had better bestow while there is yet time and let us see no more of you."

"I accept the hazard freely, my lord."

The Earl of Strafford said no more, but turned to his followers, who at once withdrew to the background, except De Courcy, who, not having forgiven the insult placed upon him and unconscious that his reluctance to quit the spot was giving point to the girl's invective, cried angrily:

"Beware, Lord Strafford. There may be more in this than appears on the surface. She has shown herself expert with a stolen blade. That blade is still in her hand."

The earl smiled coldly. He was unused to disobedience even where it concerned his own safety.

"'Tis but fair," he said, "that I should take some risk to equal hers. I'll chance the stroke. Your prayer was that I should meet this damsel alone in the forest. Do not, I beg of you, prevent fulfillment of your devout petition by further tarrying."

But before this was spoken the girl had flung the borrowed rapier far into the forest glade, then waved her disincumbered hand to the departing Frenchman, saying mockingly:

"Farewell, popinjay. The treacherous ever make suggestion of treachery." To the earl she added, "My lord, I am entirely unarmed."

"What have you to say to me?" replied Strafford severely, bending his dark gaze upon her.

"Sir," her voice lowered so that none might by any chance overhear—"sir, I am Frances Wentworth, your lordship's eldest daughter."

MAHAFFY RETAINS SEAT

home to an agent. We both think that it is a case in which the first and second section of the statute may well be applied, that is to say, Mr. Mahaffy is exempt personally from any blame, and whatever wrongdoing has been shown on the part of Lamb, Coates and Crump, assuming that they were his agents, he had no personal knowledge of their misdoings. The application of this section, 172, depends upon the circumstances of the case. Where there is a small majority a few cases may be quite enough to upset the result, if they are shown to be acts of agents; but where the majority is large, as in this case, the cases proved will not justify voiding the election and putting the constituency to all the expense and trouble of a new election.

"The statute was passed with the intention of preventing the expense and trouble of a new election in just such a case as this. Then we have to examine the character of the acts themselves. The agents involved in the charges proved are not the chief agents, as in some other cases, where the chief agent, who was the man who had the whole handling of the campaign, was shown to have been spending large sums of money. The Simcoe case is the one I am thinking of, where the majority was small. The acts might be expected to have affected the result. Little money was involved in these cases. The acts were of a trifling character, such as a payment for a rig and a payment of a voter's expenses home. Others were of a character difficult to prove; but they were all sporadic cases of an isolated nature and it was not shown that there was any widespread wrongdoing. It simply appears that the election on the whole has been conducted fairly, and only in four or five cases has wrongdoing been proved. It would be a case in which the provisions of clauses 1 and 2 may very properly be applied, and the result is that the petition is dismissed with costs. We will consider whether there shall be any small set-off in regard to charge 56, which has been reserved for judgment. It would be only a small proportion, however. The cross-petition, I understand, will not be pressed and it is also dismissed with costs."

DECLARE THEIR POLICY.

Ontario Liberal Conservative Association Puts Itself on Record—Mr. Whitney Denounces Gow- Offs.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—At the annual meeting of the Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association, held here yesterday, several resolutions were passed. One moved by W. C. Mickle and T. B. Carling was in condemnation of the latest acts of the Ross Government to retain power; another by Dr. Noble and J. B. Sharp expressed strong approval of the leadership of Mr. Whitney, and another by Ald. Foster and Mayor Ellis of Ottawa, expressed confidence in R. L. Borden, M.P.

Declaration of Policy.

The following resolution, moved by J. B. Walker and seconded by Major Beattie of London, declared:

"That this association declares its firm faith in the policy of adequate protection for the farmer and urban worker and its regret that the Government at Ottawa is unable to take the national view of the industrial situation and to accord to all our great industries, whether that of agriculture or that of the factory, the degree of defence they deserve.

"That this association is of the opinion that an agreement can be reached under which Canadian interests shall not be sacrificed while at the same time the preferential system advocated by Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain may be put in force. A preferential understanding between Canada and the Mother Land would be of vast interest to both, in that it would increase trade between them and strengthen the tie which unites them. If able men of the calibre of R. L. Borden be appointed to negotiate on the subject it is certain that an agreement helpful all around can be reached.

"That this association deplores the great increase in the Federal taxes and expenditures and is the more surprised that such tremendous additions should be made by politicians who "viewed with alarm" the much smaller expenditures of the Liberal-Conservative period. That this association believes in the proper administration of public affairs, but is of the opinion that the doubling of the expenditure by men who promised to cut it down is unwarranted.

The Grand Trunk Pacific.

"That this association commends the patriotic stand taken by Mr. Borden and his colleagues on the subject of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The historic policy of the Liberal-Conservative party is to move along progressive lines and to add to the facilities for settlement and trade with a due regard for the resources of the people and their ability to pay. The proposition to tax Canadians $150,000,000 for a new railway when the same could have been secured for an infinitely smaller sum is improvident and unwise. The proposal to give so much of the public money for a property which the private company is to own is without precedent. This association approves of the wise policy of Mr. Borden, under which it is laid down as a principle that if the country pays so much for the road it ought to own what it buys. It is the opinion of this association that the question of the G. T. P. requires to be examined by men of the business ability of Mr. Borden, with a view to straightening out the tangle, and especially that the absurdity of allowing four politicians who know nothing of railways to build the $75,000,000 section in the far north be put a stop to.

"That this association deplores the degradation of the public service under which men of the type of Lord Dundonald and Auditor-General Macdougall are hunted from office while such persons as W. T. R. Preston and his colleague, Jackson, are drafted into the Civil Service and are thus paid for offences against the people. The carrying of the spoils systems to this limit is a danger and a disgrace to the country."

Officers Re-elected.

The officers of the Association, who were all re-elected, are: Mr. J. J. Foy, M.P.P., president; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, vice-president; Mr. A. C. Macdonell, secretary, and Mr. E. B. Ryckman, treasurer. Mr. Borden and Mr. Whitney are hon. presidents.

Won't Tolerate Gow-Offs.

Mr. Whitney said the result of the election trial in Muskoka was a cause for congratulation. After touching briefly on provincial issues, the provincial Conservative leader announced his opposition to the saw-off arrangement of election trials. "We've been told we bargained in North Perth," he said, "but it's an absolute falsehood. Counsel for the petitioners called witnesses and a charge was proved and Mr. Brown got down. There was no bargain that this should be done. I've declared I'll be a party to no saw-off, and I won't. No party solicitor or other person will have my confidence if this thing is done." (Applause.)

Should Be Above Board.

Mr. Whitney suggested that a sufficient sum of money be deposited in the bank against contingencies such as the expense of carrying on the election trials. "And everything should be open to the world," he added. Speaking of the last session of the Legislature he referred to the $2,000,000 "thrown into a bottomless pit in order that two members might not stand up and vote against the Government." He declared that Liberal members who voted for the Sloo loan had previously denounced the scheme and urged Conservative members to defeat the "iniquitous measure."

Clergymen would stand up and say there was a spirit of moral deadness in the province; "Yet," said Mr. Whitney, "there has not been a clergyman to denounce the monstrous acts of these men."

In North Perth Mr. DuVernet read from an affidavit of unsecated Liberal member that there were 16 Government officials who were his agents in the election contest. This gave an idea of the utter shamelessness of the men the Conservatives are fighting.

He believed the Provincial Government would not go to the polls until it was compelled to, but indications pointed to an early Dominion election. The party had reason to congratulate itself on the policy outlined by Mr. Borden and on his ascendancy.

Mr. Gamey had done splendid work, and wherever he had been the bulk of his listeners had gone away with the opinion that his story was true. What did Balfour and McKim do that Gamey did not do? he asked, referring to the bribery plot of years ago.

Prepare For Election.

Dr. Sproule, M.P., urged Conservatives to get ready for an election. The personality of the Government was the weakest since Confederation, and there was not a good third-rate man to represent Ontario. Of the Ontario contingent, Sir William Mulock was the best. Touching Ontario affairs for a moment, Dr. Sproule declared "You have corralled the herd, lassoed their bunco leader and branded him with the trade-mark of corruption."

Calls for Mr. Gamey were general, and he spoke for two minutes, saying what he had done was on behalf of the party and its leader.

E. B. Ryckman, treasurer, showed the necessity of funds to carry on the election trials. The association was appealed to and several members guaranteed that their riding associations would do their duty.

A TRAGIC DUCK HUNT.

Thomas Willoughby a C. P. R. Conductor, Killed Near Carleton Place.

Carleton Place, Sept. 9.—A dreadful shooting accident occurred on the Mississippi River, about two miles above this town last evening at 5 o'clock, by which Thomas Willoughby, a conductor on the C.P.R., lost his life. It appears that Mr. Willoughby, with another railroad conductor, S. Alexander, went up the river during the day to shoot ducks. They were landing at McCreary's Creek, a favorite spot, when Mr. Willoughby slipped off a log and the gun striking the log, was discharged, the shot passing through the unfortunate man's head and making a ghastly wound. Death was instantaneous. He leaves a wife and one child.

NEW YORK DAIRY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 8.—Butter—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 7401. Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 3462.

Eggs—Firmer; receipts, 11,243; state Pennsylvania and near-by selected white, extra fancy, 26c to 28c; do., firsts, 20½c to 21c; western fancy, 21½c to 22c; do., average best, 20c to 21c; southern, 18c to 19c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Active and 10 Cents Higher at Buffalo.

London, Sept. 8.—Cattle are steady at 10c to 12¾c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 9c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the City Market amounted to 116 carloads, all told, composed of 1967 cattle, 1359 hogs, 3442 sheep and lambs and 94 calves.

There were five loads of exporters, 100 in number, consigned to Crawford & Hunnisett, which were of good to choice quality, which were sold at $5.12½ per cwt. Outside of these, there were two or three lots that sold at $4.80 to $4.75 per cwt.

Receipts of butchers' cattle were large, especially the light, unfinished, half-fat kind, which should have been left on the grass until they had gained more flesh, and some fat. Choice picked lots of butchers' sold at $4.85 to $4.90, but there were very few brought these prices, only one carlot of 16 cattle, 1070 lbs. each, sold at $4.90 per cwt., these being sold by McDonald & Maybee; good butchers' sold at $4 per cwt., and there were few brought this price; medium sold at $3.50 to $3.75; common, $3.25 to $3.40, and there was a large number of these; inferior at $2.75 to $3.

A few lots of short-keep feeders, 1200 to 1300 lbs. each, sold at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt., some of which had been brought in as exporters. Feeders of good quality, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, of which there was a larger number than for some time, sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt. Feeders, 650 to 800 lbs. each, sold at $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.

Stockers of good breeding qualities, 500 to 700 lbs. each, sold at $3 to $3.25 per cwt.; common, ill-bred eastern stockers, 500 lbs. each, sold at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Good to choice milch cows and springers are in excellent demand, but there are few of this class coming forward. Prices ranged all the way from $35 to $60 each, the bulk of sales being at $35 to $45 each.

Deliveries of veal calves were moderate, and prices were firm at quotations given. Prices ranged from $4 to $5.50 per cwt.

The run of sheep and lambs was large, especially the latter. Prices for sheep were unchanged, while lambs sold at about 25c per cwt. lower than on Tuesday, sheep sold at $3.75, and lambs at $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Deliveries of hogs were fair, about 1600. Prices were easy at Tuesday's quotations, that is $5.37½ for selects, and $5.12½ for lights and fats, fed and watered. There are too many bean stubble hogs being marketed. These are not wanted, and farmers and drovers are shortsighted, when they bring them forward. Why not put them in proper shape, thereby gaining in weight as well as price?

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—About 200 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 250 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. Trade was very dull, as the butchers had bought nearly all the meat they needed yesterday, and a considerable number of the cattle will be held over for next week's market. There were no prime cattle on the market, and 4c per lb. was about the highest price paid to-day. Calves sold at from $2.50 to $5 each; shipping sheep are 3½c, and the others 3c to 3¼c per lb.; lambs sold at $3.50 to $4 each; fat hogs sold at 55 to 55.05 per 100 lbs. A lot of five choice grade milch cows from Huntingdon were recently bought for shipment to Quebec at $70 each. They were entered for the Provincial Exhibition.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; good, steady; common, slow; prime steers, $5.25 to $5.75; shipping, $4.75 to $5.15; butchers', $3.75 to $5; heifers, $3.25 to $4.65; cows, $2.75 to $4.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; 25c lower, $4.50 to $7.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 4400 head; active and strong, 5c to 10c higher; heavy and mixed, $5.10 to $5; yorkers, $5.15 to $5.20; pigs, $5.20 to $5; roughs, $4.10 to $4.40; stags, $3.75 to $4.50; dairies, $5.00 to $5.10; grassers, $5.50 to $5.10.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4400 head; steady; lambs, $4.50 to $6.25; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; ewes, $3.75; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Sept. 8.—Beeves—Receipts, 600; nothing doing; feeling steady; calves, receipts, 217; prime hand calves, steady; others lower; grassers and buttermilks, easier; veals, $5.50 to $6.50; grassers, $3.50 to $3.65; westerns, $4.75.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2650; sheep, slow; good lambs, steady; others, weak and lower to sell; sheep, $3.50 to $4; extra, $4.25; lambs, $5.25 to $6.40; culls, $3.50; no Canada lambs.

Hogs—Receipts, 2000; good state hogs, $6.25.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Kingston, Sept. 8.—At the Frontenac Cheese Board meeting this afternoon 1230 boxes were boarded. Bidding opened at 8⅛c and advanced to 8⅜c, but this figure the salesmen refused on the curb. Half the cheese sold at latter figure.

Locomotive Explodes.

Dunkirk, N.Y., Sept. 9.—While running at a speed of 55 miles an hour, the locomotive on a fast passenger train on the Lake Shore blew up near Silver Creek early yesterday, instantly killing Fireman John Gross of Buffalo, and slightly injuring Engineer George Mansfield of Collingwood, O.

UNPARALLELED ENTHUSIASM

Splendid Music of the Black Watch Band Arouses Cheering.

The famous Black Watch Brass and Pipe Bands, who have just arrived in Canada, and are now playing att he Canadian National Exhibition, received the most magnificent receptions in Montreal and Toronto on their arrival in each place. In Montreal the 5th Royal Scots turned out to meet them, and tens of thousands of people. In Toronto the reception was the finest of a patriotic character ever witnessed. The six regimental bands of the city, comprising two hundred men, who played massed as one band, led the Black Watch Band through the streets, where there were gathered over one hundred people, and there was continuous cheering all along the line.

The uniform of the band is extremely handsome. In full dress they wear the scarlet tunic, and dark plaid kilts and red plaid stockings. Their Their plume is the famous red heckle. At the Canadian National Exhibition, where they have been playing, they have received the utmost enthusiasm. The public are delighted with the band, and grew wild over the pipers, who give the most interesting dances. After each concert at the Exhibition a most impressive scene is witnessed, when the throngs, which number tens of thousands of people, cheer and sing "God Save the King," "Rule Britannia," and the "Maple Leaf." The same inspiring scenes will doubtless be witnessed when the band appears here on Sept. 27th at the Hockey Rink, and gives one performance.

BARRIE APPRECIATED THE 57TH. REGT.

WARMLY PRAISES THE REGIMENT FOR ITS FINE WORK.

The Advance Pays a High Tribute to the Band — Different Report from the one sent to Toronto.

Barrie Advance.

The Queen's Park never presented so attractive an appearance as during the past week, during three days of which the 57th Regt., Peterborough Rangers, have been encamped thereon. The tents were neatly arranged in rows, each of which represented a company, and, as there are eight of these, besides the officers' quarters, the park presented quite a military appearance.

The visiting regiment arrived in town on Friday night on a special train, and, as an advance guard had pitched the tents during the day, everything was in readiness for the men to turn in. While the men slept under canvas, arrangements were made with the different hotels to supply the meals required, and the red coats were divided around amongst them. Altogether there were about three hundred visitors.

A list of officers is then given and a history of the regiment, which we do not copy.

Besides being noted as one of Canada's show regiments, and as being the possessor of the finest military band in the Dominion, the 57th has won its laurels, as pointed out, in active service, and has also won honors on the rifle ranges, their rifle team, of ten men, having just returned from Ottawa where numerous prises were captured, and where Col.-Sergt. Moore qualified for the Bisley team with Ptes. Fitzgerald and Curtis so close behind him in high scoring that there is every possibility they also will be chosen to represent Canada in this historic contest of sharpshooters in England next year. The regiment has this year also carried off a silver cup as first prize winners in the Dominion Military Rifle League.

The men are a credit to the Canadian volunteer force, being a well set up lot of young fellows, who, though out for a holiday, kept well within their bounds. They made plenty of fun on the streets when off duty, and no offence was either given or taken during their three days' stay in town. The officers may well be proud of their regiment.

Saturday morning was spent in settling down and seeing the sights around the town. In the afternoon the Islay took the visitors down the bay on the invitation of the Town Council, and on their return the officers held a reception at the camp, which was largely attended by the townspoople.

After returning from the Islay trip the men spent a couple of hours on the streets, and with rival companies running an old threshing machine and the town roller up and down Dunlop-st., many of the residents thought bedlam had broken loose. The fun, as a whole, was taken good naturedly, and even the farmers did not object when red-coated postillions suddenly mounted their horses, and they were supplied with footmen and coachmen ad lib in the King's uniform.

In the evening the officers were given a dance in the Town Hall, where several hours were very pleasantly spent. Unfortunately a large number of citizens were deprived of the pleasure of hearing the far-famed band of the 57th at the concert which was given in the Opera House. On any other evening but Saturday a crowded house would have greeted the band, the high reputation of which had preceded it to Barrie. Those, however, who were able to attend spoke in the highest terms of the excellence of the programme which was rendered. The band is, without doubt, one of the finest, if not the finest, that Canada can boast. It has plenty of power, numbering some forty musicians, the execution is very fine, and the repertory includes music of the highest class. Many of those who were present would travel a long distance to be able to repeat the pleasure.

On Sunday morning the 57th paraded to Christ Church, accompanied by the local companies of the 35th and the Veterans of Barrie. The bands of both regiments were in attendance and the sight was a stirring one, as the brilliantly uniformed body of soldiery passed through the streets. The interior of the church was very tastefully decorated with flags, etc., for the occasion. The address was delivered by Rev. Dr. Witton, Chaplain of the 35th, who, before entering on the sermon proper welcomed the visitors in the following words:—

Officers and members of the 57th Regiment,—I heartily welcome you to our beautiful little town, and assure you that this welcome is extended to you by the officers and men of the 35th Regiment, and also by the citizens of Barrie.

We are all pleased to have your with us. We desire to give you a good time, in the best sense and the fullest sense of the word. You understand that the 35th being a rural regiment the majority of the officers and men are scattered far and wide, at this time. Those of us who are here will try to make up in hospitality, as far as we are able, for our absent comrades, and I can only say that if ever the whole 35th Regiment has the opportunity and privilege of entertaining the 57th, you will find that a rural corps leaves nothing to be desired in wholehearted comradeship and hospitality for the members of a sister regiment.

I assure you that the officers and men of the 35th, and the citizens of Barrie, will leave nothing undone to make your visit a pleasant and happy one, and we trust that when you leave us it will be with the happiest reminiscences and a hearty desire to visit us again.

Looking at your presence here from a military point of view—in view of the importance of rifle shooting in the present day—we are proud to welcome to Barrie a Regiment with the shooting record of the 57th.

Life is made up of meetings and partings. Officers and men of the 57th, we are happy to meet you—we shall be sorry to part. We shall be happy to meet you again.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Chaplain of the 57th, assisted in the service and the lesson was read by Lt.-Col. Miller. The band played a selection during the offertory.

Hundreds of townspeople visited the camp during the afternoon and the officers received all comers with the most liberal and courteous hospitality. A sacred concert was given in the pavilion by the band at half-past four o'clock, and in the evening a large number of the officers and men attended the Collier Street Methodist Church, when Lt.-Col. Miller read the lesson and a sermon appropriate to the occasion was delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Redditt. The musical service was specially prepared for the occasion and included selections by Mrs. Laidman and Mr. Legg, the latter being the 57th Band soloist.

The visitors again took possession of the business streets on Monday morning and held high carnival until noon. After dinner, a procession was formed on the camp grounds and the 57th led by the bugle corps and band marched to the market square where the 35th joined in with their own band and one from Penetang. The procession then proceeded to the Agricultural grounds where a list of events was run off, the first number being the trooping of the colors and march past by the 57th.

After a masquerade procession and minstrel show on the streets in the evening, the visiting regiment lined up at the camp and marched to the train, accompanied by almost the whole town. The last few minutes were spent in the exchange of complimentary cheers between the visitors and townspeople and the special train pulled out for Peterborough about ten o'clock.

Lieut. Fred Clark was in charge of the largest company in the regiment and brought his men up so smartly in the "march past" on Monday that a burst of applause followed him along the line.

The business streets and a number of the hotels were very prettily decorated with flags during the three days' visit of the 57th.

Somebody captured a very fine flag belonging to Major Rogers. The Major takes the loss good-naturedly, however, and says that the pole is still standing and he is thankful to have that left.

A number of the visitors masqueraded in girls' dresses on Monday morning, and Pte. Richards was made up in a manner which fooled even a number of his best friends, who gravely acknowledged an introduction when he was presented by Bert Cranfield and Bob. Beech.

An Interesting Book.

Inventors and manufacturers are frequently puzzled to know just how to proceed to protect their inventions and much valuable time is lost in acquiring information required. There is probably no profession in which technical questions are of such frequent occurrence as in patent soliciting, and there is no field of speculation in which greater care should be exercised before deciding upon a course of action.

A valuable invention, when properly protected by Letters Patent, procured by qualified technical experts, means a fortune to its lucky owner, but the same invention patented by unskilled persons, may be practically of no value because of failure to properly protect the essential features of novelty which are of most value.

The reason for patent monopoly; possibility of secret use of an invention; nature and policy of patents; time required to procure a patent and the course and treatment of an application in the patent office are interestingly discussed in a recent publication issued by Messrs. Marion & Marion, Patent Solicitors, of Montreal, and called "The Inventor's Adviser."

In addition to giving a summary of the law and practice relating to patent matters, the book contains a large number of court decisions relating to patent law both in Canada, the United States and other countries, and much interesting matter not to be found elsewhere. The book is issued to answer questions of frequent occurrence relating to patents and inventions, and will be of great service to manufacturers and inventors.

The price of the book is One Dollar, but we have made arrangements so that our subscribers will be supplied with copies at 25 cents each, provided they name this paper when writing to Marion & Marion, of Montreal, for copies.

Another club woman, Mrs. Haule, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. MAY HAULE, Edgerton, Wis., Pres. Household Economics Club

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham. She will understand your case perfectly, and will treat you with kindness. Her advice is free, and the address is Lynn, Mass. No woman ever regretted having written her, and she has helped thousands.

When women are troubled with irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, indigestion, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, general debility, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Frances Cook, Box 670, Kane, Pa., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for ten years with leucorrhœa, but am glad to say that through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her Sanative Wash I am cured, for which I am very thankful."

BOARD OF HEALTH

Committee Reported and Business Transacted.

The Board of Health met this morning with the following members present, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, A. Parker, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham.

In the absence of the chairman, Wm. Eyres was moved to the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Peterborough, Aug. 30, 1904.

To the chairman and local Board of Health of the Town of Peterborough:—

Gentlemen.—Your committee appointed to consider the report of Dr. Hodgetts and the letter from Mr. A. B. Owen in regard to the sanitary provisions for the Barnardo Home beg leave to report as follows,—

We believe that the only satisfactory way to remedy the nuisance complained of is to have the house connected with the public sewer system. By constructing a sewer on Barnardo avenue from George street west along Barnardo avenue 600 feet, more or less, to a point opposite the centre of public school, from the present sewer on George street, the house could connect with it, and it would also serve the Barnardo avenue public school, we therefore recommend that steps be taken to have the sewer construction on Barnardo avenue at least the distance mentioned.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. EYRES.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Dr. McNulty, as follows:—

That this local Board of Health of the Town of Peterborough, under sec. 660 of the con. municipal act, 1903, recommended the Council of the Town of Peterborough to construct a sewer on Barnardo avenue, 600 feet west from George street to a point opposite the centre of the Barnardo avenue public school, for the purpose of draining that locality for sanitary purposes as a local improvement.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

POSITION OF EXTREME DANGER

Everything for Russians Depends Upon Kuroki Being Held in Check.

GENERAL MEYNDORFF HAS 80,000 MEN

They are Engaged in Holding the Japanese 12 Miles South of Mukden--Twelve Thousand Russians Surrounded on Three Sides by the Japanese and they can Hardly Hope to Escape from their Position of Extreme Danger--The Japs Cast Longing Eyes at North Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns.

The first has reached Tie Pass, forty miles north of Mukden, and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese.

The second is between Mukden and Tie Pass.

The third is at Mukden.

The fourth, consisting of 80,000, under Gen. Meyndorff, is holding Gen. Kuroki in check by hard fighting, twelve miles south of Mukden.

The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is farther south, exhausted by incessant fighting, and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger from which it can hardly hope to escape.

"Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyndorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far has been successfully done."

Oyama Lost the Race.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyama's tired troops parotically abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safely at Mukden after frightful experiences in floundering through mud and mire over the Mandarin road.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the lines of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter. It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and twe corps with artillery beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden.

After that the Japanese could only hang to the flanks and try and shell the retreating columns from the hills.

Losses Will Total 80,000.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots. A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden describes the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers.

The detailed statement of Russian losses, which it is promised will be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000, as against 80,000 for the Japanese. The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through the Mukden hospitals until Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and surgeons. Many, therefore, had to be left to the care of their comrades.

Heavy Rain at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden, has occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign, and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampeding by the double guards, and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses, and are singing and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water, and Chinese boats from the Hun River are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men, who are under canvas, but all others are soaked to the skin, and are sleeping, exhausted, in mud and water, indifferent to the weather, if they can snatch much needed rest.

The rain has checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies; in fact, quiet reigns over the whole front.

Russian Army Demoralized.

Shanghai, Sept. 10.—A special messenger of the Tartar general, at Mukden, who escaped from that city through the cordon of Russian outposts, reports, according to advices received here, that the Russian army is utterly confused and demoralized, especially the remains of the two Russian army corps which recently joined General Kuropatkin's forces.

Russians Desert.

New York, Sept. 10.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says, under date of Sept. 8: Non-official news suggests that the garrison at Port Arthur is much disheartened. The ships in the harbor have ceased seriously to oppose the Japanese reconnoitering vessels which have thus been enabled to ascertain that the battleship Sevastopol is in a crippled condition, while others are more or less damaged. The number of soldiers surrendering increases.

Safe at Mukden.

London, Sept. 10.—Despatches from various sources yesterday establish only the fact that the Russian army is safely at Mukden, Kuropatkin having accomplished his retreat in good order, in spite of the harassing Japanese, sodden roads, and hampered by more than 12,000 wounded.

No Fight Sept. 8.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff telegraphs that there was no fighting during Sept. 8.

Losses Placed at 80,000.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just returned to Mukden with the Russian rear-guard, after having accompanied the army the whole time since the battle of Liaoyang, says the losses on both sides were enormous. As a moderate estimate, he places them at 50,000. He confirms the reports that the fighting at Liaoyang was very heavy.

Russians Killed Women.

Tokio, Sept. 10.—A private telegram received here says that a small Russian expedition from Kamchatka, visited Semshu Island, north of the Island of Hokaido, and, in the absence of the men killed the women and children and burned the houses. Official confirmation is lacking in regard to this report, which seems incredible.

Alexieff May Be Wrong.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—A despatch has been received from Viceroy Alexieff, announcing that the railroad and telegraph line between Mukden and Harbin are both uninterrupted.

One of 50 Deserters.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 10.—Three Russian deserters arrived here yesterday without funds or passports and were sent back to Canada. Several others who entered here and who are now working as farm hands came well supplied with money. One Russian, who is still wearing a part of his army uniform, said he deserted with an entire outpost of fifty men.

Revolt Against the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Intense activity is being displayed by anti-Russian revolutionary organizations abroad, which have united in an effort to appeal to all the discontented classes in Russia. Incendiary proclamations have been smuggled across the border and distributed broadcast especially in Polish and Jewish centres, calling upon the population to take advantage of the Government's pre-occupation, owing to the war, to overthrow the autocracy.

Such propaganda in Russia always results in an increase of violence. The proclamations are addressed to the Jews in particular, but the appeals are made to all the heterodox sects, workmen and Socialists. Special appeals are made to the soldiers and peasants.

Many of the proclamations have been seized, and it is proved that they have been printed in London. Until now they have met with little response in Russia proper, but there have been several manifestations in various parts of Southwestern Russia, where the population is largely Jewish. The largest demonstration, it is understood, took place at Gredonow, Poland, where 500 persons have participated.

The Ministry of the Interior seemingly does not attach great importance to the matter.

JAPS CAST LONGING EYES.

General Hutton Hears They Want North Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Major-General Hutton, speaking at a banquet at Perth, Western Australia, said a Japanese admiral had told him the people of Japan and China were casting longing eyes on the rich northern territory of the Commonwealth.

The menace to Australia of the rising power of Japan has already been emphasized by Goldwin Smith in recent articles on the eastern situation. It is his opinion that British supremacy in the east and the Commonwealth itself will have to face Japan, fired with the Imperialistic idea.

Bryce in the U.S.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—The Right Hon. James Bryce, author and member of the English Parliament, accompanied by Mrs. Bryce, reached here yesterday on the Cunard Line steamer Saxonia, from Liverpool. They will be guests of Percival Lowell of the Institute of Technology, before going to St. Louis to attend the Educational Congress, before which Mr. Bryce is to deliver a lecture. Returning here from St. Louis, Mr. Bryce will deliver a course of lectures at Harvard. He plans to stay in this country until after the Presidential election, of which he means to make a study. It is said he will gather material during the political campaign for a new work, to be written upon his return home.

Run Into Herd of Cattle.

Harriston, Sept. 10.—Thursday night at 7.45 a C.P.R. westbound freight, while running at high speed, ran into a herd of cattle at a road crossing eight miles west of here, killing and throwing them in all directions. The engine was turned over into the ditch. Driver MacInerry was badly cut about the head and otherwise injured, and Fireman Newman had his left leg broken at the ankle.

Boy's Burns Fatal.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—"Nordie" Carter, the three-year-old son of Edwin Carter of Riverdale Park, died in the Sick Children's Hospital last night from burns received in the morning. His mother was startled to hear screams from the kitchen and found the little fellow enveloped in flames. She smothered the fire with a rug, but prompt medical aid proved unavailing.

Seaford Broke.

Woodstock, Sept. 10.—Yesterday morning three men working on the Pascos House on a scaffold about 12 feet off the ground, putting a stone cap on a window, fell to the ground and the stone came down with them. A. Holsworth had three ribs broken and the other two get off with a few bad bruises.

Deserter Arrested.

Windsor, Sept. 10.—Pte. Joseph Swamley, a deserter from Wolseley Barracks, London, was arrested at Harrow Thursday night on a charge of horse-stealing. The prisoner admits the theft of five horses and buggies in Western Ontario. He says his home is in Stratford.

Captain Burbridge Dies.

St. Thomas, Sept. 10.—Capt. Burbridge, one of the oldest residents of this city, was found dead sitting in a natural position in his office chair yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. He was about 85 years old and is survived by a brother and sister.

A Trace.

The counsel for the plaintiff had been bullying the witness for an hour, when he finally asked, "Is it true that there are traces of insanity in your family?"

"Very likely," answered the witness. "My grandfather, who was studying for the ministry, gave it up to become a lawyer."

Smooth Marks.

To remove scorch marks bake an onion, then squeeze out the juice and mix it with an ounce of fuller's earth, a wineglassful of vinegar and a small quantity of shredded soap. Heat together till the soap has melted, leave till cold and then apply to the scorched parts. Let it dry on and then wash in the usual way.

SCOURGE OF CONSUMPTION

Large Number of Deaths Due to that Cause.

Toronto, Sept. 10th.—How great is the scourge of consumption is shown by figures just prepared by the Provincial Registrar's Department, under the direction of Dr. Hodgetts, Provincial Medical Health Officer. Dreaded smallpox and typhus are insignificant beside it, and in the thirty-three years, from 1869, when returns first were collected to the end of 1902, the total deaths from tuberculosis have exceeded those from all other contagious diseases put together by nearly ten thousand. The figures are:—Consumption, 75,018 deaths, all other contagious diseases, 66,240. The returns for the other diseases are as follows: Typhoid, 14,558; scarlet fever, 10,278; diptheria and croup, 21,486; whooping cough, 5,513; measles, 3,213; smallpox, 1,044; typhus fever, only 14. Typhus occurred in the three years, 1869, 1882, and 1883.

The variableness of the ravages of consumption is told by these figures. In 1904 the number of deaths from consumption were 3,240; in 1895, 2,457; 1900, 3,484, and 1902, 2,894. The variableness was probably caused by climatic conditions, and in later years the decrease is to be attributed to some extent to the realization by the public that it is a contagious disease and to the fight made against the white plague. The figures, however, show what an immense work remains to be done.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 10, 1904.

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE

The Ministerial journals are still endeavoring to make all the political capital they can out of the interview in which Mr. Kendry complained of the damage done to the woollen industry by the preferential tariff, and expressed his want of sympathy with the Chamberlain policy. It is very natural that Mr. Kendry's mind should be biased in this direction. With their usual blundering and incompetency in tariff matters and in regard to the maintenance of our industries the Ministers carried out the idea of a preference for British imports in such a manner as to inflict much injury on Canadian interests, while doing as little benefit as possible to those of the Mother Country. And no Canadian industry was more hardly and unfairly pressed that the manufacture of woollens. Mr. Kendry, in spite of all his acknowledged ability in this line, and in spite of all his unwearied exertions, had the mortification of seeing the factories in his charge closed down for want of business, after a desperate fight against irresistible circumstances. From his own knowledge of the trade and from the official returns of imports, he knew that the loss of custom was caused by an enormous increase of imports swamping the market, so as to deprive Canadians of work and wages. It could not have made this state of affairs more palatable to read the partisan insults of the Ministerialists, crying that he deserved to be ruined if he could not hold his own against these competitors. It was, in fact, no fair competition to which he was exposed. He had with honest Canadian woollens to hold his own against shoddy goods, worthless in comparison, and far more cheaply produced, but having a deceptive appearance alluring to customers. The tariff with its ad valorem duties was so framed as to bear lightly on this cheap rubbish. No attempt was made to discountenance this adulteration. Stuffed cheese, renovated butter could be penalized, but there was no protection against old wool renovated by the "devil" or a dishonest admixture of cotton. There is not even any provision that these delusive articles should be described and sold as what they are so that purchasers may know what they are buying.

Those interested in the closed woollen factories must feel as if insult was added to injury when too late in many instances to prevent the disaster, a change was made in the tariff by raising the duties, the increase, however, being so inadequate as hardly to encourage resumption. It may also be observed that in making this alteration our incompetent authorities abandoned in a measure the true object of a preferential tariff. They ceased to give British goods a preference over Canadian, but at the same time they they did away with the preference for British goods over foreign in Canadian markets.

Ministerial journals are fond of alleging an inconsistency in Mr. Kendry saying that the preferential tariff has too greatly favored British goods, while Mr. Chamberlain has stated that the benefit has been so small as to be disappointing. The industry with which Mr. Kendry is connected has been the greatest sufferer, and he naturally regards the matter from that point of view. Mr. Chamberlain, looking at the general trade returns and seeing that our imports from the United States have grown more than those from the United Kingdom, feels that the preferential tariff has not done what it promised to effect. The explanation is simple. Our tariff framers with their fondness for truckling to the United States, who do their best to shut out our goods, so framed the scale of duties as to bear lightly on the articles likely to be supplied by our neighbors, thus increasing their sales to us to the injury of our own wage-earners, while the duties were placed so much higher on articles we get from the United Kingdom that even the preference hardly redressed the inequality.

What we want is adequate protection for our own industries and a preference as to goods which we have to import for British over foreign manufactures. This would not be difficult to accomplish if undertaken by competent men, and not mere opportunists.

Comfort for Old People

Most of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements, which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago and body pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active, and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

A THEATRICAL MUSEUM.

Treasures of the Property Room of the Theatre Francais.

Great passions will ever carry it over great upholstery if you give them their chance. To this day the only setting of the chief scene of "Le Malade Imaginaire" at the Francais is an armchair. It is carried on by a couple of lackeys, as though it had just been removed from a furniture van, and is planted right in the middle of the stage. That chair is the very one in which Moliere, playing the part of Argan in his own piece, suffered the first shock of the illness that carried him off. It is but one of the treasures of a house that is a perfect museum not only of historic properties, but of the whole art of the stage.

In the greenroom, as M. Delorme, its historian, has told us, in the committee room, in the office of the administrator, in the archives, in every part of the theater to which the public has no access, there is a prodigious mass of full length portraits, of medallions, of genre pictures, of engravings, drawings, marbles, bronzes, of statuettes. These, with the works exhibited in the public rooms, form a unique collection whereof every piece belongs in some sort to the history of the house of Moliere.

The museum of accessories is as rich in its way as the museum of painting and statuary. Here we may find the mandolin used in "The Barber of Seville," an instrument of rare beauty of form, purity of tone and antiquity of make. Here, too, is the original guitar of "The Marriage of Figaro." When the piece came out in 1784 the management thought it was so sure to fail that it was not worth while to buy a guitar for the hero. An instrument was accordingly hired at 10 francs a night. The piece ran for fifty nights—a "tremendous success" for that period—and in the excitement of this surprise the conditions on which the guitar had been obtained were totally forgotten until the owner presented his bill for 500 francs.—Richard Whiteing in Nineteenth Century.

Had Eaten the Details.

The editor of a country newspaper is often his own reportorial staff as well, and some of his experiences when out after news would make interesting reading. The editor of a flourishing journal in a northern California town recently called at the "home of the bride's parents" the day after the wedding. He was desirous of telling his readers all about the event and wished to give the young couple a good send-off as well. The bride's mother met him.

"Good morning, Mrs. Jones," said the editor. "I've called to get some of the details of the wedding."

"Goodness," replied Mrs. Jones in dismay, "they're all gone. You ought to have come last night. They ate every scrap."

Bishop Brooks' Answer.

Bishop Phillips Brooks never married, but at one time was very much admired, courted and annoyed by a wealthy maiden lady of New York. To her numerous communications, full of admiration and modest suggestions, she received no encouragement from Dr. Brooks. Recalling her advanced age, she grew desperate and offered, in addition to her heart and hand, all her wealth. In reply she received the following:

Madam—Your wealth give to the needy, your heart to the Lord and your hand to the man that asks for it.

Single Nothingness.

A number of Philadelphia lawyers, says the Philadelphia Ledger, were exchanging stories of their experiences with witnesses under examination. One of the party told the following:

He was questioning a witness and said, "You have lived in Philadelphia a number of years. How long?"

"Just twenty-five years."

"Where did you live before that time?" asked the lawyer, hoping to prove an important point.

"I didn't live," replied the witness. "I was single."

A Sense of Personal Insecurity.

"What would you do if you saw a ghost?" said the man who tries to make sport of people.

"Dat ain't de question," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "What bothers me is what dat ghost is gwine to do if he sees me."

Her Objections.

"Does she object to the fact that her husband deceives her?"

"Not so much as she does to the fact that he lets her know he does it."

No Love Lost Between the Arnolds.

John Denison Champlin told an amusing story of Matthew Arnold and Sir Edwin Arnold. "Some years ago," he said, "when walking with Matthew Arnold on the banks of the little river Test, near Romsey abbey, conversation turned on Sir Edwin Arnold and 'The Light of Asia,' published four or five years previously. It is not necessary to enter into Mr. Arnold's opinion of the poem. During the conversation I took occasion to ask him if he were related to Sir Edwin. He paused a moment, as if shocked at the suggestion, and then said: 'No, we are not of kin. Indeed, I doubt if he had any right to the name of Arnold. I have been told that he is of Jewish descent.' A few weeks later I happened to meet Sir Edwin at a dinner in London and, prompted by, I hope, a not unpardonable curiosity, propounded a similar query to him. 'No,' he replied quickly, with what seemed a shade of asperity in his tone, 'I am not related to Matthew Arnold. We are of wholly different families.' Then, his face breaking into his peculiar smile, he added: 'Matthew Arnold is an intellectual dyspeptic. His brain does not digest properly.'"

"Maarifah" River.

Maxwell Sommerville of the University of Pennsylvania spent nearly forty years of his life in oriental travel and study.

Professor Sommerville used sometimes to narrate the strange error that was once made by a French explorer he had known. This explorer had made a journey to Kairwan and had drawn a map of the country he passed through. The singular thing about this map was that the name "Maarifah" appeared so many times on it. A river would be the Maarifah river; a mountain would be Mount Maarifah; a village, a lake, a valley, each would be called Maarifah.

When Professor Sommerville saw this map he laughed.

"Don't you know," he said to the traveler, "what 'maarifah' means in Arabic?"

"No," said the other. "What does it mean?"

"It means 'Don't know.'"

A Jealous Ape.

Sir Harry Johnston, the English explorer, once traveled on a ship with a pet ape. It was a great favorite with all the passengers until there came aboard at Madeira a lady with an infant. The latter received a good deal of attention and the ape in consequence became neglected and jealous. Sir Harry Johnston followed it on deck one day just in time to prevent a tragedy. The child had been left unguarded for a moment in its cradle. The ape had made for it, pulled it from the cradle and was in the act of throwing it overboard when the traveler pounced upon it. Says Sir Harry, "It would certainly have hurled it into the sea had not my arrival caused the guilty ape to drop the child on the deck and scramble away." The ape was relegated to a strong iron cage for the rest of that voyage.

Medical Use of Whisky.

Whisky as an alternative to wine may undoubtedly be employed medicinally with advantage in certain cases, both for men and for women. But this is very different from the constant recommendation which is suggested, as if, indeed, doctors regard whisky as a sort of panacea for every disease under the sun, and take a perfect delight in urging its consumption upon their patients. As a matter of fact, there never was a time when medical men were more slow to prescribe the use of alcohol in any form than they are in the present day, nor a time when so many refrained from advising its use at all.—Hospital.

Queer Nest of the Tomtobane.

The oddest of all birds' nests is the one built by the tomtobane, a South African songster. It is built of cotton and always upon the tree producing the material. In constructing the domicile the female works inside and the male outside, where he builds a sentinel box for his own special use. He sits in the box and keeps watch or sings nearly all the time, and when danger comes in the form of a hawk or a snake he warns the family, but never enters the main nest.

Not Neglected.

"The art of letter writing is sadly neglected nowadays," said the man of literary taste.

"That remark," said his more practical friend, "shows that you haven't a son at college who is applying himself to showing you why his allowance ought to be increased."

SHIPS' ANCHORS.

The Change From Short, Straight Flukes to Curved Arms.

The ship's anchors in general use up to the beginning of the last century consisted of a long, round iron shank, having two comparatively short straight arms or flukes, inclined to the shank at an angle of about forty degrees and meeting it in a somewhat sharp point at the crown. In large anchors the bulky wooden stock was built up of several pieces, hooped together, the whole tapering outward to the ends, especially on the aft or cable side.

About the beginning of the last century a clerk in the Plymouth navy yard, Pering by name, suggested certain improvements, the most important of which was making the arms curved instead of straight. At first sight this simple change may seem of little value, but consideration will show this is not the case. The holding power of an anchor depends on two principal conditions—namely, the extent of useful holding surface and the amount of vertical penetration. The latter quality is necessary on account of the nature of ordinary sea bottoms, the surface layers of which are generally less tenacious and resisting than is the ground a short distance below.

In the year 1831 chain cables began to supersede the hempen ones, with the result that the long shanked anchors hitherto in vogue were no longer necessary, and anchors with shorter shanks and with heavier and stronger crowns gradually came into use. In consequence of these changes, a commission was appointed in the year 1838 to inquire into the holding power of anchors and a principal result of its labors was the adoption of the so called admiralty pattern anchor, which continued to be used in the British navy up to the year 1860.

The invention of the steam hammer in 1842 made the welding of heavy masses of iron a comparatively easy and reliable process, so that from this time onward the strength of anchors fully kept pace with that of the chain cables, which had come into general use. A number of patents for anchors were taken out prior to the great exhibition of 1851, and, public attention having been called to the models there shown in the following year, a committee was appointed by the admiralty to report on the qualifications of anchors of the various kinds.

Practical trials were then instituted, and, as a result, some of the tests to which the anchors were submitted were of doubtful value—such, for instance, as "facility for sweeping." Nowadays, however, at all events for deep ships in shallow harbors, it is considered an advantage for an anchor to offer as little obstruction as possible above the ground.

How to Keep Out of Trouble.

"The rivalry between the two arms of the national service, the army and navy," said an army man, "is most shown between the marines and the jackies on a man-of-war. The marines are soldier policemen, and the jackies have a keen contempt for them. I remember hearing of one old tar who was always getting into trouble. Finally he made peace with one of the marines.

"'Tell me how to keep out of trouble?' the old tar asked. 'If you'll show me the way I'll give you my plug of tobacco.'

"The marine tried the plug and found it to his liking. He tightened his belt, straightened his cap and then delivered himself of this advice:

"'Whenever you're feeling easy and happy and comfortable, quit it, for you be breaking a rule. It's the only way.'"

Courtship in Holland.

The etiquette of Holland is exceedingly strict in all classes. The young girl is most carefully chaperoned, and she never goes anywhere, even to church, unless accompanied by her parents, some male relative or other equally trusty attendant. At a dance the parents sit round the walls sipping their coffee or wine, and the young men must make the best of their chances in the opportunities afforded by the dance, for when it pleases the guardians to depart there is no help for it, but the girls must go too. An unmarried girl always takes the right arm of her escort, while the matron takes the left, perhaps because it is nearer the heart.

The Tramp's Taste.

Tramp (at the kitchen door)—Can you give me something to eat, lady? Lady—There's the wood pile. Tramp—I can't eat wood, lady. Lady—You can saw it, can't you? Tramp—I'd rather eat it, lady. Good morning!

A Woman's Tears.

A shrewd observer says that "sometimes a woman cries just to get herself petted," a circumstance which shows that there may be a method in grief as well as in madness.

Well Answered.

An American woman who had been told by a Britisher that America was deficient in antiquities and curiosities remarked, "The antiquities will come; as for our curiosities, we import them."

Holding His Own.

"Stingy, isn't he?"

"You've said it! Why, he holds fast to everything he gets his clutches on and even holds down his dinner!"

Roasted by Proxies.

Toward the close of the reign of Elizabeth, when the Spaniards were frequently hovering about the southwest coast of England, a party from their ships landed in the neighborhood of where Falmouth stands today, with the intention of burning the borough of Penryn. It chanced, however, that that same evening some strollers had set up in Penryn market place a representation by puppets of certain incidents in the life of Samson, including his victory over the Philistines.

At the point of Samson's onset upon these with the jawbone of the ass the strollers beat drums and sounded trumpets indicative of an alarm, and the Spaniards, who were at that moment about to rush the town, believing it to be full of soldiers, bolted for their boats.

This probably occurred in 1595, when there was a Spanish squadron on the coast, which landed troops and burned Penzance.

Sport on the Kafue River.

A trader in ivory and rubber writes as follows of sport on the Kafue river, in Africa: "Every morning at daybreak we got up and scanned the plains with our glasses for game. Often our boys called us first to say that a herd of water buck or hartbeest was grazing in sight, especially if the camp was out of meat. The river was full of fish—barbel, bream, pike and tiger fish. The bream were by far the best eating, but the tiger fish and big barbel gave the best sport. Spoon bait, with strong pike tackle and a stiff bamboo rod, was all that was required, and, trolling behind a dugout paddled by natives, we could soon make a bag. The tiger fish fight gamely and, breaking water repeatedly, very often succeed in shaking the hook from their mouths. Barbel run up to eighty pounds weight, and a heavy one can tow a canoe along the surface at some speed."

A Penitent Rent Payer.

Michael Davitt in his "Fall of Feudalism In Ireland" gives the following as a sample of the letters that used to reach the Land league offices in the good old days: "Ballinrobe, Mayo, Jan. 8, 1881. To the Honorable Land Lague—Gintlemin, in a moment of wakeness I pade me rint. I did not no ther was a law aginst it or I wud not do it. the people pass by me dure as if the smal pox was in the hous. I heer ye do be givin pardons to min that do rong, and if ye will sind me a pardon to put in the windy for every one to rede it I will never komit the crime again. Mister Scrab Naly will give me a Karacthur if ye write to him at Bal."

Bridges In Korea.

Some idea of the delights of traveling in Korea is given by the following description by a traveler of the "bridges" in that country: A first class bridge in Korea is simply an assortment of planks nailed together. These are scarce. A second class bridge is a series of isolated stones, from one to another of which the visitor may jump. A third class bridge, much the commonest variety, is invisible, its position being indicated by a couple of posts, one on each side of the river. They mean that you may safely wade across, as the water will—probably—not go much above your chest!

Cannon of 1812.

Cannon were small, measured by modern standard, in 1812, but the Ohio world was quiet, and the pioneers had keen senses. There is much evidence that the guns of Perry's squadron were heard by settlers living at least thirty-five miles east of Cleveland, or nearly 100 miles in an air line from the scene of the famous fight which gave the control of the lakes above Niagara falls to the Americans and did much to save the northwest for the United States.

DIZZY SPELLS AND DYSPEPSIA

Soon Disappeared When the Nervous System Was Set Right by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin-st., Peterborough, Ont., states: "For some years I was troubled with indigestion, which developed into nervous dyspepsia, and besides suffering from nervousness, strange dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed, and as a result of the use I am quite restored to health."

GRAMAPHONE NUISANCE

Oshawa Very Much Troubled by the Noises.

According to the Vindicator, Oshawa has no use for the gramophone. It hands out the following hot article:—"The prevailing gramophone and zonophone noises are most likely only a fad, to be of short life, but while it lasts the uproar is very trying. Not content with turning their own places into a bedlam, a number of disciples of pandemonium who have these roaring machines take the liberty of opening the volume of discordant and guttural sounds out upon the street, and incidentally into the business places of men who are not crazy, and who don't want to be rendered bughouse at present. We do not know what the law prescribes for such cases, but it should provide authority for having the owners of all such howling machines arrested for malice prepense, whatever that is, and if that crime when analysed doesn't call for a heavy enough penalty, then the charge should be changed to attempted bughousery, which would cause the owner to be locked up in an idiot asylum with the other people who don't know any better. That the streets and stores of an inoffending town should be turned into a midway for the gratification of a few people who like noise, and lack all sorts of discrimination as to harmony, and all respect for people's minds and nerves, is scarcely to be tolerated long. We move that all those fellows who own and operate pandemoniums be confined in a cave ten hours daily, and that they be allowed to point their machines at one another and urged to turn on the uproar at will."

YOUNG LADIES MARRIED WOMEN

Mrs. Jno. C. Huffman Speaks to you all.

She Tells of her Troubles and their Cure that you may be Benefited.

Napanee, Ont., Sept. 8.—(Special)—There are many women in Canada who will yet write letters of thanks to Mrs. Jno. C. Huffman, of this place. Mrs. Huffman suffered as they are suffering now. She discovered a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills; and she is breaking the law of modesty that binds the great majority of womankind to let her suffering sisters know where they may find relief. Mrs Huffman says:

"I was troubled for about six years with Kidney Disease and the pain was so great I could hardly bear it. I could not entertain any company. One night when I was feeling very miserable I read of some wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills and resolved to try them.

"At this time my urine was something terrible and at times very disagreeable to pass, but Dodd's Kidney Pills soon brought me relief from all my troubles and by the time I had taken six boxes I was completely cured.

"I am making this statement to the public in the hope that it may help other young ladies or married women."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best Soap Powder in a home to any home. It disinfects and cleanses the sure time.

INTERIOR FINISHES.

A Suggestion For Ebony Woodwork and Brass Trimmings.

One of the least expensive finishes for the woodwork of interiors where an artistic effect is desired is black paint ground in Japan. Two coats of this will cover a cheap wood and give it a certain elegance. No varnish should be used with it, for when it has been well polished with a cloth it shines with a soft luster which is quite as satisfactory as an expensive ebony finish for doors, baseboards, picture molds, etc. Brass or silver hardware should be used with black woodwork, reserving the always admirable wrought iron for woods with natural finish. Southern pine and cypress in the eastern part of the United States and redwood and Oregon pine are the cheapest woods for interior finish in this country. When these woods are merely oiled and rubbed down they can be made to do duty most satisfactorily in cheaper houses.

It is sometimes advisable to paint the woodwork of bedchambers in colors which correspond to the figure in the wall paper, the accessories of the toilet table, etc. A pretty bedchamber may thus be evolved from a lot of unattractive articles if the walls are papered with pretty yellow roses on a white ground and the ceiling with frieze calcimined in clear pale yellow, the woodwork painted tint in the flowers, and the iron or wooden bedstead, some wooden chairs and wicker ones painted in eggshell gloss with the same yellow.—Woman's Home Companion.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

Some of the Ways Women Are Penny Wise and Pound Foolish.

"One of the most pitiable domestic spectacles I know of," said a veteran housekeeper the other day, "is the way women squander their strength and time in trying to economize. I know a woman who has four young children and does her own work; she never throws a piece of twine away. No matter how knotted the string is that comes off a bundle or parcel, she sits down and unravels it. And yet good twine is only 10 cents a ball!

"One of the commonest modes of being penny wise and pound foolish is in the matter of using up left overs in food. To save half a cent's worth of old, dry bread a woman will use up a quarter's worth of eggs, sugar, butter and currants, only to have her family turn from it with an impatient fling, 'Oh, I hate bread pudding!'

"Another type of domestic economist will spend a dollar on new trimmings to furbish up some old made over gown, and when she has laid out time, money and ingenuity, when she has turned and pressed and pieced and joined and contrived, the result is a patchwork that the maker is ashamed to wear.

"I believe in being economical, mind you. What I stick at is this senseless expenditure of time and money over what is not worth 10 cents. A woman shows her brains quite as much in what she declines to fuss over as in what she makes the most of."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Whisky will remove the most obstinate fruit stains if poured on the stained places before sending the garment to the wash.

Finger marks on varnished furniture are removed by rubbing them with a piece of rag dipped in sweet oil. Afterward polish with a dry cloth.

When scissors get blunt, sharpen them by opening and moving backward and forward on a piece of glass. This sharpens the bluntest scissors and can be repeated when necessary.

When drawing linen threads for hemstitching take a brush and lather that part of the linen well with soap and water. When this dries the thread may be drawn with little difficulty.

If the housekeeper is unable to secure the indented and perforated round enameled ware to fit in the bottom of saucepans to prevent food sticking to the pans or burning, keep a wire dishcloth to set in the bottom of the kettle.

Consider the Children.

Professor Edward Howard Griggs in a talk to the National Congress of Mothers on "Principles of Government In Home and School" said among other things:

"Don't be so neat about the house that your child is driven into the streets in order to be comfortable; don't make the child lie by asking embarrassing questions, but be careful not to suppress the imagination. When the child reaches the interrogation age, be indulgent, but never tolerate impudence."

Professor Griggs said that nagging on the part of overzealous parents was responsible for much of the apparent perversity of children and advocated allowing them independence of thought and action.

Old Potatoes.

When potatoes have begun to be old and rather tasteless soak them before cooking in salted water. Boil them in water to which some salt has been added, and when they are done drain all the water off, keep covered and set back over the fire to steam perfectly dry. Stir the kettle to prevent the potatoes from sticking to it, but do not uncover them. Thus cooked they will be light and mealy.

Colored Cotton Goods.

It is said, we know not on what authority, that cotton goods may be made absolutely unfadeable by soaking the material in water to which turpentine has been added in the proportion of a tablespoonful to half a gallon of water. The goods must remain in the water for three hours.

THE DINING TABLE.

How It Should Be Protected to Preserve Its Beauty.

A handsome, polished dining table is a prize and worthy an effort to secure, but if it is to be left to careless treatment one might as well put the expense into something else and be satisfied with a cheaper table. A hot dish thoughtlessly allowed to stand a few minutes leaves a perpetual stain. It can be made less noticeable by various treatments and much rubbing, but it will never be entirely obliterated. The wooden or straw mats used years ago are never seen on well set tables. The crocheted white mat occasionally appears, but does not really protect the wood. The only actual protection is by a tile on feet or a nickel rack for tea and coffee pots and asbestus mats for platters and hot dishes.

To make an asbestus mat or doily cut a circle of linen and two half circles with the selvage for the long straight edges. Put together the edges of the two half circles. The edges should match neatly. Baste round and make the edges in scallops with a small spool as a guide. Work the scallops in button hole stitch with mercerized floss or embroidery cotton, but never with silk, and then trim. Now slip in a round piece of asbestus cloth through the opening on the under side and the asbestus doily is complete. To launder, slip out the piece of asbestus. Do not add more embroidery, as the dish covers the center. Oblong mats to fit the platters are cut by using a smooth edged platter as a pattern for marking. Use medium weight white linen.

A FATAL THEORY.

It Is Dangerous Work Marrying a Man to Reform Him.

Next to the fatal theory that every woman must love in the equally mischievous doctrine of woman's love. One of the greatest and the cruelest delusions practiced in this world is that which leads us to make a generous and enthusiastic woman believe that she can change a man by loving him. It is what induces a woman to marry a man on trust instead of on appraisement. She never looks at what he is. She only contemplates the miracle that she is going to work by her affection. If he has no money, no business training, no way of making a living, it doesn't matter. She is sure that people in love are never hungry anyway and that her love will inspire him with financial sagacity. If he drinks, it doesn't matter either. She is anxious to make a Keeley cure of herself. If he has a past, she shuts her eyes to it. She knows that he will never sin again when she places her little hand in his, and it is only after she has brought misery on herself that she finds out that the efficacy of a woman's love is a fairy story and that as a reformatory agent it isn't worth a row of pins. You can't love a lazy man into being industrious or a drunken sot into sobriety, and that is all there is to it.—Twentieth Century Home.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Never leave medicine, drink or food uncovered in the sick room.

For ringworm apply with a feather one part of sulphuric acid to twenty parts water.

A lemon cut in half and rubbed occasionally across the forehead or temples will in a short time cure the most violent headache.

It is asserted that the very painful burns caused by carbolic acid can be quickly relieved and blisters prevented by the prompt use of iodine.

Powdered charcoal, if laid thick on a burn, causes the immediate abatement of the pain. A superficial burn can thus be healed in about an hour.

Vinegar and cooking soda in solution are said to make a capital cure for warts. If the wart is kept moist with it for ten minutes several times a day it will disappear in the course of a week or so in ordinary cases.

For the Hair.

When the hair is dry and dandruffy the following lotion used every other night will be found beneficial: To four ounces of rose water add half a dram each of sulphur, glycerin and borax. This will clear the scalp of dandruff and prepare it for the new growth of hair. While the head is in the abnormal condition indicated by the presence of dandruff the hair will neither be glossy nor of a good color nor will there be a healthy growth of new hair. There need be no anxiety over the falling of the hair unless it falls to excess provided new hair keeps on appearing, but no head of hair is so rich and luxuriant that it can stand indefinitely being depleted even by one hair a day if there is no corresponding gain to balance the loss.

Flower Holders.

A set of lead flower holders is a good investment. Four constitutes a set, three side pieces with four or five holes each, and a triangular center piece. The side pieces bend easily to fit any shape of vase, and as few pieces may be used at a time as desired. Set in a bowl of water the flowers are fitted into the holders and arranged in graceful lines. For long stemmed flowers the holders are excellent. When flowers are very expensive a few may be made to go a long way in table decoration by their means.

How Hope Now Courage

Persons whose nerves are affected get blue and discouraged, are easily irritated and annoyed and learn to look on the dark side. The restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon shows its effect on the feelings. It gives new hope and courage, new energy and confidence. By creating nerve force it affords new vigor and vitality for both mind and body.

ACQUIRING WATER POWER

MEMBER FOR EAST DURHAM PRESENTS SOME ARGUMENTS.

Says there will be no Water Power for the Government to Acquire Along the Port Hope Route.

Mr. Gus Porter, continuing his speech in the House of Commons in favor of the Trenton outlet of the Trent Canal, said:—

The difference in the cost of construction of the two routes is only about $144,000, as estimated by an independent engineer—altogether too small a sum to have much weight in determining the route of this canal, having regard to the disadvantages and positive dangers to which I have referred, and contrasting them with the land-locked route terminating at Trenton, with a natural harbor and entirely inland navigation. The difference in cost of construction and saving of distance to be constructed are the chief arguments used by those who favor the Port Hope route, and these claims have been more than met by what I have stated. There are other questions raised, such as the lands to be flooded, both of these questions being involved in the other two, and the answer to the one being the answer to the other. The Trenton route will be constructed almost entirely through a limestone formation, thus affording a permanence in construction which could never be adopted on the Port Hope route, which must be constructed through light clay and sand, and, for a considerable distance, with banks ranging to a height of 136 feet, which must of necessity be constantly shifting and falling into the canal, rendering permanent construction an impossibility. Although the initial cost of construction of the Port Hope route may be the cheaper by the few thousand dollars stated, yet the cost of repairs that will from time to time have to be made, will in a short time more than equal the difference in cost of first construction.

Another, and perhaps one of the most serious objections to the Port Hope route is the fact that it will have the effect of diverting from their natural channel the waters of the Trent to the loss and detriment of manufacturers and riparian owners along its course. These riparian owners have vested rights which cannot thus be infringed upon or taken away without compensation.

To thus obligate the country, by the adoption of the Port Hope route, to compensate these owners for the damages sustained by them in the loss of the water-power occasioned thereby, would entail such an expenditure as would in itself exclude such route from favorable consideration, whereas the adoption of the Trenton route will not only avoid such loss and damage, but will, as a matter of fact, materially increase the value of the water-powers.

Let me again refer to this question of the drowned lands. That argument has been used to a very great extent by gentlemen who are advocating the construction of this canal to Port Hope. They say that a large portion of the land in that section of country along the line of the Trent Valley Canal, if the terminus is to be at Trenton, will be flooded and the government will have to acquire the land by purchase, so that the outlay would be very much greater in that respect than via Port Hope.

The lands along the Trent route that would be flooded would not touch to any great extent the valuable agricultural lands of that section, but would be confined to the bottom and shallow lands lying in the valley of the river—now of little value—and separated from the better lands for a great portion of the distance by ridges sufficient to confine the water, whereas most of the lands to be affected on the Port Hope route are rich agricultural lands of considerable value and lying on nearly a common level, which would be flooded to a greater extent some years than others, thus rendering the question of damage from flooding an uncertain question and an always existing source of irritation and trouble as well as expense.

Again, the Port Hope route will pass through a purely agricultural section already highly developed in that direction and capable of little improvement with no possibilities for the development of any great amount of power; on the other hand the Trenton route will not only pass through rich agricultural lands, but will touch many thriving towns and villages that already possess large and important manufacturing industries, which with the power that will be developed on this route will enable them to extend their influence in manufacturing to such an extent as from this consideration alone would fully warrant the adoption of this route.

The adoption of the Port Hope route would mean the abandonment of all the works and the loss of moneys already expended on that portion of the Trent River between Rice Lake and Trenton, viz.:—

The lock and dam at Hastings.
The lock and dam at Healey's Falls.
And the lock and dam at Chisholm's Rapids, which have cost a considerable sum, both in original construction and in maintenance.

The advocates of the Port Hope route would ask the government to abandon all these and to construct an entirely new work, whereby these completed works would become perfectly useless. Nearly all of these reasons which I have been urging in connection with the completion of this canal here already been urged upon the government in the reports of engineers appointed by the government upon whose judgment the Ministry could well afford to act. I see that this year there is placed in the estimates a sum of about $300,000 for expenditure upon this enterprise. It appears to me that that is an altogether insufficient sum for such an enterprise as this. Last year I find by the Auditor-General's report that there was expended upon capital account $523,950.74. The appropriation taken last year for this work was only $456,000, and the actual expenditure was $542,000, so we that there was about $100,000 for expenditure for which there was no appropriation taken last year. By the main estimates brought down this year the first estimate was $180,000. I do not know, the Finance Minister could probably inform me in regard to that, whether that $180,000 asked for in the appropriation this year, would be applied in wiping out the over-expenditure of last year. It strikes me that it may be so, unless there is a special vote for that pupose. In that case there would be for this year only some $280,000.

Now, upon the past expenditure of $4,800,000 we have to pay $120,000 of interest, and we have to make good the $100,000 overspent last year, and so it seems to me it is simply juggling with the accounts to see we are expending $300,000 upon the Trent Valley Canal this year. That statement may be used, and is being used I know of my own personal knowledge, by the gentleman who is to oppose me in the riding I have the honor to represent. He says that through his influence with the government he has got them to spend between $300,000 and $400,000 on this canal this year. It will take $180,000 to pay off the extra expenditure made last year; $120,000 to pay the interest on the expenditure already made; and the contracts they have in hand will call for more money if they are completed within the time agreed upon that the total appropriation. So, according to the way I figure it, there is not any money left for expenditure on the Trent Valley Canal this year. This Government ought not to treat the country, particularly the portions of the country especially interested in this matter, in that way. This is a matter of such importance, not merely to the country as a whole, but especially to the part of country particularly interested, that the government can well afford, and ought as a matter of duty, to take from the large surplus that the Minister of Finance says he has in hand, a sum of $400,000 or $500,000 and complete the Trent Valley Waterway so that the people of Canada may have some benefit from it. To put it in a nutshell, this is the position. We have the middle of this canal completed a hundred odd miles, and both ends shut up. I submit that this government ought not to trifle with the people in that way, they ought not to leave it in the hands of politicians to dangle it before the electors and use it as a means of influencing the vote of one elector or another, but should come out fairly and declare a policy, and that policy should be the completion of that canal by way of Trenton. And they should enter upon the completion of that canal without further delay.

THOSE WHO THINK MUST ALSO EAT

And What They Eat Must be Digested—Dodds Dyspepsia Tablets What They Need.

Students, writers, book-keepers, clerks and all others who sit inside and work their heads for a living should be alive to the important part the stomach plays in the day's work. If the stomach is right, the mind works easily, the pen runs smoothly and all is one grand sweet song. But when the stomach is wrong all the rest is out of gear. Let us show by example. Let Hone Trudel, a student, of Three Rivers, Que., give his experience:

"I was troubled with Dyspepsia," he says, "and it made alarming progress to the point that every day saw me in despair, and I was resolved to give up my studies. Then I determined to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They made me better. To-day I have no bad head, no weariness, no pain. I am cured."

If you want to do a day's work easily use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet.

Fall Fair Horse Racing.

Many questions have been asked as to whether there will be horse racing at the Peterborough fair this year, and enquiry gives the assurance that there will be the usual trials of speed. It seems that the Government has determined to stop racing for money at fall fairs under penalty of forfeiture of the grant, but it is not easy to see the advisability of this action, unless, of course, the plea be put forth that no law should be on the statute book unless it is enforced. But if the law has been inactive in the past it might well be in the future. Anyone who has seen horse racing at a country fair knows that there is very little about the practice to be condemned. There is an entire absence of pool selling; the horses which do the speeding are mostly owned by local men, thus encouraging a spirit of healthy rivalry, and the purses are not large enough to encourage anybody to work in a "ringer," even were such a thing possible, which it is not where

COUNCIL GRANTS $250 TO THE EXHIBITION

General Work Transacted at Last Night's Meeting of the Town Council and Several New Questions Raised by Alds. Adams, McWilliams and Johnston.

The Council met last evening in the Council Chamber, with the following members present, Mayor Roger, in the chair, and Alds. McWilliams, Scott, Hicks, Batten, Best, Johnston, Adams, Clinkscale, Mason and Morrison.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were presented:—

From Mrs. Derry, asking for damages on account of the street railway causing the water to run on her property on McDonnell and Park streets.—Board of Works.

From Geo. Webber, notifying the Council that a switch must be removed on Park st. between Hunter and Weller streets, as it was a great nuisance.—Board of Works.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a copy of a resolution passed by this board recommending the council to construct a sewer on Barnardo avenue five hundred feet west from George street to a point opposite the centre of Barnardo Avenue Public School for draining purposes.—Board of Works.

From W. G. Morrow and others, owners of real property asking that a pipe sewer be constructed on Weller street from opposite the westerly line of lot 18, plan 49 to the Monaghan Boundary, and that the cost be assessed upon the property owners benefitted thereby.—Board of Works with power to act.

From John E. Belcher, county engineer, certifying that the contractors for the Mud Lake Bridge, Messrs. Donald McDiarmid and Jas. Bogue, have satisfactorily completed the work of the construction.—Finance Committee.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary of Board of Health, enclosing accounts from St. Joseph's Hospital and the Nicholl's Hospital for treatment of cases of infectious diseases, which were referred by the local Board of Health to the council.

The accounts made a sum total of $297.60.—Finance Committee.

From W. J. Green, tax collector, giving a statement of taxes.—Finance Committee.

From A. L. Davis of the Canadian Express Co., and D. D. Oakley, of the Dominion Express Co., informing the council that all express parcels must be paid for at the time of delivery. —Finance Committee.

From Stewart and O'Connor of Lindsay, asking about the claim of damages of Mr. J. C. Leary, Post Master at King's Wharf, for damages occasioned by the non-repair of Pigeon Creek Bridge.—Received.

From John Holmes, asking for remission of taxes on the ground that the personal property was destroyed by fire.—Court of Revision.

From E. H. D. Hall, town solicitor, informing the council that the purchase of the property of Mr. Missorgan, the street between George and Water streets, had been completed and all arrangements made.—Received.

From the Canadian Machine Telephone Co., making application for permission to connect the manholes in their subway for their telephone construction with the town sewers, for the purpose of freeing these manholes of surface water at any time. —Board of Works.

From the Canadian Manufacturer Publishing Company, Limited, asking that the name of Peterborough be continued on the list of towns and cities offering inducements to manufacturers to locate there.—Manufacturers Committee.

From W. D. Lighthall, honorary secretary treasurer of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, informing the Council that the fourth annual convention would be held in the city hall, London, on September 20th, 21st and 22nd, next, and asking to send representatives.—Received.

From F. W. Dean of the Bell Telephone Co., asking to pole portions of the following streets in the Town of Peterborough, viz;

Three poles on Edinburgh between Water and George.

Three poles on Smith between Water and George.

Six poles on Cedar between Park and Cross. Three poles on Dalhousie between Stewart and Rubidge.

One pole on George near Edinburgh.

Change poles on the following streets, with poles not a greater height than forty feet above the ground on account of trees:—George street between Smith and Barnardo avenue.

London street between Water and George.

Gilmour between Bethune and Stewart.

Perry between George and Aylmer.

And in renewing or placing thereon asked the council to direct the Town Engineer to supervise the erection of the necessary poles.—Town Engineer to report to Board of Works.

From R. Sheehy and other owners of real property asking that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed on the south side of Bolivar street opposite lots numbers 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13.—Board of Works.

From G. I. Rennel asking for winter uniforms for the police force.—Supervisors Committee.

From W. Byrne asking that the Council take such action as may be necessary to protect the public from accident from the street railway cars.—Legal Committee.

From A. Stevenson stating that the Town Trust Commissioners have an applicant desirous of purchasing a gravel lot belonging to the Town in Ward Five and asking for permission to sell it for a sum not less than twenty five dollars.—Property Committee with power to act.

From Wm. Kemp complaining that his horse had fallen into a hole on Water street between Hunter and Brock streets and sustained serious injury. He asked that the council consider the matter and pay the damages.—Legal Committee.

From Chas. McNeil, reeve of the Township of Cavan, asking that the council consider the request of a deputation of the council of the corporation of the Township of Cavan for a grant similar to that granted to other municipalities for the purpose of assisting in the building of a direct road on the 14th concession of the Township of Cavan to Peterborough.—Received.

From R. S. Trew of the Township of Emily, complaining that his horse and buggy suffered damage on McDonald street between Aylmer and Reid streets, the damage being caused by obstructions on the said street. He claimed $150 damages.—Legal Committee.

From H. LeBrun and other property owners on Brock street, complaining that the placing of the line of way of the street railway upon any part of Park street other than the centre, would cause serious depreciation in the values of their respective properties.—Received.

From John Culvert, asking for a refund of $1.00 which he inadvertently paid as a dog tax, he not owning the dog in question—Court of Revision.

EXHIBITION GRANT.

Mr. Hughes-Charles, on motion, was heard in the interests of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, and he asked for a grant from the Council, and that it might be double that of last year, as they were not soliciting outside grants. The County Council has granted $100, and he hoped that they would see their way clear to help them. The exhibition was held with two objects in view, the benefit of the merchants and the elevation of the breeding of stock in the county.

The Mayor promised Mr. Hughes-Charles that the Council would consider the matter and act accordingly.

After considerable discussion, Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the Association be granted $250.—Carried.

WHOLE COUNCIL.

The Committee of the Whole Council reported as follows—

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. We recommend that the Chairman of the Manufacturers Committee be authorized to procure a view or views of the Town of Peterborough to be published in The Book of Canada, to be issued in Montreal, the Town to pay the cost of the cuts.

2. That Alds. Morrison, Adams and Johnston and the Clerk be appointed to represent the Council at the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association, and we recommend that the expenses be paid on the certificate of one of the Aldermen.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. HICKS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

SPECIAL SEWER COMMITTEE.

The Special Sewer Committee reported as follows—

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Special Sewer Committee beg leave to report that they have received from Willis Chipman, C.E., a letter saying that his terms for plans for the main outfall sewer in Ward Five would be $200, and for the outlet pipe, $100, and that for Superintendence he would charge $150 a month for his Assistant, which would include his personal services as Consulting Engineer, and he would expect his travelling and hotel expenses paid when called to Peterborough. We recommend that this Committee be authorized to arrange with Mr. Chipman to prepare the plans and superintend the work.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. ADAMS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

The Chairman of the Board of Works presented the following report—

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works begs leave to report as follows—

1. We recommend that the Chairman be authorized to employ W. Maxwell at $2.50 a day as foreman for the construction of granolithic crossings and other special work and that he and the men employed under him be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

2. We recommend that the location of poles of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co., as asked for by them on George street from Dublin to Argyle street and on Smith street east of George street and on Argyle street west of George street, as reported on favorably by the Town Engineer, be approved.

3. We recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to take the necessary steps to have the poles on Lock street south of Crescent street, moved out at once to an even line, 10 feet from the street line.

4. We recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to request the Otonabee Power Co. to place all their poles on Lock street south of Romaine street, on one side of the street.

5. We recommend that the Town Engineer be instructed to procure some 10 inch cement tile to be placed under the approaches to the new sidewalk on Aylmer street, south of Charlotte street, to convey the water along the water courses.

6. We recommend that the Town Engineer repair the cover of the drain on McDonnell street, between Aylmer and Bethune streets.

7. We recommend that the petition of Mrs. Hazlitt and others for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the east side of George street, in front of Lot. No. 1, north of Edinburgh and east of George streets and the petition of H. C. Stabler and others for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the east side of George street, from a point opposite the southern line of Lot 22, Plan 42, and a point opposite the northern line of Lot 25, Plan 42, be granted, as they are sufficiently signed.

8. We recommend that a sidewalk be laid on the south side of Cedar street, opposite Mr. W. J. Henry's three houses.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee reported as follows:—

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen.—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. With reference to the request of the Board of Education that the Council issue debentures for $3000 to pay for the heating apparatus in the Central Public School, your Committee referred the request to the Town Solicitor and he advised that the Council has not authority to do so. We recommend that the Board be informed of this and furnished with a copy of the Solicitor's opinion.

2. Your Committee, acting on the authority given by the Council, made a grant of $50 to Court Otonabee Independent Order of Foresters, towards the expense of entertaining the members of the High Court.

3. We recommend that the taxes of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society for 1904, except scholo taxes, be remitted.

4. We recommend that a cheque be issued to the Town Trust Commissioners for the amount of the interest due on June 30th last on Waterworks debentures.

F. ADAMS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

DELEGATE TO LONDON.

The Mayor suggested that delegates be sent to the Canadian Union of Municipalities convention at London, as much good can be derived from the convention.

It was moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Best, that the Mayor, Town Solicitor and Ald. Best be sent to London, and that their expenses be paid by the Council.—Carried.

BY-LAWS.

A by-law for the construction of granolithic walks passed its second reading.

FRONTAGE OR GENERAL TAX.

Ald. Adams here raised the question of changing the system of taxing for granolithic sidewalks. He did not think the method of paying for these walks by a 60 per cent. frontage tax and 40 per cent. general tax is wise one. He submitted that the whole work should be, in fairness to all, constructed and maintained by general taxation. While admitting that a change now would cause unfair to property owners paying for sidewalks constructed five years ago yet it must in time be seen that these walks must perhaps 50 per cent. more than the ones built this year. He would like this question carefully considered by the council.

His Worship was satisfied that in the general interest of the town it would be wise to adopt Ald. Adams' suggestion. There might be a difficulty in securing the acquiescence of property owners taxed under the present system to the change, but that might be overcome by the town assuming the liabilities of the debentures issued prior to the change.

Ald. Johnston pointed out that under the present system a few can block the construction of local improvements, and leave the town liable for damages for accidents occuring from delapidated walks.

Ald. McWilliams though the sidewalks first built would last longer than those at present being constructed, so that the ratepayers affected by them are getting better value for their money.

Ald. Best remarked that in the States, Boards of Supervision have authority to make any needed local improvements and charge for them by frontage tax, irrespective of the ratepayers affected thereby.

The matter will be gone into on a future date.

ELECTION OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Ald. McWilliams raised the question of a change in the method of electing, and, number of School Trustees. He pointed out that by an Act passed in the Legislature this year any town or city council can, by resolution, only, reduce the number of its trustees, one half of whom shall retire each year. By this act Peterborough is entitled to reduce the number of its Board of Education from seventeen to eight, seven to be elected the same as Town Councillors are, the other one being appointed by the Separate School Board; three of these would retire the first year and four the next. It has frequently been pointed out that the present Board was too large and unwieldly, and while in his opinion the new act is not all that could be desired, still he thought the change would be a desirable one. Should the Council approve of this change and adopt a resolution accordingly on or before October 1st, the new method could go in force at the January elections.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that a special meeting of the Council be held on Monday September 26th, or such other date in September as the Mayor may fix on, to consider the advisability of changing the method of electing members to the Board of Education, as provided by statute.—Carried.

LEFT IN ABEYANCE.

Ald. Johnston raised the question of appointing an assessment Commissioner at once. Authorities gave the opinion that one commissioner should be able to assess Peterborough. This matter was left in abeyance.

The Council then adjourned.

ARRESTED IN TORONTO

Wanted for Some Weeks — Trial on Wednesday.

A young man named Shannon, who, in company with another young man, who pleaded guilty to the charge and gave himself up, stole some beer and whisky from the warerooms of Mr. A. Elliott, was arrested in Toronto by the police, and Chief Rossel went up yesterday for him, and he appeared in Police Court this morning. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the Police Magistrate, and his case will be heard on Wednesday next at nine o'clock.

THEY ARE COMING TO THE FAIR

Mr. H. P. Kennedy States that it is Much Discussed in the Midland District.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy has returned from a two week's business trip among the towns of the Midland district. He reports business to be fairly good in those although of course affected to a considerable extent by the harvest season.

The Peterborough Fair has apparently taken hold in most of the Midland towns. Mr. Kennedy states that he spoke to several people who expressed their intention of coming here rather than Toronto, thereby taking opportunity to see the lift lock and other things of special interest here. The impression seems to be that Peterborough Fair will be a great success—and, indeed, every arrangement would warrant the prospect. Many people coming from Toronto state that they were highly pleased with the Black Watch Band, and are sure that it will also be a great drawing card here.

NEW INDUSTRY TALKED OF

Representative of Manufacturing Concern Here To-day.

It is current on the the street that the Aldermen have been considering a proposition having in view the erection of another large factory in Peterborough. It is understood that the representative of the concern which is looking for a location was in town this morning, and the Mayor, Aldermen Best and Morrison, and the Hon. J. R. Stratton showed him several sites. Just what the nature of the manufactory is the Aldermen do not consider it timely to divulge, but the general opinion seems to be that it is something particularly good, and if secured will mean a great advance to Peterborough as a manufacturing centre.

Prof. Clarke to Men.

EKO CAMP PRESENTATION

MR. W. ALF. SMITH, A MEMBER IS LEAVING TOWN.

His Friends Made him the Recipient of a Gold Locket — He is Going to Chatham.

Mr. W. Alf. Smith, who for over two years has been a member of the Review staff, leaves this evening for his home in Cobourg, whence, on Monday, he will go to Chatham, where he has accepted a position with the News. Mr. Smith's many fine qualities made him a host of friends here, and all will regret his going. He has taken an active part in military matters, being at the present time Lieutenant of No. 4 Company in the 57th Regiment, and it is his intention to obtain his transfer to the regiment of the Western Ontario town. Though but a young officer he enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the other members of the Mess, and of the men of the regiment. For some months he had been connected with the journalistic staff of the Review, but the high opinion of those devoted to the art preservative was formerly indicated by their selection of Mr. Smith as President of Typographical Union No. 648, a position which he recently resigned upon determining to go to Chatham. He was also secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and a member of St. John's Young Men's Guild.

Last evening Mr. Smith was the recipient of a remembrance token from Eko camp. The gift was a handsome gold locket suitably inscribed and it was presented on behalf of the members of the camp by Mr. Manson Comstock, President; while Mr. R. M. Glover, Past President; read the following address:—

Peterborough, Sept. 9th, 1904.

Mr. W. Alf. Smith:—

Dear Alf.—We, the members of Eko Camp, knowing of your intention of leaving town, have met this evening for the purpose of bidding you good bye.

Occasions of this kind we feel we must face, but we will miss you particularly as our relations withy ou have been most pleasant and cordial. You have gone out of your way to be attentive and agreeable to everyone and in fact we looked to you a great deal to help make our club successful.

So as to bring to your remembrance the many pleasant times we have had together, we ask you to accept this locket and to feel that you have warm friends in the members of Eko camp. On your leaving town you are made an honorary member of the club.

We wish you health and prosperity in your new home.

Members of Eko Camp, September 1904:—

Fred A. Clarke, Jas. Gibson, W. Comstock, R. M. Glover, H. Gillespie, M. Comstock, J. Comstock, H. Martin, W. H. Waram, Geo. Jackson, Ed. Clarke, Thomas Byam, R. H. Elliott, R. P. Watt, John M. Gemmell, T. H. Glover, J. M. Watt, W. Cavanagh, L. Ramsden, B. Canniff W. R. G. Higgins.

Mr. Comstock, Mr. Glover and others made short speeches expressing personal regret at the departure of as popular a member. Mr. Smith in replying assured his friends that he appreciated very highly the gift and the many kind things that had been said. He had enjoyed his residence in town and its happy associations and memory would in his case often serve to lessen the gap that was about to be created.

MANY VISITED THE FAIR.

Local Ticket Offices did Good Business.

Enquiry at the railway ticket offices of town revealed the fact that over one thousand tickets were sold during the excursion rates to Toronto Exhibition. The Canadian National Fair, as it is called, seems to have been a greater attraction this year than ever before, and the special accommodation provided by the railways was greatly appreciated.

Discussing the rush of Peterborough people to Toronto, a prominent citizen surmised that the large departmental stores must have made a pretty good thing out of it, judging from the number of parcels which he noticed people laboring with on their way home from the trains. Of course, there is hardly any known power on earth that will prevent the ladies from jumping upon a bargain once they see it, even if they have no immediate use for the article purchased.

SHE FOUND A DIFFERENCE.

A Buffalo Lady says:— Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill differs from the old Method in Medicine as day from night.

Mrs. J. H. Reborn, of 169 London St., Buffalo, N.Y., says of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill—the Great System Treatment:

"Its action is so different to anything else I ever used—Anti-Pill is so mild and gentle that I never thought it would cure my chronic Constipation, but it did.

"Soon after the birth of my first child, 14 years ago, Constipation became troublesome. I used everything I heard of, but temporary relief was all I got. I must have used fifty different medicines in that time.

"I finally got very bad and at times I would have no relish for food, and what I did eat would distress me afterwards. I had headache, bloating, bearing down pains, bachache, could not sleep well, easily tired and never felt rested.

"From the very first dose of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill I began to improve. Now I am well. It is wonderful."

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill is sold by all druggists, or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. Sole agents for Canada. The price is 50c.

GRAY SQUIRRELS.

They Will Eat Meat and Have Been Known to Rob Birds' Nests.

It has been well said that the gray squirrels one sees everywhere in some of our New England towns are an indication of a higher civilization. It is certainly a pleasure to see these graceful creatures running across trolley tracks or over lawns unmolested. A stranger would have a very high estimate of the people of a city that could draw to it these shy animals. Like many rodents, however, gray squirrels will eat meat on occasions. They will even rob birds' nests. A friend on whom I can rely told me of two or three instances in Arlington, Mass., where gray squirrels had robbed robins' nests, having been caught in the very act.

One winter day, in going along a wild mountain stream, I was attracted by a fresh gray squirrel track, and on following it found where the squirrel had killed and eaten a mouse. He had evidently dug out the mouse, for I saw where he had dug snow and leaves away from the roots of some black alders to some depth. Then, taking the mouse in his teeth, he had run a few feet to a knoll, the mouse's tail having left its print in the snow between the tracks of the squirrel, and eaten it, leaving blood, hair and pieces of bone to tell of the feast.

One time I gave a young woodchuck to an old Irishwoman, who fed the chuck on ham. Now, if a woodchuck would eat ham, why not a gray squirrel eat mice or young birds? We have abundant proof that many flesh eaters will, on occasions, eat vegetable food as well as rodents eating flesh. Lovers of both squirrels and birds may find it possible to protect in some way the nests of thrushes, warblers, etc.—John Burroughs in Outing.

MODEL LODGINGS.

What the Rowton House Scheme in London Gives Its Patrons.

Every man who comes to a Rowton house is impressed with the fact that he can there obtain better value and more comfort than he can get anywhere else. He finds that the conditions under which he lives are improved and that he has congenial surroundings and associates. All the resources of civilization he can have—bright, warm, comfortable rooms, lavatories with basins supplied with hot and cold water, footbaths without extra payment and a full length bath with soap and towels for the nominal charge of one penny. A man can do his own laundry work if he so wishes. He can use any of the reading, smoking or writing rooms, and, above all, he has absolute freedom as regards his mode of living.

Although the Rowton House scheme provides a complete restaurant where food of all kinds can be procured at exceptionally low prices, probably cheaper than at any other place in London, at the same time no resident is obliged to purchase any of the commodities supplied by the company. Residents can, if they choose, buy everything they want outside the building, while inside the Rowton houses they will find provided for them, without charge, every cooking utensil necessary, with cutlery, crockery, etc., without limit. A constant supply of boiling water is at hand, and good fires and cooking ranges are kept going at all times. A specially arranged scullery, fitted with white glazed sinks, with supplies of hot and cold water, is provided, so that any man desirous of preparing his own food can do so without any supervision or any interference from his fellows.—Sir Richard Farrant in Cornhill Magazine.

CHAPTER II.

THE earl lowered upon the girl, and the black anger upon his brow might have warned a more intrepid person than even she appeared to be that there was peril in trifling. When at last he spoke, his voice was harsh and menacing.

"What do you expect to gain by a statement so preposterous?"

"I expect to gain a father."

The girl's answer trod quick upon the heels of the question, but her color changed from red to pale and from pale to red again, and her hurried breathing hinted of some knowledge of her hazard, which nevertheless she faced without flinching.

"My oldest daughter, say you? My oldest daughter is Ann, aged thirteen, a modest little maid. I take you to be older, and I should hesitate to apply to you the qualification I have just coupled with her name."

"I am sixteen, therefore her senior. Thus one part of my contention is admitted. If she is modest, it doth become a maid and is reasonably to be expected, for she hath a mother's care. I have had none. If you detect a boldness in my manner, 'tis but another proof I am my father's daughter."

Something resembling a grimace rather than a smile disturbed the white lips of Strafford at this retort. He bent his eyes on the ground, and his mind seemed to wander through the past. They stood thus in silence opposite each other, the girl watching him intently, and when she saw his mouth twitch with a spasm of pain a great wave of pity overspread her face and brought the moisture to her eyes, but she made no motion toward him, held in increasing awe of him.

"Boldness is not a virtue," he muttered, more to himself than to her. "There's many a jade in England who can claim no relationship with me."

This remark calling for no response, received none.

"Sixteen years of age! Then that was in"— The earl paused in his ruminations as if the simple mathematical problem baffled him, the old look of weariness and pain clouding his downturned face.

"The year 1624," said the girl promptly.

"Doubtless, doubtless, 1624. It is long since, longer than the days that have passed seem to indicate. I was a young man then; now—now—I am an aged wreck, and all in sixteen years. And so in you, the spirit of youth, the unknown past confronts me, demanding—demanding what?"

"Demanding nothing, my lord."

"Humph! You are the first then. They all want something. You think I am an old dotard who is ready, because you say you want nothing, to accept your absurd proposal. But I am not yet fifty, nor as near it as these fell maladies would have me appear, and a man should be in his prime at fifty. Madam, it will require more convincing testimony to make me listen to you further."

"The testimony, irrefutable, stands here before you. Raise your eyes from the ground, my lord, and behold it. If, scrutinising me, you deny that I am your daughter, I shall forthwith turn from you and trouble you no more."

Strafford slowly lifted his gloomy face, prematurely seamed with care, and his heavy eyes scanned closely the [illegible] The clearness of his features gradually returned and an expression near akin to tenderness overspread his face.

"Any man might be proud to claim you, my girl, no matter how many other reasons for pride he possessed. But you have not come here merely because some one flattered the Earl of Strafford by saying you resembled him."

"No, my lord. I am come to return to you this document, which once you presented to my mother."

She handed him a paper, which he read with intent care. It ran thus:

I have, in 1624, much to say to you, or else one of us must be much to blame. But in truth I have that confidence in you and that assurance in myself as to rest secure the fault will never be made on either side. Well, then, this short and this long which I aim at is no more than to give you this first written testimony that I am your husband, and that husband of yours that will ever discharge those duties of love and respect toward you which good women may expect and are justly due from good men to discharge them, and this is not only much but all which belongs to me, and wherein I shall tread out the remainder of life which is left to me—

Strafford looked up from his perusal, blank amazement upon his countenance.

"How came you by this paper?"

"I found it among the documents left by my grandfather, who died a year ago. It was sent by you to my mother."

"Impossible."

"Do you deny the script?"

"I do not deny it, but 'twas written by me eight years since and presented to my third wife, whom I married privately."

"Your third wife? Who was she?"

"She was Mistress Elisabeth Rhodes, and is now Lady Strafford."

"Then she is your fourth wife. You will see by your own inditing that this letter was written in March, 1624."

The date was unmistakably set down by the same hand that had penned the bold signature, "Thomas Wentworth," and the bewilderment of the earl increased as he recognized that here was no forgery, but a genuine letter antedating its duplicate.

"Is it possible," he murmured to himself, "that a man has so little originality as to do practically the same thing twice?" Then aloud to the girl he said:

"Who was your mother?"

"I had hoped the reading of this document would have rendered your question unnecessary. Has a man such gift of forgetting that the very name of the woman he solemnly married has slipped his memory as easily as the writing of the letter she cherished?"

"She was Frances, daughter of Sir John Warburton," murmured the earl.

"His only daughter, as I am hers, my lord."

"But when Sir John wrote me coldly of her death, he made no mention of any issue."

"My grandfather always hated you, my lord. It is very like that he told you not the cause of my mother's death was her children's birth."

"Children?"

"Yes, my lord. My twin brother and myself."

"If, as you say, you have a brother, why is he not here in your place, you in the background, where you properly belong?"

"Sir, I suppose that her good name is thought more of by a woman than by a man. She wishes to be assured that she came properly authenticated into this world, whereas a man troubles little of his origin, so he it he is here with some one to fight or to love. Or perhaps it is that the man is the deeper and refuses to condone where a woman yearns to forgive. My brother shares our grandfather's dislike of you. He thinks you cared little for our mother or you would not have been absent during her last days when"—

"I knew nothing of it. The times then, as now, were uncertain, requiring absorbed attention from those thrown willingly or unwillingly into public affairs. What can a boy of sixteen know of the duties thrust upon a man in my situation?"

"Sixteen or not, he considers himself even now a man of position, and he holds your course wrong. He says he has taken up the opinions you formerly held and will do his best to carry them to success. He is for the parliament and against the king. As for me, I know little of the questions that disturb the state. My own knowledge is that you are my father, and were you the wickedest person in the world I would come to you. A man may have many daughters, but a daughter can have but one father; therefore am I here, my lord."

Like the quick succession of shade and sunshine over the sensitive surface of a lovely lake, the play of varying emotions added an ever changing beauty to the girl's expressive face; now a pitiful yearning toward her father when she saw he suffered; then a coaxing attitude, as if she would win him whether he would or no; again a bearing of pride when it seemed she would be denied, and throughout all a rigid suppression of herself, a standing of her ground, a determination not to give way to any rising sentiment which might make the after repulse a humiliation. If a retreat must come it should be carried out with dignity.

The Earl of Strafford saw nothing of this, for his eyes were mostly on the ground at his feet. That his mind was perturbed by the new situation so unexpectedly presented to him was evident; that he was deeply suspicious of a trap was no less clear. When he looked up at her he found his iron resolution melting in spite of himself, and, as he wished to bring an unclouded judgment to bear upon the problem, he scrutinised the brown sward at his feet. Nevertheless he was quick to respond to any show of sympathy with himself, even though he was unlikely to exhibit appreciation, and he was equally quick to resent the slightest lack of deference on the part of those who addressed him.

If the girl had made a thorough study of his character she could not have better attuned her manner to his prejudices. Her attitude throughout was imbued with the deepest respect, and if the eye refused to be advocate for her the ear could not close itself to the little thrill of affection that softened her tone as she spoke to him. He raised his head abruptly as one who has come to a decision.

"November is the stepmother of the months, and the air grows cold. Come with me to the palace. In a world of lies I find myself believing you, thus I am not grown so old as I had feared. Come."

The girl tripped lightly over the rustling leaves and was at his side in an instant, then slowed her pace in unison with his labored mode of progression.

"Sir, will you lean upon my shoulder?"

"No. I am ailing, but not decrepit."

They walked together in silence, and if any viewed them the onlookers were well concealed, for the park seemed deserted. Entering the palace and arriving at the foot of a stairway, solicitous menials proffered assistance, but Strafford waved them peremptorily aside and, accepting now the support he had shortly before declined, leaned on his daughter's shoulder and wearily mounted the stair.

The room on the first floor into which he led her overlooked a court. A cheerful fire burned on the hearth and cast a radiance upon the somber wainscoting of the walls. A heavy oaken table was covered with a litter of papers, and some books lay about. Into a deep armchair beside the fire Strafford sank, with a sigh of fatigue, motioning his daughter to seat herself opposite him, which she did. He regarded her for some moments with no pleased expression on his face, then said, with a trace of petulancy in the question:

"Did your grandfather bring you up a lady, or are you an ignorant country wench?"

She drew in quickly the small feet outthrust to take advantage of the comforting fire, and the blaze showed her cheek a ruddier hue than heretofore.

"Sir," she said, "the children of the great, neglected by the great, must perforce look to themselves. I was brought up, as you know, without a mother's care, in the ancient hall of a crusty grandfather, a brother my only companion. We played together and fought together, as temper willed, and he was not always the victor, although he is the stronger. I can sometimes outfence him and, failing that, can always outrun him. Any horse he can ride I can ride, and we two have before now put to flight three times our number among the yokels of the neighborhood. As to education, I have a smattering and can read and write. I have studied music to some advantage and foreign tongues with very little. I dare say there are many things known to your London ladies that I am ignorant of."

"We may thank God for that," muttered her father.

"If there are those in London, saving your lordship, who say I am not a lady, I will box their ears for them an they make slighting remarks in my presence."

"A most unladylike argument! The tongue and not the hand is the court lady's defense."

"I can use my tongue, too, if need be, my lord."

"Indeed, I have had evidence of it, my girl."

"Queen Elizabeth used her fists, and surely she was a lady."

"I have often had my doubts of it. However, hereafter you must be educated as doth become a daughter of mine."

"I shall be pleased to obey any commands my father places on me."

The conversation was interrupted by a servant throwing open the door, crying:

"His majesty the king!"

The girl sprang instantly to her feet, while her father rose more slowly, assisting himself with his hands on the arms of the chair.

CHAPTER III.

THERE was more of hurry than of kingly dignity in the entrance of Charles. The handsome face was marred by an imperious querulousness that for the moment detracted from its acknowledged nobility.

"Strafford," he cried impatiently, "I have been kept waiting. Servants are at this moment searching palace and park for you. Where have you been?"

"I was in the forest, your majesty. I am deeply grieved to learn that you needed me."

"I never needed you more than now. Are you ready to travel?"

Strafford's gloomy face almost lighted up.

"On the instant, your majesty," he replied, with a sigh of relief.

"That is well. I trust your malady is alleviated, in some measure at least. Still, I know that sickness has never been a bar to duty with you. Yet I ask no man to do what I am not willing to do myself for the good of the state, and I shall be shortly on the road at your heels."

"Whither, your majesty?" asked the earl, with failing countenance, for it was to Ireland he desired to journey, and he knew the king had no intention of moving toward the west.

"To London, of course; a short stent over bad roads. But if you are ailing and fear the highway, a barge on the river is at your disposal."

"To London!" echoed the earl, something almost akin to dismay in his tone. "I had hoped your majesty would order me to Ireland, which, I assure your majesty, has been somewhat neglected of late."

"Yea, yea," exclaimed the king brusquely; "I know your anxiety in that quarter. A man over thinks that task the most important with which he intimately deals, but my position gives me a view over the whole realm, and the various matters of state assume their just proportions in my eyes, their due relations to each other. Ireland is well enough, but it is the heart and not the limbs of the empire that requires the physicians' care. Parliament has opened badly and is like to give trouble unless treated with a firm hand."

The hand of the earl appeared anything but firm. It wavered as it sought the support of the chair's arm.

"Have I your majesty's permission to be seated? I am not well," Strafford said faintly.

"Surely, surely!" cried the king, himself taking a chair. "I am deeply grieved to see you so unwell, but a journey to London is a small matter compared with a march upon Dublin, which is like to have killed you in your present condition."

O'Connell's Wonderful Oratory.

Daniel O'Connell, the Irish orator, spoke in Covent Garden, London, many years ago, and John Coleman, an old English actor, pictured him as follows: "The audience hung spellbound on the words of the great orator. His resonant and magnificent voice, flavored with its rich Hiberanian accent, held both soul and sense captive. As for me, my Celtic blood took fire, my heart throbbed with passionate indignation or melted into tears as he dwelt upon the wrongs of my beloved country. Never, surely, was such a born orator! Stern men cried one moment and laughed the next. Strange to say, they never laughed in the wrong place, though once at least he afforded them a unique opportunity. As he approached the end of his oration, carried away by his theme, he took his wig off (a brown 'jasey'), put it in his hat and mopped his beautiful bald brow with a great flaming crimson bandanna. The action appeared so natural and appropriate that no one seemed to think it absurd or even incongruous."

Mystery Solved at Last.

"I lost my notebook one day," said a novelist. "I searched the house over for it. From room to room I went, examining every corner, and at the end of a two hours' hunt I found the book.

"'By Jove!' I exclaimed. 'I wonder why it is that one always finds a thing in the very last place one looks for it?'

"'Maybe,' said a cousin of mine, 'it is because after we find what we are hunting for we end our search.'"

LEO TOLSTOI A MEMBER

Great Russian Enrolled in Toronto Friends' Association.

Arrangements Being Made For Another Great Peace Meeting in Normal School Next Month—What Premier Ross Stipulates If Lieutenant-Governor Presides—An Endeavor to Secure Andrew Carnegie's Attendance on Oct. 18.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Count Leo Tolstoi, the great Russian philosopher, philanthropist and literary man, is a member of the Friends' Association of Toronto. This interesting fact was communicated to the members by President W. Greenwood Brown at the regular meeting of the association last night.

Count Tolstoi signified his desire to become a member some two or three months ago in an autograph letter to Mr. Brown, in reply to that gentleman's notification of the aims and objects of the association. The fact was not made public during the recent conference, though the local members had been made aware of the fact.

The announcement of Andrew Carnegie's membership and substantial interest has already been made. An effort will be made to procure his attendance at the great peace meeting to be held on Oct. 18 in Toronto. The Premier, Hon. G. W. Ross, has granted the use of the Normal School for the occasion, and a delegation of English and American speakers from the Boston meeting of Oct. 8 will be present, it being intended that the local meeting will be an extension of the Boston one.

The Premier has stipulated that the meeting shall be non-sectarian, non-partisan, and not anti-British, and it is possible that his honor the Lieutenant-Governor will preside.

Yankees Fining Britishers.

Boston, Sept. 10.—A fine of $15,000 has been imposed on the Royal Exchange Assurance of London, in transacting business in this Commonwealth, for violating the State laws. A fine of $200 also has been levied on Robert G. Fairfield, the Massachusetts agent of the company.

Yukon Mail Service.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The Postoffice Department has issued an order stating that winter regulations regarding the mail service go into effect in the Yukon, north of White Horse, on Oct. 1. The last boat for the north conveying all classes of mail matter leaves Vancouver on Oct. 1.

CANADA'S REAL OFFER

Morning Leader Thanks Mr. R. L. Borden For His Frankness.

Contrasts His Saying That Canada Must Protect Her Industries Against Britain and Prefer the British to Those of All Other Nations With Mr. Chamberlain's Picture of a Self-Sacrificing Colony—Goldwin Smith's Book.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Referring to Mr. Borden's saying that Canada should protect her own industries by tariff against those of Britain and prefer the British to those of all other nations, The Morning Leader says this, then, is the real "offer." Mr. Borden, it must be owned, deserves cordial thanks for his outspoken frankness, but it is hardly Chamberlain's picture of a self-sacrificing colony which "will not start industries to compete with those of the Mother Country."

Inter-Parliamentary Union Arrives.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—The Inter-Parliamentary Union, composed of 226 delegates from America, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Sweden and Switzerland, arrived here yesterday and next week will hold its twelfth annual session.

Britain and Newfoundland.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Arrangements have been made to exchange postal orders between Great Britain and Newfoundland. The arrangements come into operation on the 14th last.

ONE ORIGINAL CONTRIBUTION.

H. W. Lucy, M.P., Criticises Prof. Goldwin Smith's Book.

London, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P.)—H. W. Lucy in The Daily Express, writing on Professor Goldwin Smith's "My Memory of Gladstone," says it is a disappointing book. This is possibly due to the fact that much is expected from its author. The volume contains only one original contribution to the history of Mr. Gladstone. Goldwin Smith says that Gladstone wrote to him suggesting that if the Northern States thought fit to let the south go they might in time be indemnified by union with Canada. Mr. Lucy says this is amazing and almost incredible. The disclosure illustrates the state of public opinion with respect to the colonies which existed in this country forty years ago.

Going to Australia.

Discussion Premature.

London, Sept. 10.—Wiring in reply to the C. A. P. request for a statement re the duty on flour, Mr. Chamberlain says discussion is premature; the question must be settled by a conference when summoned.

Review Day.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Yesterday was Review Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and the attendance was over 60,000. The great feature of the day was the parade of prize animals around the race-track in front of the grand stand. It was a combined exhibit that caused the Canadian breast to swell in triumph and could not be surpassed anywhere. "General Principles of Orchard Management" was the title of an excellent lecture in the Dairy Building by Prof. Hutt, O.C.A. At the directors' luncheon the discussion was entirely devoted to the dairy interests, and among the speakers was that veteran dairyman, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne. To-day will be School Children's Day, with Monday as Get-Away Day.

To Join the Arctic.

St. John's Nfld., Sept. 10.—A party of ten Newfoundland seamen, engaged for three years to assist in navigating the Canadian cruiser Arctic, formerly the German steamer Gauss, in Hudson Bay, left here yesterday to join that vessel at Quebec. The Canadian plans for this expedition are likely to be seriously disarranged. The Arctic should meet at Port Burwell, Sept. 15, the steamer Neptune, which is already in Hudson Bay, but it is not likely that she will reach there before two weeks from that date.

The King Buys Cows.

London, Sept. 10.—The King and the Premier bought Shorthorns by proxy Thursday at the sale of George Harrison, a well known breeder of Gainford, near Darlington. Village Queen, a five-year-old roan cow, was purchased for the King for 110 guineas, while on behalf of Mr. Balfour 105 guineas were given for Ascot Lassie, a two-year-old cow of the same color.

Fined For Selling Tickets.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—William Immell, a farmer, near Souris, and his wife, were charged before the court Thursday by the Canadian Pacific Railway with offering for sale and subsequently selling the return portion of a reduced rate ticket from Pontiac, Ill., to Souris, Man. They were each fined $20 and costs, and had to refund the amount obtained for the tickets.

Put Rock on Track.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Arthur Miller, aged 16, of Mechanicsville, has been arrested, charged with placing a rock on the C.P.R. track at Britannia, with the object of wrecking the Toronto express. The obstruction was removed in time to avoid trouble. The lad pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Tuesday.

Redmond For Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The local branch of the Irish National League has arranged for a demonstration on the 20th inst., to be addressed by John Redmond, M.P., the leader of the Irish Parliamentary party.

YOUNGHUSBAND COMING HOME.

Formal Treaty Signed in Apartments of the Dalai Lama.

Lhassa, Sept. 10.—Col. Younghusband, head of the British mission, and the Thibetan officials signed a formal treaty yesterday in the apartments of the Dalai Lama at Potala. The ceremony was simple and was conducted amid quaint and picturesque surroundings.

The terms of the treaty were read out, only in the Thibetan language, and its details will be published later by the Foreign Office at Simla. The proceedings closed with a short speech by Col. Younghusband.

The Dalai Lama is now supposed to be well on his way into Mongolia, and the officials insist that his action amounts to abdication. The Administration is now carried on by a Council of Regency. It is believed that the Aashi Lama will eventually be recognized as the supreme religious head.

The arrangements for the return of the British mission are complete.

Train Went Through Trestle.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 10.—Seven persons were killed and many injured in a wreck on the Seaboard Air Line at Catawba Junction, S. C., early yesterday. Passenger train No. 41, from Portsmouth to Atlanta, five cars and a sleeper, went through a high trestle over a small stream. An extra freight train, following the passenger, piled in on top of the wreckage a few minutes later.

Must Tell Source of Money.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday, Justice Maclaren granted an order compelling C. N. Smith, M.P.P. for Sault Ste. Marie, to appear and give an account of where $500 he admitted giving his financial agent came from. On his examination for discovery he remained silent when asked if the money was his own or if it came from Toronto Liberals.

More Bribery Charges.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—On behalf of George M. Boyd, the defeated candidate in North Grey, additional charges were filed yesterday against the election of A. G. McKay. Several persons are alleged to have been corruptly influenced, and a number of hotel-keepers are said to have provided drink and refreshment for voters. The trial opens at Owen Sound on Tuesday next.

Decision Will Stand.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—The Ontario Government have announced that the decision of Justice McMahon regarding the status of the Christian Brothers as teachers in the separate schools will stand unless reversed, and the Government will bear the total expense of an appeal if it is taken, in order to clear up a most important issue.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 10.—The Town of Warren, Idaho, has been wiped out by fire. Loss $100,000.

Do Their Own Sweet Will.

Visitor—I see you have water bugs in the house. What do you do for them? Hostess—Goodness me! I don't have to do anything for them. They are perfectly competent to do for themselves. They own the whole house and everything in it.

The Roses.

Poet—I can make no mistake in saying her cheeks are like the rose. Friend—But you have never met her. Poet—That matters not. If she is rosy there are red roses; if she is pale, there are white roses, and if she is sallow, there are yellow roses.

His Progress.

Mrs. Sniffen—Did that Lunnum girl ever succeed in reforming her husband? Mr. Sniffen—Not completely, although I hear that she has reached that point where he can resist everything but temptation.

It is not our wrong actions which it requires courage to confess so much as those that are ridiculous and foolish.—Rousseau.

OTHERS IMPLICATED.

Gartung Pleads Innocence—Inspection of Books of C.O.F. Reveals Shortage of Nearly $6,000.

Brantford, Sept. 10.—Ernest Gartung of the C. O. F., charged with embezzlement was captured by Chief Slemin and Sergeant Donnelly late Thursday night. He pleaded not guilty to the charge at yesterday morning's police court and was remanded till Monday. Bail was fixed at $9,000. L. F. Heyd, K.C., of Toronto, is engaged to defend the prisoner. An effort will be made today to raise the necessary bail. Gartung is strong in his declaration of innocence and this leads to the belief that some other persons are implicated. There is no doubt that the money is gone and one of the lawyers stated yesterday that Gartung didn't have it. It was officially announced yesterday that those looking over the books were likely to find them between $5,000 and $6,000 short. Gartung was always considered a most estimable man.

Fire Loss Over $1,000,000.

Progreso, Mex., Sept. 10.—The fierce fire which broke out here Thursday raged unchecked all day yesterday. It wiped out an entire block of business houses occupied by firms engaged in the general merchandise business. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000, with but little insurance. The burned territory consists of the square two blocks south of the waterfront and facing one of the principal plazas directly opposite the custom house.

Crew Abandoned Ship.

Chatham, Mass., Sept. 10.—The life-saving crews of the Monomoy and Monomoy Point stations, after a hard struggle with the elements yesterday succeeded in saving the lives of Capt. Thorne, and the crew of four men of the British schooner Fraulein, which was abandoned in a waterlogged condition off Pollock Rip. The vessel is thought to be a total loss.

Nonsense Obvious.

"We will sing 'Awake, Ye Saints,' immediately before the sermon tomorrow," announced the minister at choir practice on Saturday afternoon.

"Don't you think," inquired the observant tenor, "that it would be more appropriate to sing it immediately after the sermon?"

Cool.

Colonel Gruff—I understand my daughter is determined to marry you. Well, I want to say to you that she's crazy. Mr. Nervy—Ah, hereditary, I suppose!—Exchange.

Then He Went Home.

He—I dreamed of you last night. Do you ever dream of me? She (suppressing a yawn)—No, but I'd like to very much.

We all have lessons enough, but they are not learned in.—Atchison Globe.

Labor Unfit For Humans.

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 10.—The Trades Union Congress at its session yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution emphatically protesting against the Government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance, as opposed to the best interests of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor unfit for human beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British Empire.

Harvesting Operations.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Weather continue warm and fine, giving a great impetus to harvest operations throughout the West.

Clean Hands.

On the subject of unclean hands a physician says that cases of infection that could be accounted for in no other way have been explained by the fingers as a vehicle. In handling money, especially paper, door knobs, banisters, car straps and a hundred things that every one must frequently touch, there are chances innumerable of picking up germs of typhoid, scarlatina, diphtheria, smallpox, etc. Wherefore to avoid any dangerous results the preventive is simply to wash the hands immediately and scrupulously before eating or touching that which is to be eaten.

Turned the Tables.

Mr. Sharpe (old lawyer)—Beatrice, is it possible that, in spite of my positive orders to the contrary, you have been allowing that young Snoodle to persist in his attentions to you? Miss Beatrice—Father, I decline to answer that question. Mr. Sharpe—You do, hey? I'd like to know why. Miss Beatrice—On the ground that the answer might incriminate me, and I'd like to see you get around that!

The Baby's Troubles

The greatest suffering of childhood is caused by eczema, scale head, tetter or eruption. Because of its extraordinary soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the success of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used, would think of being without it in the house.

HOPES THAT JAPS WILL HURRY UP

MISSIONARY WANTS THE RUSSIANS FAR AWAY TO THE NORTH.

Letter from Dr. Kilborn, Superintendent of the Canadian Methodist Mission at Chentu.

Mr. A. W. Beall, M.A., of town, has received an interesting letter from O. L. Kilborn, M.A., D.D., Superintendent of the Canadian Methodist Mission at Chentu, Szchuan, China. Dr. Kilborn is a Canadian, and he writes as follows with regard to his work in China:

My Dear Beall—The days and weeks and months slip past at an astonishing rate. For some years, and up to and including the present, we have been practically compelled to undertake more work than should be undertaken—in order to keep things going. We have been and are still very shorthanded. Two men are now on furlough, and only one man lately began work, Mortimore. However, this coming fall, we have no less than three more men taking up half to three-quarters work, and before the winter is over, we expect to see Dr. Smith back. That will set us on our feet again. We have never had better prospects in our West China Mission than at present. The country is at peace, at any rate, our part of it. The yield of the land was magnificent last year, and this year promises nearly as good. That means peace and contentment locally. We are positively respected by officials and people now,—such a contrast with the condition of affairs a very few years ago. Churches and hospitals are crowded; young men are coming to us in numbers, asking for instruction in English, Mathematics, and other branches; and we are asking the Board this year for an appropriation for a school building. We are also asking for a big appropriation for the remodelling and enlarging of our Chentu hospital. I have begun a systematic canvas of this city, at least of the officials and such of the people as I can reach, for subscriptions for the hospital extension, and so far am meeting with good success. Hope to get half the amount required, perhaps more, right here in Chentu. I am in the medical work again this year,—the first medical work I have done since 1898, the year we went home on furlough. It is good to get back to it once more. I enjoy it. Dr. Ewan left in April for his furlough and I took over the work from him.

Endicott and family moved up Kiating last month, and he is pushing the Press buildings now. He will get them up as rapidly as possible, then move the presses, etc., up from Kiating. Mortimore is in charge of things down there now. We have a fine lot of men in our West China Mission, and with the blessing of God, we are going to see great things accomplished for Him.

The war is not affecting us in the least; we hope this happy state of affairs may continue. Hope the Japs will hurry up and drive the Russians far away to the North—and keep them there!

By the way, among the numerous wants of our Mission, is a teacher for the Missionaries' children. We are looking for a young woman to come back with Dr. and Mrs. Smith for this purpose. Not sure that we shall get her, but we are hoping. If you see Dr. Sutherland, or any other member of the Board, just tell them they ought to send us a teacher right off: Of course we look for a Boarding School untimately, in which children of other stations of our Mission, may be accommodated. But for the present, if we can get the woman here, we shall make the most of her until we can get a building. We expect to do our best to make up her salary out of our own pockets; we shall certainly make up a good part of it. But of course we would like the Board to send her out, and take her home after five years.

You will see great changes in this country during the next five years. Sure to come, we all think. And changes for the better, of course. New schools are being opened or projected in this city nearly every other week. Schools in which are taught mathematics, history, geography and even English! Anti-foot-binding is making wonderful progress. Women are unbinding on all sides, especially among the official and literary classes. That is what makes it appear so hopeful. We believe the foot-binding custom, which has held full away for many centuries, is doomed! Praise the Lord! And it is undoubted that, under God, missionaries have been in a large measure responsible for this great awakening. Other movements just as promising will follow.

Good-bye for this time. With very kindest regards, in which Dr. Gifford Kilborn joins,

Sincerely yours in Him,
OMAR L. KILBORN.

VOTE ON TWO BYLAWS

THE PEOPLE MUST SAY WHETHER THEY WILL HAVE A NEW FIREHALL

It is Proposed to Spend $25,000 in Improving Facilities for Fire Protection and $12,000 Repairing Bridges and Opening Streets.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20th, the people of Peterborough will have an opportunity of stating whether or not they will have a new fire hall and equipment, together with a new alarm system. The amount it is proposed to expend in these is $25,000. Several prominent citizens were interviewed on this question this morning, and the prevailing opinion is decidedly in favor of the improvement. The rapid growth of the town makes it absolutely necessary that there should be the best possible equipment for fire. The present alarm system has long been considered antiquated and the installation of something that is up to date is timely. The amount is to be raised by 20 year debentures and will purchase the site for a fire hall, the erection and equipment of the building, the improvement of the fire alarm system and the purchase of a chemical engine.

Another by-law to be voted upon is that which, if carried, will authorise the expenditure of $12,000 in reconstructing and repairing bridges, and purchasing land for, and opening new streets. It is proposed to rebuild with iron supports and surfaces of concrete, the bridge over the creek at Charlotte street, and to repair the bridges over Simcoe, Hunter and George streets. These will also have concrete surfaces, and the total cost of the work is placed at $5,000. The purchase of land for new streets will entail an expenditure of $7,000. The work proposed to be done under this by-law is all of a permanent character and is necessary in the interests of the town. Both bylaws will undoubtedly carry.

NEVER LOST A GAME

The T. A. S. win the R. R. Hall Cup—Defeated Havelock by 3-2 Yesterday.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team finished their long string of wins yesterday when they defeated the Havelock team by the score of 3—2, after a hard-fought fight. They have not lost a single game this season, and the Trent Valley League trophy goes to them after many hard games. The team have practiced hard during the season, and there is not a team in the league that regretted to see them win, as they are all boys who have been brought up here, and they have never been guilty of any mean plays, winning the respect of all. They won out the district comprising Port Hope, Millbrook and Hastings, and Havelock won out the eastern district. The Havelock team played the first home game here a short time ago, and were badly defeated, but they thought they could turn the tables yesterday, and put up a very stubborn fight, but the T.A.S. were also out to win, and kept the Havelock team thinking.

In the first quarter neither team scored, but in the second the T.A.S. scored two, and Havelock one. Mr. Whitty, of Sterling, refereed this half.

In the third quarter neither team scored, and each tallied one in the last half, leaving the score 3—2. Mr. Graydon, of the Chippewas, Toronto, refereed the second half.

Following was the T.A.S. team:—Goal, O'Brien; point, Boyle; cover, Mahoney; 1st defence, W. Donovan; 2nd defence, Meagher; 3rd defence, Crowley; centre, W. Parnell; 3rd home, J. Gorham; 2nd home, H. Donovan; 1st home, W. Judd; outside home, J. McCabe; inside home, Derocher.

THE STREET CAR SERVICE.

It Will be Greatly Improved Within a Week.

There is every indication of great improvement in the street car service within the next week. The new car which arrived from Ottawa on Wednesday is now doing duty, and passengers on this morning's boats found accommodation in coming up to town. The connection of the cars with the boats below the exhibition grounds will undoubtedly be greatly appreciated by people coming and going.

Mr. Learmouth stated to-day that a car would be put on the Park street line next week and this will mean great accommodation for the employees of the Canadian General and other manufactories in that part of the town. All of the new cars are expected by the end of next week.

REVIEW OF THE MARKETS

The following review of to-day's market was received by Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co., 'phone 416:—

Chicago, Ill., 10th, Wheat.—The market to-day was a dull one. The movement report expected this p.m. caused a desire to reduce contracts for the time being rather than to make new ones. The weather man shows low temperatures in the extreme Northwest with a possibility of frost to-night in the Northern part of Dakota and Minnesota. We assume, however, that the wheat crop is past all danger except perhaps in small sections of Manitoba. We see nothing new to cause any radical movement in prices either way and believe it would prove profitable to sell on sharp advances for the present. No matter what the spring wheat crop is the movement of wheat from farmers during October will be quite large and we would only advise purchases on the declines with the idea of taking moderate profits on the bulges. It is only a traders market.

Corn.—The weather conditions for the past few days have been all that could be desired. All that is needed now to secure the bulk of crop in good condition is freedom from frost for the next two weeks. Advices from Nebraska say that two weeks more will secure a crop of 275,000,000 bushels. There is a big lot of corn speculatively held which will be for sale around October 1st, if no important damage occurs which would cause a decline in prices.

Oats.—The past week has been a heavy market. The advances have been moderate and short lived. We see nothing at present on which to base moderate and short lived.

A Broad Statement.

This announcement is made without any qualifications. Hem-Roid is the one preparation in the world that guarantees it.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid will cure any case of Piles. It is in the form of a tablet.

It is the only Pile remedy used internally.

It is impossible to cure an established case of Piles with ointments, suppositories, injections, or outward appliances.

Go and talk to your druggist about it.

WHAT THE IDEA IS

To forejudge your suit at the basting stage before you buy!
That's the kernel of the nut!

We save you the bother of being measured—the bother of being fitted, and the irremedial unpleasantness of having to pay for a suit that does not fit—does not look right—and will not hold its shape—all characteristics of custom tailoring.

You try on a Semi-ready suit that has been carefully hand-tailored and left only partly finished. That has been through the hands of the most skilful tailoring people in Canada—tailors whose salaries the best custom tailor couldn't afford.

That has the smartness and distinction of a suit designed by a master tailor—the most knowing and scientific in America.

You try on a Semi-ready suit before an entire figure glass—you are acutely critical because your suit forms part of you, and you expect more from Semi-ready than you do from the custom tailor.

There are no excuses for any ill fit in a Semi-ready suit—you are not flattered as to your appearance when you feel unconsciously that there is something wrong, or are you forced to take a suit against your own judgment.

If the suit is not right, don't take it. If by any chance you don't find that you're dissatisfied until you get it home, send it back—we'll refund your money—Why?

For our own sake, because it would hurt us to have an unsatisfactory suit on anyone.

Could a custom tailor afford to take your suit back?

WARSHIPS FOR THE FAR EAST

The Baltic Fleet Sails From Kronstadt for the Orient.

THE JAPS BEGIN LOOTING

Kronstadt, Sept. 12.—The Baltic fleet sailed yesterday for the Far East.

The fleet will merely touch at Libau, where it will be joined by twelve transports, colliers and supply ships, already waiting there, and will then proceed direct to the Orient.

The scene on the departure of the fleet was an imposing one. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the time set for the departure of the remainder of the fleet, the Imperial yacht with the Emperor, Grand Duke Alexis, the High Admiral, and other high naval officers on board put out from Peterhof, on the other side of the bay, with an escort of three torpedo boats.

Admirals Rojestvensky, Voelkersam and Enquist went on board the Imperial yacht and personally said farewell to the Emperor.

Then with destroyers ahead and abeam, the Souvaroff led the squadron down the Finnish Gulf. The waterfront and the piers and forts were crowded with spectators. From the signal masts above the forts fluttered a string of colored flags, reading: "Good luck to the Baltic fleet on its long voyage."

The Baltic fleet is composed as follows:

Battleships—First-Class.

Souvaroff, launched 1902; 13,516 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 740; main battery, 4.12 in., 12.6 in guns.

Borodino, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Orel, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Alexander III., sister ship of Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Osliaba, launched 1898; 12,674 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 782; main battery, 4 10 in., 11 6 in. guns.

Battleships—Second-Class.

Navarin, launched 1891; 9,476 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 630; main battery, 4 12 in., 8 6 in. guns.

Lissoi Nliky, launched 1894; 8,880 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 590; main battery, 4 12 in., 6 6 in. guns.

Admiral Nabhimoff, launched 1885; 8,500 tons; 16½ knots speed; crew, 567; main battery, 8 8 in., 10 6 in. guns.

Second-Class Cruisers.

Dmitri Donskoi, launched 1883; 6,600 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 510; main battery, 6 6 in., 10 47 in. guns.

Aurora, launched 1900; 6,630 tons; 20 knots speed; crew, 422; main battery, 8 6 in guns.

Almaz, 3,000 tons.

The Japs at Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 12.—A Chinese who left Port Arthur the night of Sept. 6 arrived here yesterday and reports that Japanese troops to the number of 5,000 control Louisa Bay to the northwest of Port Arthur. This Chinese was taken to Port Dalny, and on the way passed through five villages where detachments of Japanese are making use of a balloon, which he describes as a cigar-shaped affair, with a car suspended, and says that "a fat foreigner, wearing a moustache," runs the balloon. The Japanese intrenchments line the hills in every direction, and reinforcements are constantly arriving from Port Dalny. The Japanese hospitals at Port Dalny are filled with wounded and transports are engaged in removing the wounded men to Japan as fast as possible.

Race Now For Hun Bridge.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Herald's St. Petersburg correspondent wires: The race between Kuropatkin and Kuroki appears now to be to the Hun River bridge. According to the opinion of military experts, the fight is sure to take place there, its extent depending upon the progress made by Kuroki. Newspaper correspondents and foreign attaches at the front have gone to Harbin, where the censor also is.

Japs Loot Red Cross.

Liaoyang, Sept. 7.—(Via Tientsin, Sept. 12.)—The Japanese officers were unable to restrain their soldiers after six days of desperate fighting and looting became general. Last night the soldiers, in attempting to rob the missionary and Red Cross compound, stabbed Dr. A. M. Westwater, a well known medical missionary, in the neck and hand.

This is said to be the first instance that the Japanese soldiers have been known to be uncontrollable.

The Japanese were welcomed by the Chinese, but they abused the good name which they established in the Chino-Japanese war.

Quiet at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 12.—All is quiet in this region. It is understood that the main force of the Japanese has retired to Yentai. A solemn service was held here yesterday for the repose of the souls of those killed in action. It was attended by the entire staff and garrison.

Alexieff Would Quit.

London, Sept. 12.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. from St. Petersburg says it is understood that Viceroy Alexieff, in view of the paramount military exigencies in the Far East, has placed his resignation in the hands of the Emperor, but no decision with regard to it has yet been taken.

Tribute to King.

London, Sept. 12.—The Trades Union Congress at Leeds has been chiefly remarkable for a tribute of democratic admiration for the King as the best and most useful British statesman.

Body Found in Raceway.

St. Catharines, Sept. 12.—The body of a man was found in the raceway at Hedley & Shaw's mill on Saturday, and yesterday it was identified as that of James Sanders, an employe of the waterworks department. Sanders was in the hands of the police as a common drunk one day last week. He gave his age as 64 and said he was single. Superintendent Milne of the waterworks department believes he came from Hamilton. The man evidently fell into the raceway while drunk and went over a flume as there were some bruises on him.

Killed By a Horse.

Pembroke, Sept. 12.—Mrs. John Cunningham was struck by a horse while crossing Main street Friday evening, and received injuries from which she died at 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

—A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening at 7.45.

EDITOR FAWCETT GOES

Well-Known Newspaper Man Off Without Saying a Goodby.

Complained on Friday That Financial Difficulties Oppressed Him—Gave His Foreman Power of Attorney For His Wife and a Statement of His Liabilities—Told Foreman He Was Going Away Never to Return.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 12.—A. R. Fawcett, editor of The Leader and Recorder, left town on Friday afternoon, not intending to return, and giving no one a clue to his future whereabouts. He gave no reason for his sudden departure, and did not even say good-bye to his wife and family.

The reason given for his shaking the dust of Toronto Junction off his feet is said to be looming financial difficulties. Before departing he left a letter with his foreman, in which he gave his wife power of attorney and a statement of his liabilities. The condition of the business, however, did not warrant his leaving it so suddenly. There was nothing very pressing, and his wife looks upon it as uncalled for. He has made frequent appeals to his subscribers of late, but these appeals had become chronic and there is nothing to indicate that his financial condition is worse now than it has been for some time past.

To his foreman, Mr. Fawcett said he was going away never to return, and to his family he did not tell them this much. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Fawcett and the family.

He had of late told his children that they would have to get out into the world and shift for themselves.

Mr. Fawcett is a well known newspaper man and was the founder of The Flesherton Advance and The Toronto Junction Leader.

Our Flag For North.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 12.—Inspector Pelletier and ten of the men of the Northwest Mounted Police left Regina on Saturday to take the steamer Arctic for Hudson Bay. Superintendent Moody, who goes in command of the party, will meet them at Quebec. The crew of the Arctic has been chosen from men who are engaged in the sealing industry of Newfoundland, and who are thoroughly familiar with ice work. They are going up to plant the Canadian ensign on all the northern-most points of British North America, and will spend the winter in the farthest north.

MONDAY, SEPT. 12, 1904.

NORTH PERTH

The Ministerial organs are endeavoring to minimize the extent of the corruption in North Perth and to represent Mr. Brown as the innocent victim of one indiscretion by a single too zealous friend. To do this they have to ignore the repeated confessions of Mr. Brown himself. He knew before the last session, as well as he knows now, that he held the seat not by the free votes of the electors, but by purchase, corruption and fraud. Yet he joined in the conspiracy of Mr. Ross and Mr. Mortimer Clark to close the courts by summoning the Legislature to meet on the very day on which the election trials were to begin. Mr. Brown, if he had a clear conscience and was not afraid of enquiry, was not obliged to shelter himself behind this trick for muzzling justice, and he made an unmistakable confession of the corrupt methods to which he owed his seat when he refused to permit the trial to continue during the session.

Again he has made a similar confession at the recent trial. He knows that a single corrupt act would not void his seat in face of his large majority, and that he would be safe unless further investigation revealed cases of corruption sufficiently extensive to effect the result. By refusing to avail himself of the saving clause he confessed his belief that a prolonged enquiry would lay bare the corrupt means employed to steal the seat and defraud the constituency. He dared not let in the light on his proceedings, as he would have done gladly to save his seat if he thought that only a few cases of illegalities by over zealous friends could be proved. He knew that much more than this would be discovered so he threw up the sponge.

It may be assumed that Mr. Brown acted in concurrence with his counsel. Mr. Aylesworth is deep in the confidence of the machine, and generally acts for it in emergencies. It will be remembered that it was he whom Mr. Stratton consulted as to the means of tying Mr. Gamey to his supposed desertion, and who recommended the notorious deed of bargain and sale. He was quite ready to assist in corrupting a member by transferring to him the local patronage and agreeing to withdraw the election protest, but to do him justice, he drew the line at the payment of cash, and when he found that this was in the wind, he handed back the instrument, and left the completion of the bargain to Messrs. Ross and Stratton.

In the West Elgin case it was Mr. Aylesworth who drew up the confession, submitted to Mr. Ross among others, by which Mr. McNish admitted the organized corruption and fraud to which he owed his seat. In North Perth after this experience he adopted safer and more effective tactics on behalf of his client, not making a wholesale confession of the iniquities that had been perpetrated, but crying for quarter at the first reverse. It really amounted to much the same thing, for while thus abandoning the position, his refusal to accept the dictum of the Court that there was not enough proved to vacate the seat, which he might hold if further investigation did not reveal extensive corruption, showed that he knew the insecurity of the ground on which he was thus invited. His statement that he could not satisfy the court on this point, when success would have been so advantageous to his client, was a clear admission that he had another West Elgin case on hand, and intended to deal with it more cannily.

It has been estimated that $50,0000 was spent by the machine in the constituency, and there is evidence of the importation, as in West Elgin, of fraudulent election workers from a distance. Mr. Brown and his counsel were determined that this should not be proved in court, so they bolted from the contest without any compulsion as matters then stood.

It is very satisfactory that Mr. Whitney should have assured the Conservative Association that he would absolutely oppose any further sawoffs. If he had taken that position after the general election he would now be Premier. A few journals started to arouse public opinion against these objectionable bargains, and they have had a success which has surpassed their hopes.

The Grand Trunk has already a line from Georgian Bay to Montreal which is only seventeen miles longer than the Canada Atlantic. From Midland to Montreal the distance is 381.91 miles, while from Parry Sound to Montreal the distance is 364.64 miles. And as the route from Midland is over the fine roadbed of the main line from Belleville to Montreal, 220 miles, the extra 17 miles is an entirely negligible factor, and affords not the slightest reason for the Grand Trunk to purchase the Canada Atlantic. Moreover, Midland is a good port and, as compared with Parry Sound will always get as low, if not lower rates on the lakes. The Grand Trunk has also half-a-dozen other ports on Georgian Bay and Lake Huron, at any of which it can handle lake traffic.

Why then does the Grand Trunk purchase the Canada Atlantic? Simply to "defeat competing schemes."

What is the competing scheme the Grand Trunk is just now particularly anxious to defeat? Why, Mr. Borden's policy of extending the Intercolonial.

Mr. Borden has declared that if returned to power at the coming elections, he will extend the Intercolonial to Georgian Bay by the purchase of the Canada Atlantic or by some other means.

The Grand Trunk believes that by purchasing the Canada Atlantic before the elections it can put obstacles in the way, and at least delay the time when the Intercolonial can compete at Georgian Bay for through traffic from the West.—Winnipeg Telegram.

Severe Pains in the Back

Caused from Deranged Kidneys--Now Well and Gives Credit to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mrs. H. Trollope, 850 Water st., Peterboro Ont., states:—"I have used two boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found them an excellent medicine. I had severe pains across the back which came from my kidneys being out of order, and after using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for a time I began to feel a wonderful improvement in my health.

"I have no more pains in my back now and am feeling as well as ever I did. Consequently, I am glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

SHIELDING CORRUPTION

The Law Makes the Courts Cover up Wholesale Wrong Doing.

As between "saw-offs" and an election trial such as unseated John Brown in North Perth, the public can have no doubtful preference. The trial at Stratford was little more than a formal effort to meet the growing public objection to saw-offs. But what is the difference between the suppression of fraud and corruption by means of an arrangement between the parties concerned and an election trial that does not investigate the petitioner's charges?

To the public the important fact is that election crookedness is hushed up in each case and the offenders go unpunished, free to pursue their calling at subsequent elections. The saw-off is, as a rule is nothing more nor less than the compounding of a felony. The North Perth election trial was a similar breach of one of the first principles of our criminal law. Something is wrong with the statutes which compel the judges of the land to give their assent to the deliberate suppression of evidence of a criminal character. In the North Perth election case suspicion of widespread corrupt or was strong. This suspicion was strengthened by the anxiety of A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., counsel for the respondent, to close the trial as soon as one charge was proved, Mr. Brown's majority was over two hundred. It has not been generally understood that the supplantation of one charge would void the election of a candidate who held his seat by such a large majority. The judges pointed out the value of the saving clause, but Mr. Aylesworth refused to take advantage of it.

Mr. Aylesworth would not tax public credulity to the extent of asking it to believe that he refused to take advantage of the saving clause was prompted by a virtuous regard for the principles of political morality. The Ross Government is not in the habit of doing things in that way and it is to be presumed that Mr. Aylesworth was sent to Stratford to hold the seat for the government if he possibly could. If he had been convinced that one charge and no more could be proved by the petitioner we fancy that Mr. Aylesworth would have ridiculed a suggestion that a majority of two hundred should be wiped out on such flimsy grounds.

There was more corrupt money where the fatal $5 came from and more offenders to be revealed in connection with the investigation of the charges.

It is unfortunate that the judges could not see their way clear to order the investigation of more charges. If The World is not mistaken, the judges in the South Ontario election trial, in which Hon. John Dryden was the respondent, required the petitioner to prove a number of charges before giving any assurance that sufficient evidence had been revealed to void the election. The judges in the North Perth election trial are two of the most capable members of the Ontario judiciary and there can be no doubt that they went as far as their powers would allow them, but it is none the less regrettable that the statutes are so miserably inadequate.

The law as it stands to-day allows the contending parties to get together and balance the offences of their respective agents of fraud and corruption. It allows a candidate elected by corrupt or fraudulent means to prevent a complete exposure by calmly accepting proof of one charge as warrant for voiding the election. And the worst of it all is that the judges are obliged to preside over these negotiations and give judicial sanction to criminal compromises.—Toronto World.

BURNED TO DEATH AT THRESHING.

While Trying to Save His Machine From Flames Was Surrounded.

Clinton, Sept. 12.—While engaged in threshing grain on the farm of Alex. Badour, in Goderich township, Fletcher McCartney was burned to death.

The fire was noticed in an old stack near the barn and it spread rapidly.

McCartney was the owner of the machine and was bravely trying to haul it out of the barn when the flames enveloped him and the machine.

The barn was completely destroyed.

McCartney was married and had a large family.

Thresher's Fatal Hurt.

Ripley, Sept. 12.—While threshing at the barn of George Emmerson, Purple Creek, Garner Stanley, son of William Stanley, 12th concession, Kinloss, in attempting to replace the fanning mill belt while the machine was in full motion was thrown with his left arm against the cylinder sheaf pulley. It was taken off below the elbow. He received a deep cut on the shoulder, one on the temple, one on the back of his head, which affected the brain, and is considered by the medical men the most dangerous. Two hours after the accident four doctors were present and found it necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow. Mr. Stanley is 31 years of age, is married and has three small children. He has never gained consciousness, and the doctors entertain little hope of his recovery.

INTERVENTION IN WAR.

Inter-Parliamentary Union Ask Second Session of the Hague Convention—Heated and Bitter Discussion.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—The powers of the world, signatory to The Hague convention, will be asked by the Inter-Parliamentary Union, at its twelfth conference, to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war; President Roosevelt will be requested to call a second session of The Hague convention; the use of submarines in time of war will be deplored, and many kindred resolutions will be presented during the deliberations of this week.

The decision to undertake to bring about intervention in the Far Eastern war was not reached until after a heated discussion, at times, bitter. When the proposition was brought forward Saturday, M. Cochery, a French Deputy, was on his feet in an instant. He objected vigorously to any attempt whatever to inject the matter into the conference. He was supported by the president of the Italian group.

Then the suggestion was made that President Roosevelt should be the proper one to tender mediation. This proposition was left with the understanding that no further steps in the direction be taken without information as to the President's personal wishes in the matter.

International Peace Union.

The 38th annual session of the International Peace Union was resumed in the Hall of Congress at the World's Fair Saturday. Officers selected include: President, Alfred H. Love, Philadelphia, and a number of vice-presidents, among them being Clara Barton, Washington, D. C.; Wm. M. Cremer, M.P., London; Baron d'Estournelles, member of the Chamber of Deputies, Paris; Archbishop Ireland, St. Paul, Minn.; Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore, Md.; Rabbi Joseph Levy, Pittsburg, Pa.; Archbishop Ryan, Philadelphia, Pa.; Lady Henry Somerset, London, and Baroness B. von Suttner, Vienna, Austria. Resolutions were adopted setting forth the convictions of the union on international questions.

Origin of "Greenbacks."

The popular term "greenbacks" for speaking of paper money is said to have been first used by the Hon. Salmon P. Chase, who was secretary of the treasury during the civil war.

The green tint used on the reverse side of the notes was first produced by a Canadian and is invaluable, as it cannot be easily photographed or counterfeited.

The money in circulation in the southern states during the war had a blue design on the reverse, and these notes were commonly called "bluebacks" to distinguish them from the northern issue.

The Scarlet Tanager.

A very interesting bird is the scarlet tanager. The main body is bright scarlet, with black tail and wings. In the winter it stays in central and northern South America. It feeds upon larger insects, also seeds and berries. The nest is put loosely together with twigs and bark, being lined with the finer inner bark and rootlets. The eggs are three or four in number, greenish blue, marked with faint brown. It is usually found in oak groves.

MUNYON

Has Proved the Value of His Remedies in a Million Homes.

I can well afford to ignore the petty jealousy, professional spleen and the ignorance which is back of the statements which now and then make their appearance as a means of belittling the unmatchable values of my remedies and preparations, and it is well for the sick and the ailing if they ignore them, too. As a matter of fact, in the compounding of these remedies and preparations is concentrated the knowledge and successful researches of the brightest medical minds that the century has produced, and those who make false statements know it. Every great discoverer who has contributed to the welfare and progress of the world and the well-being of the people has been assailed and misrepresented. Why should I be exempted?

There is nothing experimental about my preparations. Years ago they passed that stage and countless thousands have testified that they have found health through their use.

There are no "cure alls" among them, but my list of remedies contains a separate cure for each disease. That is why they are called home remedies, or the "family doctor" as they are frequently termed by those who depend upon them absolutely to keep the household in good health. MUNYON.

POUGHT AT GALLOWS.

Spectators Struggle to Get a View of Robinson's Hanging.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 12.—W. S. Robinson, the old man convicted of the murder of his wife near Berwick, suffered the full penalty of his crime at Kentville this morning. He went to the scaffold stoutly protesting his innocence. His last words to his spiritual adviser were: "I have no confession to make. I committed no crime. I am, so help me God, an innocent man." At midnight a large crowd hung around the jail, but there was no demonstration, although trouble had been looked for. Radcliffe arrived at 12.35 and went for Robinson at 1.25. While waiting he noticed that some of the spectators were making a disturbance. He threatened to postpone the execution. Seeing that matters were not improving a few minutes later, without forming the usual procession, he handcuffed the prisoner's hands and rushed him to the room adjoining the scaffold. As the door opened to admit them into the later several of the spectators, supposedly respectable men, were in a clinch on the floor, and others were trying to part them. The noose was quickly adjusted and within five minutes the trap was sprung, and in less than four minutes he was dead. The unseemly scene was caused through having too many spectators and some were fighting for good places. Even the scaffold was crowded.

Scorch Marks.

To remove scorch marks bake an onion, then squeese out the juice and mix it with an ounce of fuller's earth, a wineglassful of vinegar and a small quantity of shredded soap. Heat together till the soap has melted, leave till cold and then apply to the scorched linen. Let it dry on and then wash in the usual way.

Comfort for Old People

Most of the suffering of the aged is due to the kidney derangements, which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago and body pains. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring comfort to the old folks by keeping the kidneys healthy and active, and so eliminating from the body the poisonous waste matter which causes pains, aches and fatal disease.

MARRYING FOR A HOME.

That Is a Mistake Too Serious For Any Woman to Make.

Home is a woman's real sphere, however much conditions and necessities have forced her into other and more extended ones. No true woman is indifferent to home and all that it means to herself and others. The more truly womanly she is the more she appreciates and values it.

But to marry for the home's sake is like buying a picture for its frame or valuing the binding of the book above the book itself. No one can make the home a more important thing in married life than the man one marries, and in no possible case can the home satisfy one if the husband fails. Love for the man one marries will make a home of an attic or the weather side of a hedgerow. But married life, where the home comes first and the husband second or a bad third, is a hideous travesty of what it was meant to be, and it can never draw anything but a blank in the marriage lottery.

The girl who marries for a home has provided herself for the best of her days with a cage which she must halve with another being. The girl who marries for a home is as mistaken as the man who marries for a housekeeper.

Both are oblivious of the real reasons for marriage, the highest and the best. Both put the home before the maker of it, and that leads to sure disappointment and failure in the end.

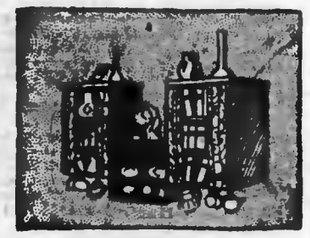
Marriage can hardly be a lottery in the case of these people. One would tell them so confidently beforehand that it will never draw anything in their case but a dreary blank.—New York News.

A WALL CABINET.

How to Make an Artistic One Out of Three Wooden Boxes.

The main objection to box furniture is its common angles, which make it look like a box in spite of hard efforts. Yet, hard as it may seem, these very commonplace angles can be made to work out the salvation and save the reputation of the disreputable "box."

The ordinary bookcase made of a box has the regular lines of the box.



WALL CABINET OF BOXES.

"Box" is written all over it, as one of the more fastidious remarked tartly. But take two boxes of good proportion and of unequal size, and when they are placed together the hated lines are so changed as not to be recognizable. The bookcase made of two or even three boxes has few of the characteristics of the box tribe.

A china or magazine rack or a bric-a-brac cabinet, which can be hung on the wall, can be made of three boxes, as shown in the illustration. The tops of these artistic cabinets can be used for pictures, vases and the like. Hooks can be put into the lower shelves, and cups, mugs and pitchers can thus be disposed of.

The Kitchen.

Next to the cellar and perhaps the bathroom the kitchen is of the utmost importance, requiring unceasing vigilance and care on the part of the housekeeper to keep clean and sweet.

The closet, the sink itself and the pipes leading from the sink through the closet are at all times most difficult places to keep clean, clear and deodorized. The sink and all about it should be washed daily with a strong, hot disinfecting solution. This will cut the grease from the sink and from the pipes (where it has been carried by the hot water and where it has adhered upon cooling) by reason of its solvent properties and carry it through the traps into the sewer. The closet should be well washed and the pipes leading through it. If this is done as frequently as it should be there will never be any annoyance from cockroaches and water bugs, for their means of sustenance having been removed they must go elsewhere for a livelihood.—Table Talk.

Old Sheets.

Old sheets are invaluable. In cases of sickness, as cleaning cloths, as ample wrappers for winter clothing, as protection curtains and dust covers, there is scarcely a limit to their usefulness. First they should have the selvage edges turned to the center and the worn middles torn off and replaced by hems, thus turning them into single and crib sheets. After, they should be laid in reserve, always clean, for various uses mentioned. Worn tablecloths can be cut into tray and spent cloths, and other pieces are the finest sort of wash cloths for cut glass and window cleaning. Sometimes a tablecloth not worthless will make a half dozen excellent napkins for every day. It is better to do the hemming by hand.

Their Hatred of England.

Ferdinand de Lesseps used to tell how a Frenchman came to his aid when he was struggling against Palmerston's opposition to the Suez canal. The man, who was a total stranger, walked into his office one day and drew out of his pocket a wallet stuffed with bank notes.

"Monsieur," said he, "I beg the privilege of being allowed to subscribe toward the railway of the island of Sweden." "But, monsieur," said Lesseps, "it is not a railroad; it's a canal. It's not an island, but an isthmus. It is not in Sweden, but at Suez." "I don't care what it is or where it is," said the capitalist, "so long as it worries England. Put me down, I say."

But Lesseps had little reason to make fun of this episode if the picture his own son draws of him be true. Becoming incensed at some attack made on him in the British parliament and being inadequately provided with means to express his rage, his mind suddenly reverted to his linen collar, which was of English make. He tore it from his neck, dashed it upon the floor and danced on it, all for hatred of the island it came from.

The Borrowed Days.

According to a Scottish fireside rhyme, alluded to by Sir Thomas Brown in his "Vulgar Errors," three days were borrowed by March from April, with a view to the destruction of some sheep, but the popular fiction of the borrowed days is really of older date.

In the "Complaynt of Scotland," printed in 1548, we find: "There eftir i entrit in ane grene forest, to contempill the tender yong frutes, becaus the borial blastis of the three borouing dais of Marche bed chaissit fragrant flureise of evyrie frut-tree far athourt the fieldis."

The origin and meaning of the expression are obscure. It may probably be founded upon that relapse into wintry weather which is often noticed a the close of March and which seems to snatch a few days from the promise of opening spring. A similar fancy has prevailed in the highlands of Scotland in connection with the first two months of the year.—London Answers.

A Quaint Introduction.

It is told of the late Clarence King the ethnologist, that he met John Ruskin in a picture shop, and his comments were so delightfully phrased that Ruskin took him to his heart, inviting him to Coniston and offering him one of his two greatest water colors by Turner. "One good Turner," said King, "deserves another," and took both.

King once wrote from San Francisco to John Hay the following letter of introduction: "My Dear John—My friend, Horace F. Cutter, in the next geological period will go east. It would be a catastrophe if he did not know you. You will 'swarm in,' as the Germans say, when you meet. Lest I should not be there to expose Mr. Cutter's aims I take this opportunity to divulge to you that the police are divided in opinion as to whether he is Socrates or Don Quixote. I know better; he is both."

A Japanese Gardener.

Sir Edwin Arnold had a great many stories in illustration of Japanese traits.

"The Japanese gardeners," he once said, "have carried their art further than we have carried ours. A landscape gardener in Japan is esteemed highly. He is looked on quite as we look on a poet or a painter. And these Japanese gardeners are truly remarkable men. I was riding with one of them near Kioto on an August afternoon, and we came to a steep hillside.

"'Tell me,' I said, 'how would you plan a road to the top of that difficult hill?'

"The gardener smiled humorously.

"'I think,' he said, 'that I would first turn some cows loose and see how they got up.'"

Peculiar Time Regulations.

Chatham island, lying off the coast of New Zealand, in the south Pacific ocean, is peculiarly situated, as it is one of the few habitable points of the globe where the day of the week changes. It is just on the line of the demarcation between dates. There at 12 noon on Sunday, Sunday ceases, and instantly Monday meridian begins. Sunday comes into a man's house on the east side and becomes Monday by the time it passes out of the western door. A man sits down to his noonday dinner on Sunday, and it is Monday noon before he finishes it.—London Globe.

The One Who Wasn't Whipped.

It was in a large school, and one of the boys had committed some grave infraction of discipline. The teacher announced that he would thrash the whole class if some one did not tell him who had committed the offense. All were silent, and he began with the first boy and thrashed every one in the class until finally he reached the last one. Then he said, "Now, if you will tell me who did this I won't thrash you." "All right, sir, I did it," was the reply.

Tomorrow's Money.

Money counts today, but the money of today is worthless tomorrow. The multimillionaire of Monday dies on Tuesday, is buried on Wednesday and is forgotten on Thursday. The real man who has something to him above and beyond trading, who neither reckons himself nor is reckoned by his dollars, never dies.

A Turkish Riddle.

Here is an old Turkish riddle which has been handed down for many centuries and yet has never been answered: "There was once a beggar who always dreamed he was a pasha, and there was a pasha who always dreamed he was a beggar. Which was the happier?"

Why She Was In It.

Phyllis—Charlie Short told me the other day that he preferred blond girls. Isabel—You must be mistaken. He proposed to me last week, and I am a decided brunette. Phyllis—True, dear, but then you have a fair income.

The Convincing Argument.

Young Lady Shopper—This piece of dress goods suits me, except that I do not think the figure in it is pretty. Subtle Salesman—Ah, but you surely will when it is made up and you have the dress on.

Something to Give Them.

"Mary," said the invalid to his wife, when the doctor pronounced it a case of scarlet fever, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that I am at last in a condition to give them something."

During a long life I have proved that not one kind word ever spoken, not one kind deed ever done, but sooner or later returns to bless the giver.—Lord Shaftesbury.

A Famous Quarry.

The entire mass of the Monte Sagro, 5,000 feet high, which dominates Carrara, is solid marble. One of the most famous quarries is in the valley of the Polraccio. From this were extracted in Roman times the 1,700 tons of marble that served for the construction of Trajan's column at Rome. Here Donatello got the block which he carved into his St. George, and Michael Angelo the one for his Moses. From here also came the huge block mentioned in the memoirs of Benvenuto Cellini, which served for the colossal Neptune of Ammanati in the middle of the fountain of the Piazza della Signoria at Florence.

A Water Volcano.

One of the greatest natural curiosities in Central America is the Volcan de Aqua or water volcano, which is situated in Guatemala, about twenty-five miles southwest of the capital. Its apex is 14,450 feet above the level of the sea, and cultivated fields and forest trees extend almost to its summit. It occasionally vents forth torrents of pure cold water. On one occasion an "eruption" of this kind inundated the northern valley and destroyed a whole village situated on the side of the peak.

The Way He Put It.

At a school examination at Newcastle-under-Lyme, England, a boy was told to write an essay on the pleasures of reading. He wrote: "People read for many reasons. Sometimes they read for humor, and then they read such books as 'Don Quixote.' At other times they read for amusement, and then they read the Bible."

Took It Mildly.

"Yes, old Bimiboy gave a reception out to his place on the hills and then turned the hose on the first detachment to arrive."

"He did! What did they say to that?"

"They called it unconventional hospitality. You know, he's too rich to quarrel with."

His Malady.

Tess—She's a professional nurse, I believe. Jess—Not at all. What gave you that idea? Tess—She remarked that she sat up last night with a sick man. Jess—Lovesick; that was all. It was that fiance of hers.

A Strong Word.

Dr. Blunt—We must wake her, because I want to ask her if she has obeyed my orders. The Patient's Husband—Er—ah—doctor, it might be as well to—ah—put that question in a somewhat different form.

Much Bigger.

Y.—Do you think Ike ever lies about the fish he catches?—C.—No, I don't, but I think he lies about the fish he doesn't catch.

Being asked the name of the world's greatest composer, a smart university young man said "Chloroform."

New Hope New Courage

Persons whose nerves are affected get blue and discouraged, are easily irritated and annoyed and learn to look on the dark side. The restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon shows its effect on the feelings. It gives new hope and courage, new energy and confidence. By creating nerve force it affords new vigor and vitality for both mind and body.

ITALIANS A THIRSTY LOT

A RAID MADE BY THE POLICE ON THEIR SETTLEMENT.

Ten Empty Beer Kegs, Two Jars of Whiskey, and other Refreshments were Gathered in.

This morning the local police made a raid on the Italian colony on Bethune-st., on the strength of a warrant issued against the Italians for selling liquor contrary to law. Chief Roszel, P. C. McGinty and P. C. Stewart took part in the exhibition. The scene in "Little Italy" was similar to that presented when a wasp's nest is disturbed. The Italians swarmed around the Chief like a bunch of wasps, all talking at once, some in pure Italian, some in badly pulverized English, and a few in fairly good English. A thorough search was made through two houses, and ten empty beer kegs, two jars of whiskey and a few bottles of ale were discovered. An imposing procession then took place to the police station. Chief Roszel led with a two-gallon jar of whiskey, P. C. McGinty came next with a bottle of ale in each hand, and P. C. Stewart brought up the rear with a mixed collection of ale and whiskey. As a result of the raid a large number of Italians will appear in Police Court on Wednesday morning.

SHOULD BE POSTAL DELIVERY

Writer Thinks it About Time that Peterboro Should Have It.

To the Editor of The Review.

I think no one will question the benefits derived from the advent of the postal system, whose ramifications stretch from one end of the land to the other. Moreover, being a public institution it lays itself open to favour or criticism, according to its standing and ability. When it's working become inadequate to the people's convenience it is then the duty of those interested to consider what steps ought to be taken on purpose to remedy such defects if defects there be.

With this end in view I think there is a great need and a growing demand for some more effective method of distributing the mail than is at present adopted in Peterborough. It is about time, if I might venture to say so, that a house to house delivery was inaugurated. And I hope some more influential pen or voice than mine will take this matter up and see to it that the needs of the hour be met in accordance with modern methods of business.

DEMOS.

Fred. A. Clarke's Care for the Boys and Girls.

The girls and boys of today will be the women and men of the future, and to give them a right start it is necessary to begin at the top—the head—the brain region. The schools do this to a certain extent, but Clarke's Hat and Cap store comes in to assist. Its proprietor is prepared to cover these bright little brainy heads with hats and caps, stylish and of low price. He is surprised at the large number of boys and girls who do their own shopping at Clarke's. Their parents must feel that the youngsters will be as well served as if they watched the transaction in person. To encourage the boys and girls Mr. Clarke has prepared a souvenir school book which will be presented free with every tam or cap purchased by or for a girl or boy. The book is adorned with a picture of the Lift Lock, an item in history and it matches another item in the history of the hat and cap trade represented by the splendid bargains in hats and caps for boys and girls now in evidence at Fred. Clarke's hat and cap store, 374 George street. A bargain and a free book to boot awaits every boy and girl.

The New Street Car.

Car No. 11, the first of the new street cars ordered from the Ottawa Car Company is being rapidly prepared for service and will likely be running to-morrow afternoon. Car No. 12, another of the new quartette arrived in town on Saturday morning and is being removed to the car barns this afternoon. No. 8, the car at present running is giving very good service and is being patronized by a large number of citizens. One of the trailers would have been put in use on Saturday if the line in front of the barn had not been blocked by the new car.

Water Babies.

Tonight Prof. Clark will give his famous lecture on Chas. Kingley's "Waterbabies," which every lover of literature should hear. The lecture will be at the Y.M.C.A. Hall under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, and will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

Miss Irene Macfarlane's exhibition of Oil Paintings will be opened in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday Sept. 13th. at 3 P. M for one week. Tickets may be procured at Ormond & Walsh's Drug Store, The Framery 428 George St. and from the Secretary Y. M. C. A. Price One Dollar good for whole term of the Exhibit.

GOT INTO THE WRONG STALL

Young Man Mistook a Smith St. Residence for his Boarding House.

On Friday evening a family on Smith street had the rather questionable pleasure of discovering that their house was not that kind of fortress which is uneasy of access. They had gone out driving in the evening to visit a neighbour and left their house in what they considered a condition safe from all intrusion. On returning, however, they were somewhat surprised to find that the flowers had been carefully removed from the kitchen window and a young man standing in the kitchen at the foot of the stairs as though about to ascend after having carefully deposited his headgear on the stove. An explanation was of course the proper thing to demand under the circumstances, and the stranger pointed out that he had undoubtedly made a mistake. He was a boarder, and frequently did not come home until late at night. On such occasions the door of his house was always locked, but he overcame the difficulty by climbing through the window. In a moment of mental aberration or other weakness, he had mistaken the house, and when the occupants arrived, was just going upstairs to retire. In charitable consideration of the extreme frequency of such cases as this, the man of the house pointed out to the stranger the advisability of immediately starting upon a search for his proper stall, and this course was speedily adopted.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE FULL

Over 250 Pupils in Attendance this Morning.

"The Board of Education will have to do something," remarked a member of that body today, when told that the attendance at the Collegiate Institute this morning was over 250, the largest in the history of the school. When asked the reason of the delay in connection with the new building, it was pointed out that the Government had not yet actually contributed the $10,000 promised towards the purchase of the lot on which it is proposed to erect both a drill hall and Collegiate. At present the accommodation is most inadequate at the school, some of the rooms being in an overcrowded condition.

CANOES FOR EXHIBITIONS

PETERBOROUGH CANOE COMPANY'S DISPLAY FOR OTTAWA'S SHOW.

The Canoes are of a Very Fine Style—The Wm. English Canoe Co. are Sending Two Canoes to Halifax.

Peterborough will be represented in one way at least at the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa, which opens on Friday, 16th inst. The Peterborough Canoe Co. has prepared an exhibit which will display samples of nearly all the boats they manufacture. The exhibit consists of one sailing dinghy, four skiffs and eleven canoes. Three of the skiffs are of cedar and are built on very graceful lines. The fourth is a lap-streaked skiff of solid mahogany. The canoes are all of different sizes, and are made of cedar, basswood, cyprus, Spanish cedar and canvas. This is probably one of the finest exhibits of canoes ever sent out of Peterborough, and will do much to advertise the Peterborough Canoe Co. and the town as well. The company deserve great credit for such commendable enterprise, and other local manufactories will probably follow their example.

The Wm English Canoe Co. has also showed its enterprise by sending to the Halifax Exhibition two canoes. These are the ordinary 16-foot canoes manufactured by the firm, and are both built on the same model. One is of basswood, and the other of cedar. They will serve to show the people of Eastern Canada what kind of goods the factories of Peterborough can turn out.

THEY CAME FROM ENGLAND

A Party of About Sixty People from Berkshire.

An instance of the growth of Peterborough's population by leaps and bounds was pointed out recently. It is well known that during the past year there arrived in town a very large number of Old Country people. And these have settled down here and become the very best kind of citizens. It is not often, however, that there is such an exodus from any one locality in England as that which occurred not long ago, when some sixty people left Berkshire and sailed for Canada. It was not exactly a Robinson Crusoe emigration, but had some resemblance. The party came to Peterborough, but did not, as was the case some years ago, find uninviting conditions, such as pathless forests, and very tedious and dangerous means of travel. The wonder is how all of these people could obtain houses. There were about twelve families, and a remarkable thing is that they were nearly all related to each other. Some have doubled up, and two families are, in a few cases, occupying one house. They are an industrious class of people, and all of the men and boys have obtained employment in local manufacories or places of business, and good workmen they are, thoroughness being a marked characteristic.

Social Musicale.

The social committee of the Y. M. C. A. announce the opening social event of the season for Tuesday evening, September 20th in the association building. The programme and all the arrangements for the season will be new. The following have already consented to take part. Mrs. Eardley Wilmot, Miss Crothers, violinist; Messrs. Lawrence, Dawson, Jolliffe, and Legg. The gentlemen of the town are invited to come and bring their lady friends.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Brevities.

—Rev. Dr. Crothers, pastor of the George-st. church, will, next Sunday evening, begin a series of sermons to young men.

—Two weeks from Thursday next, Sept. 29, Rev. Dr. Potte will give an address here upon the World's Sabbath School Convention held in Jerusalem.

—The first regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Charlotte-st. church will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3.0S. It is requested that there be a large attendance.

—Miss Irene McFarlane's exhibit of fine oil paintings opens at the Y.M.C.A. at p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 13th, for one week. See local ad. elsewhere. 2d

—The farmers report that the potato crop is being spoiled by the rot. The largest potatoes, it seems, are affected, and to drive through Monaghan one may easily detect by the smell what fields are damaged. It begins to look like a rotten shame.

—While the people of Bewdley listen with patience to Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell in his story about the Trent Canal, they realise with regret tht nothing is being done to erect a decent landing on the lake opposite their village.

Discipleship.

There was a large attendance at the opening men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday. Rev. Prof. Clarke was present, but owing to a cold was unable to give the address announced, yet gave a few words of appreciation of the work of the Association. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, very kindly took Prof. Clarke's place and gave a forceful, practical address to the men on "Discipleship."

The speaker next Sunday will be Rev. Dr. Stewart, of the Bible Training School, Toronto.

TWO ELOQUENT SERMONS

WERE DELIVERED IN ST. LUKE'S BY REV. PROF. CLARKE

Large Congregations in St. Luke's Church Listened to Scholarly Expositions of Scripture.

At both services in St. Luke's yesterday, the Rev. Professor W. Clark, D.C.L., of Trinity College, preached eloquent and practical sermons. The services were bright and hearty, and the congregations were large, especially so at the evening service, when all seats were taken. Prof. Clark is an eloquent preacher, a great scholar, and considered an authority on the English literature. His diction is perfect and his delivery fluent and of great fascinating power. At the morning service Mr. Lawrence sang "The Holy City," and at the evening service Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot delighted the congregation with an excellent rendering of "Send forth Thy Light." Professor Clark chose for his text at the morning service, Matthew vi. 28: "Consider the Lilies," from the Gospel of the day. There were, he said, two methods by which God revealed Himself to the world—through the Bible and through Nature. These two things did not contradict each other, but one tended to bear out the other. There were many lessons in Nature: the flowers were witnesses of God's goodness. "What a different world it would have been if God had only given us the power to feed and clothe ourselves, and deprived us of our senses!" observed the speaker.

The flowers were also witnesses of the power of God; all nature, in fact showed His power. The thunderclap, the terrible earthquake were illustrations of his omnipotence, but small things as well as great ones, told of God's greatness. While the telescope showed us stars upon stars, worlds upon worlds, universes upon universes, the microscope also revealed many wonderful things. The most important lesson that the flowers taught us was the providence of God. Through them He seemed to say, "Be not anxious; I shall be with you, and all is well."

Again the flowers typified the short earthly life. They bloomed for a time, then withered and died. So was it with man. His life was but short, and he should see that his days were not spent in vain. The flowers also taught the lesson of the resurrection, that we shall all rise again and have another life. As the winter went, the flowers bloomed again. So was it with men; the winter of death would pass, and those who believed in Jesus Christ would come into the resurrection and life eternal.

At the evening service the preacher took his text from the Epistle for the day, Galatians, 6, 17: "From henceforth let no man trouble me, for I bear branded on my body the marks of Jesus." The reference in the text was to the custom of marking or branding the bodies of slaves, as a sign of their being the property of a certain master.

St. Paul on various occasions, e.g., Romans 1: 1, had declared himself to be a bond servant of Christ, and here declares that he bears the brand of that Master, partly perhaps with reference to scourging and other afflictions which he had endured for Christ. Christ, Himself, had assumed the form of a bond servant, and He required that his disciples should herein be like Him. St. Paul reckoned it his chief glory to be thus conformed to the pattern of his Master. He had many conflicts with the men who were rejecting or deproving the gospel. He had reasoned with and remonstrated with them—sometimes in vain—and now he seems to say he is done with this; He belongs to Christ; he has to please God and not man, and to all the opposition of men, to all their demands he has the answer, "I am the bond servant of Christ." The preacher pointed out the application of the principles, first to the minister of Christ and then to Christians in general. They had to choose whether they would serve God or man, and they must make the choice that Paul made. All men knew how faithful he had been. God grant that they might follow his example.

Sunday at All Saints'

At both services in All Saints' church Sunday, two very able sermons were delivered by Rev. Wm. Major. His text in the morning was St. Mark II. 13: "Nothing but leaves." Miss Mary Rush sang with pleasing effect a solo, "The Home Land." In the evening the Rector spoke from II Corinthians, 3: 3. An anthem by the choir, "Where are They?" was very well rendered. The holidays are now over, and it is the purpose of the choir to devote considerable attention to the preparation of something exceptionally fine in church music.

The harvest thanksgiving service will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 23rd, at eight o'clock.

The Senior Girls' Guild will reorganize to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, at eight o'clok, for this winter's work.

—The Chief of Police has an overcoat, picked up on Bethune-st., for which he desires an owner. Despite the fact that summer is with us, there is a cold winter coming on, and the potato crop is reported to be a failure, so the owner will do well to claim his property rather than buy a new one. No question asked as to how he came to shed the overcoat.

GREAT SALE OF LINENS

ON THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15th we inaugurate a gigantic sale of Linens. This Sale represents one of the best opportunities that the citizens of Peterborough will ever have to replenish their stock of Linens.

The stock represents the most successful purchase of Manufacturers' Seconds of imperfects that we have ever effected.

Beautiful high class Linens with very slight imperfections bought at a price that will enable us to sell them at a reduction of from 33⅓ to 50 per cent. That means a cloth that would sell regularly at $3.00 each will be sold at about $2.10 and other prices correspondingly low.

THE QUALITIES of these Linens are positively the very finest ever shown in Peterborough as they are from the manufacturers of the finest Linen in all Ireland and the imperfections are so slight that you will hardly be able to see them.

The Linens are in Finished Cloths, with borders all round, in sizes from 1 yard square up to 4 yards long and 2½ yards wide and Table Napkins in both dinner and tea sizes.

All good housekeepers pride themselves on their Linen and this will be your chance of a life-time.

Sale Commences Thursday Morning at 9 o'clock

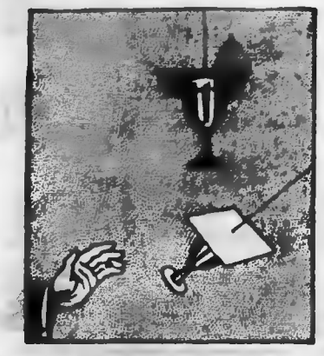
A FRAGILE PENDULUM.

How Air Pressure Will Hold Up a Glass of Water.

You know of course that if you fill a tumbler or goblet to the brim or a little above the brim—for you can "pile up" the water a little bit by pouring very carefully—and then press a large card down tightly on the top of the filled glass with one hand, grasp the glass with the other and turn it upside down you can take away the hand that holds the card without spilling a drop of water. The card will stick to the edge of the glass as if it were glued there, and it will hold up the glassful of water.



GLASS HELD UP BY AIR.

You know, too, that it is the pressure of the air that supports the card and the water. The air presses upward on the lower face of the card with a force of fifteen pounds for every square inch of surface, and as the top of the glass measures five or six square inches there will be a pressure of seventy-five or ninety pounds to hold up the card and water, which weigh only about half a pound.

It is only the size of the mouth of the glass, not the size of the whole card, that counts, because on the outside part of the card the air presses up and down with equal force and so has no effect.

Now, as the force of the air is many times stronger than is needed to lift the water, suppose we make it lift something else in addition, say the heavy glass.

To do this press the card on the full glass as before, but instead of inverting the glass lift up the card by two opposite corners. If you are very careful and the card is very stiff you may succeed in lifting glass, water and all in this way, but the card is apt to bend and let in a little air somewhere, which of course spoils the trick. Here is a better plan.

Make a little hole in the middle of the card, pass a cord through the hole, make a knot on the end of the string close to the card and stop the hole tightly with a drop of sealing wax. Now, if you press the card on the glass of water carefully you can lift the whole affair by the cord, and if you fasten the other end of the cord to a hook the curious pendulum will swing a long time if you cautiously set it going.

It is best to rub a little grease on the rim of the glass to make it fit the card perfectly and adhere slightly, and it is advisable to experiment with a cheap glass in a place where water may be spilled without damage.—New York Mail.

When Sea Birds Drink.

Did it ever occur to you to wonder where the sea birds get the water they drink—sea gulls and the many other kinds that fly miles and miles out over the ocean? You know they cannot drink the sea water, for that is salt, and sometimes they are too far from land to reach any fresh water streams.

So what do you suppose they do? They follow the rain clouds and catch the drops as they fall. They are able to scent a storm many miles away and will hurry after it with the most remarkable speed.

But when there are no convenient storms about the birds sometimes go days and perhaps weeks without any water at all.

Over the Border

By ... ROBERT BARR.

Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"Indeed, your majesty, the smaller journey may well have the more fatal termination," murmured the earl, but the king paid no attention to the remark, for his wandering eye now caught sight of a third in the conference, which brought surprised displeasure to his brow. The girl was standing behind the high back of the chair in which she had been seated, in a gloomy angle where the firelight which played so plainly on the king and Strafford did not touch her.

"Whom have we here? The flippant prophet of the forest, or my eyes deceive me! How comes this girl in my palace, so intimate with my Lord Strafford, who seemed to meet her as a stranger but yesterday?"

The slumbering suspicion of Charles was aroused, and he glanced from one to the other in haughty questioning.

"I never met her until I encountered her in the forest when I had the honor to accompany your majesty. Today, as I walked with De Courcy and others, there came a second accosting from her, as unexpected as the first. The girl craved private speech with me, which I somewhat reluctantly granted. The upshot is she brings me proof, which I cannot deny, that she is my eldest daughter."

"Your eldest daughter!" cried the king, amazed. "Is your family, then, so widely scattered and so far unknown to you that such a claimant may spring up at any moment?"

"I was married privately to the daughter of Sir John Warburton. Circumstances separated me from my wife, and, although her father curtly informed me of her death, he said nothing of issue. There was a feud between us—entirely on his part. I had naught against him. It seems he has been dead this year past, and my daughter, getting news of her father among Sir John's papers, comes thus southward to make inquiry."

"You fall into good fortune, my girl. Your extraordinary claim is most readily allowed."

Frances, finding nothing to say, kept silence and bowed her head to the king, whom she had regarded throughout with rapt attention.

"Where got you your gift of prophecy? Is prescience hereditary, and has your father's mantle already fallen on your shoulders? He is my best friend, you said, and I my worst enemy. Madam, you did not lack for boldness, but the force of the flattery of your father is lessened by my knowledge of your relationship, hitherto concealed from me."

"Your majesty, it has hitherto been concealed from myself," said the earl wearily.

"Has the girl no tongue? It wagged freely enough in the forest. Come, masquerader, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Your majesty, I humbly crave your pardon. The words I used yesterday were not mine, but those of a gypsy in the north, who told me I was the daughter of the Earl of Strafford at a time when such a tale seemed so absurd that I laughed at her for connecting my name of Wentworth with one so exalted as the Earl of Strafford. Later, when I received proof that such indeed was the case, her words returned to me. I had no right to use them in your august presence, but the entourage of the Lord Strafford prevented my meeting him. Thus baffled, I sought to intercept him in the forest and was willing to use any strategy that might turn his attention toward me in the hope of getting a private word with him."

"I knew you had a tongue. Well, it matters little what you said. Your mission seems to have been successful. Do not think I placed any weight upon your words, be they gypsy spoken or the outcome of a spirit of mischief. My Lord Strafford, you will to London then?"

"Instantly, your majesty."

"I will consult with you there tomorrow. And have no fear, for on my oath as a man, on my honor as a king, I will protect you."

The king rose and left the room as abruptly as he had entered it.

For some moments Strafford lay back in his chair, seemingly in a state of collapse. The girl looked on him in alarm.

"Sir, is there anything I can do for you?" she asked at length.

"Call a servant. Tell him to order a coach prepared at once and see that it is well horsed, for I would have the journey as short as possible."

"My lord, you are in no condition of health to travel to London. I will go to the king and tell him so."

"Do that I requested you and trouble me not with counsel. There is enough of woman's meddling in this business already."

Frances obeyed her father's instructions without further comment, then came and sat in her place again. The earl roused himself, endeavoring to shake off his languor.

"What think you of the king?" he asked.

"He is a man corroded with selfishness."

"Tut, tut! Such things are not to be spoken in the precincts of a court. No, nor thought. He is not a selfish monarch, other than all monarchs are selfish, but discussion on such a theme is fruitless, and I must be nearing my dotage to begin it. I am far from well, Frances, and so, like the infirm, must take to babbling."

"Do you fear parliament, my lord? How can it harm you when you have the favor of the king?"

"I fear nothing, my girl, except foolish, unseen interference, interference that may not be struck at or even hinted against. Did they teach you the history of France in your school?"

"No, my lord."

"Then study it as you grow older. I'll warrant you'll find it interesting enough. Ruined by women. Ruined by women. Seven civil wars in seventeen years, and all because of viperish, brainless women. Well, we have one of the breed here in England, and God help us!"

"You mean the queen, my lord?"

"Hush! Curses on it, will you be as outspoken as another of your sex is spiteful and subtle? Mend your manners, buxsy, and guard your tongue. Could you not see you spoke too freely to the king a moment since?"

"Sir, I am sorry."

"Be not sorry, but cautious."

Strafford fell into a reverie, and there was silence in the room until the servant entered and announced that the coach was ready, whereupon his master rose unsteadily.

"Sir," said the girl, "will you not eat or drink before you depart?"

"No." Then, looking sharply at his daughter, he inquired, "Are you hungry?"

"Yes, my lord."

"Bring hither some refreshments, whatever is most ready at hand, and a measure of hot spiced wine. I had forgotten your youth, Frances, thinking all the world was old with me."

When the refection came she ate but sparingly despite her proclamation, but coaxed him to partake and to drink a cup of wine. He ordered a woman's cloak brought for her, which when she had thrown it over her shoulders he himself fastened at her throat.

"There," he said when the cloak enveloped her, "that will protect you somewhat, for the night grows cold."

Strafford himself was wrapped in warm furs, and thus together they went down the stairs to the court, now dimly lighted. A cavalier who seemed to have been standing in wait for them stepped out from the shadow of the arches, and Frances recognized the French spark whom she had so frankly characterized earlier in the day.

"My lord," protested De Courcy jauntily, "you have your comrades at a disadvantage. You have captured the woodland nymph and, I hear, propose spiriting her away to London. I do protest 'tis most unfair to those who are thus left behind."

"Sir," said Strafford, with severity, pausing in his walk, "I would have you know that the lady to whom you refer is the Lady Frances Wentworth, my eldest daughter, ever to be spoken of with respect by high and low. Native and foreign shall speak otherwise at their distinct peril."

The Frenchman pulled off his bonnet with an impressive sweep that brushed its ample feather lightly on the stones. He bent his body in a low obeisance that threatened, were it not so acrobatically accomplished, to pitch him forward on his nose.

"If I congratulate your lordship on finding so rare a daughter rather than offer my felicitations to the lady in the attainment of so distinguished a father it is because I am filled with envy of any man who acquires a companionship so charming."

Their arrival at the carriage, with its four impatient horses postilion ridden, saved Strafford the effort of reply had he intended such. He seated himself in the closed vehicle, and his daughter sprang nimbly in beside him, ignoring the proffered aid of De Courcy, who stood bowing and bonding with much courtesy and did not resume his bonnet until the coach lurched on its lumbering way, preceded and followed by a guard of horsemen, for the Earl of Strafford always traveled in state.

Nothing was said by either until the jingling procession was well clear of the park, when the girl, with a shudder, exclaimed:

"I loathe that scented fop!" Then, seeming to fear a reproof for her outspoken remark, added, "I know I should not say that, but I cannot see what you have in common with such a creature that you are civil to him."

To her amazement her father laughed slightly, the first time she had heard him do so.

"When we travel, Frances, safe out of earshot, you may loathe whom you please; but, as I have warned you, 'tis sometimes unsafe to give expression to your feelings within four walls. I may find little in common with any man, least of all with such as De Courcy, whom I take to be as false as he is fair, but there is slight use in irritating a wasp whom you cannot crush. Wait till he is under my hand, then I shall crush ruthlessly; but the time is not yet. He has the ear of the queen, and she has the ear of her husband."

"Sir, what reason have you to suspect that the queen moves against you?"

"One reason is that I am this moment journeying east when I would be traveling west. In truth, my girl, you seem resolved unconsciously to show you are your father's daughter with that uncurbed tongue of yours, for a lack of lying is like to be my undoing. If I had told the king I must to London, 'tis most like we were now on our way to Dublin."

"But it may be the king himself who thus orders you contrariwise."

"I know the king. He is not, as you think, selfish, but ever gives ear to the latest counselor. He is weak and thinks himself strong; a most dangerous combination. With trembling hand he speaks of its firmness. Now, a weak monarch or a strong monarch matters little. England has been blessed with both and has survived the blessing, but a monarch who is weak and strong by turns courts disaster. 'War with the Scots,' says the king. He will smite them with a firm hand. Very good; a most desirable outcome. But our captains, promoted by a woman's whisper and not by their own merit, trust to the speed of their horses rather than the ingenuity of military skill, and so escape the Scots. Our army is scattered, and there is panic in Whitehall. I am called from Ireland, and I come scarce able through illness to sit my horse. I gather round me men of action and brain and send madam's favorites to the rear, where they will gallop in any case as soon as the enemy shows front. What is the result? A portion of our Scottish friends are cut up, and those whose legs are untouched are on the run. Very good again. The dogs are rushing for their kennels. What happens? An added title for me, you might suppose. Not so. A censure comes posthaste from London. 'Leave the Scots alone. The king is negotiating with them.' In the face of victory he embraces defeat. A peace is made that I know nothing of. All their demands are granted as if they had environed London. I am left like a fool, with a newly inspired army and no enemy. They termed it 'negotiating' in London, but I call it 'surrender.'"

"And you think the queen is responsible?"

"Who else? Her generals were disgraced and whipped like dogs. Unvaliant in the battlefield, they are powerful in the antechamber, and their whines arise in the ears of the Lily of France, who would rather see her husband wrecked than saved by me. But I was never one to hark back on things that are past. My duty was to save the king from future errors. One more grave mistake lay open to him, and that was the summoning of parliament at such a moment. It was a time for action, not for words. 'If you meant to concede, why did you not concede without bloodshed?' was a question sure to be asked, a question to which there could be no answer. Very well. I accepted in humbleness the censure that should have been placed on other shoulders and sent back by the courier who brought it a message imploring the king to call no parliament until we had time to set our house in order and face lords and commons with good grace. I then arranged my command so that if the Scots broke forth again they would meet some examples of military science and not view only the coat tails of the queen's favorite generals. No reply coming from the king, I mounted my horse and, with only one follower, set forth for London. Pushing on through darkness on the second night of my journey, I heard the galloping of a horse behind me and drew rein, fully expecting that the greedy Scots, asking more than could be allowed, had taken to the field again. 'Good friend,' I cried, 'what news, that you ride so fast?' 'Great news,' he answered, breathless. 'A parliament is summoned, and, as I am an elected member, I ride in haste. Before the month is done we have Strafford's head in our hands and off his treacherous shoulders.'"

"Oh, 'twas nothing but some braggart countryman, knowing not to whom he spoke so freely and big in the importance of his membership, dashing on to London, thinking the world rested on his speed, and thus I learned how my advice had been scorned. When I met the king he was all panic and regret. He had conjured up the devil easily enough, but knew not how to allay him. He bewailed his mistakes and called himself the most unfortunate of monarchs, eager to please, yet constantly offending. He was in a contrite mood, but that soon changed. 'Tis my head they want,' I said. 'Do with it as you please. If it is useless to you, toss it to them; if useful, then send me to Ireland, where I shall be out of the way, yet ready to afford you what service lies in my power.' He swore he would concede them nothing. He was done with unappreciated complaisance, and now it was to be the firm hand. They should learn who was ruler of the realm. He gave me permission to return to my post. I was his only friend, his truest counselor. That was yesterday. You heard him speak today. It is still the firm hand, but I must to London. There indeed exists a firm hand, but it is concealed and so directed by hatred of me that it may project the avalanche that will overwhelm us all."

"And what will you do in London?" asked his daughter in an awed whisper.

HELD UP C.P.R. EXPRESS

Nat Scott, Engineer of the Train, Tells How It Was Done.

A Firm Voice of Command, and Revolvers and Rifles Pointed at Him, Made Scott the Train Robbers' Obedient Servant—Robbers Get $7,000 in Gold Dust From Ashcroft For Their Pains—Posse of Police Tracing Them.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 12.—The C.P.R. transcontinental express was held up five miles from Silverton, B. C., thirty miles from Vancouver, at 9 o'clock Saturday night. The hold-up was performed in a most masterly fashion, not a hitch taking place. Here is the story told by Nat Scott, the engineer of the train: "A mile and a half from Mission Junction I felt some one pushing me aside from behind. I turned and saw a masked man, who said in a very quiet voice: 'I want you to stop the train.' I thought at first it was a joke. I said: 'Ah, get out,' and I made as if I would tear the handkerchief off his face. Again came the quiet voice, though this time with more firmness in it: 'I tell you I want you to stop the train.' Then I saw in the uncertain light a revolver pointing at me from above the cab. I said: 'You're not joshing.' 'No,' he said, 'I am not joshing.'

Rifles Pointed at Him.

"I pulled the lever and the train began to slow up. The man in the mask called out: "Don't stop her now, go on till I tell you to stop. Do as I tell you and not a hair of your head will be touched. Stop at Silverton, at the little bridge with the church to the left.' I said all right, I am at your service, and as I turned to speak I noticed two more rifles pointing at me from above.

"We went on for about three miles until we got to the bridge west of Silverton. Here he shouted to me to stop the train. I did so. Two highwaymen then got down with Creelman, the fireman, and got him to uncouple the part of the train containing the engine, express and mail car, while the third man covered me on the engine. I chatted with this man and he talked back. There was no swearing or bluster. When the three got back I was ordered to go ahead with the express and mail car. I went ahead for a mile and a half to Rushin and was again ordered to stop. Here I was ordered back to call the expressman out of his car. I did so, and the highwayman ordered up his hands and took his revolver from him.

$7,000 in Gold Dust.

"They then told him to throw out the express parcels and the money and open the big safe. He threw them $7,000 in gold dust from Ashcroft, but said he had not the combination for the safe. The mail clerks were ordered in the same way to throw out all registered letters. The highwaymen asked where the package from Victoria was, but were told they had everything. The highwaymen then said to the mail and express clerks: "Get back boys and go to bed.'

"I was then ordered back to the engine, which was uncoupled, and I was told to drive them to the creek at Warnock station. Here they jumped off and said: 'Good night.' I replied: 'Good night, I hope you will have a pleasant journey.' The ringleader who did all the talking for the gang replied: 'I hope we will.' I then called out to them, 'You fellows have got your nerve with you.' The reply came back: 'And we got something else, too.' "

Last night the posse of police had traced the highwaymen across the Fraser River, and are now following the trail through the woods to the American border, ten miles distant. Nat Scott has given a fairly good description of the men. Conductor Ward was met by the highwaymen when coming forward to see what was up. He was ordered back into the passenger cars, where he warned the passengers to secrete their valuables. The passengers were not molested.

NORTH RENFREW PETITION ABATES.

One of the Petitioners Passes Away in Pembroke.

Pembroke, Sept. 12.—John Baptiste LeBlanc of this town, whose rise to fame was due to the fact that he was one of the petitioners against the return of Ned Dunlop, M.P.P., is dead. In fact, he was buried yesterday. The effect of LeBlanc's demise will be that "the petition will abate," that is, it cannot be tried now until a substitute petitioner for the late LeBlanc is obtained. This will entail advertising the facts of Dunlop's election in a local paper, following which within 14 days, the substitute's affidavit must be filed with the proper authorities. The trial of the North Renfrew protest has been fixed for Sept. 27, but of course the taking off of LeBlanc will change this.

In some quarters it is suggested that the petition be dropped altogether. The situation now calls for additional security for costs in any event. Meanwhile the status of the cross-petition remains unchanged.

PERRY AGAIN HONORED.

Presented With One Hundred Dollars in Gold By D.R.A.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Hon. J. M. Gibson attended the Exhibition Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and presented Pte. Perry, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley, at the Sub-Target Gun Camp, with a purse of one hundred dollars in gold as recognition of his great achievement in winning the King's Prize at Bisley. He also handed the King's Prizeman a letter of good wishes from the Association.

Pte. Perry left for Winnipeg at 12.05 a.m. on Sunday morning and will be in Vancouver, his home, on Friday morning.

FROST DID SOME DAMAGE.

Weather Now Fine, With No Rain and Harvesting Goes On.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—The cold spell which began Friday night ended in frost in some districts Saturday night. Fortunately high winds generally prevailed, thus minimizing the damage to wheat.

It is probable that a certain amount of damage was done in some sections to green grain.

Brandon district reports light frost doing considerable damage to garden stuff, though wheat does not appear to have suffered to any material extent.

The weather generally continues fine, with no rain, and harvest operations are consequently progressing rapidly.

Grain now is beginning to come in a little more freely, four cars of this season's wheat being inspected Saturday, two grading No 1 northern, one No. 2 northern and one No. 3 northern. But of course these receipts are very unfavorable compared with the situation a year ago.

CLOSE OF THE FAIR.

The Black Watch Band Excited Enthusiasm at the End.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—The Black Watch Band played the Canadian National Exhibition's close on Saturday night in a special program. The enthusiasm was intense, and the Black Watch came in for a great share of praise for the success scored. The total attendance was 576,123, as witness the record in detail:

The Fair Attendances.

Lord Minto Off at a Gallop.

Edmonton, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—After a day of ceremony in the city, His Excellency the Earl of Minto Saturday afternoon began his 500-mile ride across country. Mounted on a fine-looking police broache, riding an English saddle and wearing khaki and the wide-brimmed Stetson hat, without which westerners count themselves but partially dressed, he made a decided impression in this particular on those who watched his departure. The party moved off smartly eastward to overtake the transport which had started some hours earlier and to partake of luncheon, which had been prepared some 12 miles on the why. The route is from Edmonton to Vegreville, Burtch Lake, Lloydminster and Battleford, thence to Saskatoon, which is to be reached on the 21st inst. Fifty miles a day must be covered.

King Telegraphs Congratulations.

London, Sept. 12.—King Edward has telegraphed his congratulations to the officers of the British Antarctic expedition steamer Discovery, which arrived at Plymouth Saturday. His Majesty has ordered that a new medal be instituted for Polar service, and granted to all the officers and members of the crew. Captain R. S. Scott, commander of the Discovery, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the royal navy.

A Boat For Peary.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 12.—It is announced on good authority that a powerful steamer will be built immediately at the McKay & Dix shipyard at Verona, on the Penobscot, for Commander Peary's next expedition in search of the North Pole. The steamer will be equipped with powerful engines. She will cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

A. M. and P. M.

Who hates to go to bed at night?
That's Johnny!
Who loves to sleep when morn is bright?
That's Johnny!
If at 7 a. m. he would hate his bed
And at 9 p. m. just love it, instead,
What a peaceable life could then be led With Johnny!

—Little Bluebird.

Turns Gas On and Dies.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Despondency induced by the use of liquor caused Fred Thompson, bookkeeper for G. N. Reynolds & Co., Wellington street, to commit suicide in the firm's premises during Saturday night. When Mr. Reynolds went down to the office yesterday afternoon he found the gas jets turned on, but no light. Investigation resulted in discovering Thompson's body on the top floor. Deceased was a widower, 35 years of age.

Killed By a Train.

Moosejaw, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—Nell Smith of Winnipeg, was instantly killed at Moosejaw Friday night. Mr. Smith, his wife and two small children were passengers on No. 96, en route to Winnipeg. Just how the accident happened no one seems to know. Smith was in the yard where trains were switching and in some way he fell across the track, his head striking on the rail. A passenger train, which was making up, ran over him.

Germanic Goes Aground.

New York, Sept. 12.—The White Star Line Germanic, in the service of the American Line, which sailed from Southampton on Sept. 8, went aground in the main ship channel near Sandy Hook during a thick haze last night. The steamer does not appear to be in a bad position. She may possibly float clear at the next high water this morning.

Killed Thirteen Cattle.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Twenty-five cattle in the yards at Buckingham awaiting shipment got loose Saturday night and strayed along the track. The C.P.R. Montreal local express for Ottawa ran into them, killing thirteen. The loss is estiamted at $500. The cattle belonged to an Ottawa drover. The train was delayed for an hour.

The Baby's Troubles

The greatest suffering of childhood—chafing or other forms of skin irritation—is caused by eczema, scald head, tion or eruption. Because of its extraordinary soothing, healing power, Dr. Chase's Ointment is of inestimable value in the home where there are small children. No mother who has learned the scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used, would think of being without it in the house.

THE BURLEIGH POWER

Mr. Culverwell not Taken Seriously — Apathy as to his Proposals.

The Lindsay-Watchman-Warder has the following editorial in reference to the Burleigh Falls power and its promotion:—

The aldermen are showing far less interest in the Burleigh power project than they did in the recent merry-go-round proposition. The suspicion will at length get abroad that the minature railway furnished a problem about their size. At all events these two things roused far more enthusiasm and discussion in our representatives than has the proposal of the managing director of the company that owns Burleigh Falls, that power from that cataract shall be transmitted to this town.

No more important proposal could be at this time made to the town than one to bring into it an ample supply of electric power at a reasonable cost. At heavy outlay Lindsay has secured first-class railway facilities which will be useful in proportion as it produces goods to ship over them. To do that it must get factories, and the prime need of factories is power—electric power. Without that there is little to hope for in the future of this town. To get it is a task to which any council, with all possible re-inforcements may well address itself.

There is a tendency—and it may to some extent explain the council's apathy—to not take Mr. Culverwell seriously. It is true Mr. Culverwell has not made a very profound impression on the town. He has had dealings with it twice. He first came advocating a failure and next asking a favor. The attempt to get the Fenelon power, and the request to cancel a $1,900 mortgage on Burleigh Falls are two things not especially calculated to project a man very far into the sympathy and confidence of the town. Moreover, Mr. Culverwell's method is not always marked by the control and reserve that generally mark men who stand for big business enterprises.

Yet it ought not to be a task too big for the council to distinguish between the promoter and the power. However the aldermen may personally feel towards Mr. Culverwell—and his cordiality and enthusiasm have won for him a good deal of their regard—they should not lose sight of the fact that he represents the company that controls the Burleigh power—the power we want to get. If the personal feelings of the aldermen deprive the town of the power their sensitiveness will have come pretty high. At any rate, they are not themselves such experts in affairs and negotiations that they should balk at imperfections in others.

Moreover, Mr. Culverwell stands for a company of very reputable and prosperous business men; and it should not be impossible to get into touch with them, or at least to secure their assurances that Mr. Culverwell's engagements will be carried out. Given the owners of this property, there must somewhere be a discoverable foundation upon which to negotiate for its development and the transmission of its power to Lindsay.

The bad feature of the whole thing is that the council is simply ignoring the chief problem with which it has been confronted this year. Let it do something. Let it at least pursue the proposition to its reality, or into thin air. There is either something or nothing in it. Let us know which.

If the Burleigh power is developed, it will likely be for the reason that there is enough business in sight to make its development a profitable undertaking. In a letter sent to the council weeks ago Mr. Culverwell asks how much business might be expected from the town itself in case the power is brought here. That is a reasonable question. The letter says:—

"We shall be glad to hear from your honorable body as to a proposition by way of contract for lighting and power or some other means as will enable us to carry out our ideas."

There is a question that should have been promptly considered by the council, and given such an answer as can at present be given. Yet nothing has been done. The letter has been ignored as though it did not directly bear on the matter that stands first among those that pertain to the interests of this town.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

The Latest News From the Baseball Field---Football and Other Sporting Notes.

A game of ball with an exciting finish was that played on Saturday afternoon in the Midland League series between Port Hope and the local nine. It looked like a sure walk for the locals until the ninth, when the visitors did some quick stunts at catching up and secured a lead of one run. It was not blue-ribbon ball, but it was full of excitement, and an attendance of about 500 people remained from start to finish. Port Hope only brought up eight men with them, but arranged with Bellegheim to do the receiving from Pethick. Neither team had on their regular men, but the work was quite as good as is often seen in Midland League games. There were some sensational individual plays, and taken as a whole the match was one well worth seeing.

The visitors went first to the slab, but there was nothing doing. The locals had better luck, for Sheridan and Lamont crossed the plate. The second innings was uneventful for either side. Port Hope's score was still missing when the first of the third was finished, but for the locals McDonald and Long scored on a drive to left by Grady. McCorry singled safely, and Sheridan drove to right and landed Grady; Lamont struck out. The fourth was unprolific both for Port Hope and Peterborough. In the fifth Sheridan made nice work of Fogarty's liner; Pethick went on a dead ball; Hudson fanned, and Brown also went out on first to Sheridan. For the home bunch Long flew out to Brown, Pilling made first on a hit to third; Grady struck out, McCorry singled, Sheridan was safe on a crack to Pethick, and there were three men on bases when Lamont flew out to Bellegheam.

It was in the first of the sixth that Port Hope secured two runs. Henderson and Walters both singled, and Marvin brought the former in by a drive to right. Boney gave Whiteroft a liner, but a bad throw to first brought Walters in. Bellegheam and Fogarty fanned and relieved the suspense. The score remained unchanged so far as the local nine was concerned, but in the first of the seventh Henderson scored for the visitors, making the score 5 to 3. Grady made the hit of the afternoon by landing out a three-bagger, and scored on McCorry's sacrifice. Sheridan singled, but Lamont went out on first. A wild throw by Marvin to 3rd, however, scored Sheridan. Graham batted one to the pitcher, which Marvin made a mess of and Graham was safe. Whiteroft flew out to second. In the first of the eighth Lamont gathered in a fly from Walters. Marvin cracked one in Whiteroft's direction and made first; Boney singled to right field; Bellegheam went out to Sheridan and Fogarty fanned. In the last of the eighth McDonald flew out to Henderson, Long singled to 3rd, and made another bag on a bad throw; Pilling went out to Walters, and Grady fanned.

It was in the ninth that the fun started. The score stood 7 to 3 for the locals, and Pethick went first to bat for the visitors. He sent a liner in the vicinity of Sheridan, who fell as he made connections, and a bad throw to first resulted. Hudson, of course, went out when he hit one in Lamont's direction, and a long drive to right field by Brown brought Pethick in. Henderson struck out. Walters sent a hot one to right, which nobody seemed able to get, and Walters came in, and Boney and Marvin also saw the plate before the third man, Bellegheam, went out at first on a throw from second. There was considerable excitement now, for Port Hope was ahead by 8 to 7.

In the last half McCorry singled, Sheridan gave one to the pitcher, who threw McCorry out at second. Lamont singled to the catcher, and he and Sheridan did some fine stealing, the latter made the plate and tying the score. Graham sent a liner to Marvin, who foolishly threw to second instead of catching his man at first. Whiteroft singled safely and Lamont crossed the plate, thereby scoring the winning run, the figures standing 9 to 8.

The locals gingered up considerably in the ninth and saw that it was a dangerous thing to become indifferent with a team of aspirants such as the Port Hope men are. Mr. Bob McKeown umpired the game most satisfactorily.

RUGBY.

The President of the Rugby Club has unearthed another Rugby player. He is Mr. D. Gilmour, who comes from Brockville to take a position in the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. He learned the game in Ottawa and is a strong prize player.

On Saturday afternoon the first practice of the season was held on the Oval. There was a large attendance, and some good work was done. Two teams were chosen and the men were put through some hard playing. The following players were on hand: Crowley, captain; Hurtubouse, R. Craig, Barnard, R. O'Brien, J. O'Brien Shaw, R. Cameron, B. Cameron and others. Shaw has played the American game but Saturday was his first experience with Canadian Rugby. It is the opinion of the spectators that he will make a good player. It is probable that the local team will be as strong this year as it ever was. Mr. Mr. Frank Burnham, an old Peterborough player who for the last few years has played with Varsity will be on the line-up, and as he possesses a thorough knowledge of the snapback rules will be of great service in coaching the locals. Mr. Gilmore formerly of Brockville, who is said to be a fine wing player, may also form one of the team. The locals have as strong and fast a wing line as can be found in the country, but they need some additional strength on the back division. Lee and Burnham of last year's team will be found missing leaving two gaps in the half-back line. If these can be filled by men who can kick, the locals will have a team that will make a great bid for the senior O.R.F.U. championship.

What about the City League? The officials should call a meeting at once to make arrangements for the coming season. Last year's league was a big success and did much to boom the game. The members of the three teams which formed the league last year are nearly all available for this year, and there is no reason why the league should not be carried on this fall. There is some talk of organizing a junior O.R.F.U. team but this would not be as beneficial to the game as the league for it would prevent a lot of players who would not be quite fast enough to catch the team from playing at all.

The Toronto News sums up the Rugby situation as follows: The prospects for a good Rugby season this year are of the brightest, and there is every likelihood of there being more senior teams than ever before in the Association. This is due to the adoption of the snapback rules a year ago. It does not need so many men for a team, and then the game is more popular with the public than the old scrimmage rule. The O.R.F.U. is on the boom, and the season should be productive of many keenly contested matches. In Toronto alone there will be three senior teams in the O.R.F.U., while Varsity will be another senior team in the Inter-Collegiate Union.

The teams will all be fully as good as they were last season, and in fact, word comes from the East that the teams down there will be stronger. The season of this Union will open on October 8, when Varsity and McGill will play off in Toronto. It has always been the rule of the Ontario Union to start the scheduled matches about the last Saturday in October, so it is less than a month before the Rugby season will be in full swing. The O.R.F.U. Executive will meet next week to arrange their schedule, and once that is out it means hard work for the chaps who play the game. One of the most important questions that will come up at the first meeting of the O.R.F.U. Executive will be whether or not those who played in the senior series of the Canadian Lacrosse Association will be allowed to play amateur Rugby, as it is alleged that the majority of the senior lacrosse players received remuneration for the time they have spent this summer at the national game. If this is true, then the O.R.F.U. can hardly allow them to play as amateurs, and there is no rule for allowing professionals and amateurs to play together on the gridiron. Should the Union see fit to bar all who have played senior lacrosse in the C.L.A. it will prevent many good men from donning the padded knickers this year.

TENNIS.

Mr. F. D. Kerr of Peterborough, and Miss M. Kerr won their semi-final game in the Ontario tennis tournament in Toronto on Friday afternoon.

BASEBALL.

Organ of Ingersoll who pitched for Varsity here this spring, was given a trial by Manager Harley of the Torontos against Rochester on Friday afternoon. He pitched good ball for three innings only, allowing Rochester three hits in that time.

HOCKEY.

Mr. P. D. Ross of Ottawa, trustee for the Stanley Cup, received a challenge from the Dawson City Hockey Club through Mr. Weldy Young, formerly of Ottawa. The challenge will be accepted. According to Mr. Young the citizens of Dawson have subscribed $10,000 to send their team east.

NEW COMERS REGISTERED

Young Men Placed in Boarding Houses by Y.M.C.A.

Peterborough is certainly booming and the population is being constantly increased by people from outside places. The following strangers who have recently come to town have registered at the Y.M.C.A. since Sept. 1st.—Mr. Trumper, Thomasburg; W. E. Macpherson, Toronto; N. R. Copeland, Bracebridge; Fred Crofts, Ingoldsby; J. C. Reading, Collingwood; Philip Smith, Port Hope; A. R. McIntyre, London; Fred Brown, Lakefield; Ed. Sutcliffe, Oshawa; R. Morrison, Lakefield; A. Kingdon, Corinth, A. Davidson, Warmouth College Institute. The Y.M.C.A. is doing good work among the young men who come to town by seeing that they are placed in good boarding houses.

To Supply the Peoples Needs.

The town is growing. That is a well settled fact. One can see it in several ways but particularly in the expansion of business. Merchants are providing larger stocks and more help. Makers of supplies and articles are expanding their output. New firms are coming into the business arena and still there is plenty for all to do. In one line of trade, that of plumbing and heating the old firms are thronged with orders and new firms are very busy, consequent on the large number of buildings going up. In this connection a busy young firm is that of Adamson & Dobbin, whose premises are on Simcoe street. The firm have gained the esteem of the public as good workmen and thorough mechanics. In addition to the plumbing trade they have added stoves and furnishings and are now securing a fine stock of the best makes of ranges, stoves, heaters, and a fine line of enamelled ware. The latest appliances and conveniences for kitchen ware are sold and commend themselves to housekeepers. As the stove setting season is now on prospective buyers would do well to see what the firm have to offer.

JAPANESE CAPTURE 3,000 MEN

General Zassalitch was Wounded While Commanding the Russian Rear Guard.

JAPANESE ARE ADVANCING VERY RAPIDLY

The First Part of the Campaign Considered Lost to the Russians--Japan Sends a Protest to the United States--Kuroki's Communication With Fengwangcheng Cut Off.

London, Sept. 13.—The Morning Post states that official Russian despatches received in London announce that Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch, who commanded the portion of the Russian rear guard south of the Hun River, has been severely wounded and captured with 3,000 out of his 5,000 men.

It is added by The Morning Post that Generals Zarcubaieff, Kondratevitch and Billerling have checked Gen. Kuroki's advance.

Gen Kuroki's Communications.

London, Sept. 13.—The Daily Mail's correspondent with the Japanese repeats from Tientsin the report that Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, with 50,000 men, invaded Northeastern Corea and cut Gen. Kuroki's communications with Fengwangcheng.

Japs Drive Stronger.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13.—The Birzheviya Vedomosti's correspondent at Tie Pass, telegraphs to his paper as follows: "The Japanese who had been accused of moving forward slowly, are now advancing very rapidly. Little avails the Russian increase of troops, for the Japanese are receiving reinforcements from Mandchuria. The initiative will remain in the hands of the Japanese, and their tactics will always be repeated."

Russians Abest Yentai.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—A telegram received here from Field Marshal Oyama at midnight Sunday night gives the disposition of the Russian troops about Yentai and Mukden. He says that a large force of Russian cavalry is posted at Pingtaitze, and that another force of cavalry occupies Heilingchai. Other bodies of cavalry, with artillery, are located at Huangshanlin, on the western road out of Mukden, as well as in the neighborhood of Yuanstamushan, which is occupied by the Japanese. Some detachments of Russian cavalry are posted at Fanshi, Kushutai and Manhaintun, along the railroad between Yentai and Mukden, and are apparently keeping in touch with and watching the Japanese.

Japan Protests.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Japan has formally protested to the United States against allowing the Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena to remain in port longer than 24 hours. The Japanese consul at San Francisco, the complaint was filed with the collector of the port, who, late yesterday, wired for instructions.

Japs Barred Out.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—At the conclusion of a conference between Collector Stratton and the Japanese consul, Collector Stratton gave out a statement, in which he said. "I have decided not to allow the Japanese to go aboard the Russian transport Lena, which arrived here to make an examination. This matter is between the United States and the Russian Government, and the United States will attend to it without asking assistance from anybody. I know the law thoroughly, and will enforce it. The neutrality of the United States will be maintained without regard to any request or act of the Japanese consul."

First Part Lost.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Journal's Liaoyang correspondent, having ridden to Tientsin, sends thence the following unconsored despatch, under date of Sept. 12, at 6 p.m.: "The first part of the campaign may be considered lost. The Russian army has retreated northward in the direction of Tie Pass, or farther. The Russian army's inferiority in men, guns and enthusiasm prevented Gen. Kuropatkin's resisting longer at Liaoyang, or achieving at Yentai a victory which would have obliged the Japanese to fall back. The Japanese will shortly triumph and enter Mukden. The Russian general staff now estimates the Japanese forces at from 450,000 to 500,000. The Russian army will reconcentrate in the north, but it needs several months in order to fill up the losses in a number of corps, which must be doubled, and to replace reservists by active troops. Above all, it is essential to restore the morale, affected by almost unprecedented trials and difficulties. A Russian offensive movement will be impossible for a long time."

Independence Assured

A strong argument for life insurance is found in the scanty record of those who have been able to save out of their earnings enough to make provision for their bereaved families. There are multitudes of men to whom this is impossible, as their income is all required for the decent maintenance of their household, or, the margin for saving is too narrow to allow of a fund being accumulated out of it. Then, there are all manner of misfortunes to which men are liable, which drain away any savings which have been laid aside. Yet the great bulk of such persons could pay the premium on a life policy by exercising special economies. In relation to this, the "Insurance Monitor" narrates that: "A gentleman who was lately visiting a statistician employed in the Census Bureau at Washington, was complaining that he had little or nothing to show for the money he had earned during the course of a lifetime. Through mismanagement of his affairs and unfortunate investments it had nearly all been lost.

"Do you know," said the statistician," how many of the men in this country succeed in saving any large part of the money that they have earned. In the EASTERN MIDDLE STATES ONLY ABOUT 3 p.c. in NEW ENGLAND 3 p.c. and in THE WEST ABOUT 4 p.c." Such is the slender record of ultimate business success in this country. MORE THAN 95 PER CENT. of those whose earning powers or money-making abilities promise to place their families above want, die poor in this land of exceptional opportunities.

"Could there be a stronger argument for the need of life insurance? It is almost the only investment which is not subject to the mistakes of the investor."

The Sun Life of Canada is a household word in this country. Its marvellous increase in business is Proof of Public Confidence in its plans of Life Insurance. Profit by the experience of the men who know how to invest wisely by insuring in the MUSKOKA.

The trial of the election petition in Muskoka presents a striking contrast to that in North Perth. Mr. Brown after proof of one case of direct purchase of a vote, virtually confessed that there was corruption sufficiently extensive to upset a majority of two hundred, and by this admission staved off an exposure of the iniquitous methods by which the seat was won. In Muskoka Mr. Mahaffy made no such Russian strategic movement, being quite ready to meet his opponents, and his confidence in the justice of his cause was proved to be well founded. The constituency had been pervaded by Ministerial spies and detectives with all the funds of the machine that is, the public treasury, at their back, without any corruption being established. All this scraping as with a small tooth comb produced a singularly trivial list of irregularities, nearly all the charges brought for effect, being dismissed or abandoned. There could hardly have been a more searching inquisition and the purity of the election was shown beyond the shadow of a doubt. The grounds on which they strove to upset the free choice of the electors were utterly absurd. Some cheff across a bar as to what sum would induce a stalwart partisan to vote against his party, may be too light treatment of a serious subject, but no sane man would consider such a common joke an attempt at corruption. The payment of an elector's expenses home after he had voted, a few treats after the close of the poll may be objectionable, but are hardly the methods by which a constituency is deliberately corrupted. Even less serious was the supplying of a substitute, not a voter, to enable a voter to go to the poll. And such trivial irregularities were all that could be proved. Of course even if these were systematic and general they might be held as an attempt to affect the election, but there was no indication of anything of the kind, and these paltry cases were plainly isolated and sporadic.

Evidently the law as to election petitions requires amendment. These two trials have shown that admitted wholesale corruption may result in no worse penalty than the resignation by the bogus member of a seat which he had usurped for two sessions, the probing of the mass of fraud and bribery being prevented, while on the other hand, a constituency having made an honest choice of a representative, is harassed by an inquisition into puerile trivialities, the bulk of the vamped up charges being abandoned. There seems to be no regard for what should be the double aim of such inquiries, the maintenance of the free choice of the electors, or the exposure and punishment of deliberate attempts to vitiate the election.

A blue book of the Department of Trade and Commerce gives our imports of woollen manufactures for 1903-4 as $15,159,363, whereas two years ago they were only $10,946,8.8. It is no wonder that the Canadians employed in the woollen factories suffered.

The Toronto Globe informs the London Bread Arrow, which has been praising the Government Militia Act, that that measure was before Parliament many weeks before the Dundonald incident arose. The more valuable portions of the bill were framed on the recommendations of Lord Dundonald in his suppressed report, which is one of the reasons why the Minister of Militia practised this dishonest concealment.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little, and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

BOWESMEN HONORED.

Bowmanville and Simcoe Pay Tribute to Messrs Beith and Yeager.

Bowmanville, Sept. 13.—A rousing reception was given Robert Beith, M.P., yesterday afternoon on his return from the fair at St. Louis, where he won the grand championships, the gold medal and five first prizes with his celebrated hackneys, and from the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, where he carried off many more honors. The people of West Durham came out in large numbers and joined in the procession. After passing the principal streets, a halt was made at the agricultural fair grounds, where an address, signed by the reception committee was read by Mayor M. A. James, and a gold locket suitably engraved was presented to Mr. Beith, as a memento of the occasion. Mr. Beith made a comprehensive reply.

Yeager Also.

Simcoe, Ont., Sept. 13.—Ansley Yeager, with his string of prize-winning horses, arrived in Simcoe yesterday from Toronto Exhibition. He was met at the Grand Trunk Railway depot by the mayor and business men of the town, a procession was formed, including his string of high-class horses, headed by the band of the 39th Regiment, and he was escorted to his residence.

Was Cured of Itching Piles

By Using Dr. Chase's Ointment and Hopes Others Will Profit by His Experience.

When you ask for an ointment, the druggist naturally hands you Dr. Chase's Ointment because it is the standard throughout the world. It is the only cure for piles.

Mr. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterboro Co., Ont., writes:—"For years I was a great sufferer from Piles, and sometimes the terrible itching and burning was almost beyond endurance. Though I tried all sorts of remedies I never found a cure until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. In my opinion this Ointment has no equal, and I hope others will benefit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous Receipt book author, are on every box.

NO TECHNICALITY THIS TIME

What is Thought of the situation by the North Grey Conservatives.

The Owen Sound Times, published in North Grey, has the following timely remarks on the election trial now on hand. The Times, however, under-rates the difficulty if Mr. MacKay throws up the sponge like Mr. Brown in North Perth and the judge are as tamely acquiescent. The Times says:

Those who had hoped for an exposure of electoral corruption in the protest trials seem doomed to disappointment. Only the most guileless individual can be made to believe that the North Perth trial was all that it should have been. The manner in which Mr. Aylesworth, K.C., threw up his hands indicates that there were corrupt acts that the respondent, Mr. Brown, dared not have come to light. The arrangement also justifies the assumption that overtures had passed and that some self-constituted authority in the Liberal party had previous knowledge of what did happen in the disposal of the North Perth trial. There are persons, politicians who declare that the North Grey trial will never proceed to a full exposure; that overtures will be made and that the charges of gross corruption, of which there undoubtedly is convincing evidence, will never reach the public through the medium of the witness box. If the Conservatives of North Grey consent to and carry into effect any such arrangement as that which was undoubtedly carried out in North Perth they (say, The Times would not like to be held responsible for what might occur when the next election takes place. We are afraid that if a repetition of the election farce when Mr. MacKay was last unseated takes place the Conservative speakers may about corruption until their lungs are hoarse without effect. The rank and file of the Conservatives in North Grey know that the bye-election here was most corrupt and an exposure would have a most salutary effect The new off overtures on the part of legal lights in the employ of the central committees of the two parties in Toronto, has been ruinous in its effect on those who vote for and conscientiously work and hope for pure and honest government. Let the protest trial proceed till the last witness is heard; until Manderson, McGar, Nelson, Angus—if they can get him—and all the rest of them are compelled to tell their stories under oath. There are three hundred and eleven charges entered. The Conservatives who have had the story of election rottenness drummed into their ears look for the proof. The admission of some minor offence and a judgment unseating Mr. MacKay on a "technicality" will certainly not do this time.

FAREWELL TO MISSIONARIES

Miss Agnes Dickson, Formerly of the Y. W. C. A. is Going to Macao China.

Monday's Toronto Globe contains the following reference to a farewell meeting at which were present two new missionaries, Miss Isabel Little, M.D., and Miss Agnes I. Dickson, formerly General Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. here:—

"At Cooke's Church last night about 200 Chinese, with many Chinese teachers and friends, met to bid farewell to Miss Isabel Little, M.D., and Miss Agnes I. Dickson, who are soon to leave Canada for Macao, China. The Canadian Presbyterian Mission there was established specially to maintain connection between the Chinese in Canada and their friends in the Canton province, and to follow up those who return. Dr. R. P. Mackay presided and introduced the ladies, who made brief and appropriate addresses. The Rev. A. B. Winchester, in Chinese, explained to the "boys" the purpose of the meeting. At the close nearly all the Chinese present came forward to shake hands with the missionaries and bid them farewell. The Chinese classes in the city give promise of being more largely attended next winter than ever before. There will be a considerably increased demand for teachers. It is an opportunity of doing foreign mission work at home that is cordially responded to by the churches in Toronto, and they are finding much encouragement in the work."

Brevities

Lindsay Post:—Mr. Harry Kelley, the only son and child of Conductor W. R. Kelley, William street north, died this forenoon, aged about 20 years. He had been a sufferer from acute rheumatism, and heart affliction at irregular intervals since early childhood. He had a very large number of close acquaintances in Lindsay, Peterborough, Belleville and Madoc, and news of his death will prove a shock to many. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will have the sincere sympathy of the general public in their sad loss.

—The lift lock employees had a rather busy time on Saturday morning. The McDonald Lumber Co's tug passed over about nine o'clock on her way up the canal. Mr. J. Donnel's steam yacht, "The Mayflower," with a party of Peterborough people for Kilkenny, Stony Lake, next passed over the lift lock. The Rob Roy also went up the canal on Saturday morning en route for Stony Lake. She carried the following party, who are spending a few days at Mr. George W. Bennett's cottage:—Messrs. C. B. Clegg, A. Gibson, J. Wilson, J. D. Craig, G. W. Bennett, J. Trombley, R. M. Roy, of Peterborough, and Mr. Mary Pope, of Montreal.

—The Chatsworth Banner says:—A woman in Orangeville made some root beer and bottled it before it had fermented. A few nights later there was a popping noise in the cellar. Her husband, thinking there were burglars in the house, stealthily approached the cellar door. Just as he peeped in there was another report and he was hit. He then poked the muzzle of a fire shooter into the crack, and turning the gun from side to side, fired a fusilade of bullets into the darkness. He was then out of ammunition, but the enemy kept on firing, and he fled upstairs, where his wife was screaming for help. The neighbours arrived and found the man soaked in root beer.

KITCHEN HELPS.

Have you double boilers for your cereals?

Have you a small dipper for dipping soups?

Have you a large pepper and salt shaker for the kitchen?

Have you a good chopper? If so, you can save the bits of meat and save your strength and time.

Do you use one of the extra large egg beaters? They are made for hotels and beat the eggs in no time.

Have you in your kitchen a potato ricer? It saves a world of potato mashing and makes the potatoes light and fluffy.

Make the kitchen duties as light as possible and keep your kitchen utensils in order. It is not half so much work to do the work when the kitchen is furnished wisely. If knobs are kept on the covers the scalding and burning may be avoided.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Tactful Wife.

A tactful wife, accustomed to study her husband's moods, soon realizes that the most important part of the day to a man's peace of mind is the ten minutes that follow his return from the work of the day. At that time one word may change his whole state of feeling. He usually comes home tired. The vexations of business during the day have frequently brought him to a point of fatigue or nervousness at which a very little thing may decide what his mood will be for the rest of the evening. Of course the particular disposition of every man is certain to tell here, just as it does everywhere else, but the rule will hold good for the average man. It is unwise to talk too much at first on any subject. Conversation in a torrent at the outset is likely to upset any one who is a little tired after a day's work and who then needs quiet.—London Lady.

The Joy of Living

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force sent tingling along the nerve fibres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

TO OWN OWN PHONES

Brantford City Council Decides to Vote $40,000.

Report of Select Committee Recommending Municipal Ownership—Two Amendments Brought In But Both Were Voted Down—Ald. Brewster's Optimistic Estimate Sees 1,000 Municipal Phones in the City in Two Years.

Brantford, Sept. 13.—Notwithstanding that two amendments were brought against the special telephone committee's report recommending municipal ownership of the phone system at last night's meeting of the City Council, the report was adopted by a majority of five, four voting against it. Much spirited discussion took place.

The special committee recommended that a bylaw be introduced to raise $40,000 for the establishment of a municipal telephone system in this city. Ald. Brewster and Andrews spoke in favor of the report, while Ald. Montgomery and Leitch, also of the telephone committee, opposed the arguments.

In the course of his speech, Ald. Brewster pointed out that there would be 1,000 municipal phones in this city in two years. Ald. Andrews quoted many figures in support of his contention, which he was prepared to prove from signed documents.

The first amendment introduced by Ald. Montgomery recommended that the report be not adopted, as it was not in the interests of the city in general. It also favored an independent competitive system. The amendment was lost by a vote of 7 to 5.

The second amendment by Ald. Leitch recommended that the question be laid over, and that the Dominion Government be asked to take steps towards the control of telephone lines, rates, etc. This amendment was lost by a vote of 10 to 3.

It is not unlikely that the bylaw will be read to the Council twice and then finally submitted to the people for their consent.

Mr. Taylor, representing the Ontario Independent Company, and F. Dagger of the Stark Telephone and Light Company, addressed the Council, offering terms for plant almost similar to those before offered by them.

Died By Poison.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—Miss Hilda Sherwood, youngest daughter of the late Edward Sherwood and sister of Lieut.-Col. Sherwood, commissioner of Dominion police, took poison at her mother's residence Sunday evening about 7 o'clock and expired shortly before midnight. Miss Sherwood was a handsome girl and very popular in society. Of late she had been in low spirits, and recently took a trip along the Atlantic coast of the United States in the hope of benefitting by the change. The young lady was engaged to Mr. Orde of the Sovereign Bank, Montreal, and the wedding was to have taken place shortly.

Women For Preference.

London, Sept. 13.—(C. A. P.)—The Birmingham and Midlands Women's Imperial Tariff Reform League has issued a leaflet, demanding the granting of a preference to the colonies. Another leaflet states that if the colonies gave Britain a reasonable preference on manufactured goods, 36,000,000 pounds a year of trade, now done with foreign countries, would come to Britain instead. It is also pointed out that if the colonies were given a preference, it would be necessary to put a tax on food, for a tax on raw material would injure British industries.

Squall Causes Three Deaths.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 13.—A drowning accident occurred at Fox Island, near Canso on Sunday afternoon, by which two sons of James Rhynold, George and Thomas, lost their lives, and a third son lies in an unconscious condition, not likely to recover. Two other boys were rescued in an exhausted condition. The five boys were sailing when a squall upset the boat.

G.T.R. Section Hand Killed.

Sunderland, Sept. 13.—James Sanguinee of this place was killed at Blackwater yesterday afternoon. Deceased, a G. T. R. section hand, was on a gravel train backing into the pit at Blackwater, when he fell off the car and was run over before the train could be stopped. Death took place about half an hour after the accident. He left a widow and four little girls.

Herero Broke Through.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—Advices received here from German Southwest Africa show that the main body of the Hereros, several thousand strong, have broken through the ring of German troops disposed for the purpose of encircling them, and have escaped towards the southwest with the loss of fifty men killed.

Found in the Canal.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The body of Albert Berry, an 11-year-old lad, who had been missing for some days, was found in the Rideau Canal yesterday morning.

Captain White Dead.

London, Sept. 13.—(C.A.P.)—Capt. William White, R.N., ex-naval adviser for Canada, in 1896, is dead.

WANT TO GET WHOLE TRUTH.

Conservatives Have Nelson and McCoy Ready For Witness Box.

Owen Sound, Sept. 13.—To-day sees the beginning of the end of the protest trial against A. G. McKay, M.P.P., for North Grey. The town is alive with interest in the outcome. Mr. McKay says that he will fight to the finish, but their are others who expect him to throw up his hands if the personal charges are pressed.

The Conservatives say that there will be no repetition of the North Perth case this time. They have set out to have the whole truth revealed and intend to disqualify McKay if it is possible. With this end in view Nelson and McCoy of Buffalo, two men who took part in the North Grey election under the direction of the Liberal machine, have been brought here to testify at the trial. Through McCoy it is expected that the whole system by which it is alleged the riding was won will be revealed.

Justices Moss and Street will preside at the trial. The Liberal counsel are A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., and J. M. McEvoy. T. G. Blackstock, K.C., and James Baird of Toronto, and N. F. Paterson, K.C., and H. G. Tucker of Owen Sound, will represent the other side.

There are 311 charges, and the trial may last a week. The evidence in the examination for discovery comprises 1,000 pages of manuscript.

The North Renfrew Case.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—The legal question created by the death of Jean Baptiste Le Blanc, one of the petitioners against the return of E. A. Dunlop, M.P.P., for North Renfrew, will be settled by Mr. Justice Garrow of the Court of Appeal this morning. Neither party to the protest and cross-petition is ready with the particulars, and it has been agreed that they may be filed two days after the examination of the member and the defeated candidate, which will probably be held toward the end of the week.

MR. BORDEN IN ONTARIO.

Itinerary of His Various Meetings in the Province.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, will arrive in the city this morning and will stay at the King Edward Hotel. He will be in the city on Tuesday and Wednesday and will leave Thursday morning for Aylmer, where the first meeting of his Western Ontario tour will be held on Thursday afternoon. Following is his itinerary:

Aylmer—(First meeting)—Thursday afternoon.

St. Thomas—Thursday evening.

London—Friday, the 16th, spent in London meeting friends.

Kingsville—Saturday, the 17th, afternoon.

Windsor—Saturday, the 17th evening.

Sarnia—Monday, the 19th, evening meeting.

Blenheim—Tuesday, the 20th, afternoon meeting.

Chatham—Tuesday, evening meeting.

Stratford—Wednesday, the 21st, evening meeting.

Brampton—Thursday, Sept. 22, evening meeting.

Guelph—Friday, Sept. 23, evening meeting.

Orillia—Monday, Sept. 26, evening meeting.

AN ELECTION PROBABLE.

Appeal to Country Will Not Be Delayed Beyond November.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—(Globe Special.)—Most of the Ministers are back once more in the capital, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Mulock, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Wm. Paterson, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Hon. R. W. Scott and Hon. Chas. Hyman. Sir Frederick Borden and Messrs. Fielding and Emmerson are expected here to-day. There has been no call issued for a Cabinet meeting as yet, and perhaps none will be held until Wednesday. Public curiosity as to whether there will or will not be a general election this fall is very keen. Little doubt exists in the minds of those who carefully watch the trend of events that an early dissolution is impending, and that an appeal to the country will not be delayed beyond November.

Locomotive Firemen Meet.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 13.—The ninth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was called to order here yesterday by John J. Hannahan, grand master of the order. The report of the grand master shows that the organization is in a prosperous condition; that in the past two years there has not been a strike of firemen on any road on which the brotherhood is organized.

Now at a Deadlock.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The joint protective board of railway carmen, who have been in conference with the officials of the C.P.R. for the past few weeks regarding the adoption of a schedule for the eastern division of the C.P.R. system are now at a deadlock owing to the refusal of the company to accept the conditions and the rates presented by the carmen. W. J. Adams, who is in charge though with what is going on, announced last night that another conference would be held to-day.

KINGSLEY'S WATER BABIES

filth, and desire for God, and, lastly, conversion.

The speaker next gave consideration to the three periods of Tom's life as a Water Baby. His heedless existence in the river represented the life of worldliness. Men might be convicted of sin, but not cleansed of worldliness. There might exist a spiritual pride instead of sensuality. Tom amused himself in an aimless, inconsiderate way—a life of carelessness, thoughtlessness and selfishness. The teaching applied was that a worldly life may be as mischievous and hurtful as a sinful life, and a man under those circumstances might be as far removed from God as if he were living a sensual life. Tom for a time did not recognize the other Babies, and this represented the life of the purely worldly man not recognising his fellow beings as brothers and sisters until his eyes were opened, and he saw that all constituted the great family of God. The same doctrine was brought out in "The Ancient Mariner." The speaker read the interesting description of Tom's experience with the lobster, his eventual discovery of other Water Babies, his being established in a right relationship with his fellow beings, and his experience with Mrs. Bedonebyasyoudo. In passing the speaker impressed the lesson that a man may fall into the faults he had committed before being converted. Tom meddled with and annoyed the other creatures in the sea, and so was punished by Mrs. Bedonebyasyoudo, a character, said the speaker, who represents that law of our nature imposed by the Almighty—"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Passages were read from the book depicting the transformation of this character into one more charming, and imparting the lesson that the law was beautiful to all those in sympathy with it. The joyous arrival of Mrs. Doasyouwouldbedoneby, and her welcome and care of the Babies, especially of Tom, the convert, was significant of divine grace, and the story of the divine love manifested in the redemption of the world by Jesus Christ.

Tom was now equipped for work, and he arrived at that crisis in his life when he must go where he did not want to go, and do something he did not want to do, the speaker observing in passing that there were a great many people who talked about religion, but never did anything. It was expected of Tom that he should go and help Mr. Grimes. There were many people in the world who thought they could obtain all of the good things without self-denying toil. On the other hand, if a man had a right opinion, it was worth just what it cost him. What was involved in doing good was the measure of its excellence. The speaker said, "Our blessed Lord Himself, in His earthly condition, realized the heighth of human perfection by the suffering He endured and the work He performed.

Tom's meeting with Mother Carey, representing Dame Nature, was next depicted. She, it seemed to him, was always employed in changing old things into new, but she told him that her object was to make them make themselves; this without fuss of any kind, representing, of course, the process of nature. She gave him two directions—to follow his dog, the animal of instinct, and to walk backwards. The first of these conveyed the necessity of following the guides through life given by Nature, and the second, the wisdom of benefitting by experience. Tom's career after this was depicted in passages read from the book—his meeting with the Board of Examiners, and the pow-wow men, Prof. Clarke applying the lesson that some people sought to do good by first terrifying those with whom they came into contact.

The final scene was a very impressive one. Tom had fulfilled his mission, and met a very beautiful person, who was a glorious transformation of those characters with whom he had come in contact during his life as a Water Baby. In conclusion Prof. Clarke said:—"When we stand in the full light of eternity, in the full stature of man in Christ, disciplined by the grace and wisdom of God, then shall we understand that nature, grace, law, providence and conscience are all one in God."

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and seconded by Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, both of whom expressed great appreciation of the lecture, and the pleasure that all must have felt in welcoming so eminent a scholar. The vote of thanks was very heartily approved of by the audience, and in reply Prof. Clarke said he had always enjoyed his visits to Peterborough. It was being impressed upon him now that he was becoming ripe in years, and that he must soon deny himself the pleasure to trips here and there, and would remain at home with his books.

In conclusion three cheers were given for Professor Clarke.

Of Use Every Day

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

Conditions Considered by the Board of Education.

TWO COMMITTEES REPORTED

Board Decides That Reduction of the Number of its Members Would Not Be Advisable at the Present Time.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening at the usual place. The following members were in attendance: J. J. Hartley, chairman; Jas. Stevenson, V. Eastwood, H. P. Kennedy, W. Pringle, John Crane, W. C. Ferguson, F. Jamieson, J. J. McBain, Dr. Burnham, Robt. Fair, W. H. Hill.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk, saying that the town's finance committee has reported that with reference to Board's request that the council issue debentures for $3,000 to pay for the heating apparatus in the Central Public School, the committee referred the request to the town solicitor and he advises that the council has not authority, to do so.—Received.

From Alfred B. Owen, of the Barnardo Home, asking the Board's co-operation in securing sewer connection with the Home.—Property committee.

From Miss Ames and Miss Perrin asking that their appointment on last year's schedule be reconsidered. —Received.

From C. W. Whitley, who lives outside the town limits, asking permission for his children to attend the Barnardo Avenue School on free terms.—Referred to Supervision Committee and inspector, with power to act.

SCHOLARS AND CADETS.

Mr. Duncan Walker presented the following report re scholarships:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I beg leave to report that at the recent Entrance examination held in Peterborough Miss Gladys Crane took the highest standing among the girls and Willie Harper among the boys. These are, therefore, the candidates entitled to your scholarships.

DUNCAN WALKER,
Chairman Examining Board.

Report of inspection sent by John Millar, Deputy Minister Cadet Corps, M. D. No. 8: Date of inspection, 8th June, 1904; present on parade—Officers 3, N. C. O. and men 35; total, 38. Arms and accoutrements very well kept, squad drill very good, company drill excellent, manual exercise very good, rifles too heavy, firing exercise very good, ceremonial drill excellent, armoury good and well cared for, officers very well up in their work; extended order good (poor chance to judge on account of heavy rain.)

The chairman was empowered to make the presentations of the scholarships to the pupils mentioned in the inspector's report.

Mr. Pringle, for the Supervision Committee, presented a requisition for supplies. It was decided on motion to purchase two Underwood typewriters with suitable desks.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Eastwood presented the report of the Property Committee:

The Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen.—Your property committee beg leave to report repairs to the various properties as recommended in our April report as follows:

Fifth Ward.—This whole property has been renovated, both inside and out, and the fences have been repaired and painted. Inside, the walls, ceilings, etc., have been refinished; the vestibules in the hall downstairs have been removed and placed outside; the basement cleaned out and wired for lighting. The room in the small building, formerly used by the village council, has been fitted up for a class room, seated, decorated, etc.

Central School.—The repairs as recommended have been fully carried out, the roof has been repaired, the old platforms on the east side have been taken out and concreted, the building has been painted outside, windows repaired and general renovation carried out in the interior.

South Central School.—The roof has been repaired, fences repainted, halls and various rooms redecorated as ordered. Basement has also been kalsomined.

West Ward School. — Hardwood floors have been laid down on top of the old floors, which have been badly worn. New seats have been put in Mr. McCreary's room, and all walls, ceilings, etc., refinished.

North Ward School—This school being in fairly good order, very little has been spent on it.

George street School—With the exception of one room very little repairs have been required, as the accounts will show.

Collegiate Institute.—This building has been repainted outside. A metallic ceiling has been put in one room and several of the rooms were kalsomined and painted where required. These repairs have been carried out under the inspection of the architect of the Board, Mr. Blackwell, and we trust that all of the same will have the approval of the Board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The Finance Committee recommended payment of the following accounts:

W. Stocker	$ 5 00
Globe Ptg. Co	9 00
Mail and Empire	7 40
Mail and Empire	2 88
W. H. Cluxton	35 00
R. Hicks & Co	103 88

Peterborough Revie w	6 80
Adam Hall	5 08
Times Ptg. Co	5 19
Times Ptg. Co	11 92
Geo. Hutchinson	2 50

The Committee also recommended that the Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co. be paid $465.00 for 100 cars of coal, the balance of the account to stand at present.

The report was adopted.

A motion was passed appointing Miss Allison of Brampton on the staff of public school in place of Miss Hudson, who was appointed but did not accept.

A motion was passed confirming the payment of accounts.

Miss Harding on motion was appointed second kindergarten assistant in the South Central School.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS.

Mr. Duncan Walker presented a report as to the crowded condition of several rooms in the Public Schools. In the South Central Primary Miss Aldridge, the teacher, stated that there were sixty-seven pupils and that there were more to come, which would bring the attendance up to eighty-one.—The matter was referred to the Supervision Committee.

Mr. Pringle, referring to the overcrowding of the Collegiate Institute, stated that in several of the rooms some four or five pupils were sitting on the window sills. Some 250 pupils are in attendance at present.

Mr. Hill stated that there were only two or three schools in the Province which had as large attendance as the Collegiate Institute. The matter was referred to the Supervision committee.

Mr. Hill suggested that the Board should take some measures in view of the proposal of the town council to change the composition of the Board by cutting it down to seven members. Mr. Hill stated that he did not think it advisable to make any change in the Board at the present time. They had some important business on hand which could be carried out more satisfactorily by them than by a new Board.

It was moved by Mr. McBain, seconded by Mr. Hill, "That in the opinion of this Board it is undesirable that any action changing the composition of the Board should be taken at the present time, as very important matters have recently been taken up, which this Board believes can best be carried out by the Board as at present constituted and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the town council."

Concerning the $3,000 for heating apparatus it was decided to refer the matter to the solicitor of the Board before taking any action.

The Board then adjourned

KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE

JOHN HEARD OF LAKEFIELD MEETS SUDDEN DEATH.

Was Sweeping off the Roof of Power House When his Head Came in Contact with Live Wire

Word was received this afternoon by Coroner Gray, from Lakefield, of the very sudden death of John Heard, of that place, an employee of the Cement Company. From information received it appears that Heard was at work sweeping off the roof of the Company's power house, when his head came in contact with a live wire running over the building at a height of five feet or more. The wire was heavily charged and apparently uninsulated, for when the unfortunate man's head came in contact with it instant death ensued. The wire it is said, carried 10,000 volts. He had for some time been an employee of the Cement Company and was considered one of their most reliable men Coroner Gray states that he would be about 50 years of age. He was a married man and his wife is living. There is one son, who at present is serving in the British Army.

Mr. R. E. Wood, Deputy Crown Attorney, and Coroner Gray have considered an inquest necessary in the case, and a jury will be empanelled this evening.

BURGLARY IN MARMORA

A Vault Blown Open and $100 in Money, a Gold Nugget and Bonds Valued at $150,000 Taken

A report was received from Marmore today to the effect that a burglary was committed there this morning between two and five o'clock, on the premises of A. W. Carscallen. The building entered was formerly a private bank. This morning the vault was broken open, and the burglars got away with $100 in money, a gold nugget valued at $250 and bonds of different kinds valued at $150,000. The opinion is that the work was done by professionals. Strange characters have recently been seen in the locality, but at present the authorities have not the slightest clue. There appears to be a considerable amount of burglarising going on throughout the Province at the present time.

AN OTTAWA WIFE DESERTER

HAS BEEN LOCATED IN PETERBORO LIVING WITH ANOTHER WOMAN.

Man was Discovered Through a Carter who Moved the Other Woman's Effects to a Prominent Peterboro Street.

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 13.—Clement Dodd, Ottawa, who deserted his wife and two children, has been located. The police believe he has been in Peterborough. He was seen there by an Ottawa detective. It is alleged he has been living there with Mrs. Mary Lechance, former cook at Ottawa Isolation Hospital. Detective Robilliard went to Peterborough, located the woman and subpoenaed her to give evidence in the hospital investigation now being held. She shipped her furniture out of the Capital under an assumed name and the detective only located her through the carter who moved her household effects to a prominent Peterborough street. Dodds' wife said to-day:—"I have never heard nor seen him since June 11th, but think he should be made to support his family. I don't know if he is living with Mrs. Lechance, but I do know he kept company with her." The Lechance woman gave sensational evidence at the investigation yesterday. Ottawa papers recently referred to her and Dodds' disappearance, but they couldn't be located until lately.

—A man named Wes. Howell was brought up before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of being drunk and assaulting his wife. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for a week.

KINGSLEY'S WATER BABIES

THE SUBJECT OF AN INTERESTING ADDRESS BY PROF. CLARKE

The Learned Gentleman Gives his Exposition of this Very Interesting Allegory.

Rev. Prof. Clarke, D.C.L., of Trinity University, last evening gave, for the second time in Peterborough, his celebrated lecture upon Kingsley's "Water Babies." The attendance was very large and there were not lacking those evidences of warm welcome always accorded to the learned gentleman when he visits Peterborough. Those who heard Prof. Clarke last evening will agree that his seventy-five years sit remarkably well upon him, and there is no evidence of deprecation in the grand intellect, the clearness of perception, the charming powers of illustration, the eloquent delivery that are his to so marked a degree. This was emphasized most impressively in the delightful address of last evening—an address that was very entertaining and decidedly instructive.

It was largely owing to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's efforts that Prof. Clarke visited Peterborough on this occasion, and the rector of St. Luke's occupied the chair. He considered it unnecessary to introduce the speaker of the evening; he had been here before and was always most heartily welcomed.

Prof. Clarke first explained one or two things in connection with the publication of the book, which he considered would be of interest. It was prepared some forty years ago, and published in magazine form, a chapter at a time; soon after it was published in a volume. During the publication of the volume he became conscious that it was not merely what Kingsley called it—a fairy tale for land babies—but an allegory setting forth various phases of the spiritual life of man. Several of Prof. Clarke's friends took an interest in the chapters as they appeared, and referred to him from time to time, asking the meaning of this passage or of that. After its publication he lectured upon it in several places. Some believed this exposition, some doubted, some seemed to say at once that his was the true exposition, while others thought it was purely imaginary. Eventually he was challenged to print his exposition—a rather serious undertaking during the lifetime of the author. He yielded at last, as the only way to settle a question, and it gave him great pleasure to point back to the author's letter as a justification. The letter contained these words of testimony in reference to Prof. Clarke's exposition, "From beginning to end, I desire not one word more or less with regard to my meaning."

The story was one of the most interesting of Christian allegories, although hardly on the same level as Pilgrim's Progress. It was very interesting to compare the spirit of one of these with the spirit of the other. The Pilgrim's Progress presented the religious mind of the time of Charles II., while Kingsley's was a remarkable reflection of the religious spirit of the present age. The former set forth the depth of feeling with regard to the conviction of sin—a characteristic of that age. It was the speaker's opinion that there had since developed a change and an improvement in some ways. There was a depth about the Puritanical theology, but the speaker expressed the opinion that there was at the present time a stronger conception of the law of Jesus Christ. There was one other allegory which he considered should be mentioned—Dante's Divine Comedy, which, perhaps, was of its kind the greatest poem in any language.

Prof. Clarke divided the "Water Babies" into two parts—1st, Tom, the hero, as a chimney sweep, and, 2nd, as a Water Baby. The latter part he again divided into three parts, 1, Tom's life in the river immediately after departing with Grimes; 2, his life under the influence of the two fairies; 3 the time when he set out upon his commission. He stated that there could be no doubt but that the life of the chimney sweep referred to the life of sin, not merely alienation from God, but sin in actual operation, not merely the state of man in his defilement, but the degrading power in human life. Continuing, he described the story depicting Tom's sudden consciousness of his dirty condition upon finding himself in the room of Ellie at Harthover Hall, he having unwittingly descended by a chimney, which branched out from one which Grimes and he had been cleaning. Rushing out from the house, he was taken for a robber, and at the end of a long chase across the heath, he found himself with one who had formerly been Mrs. Grimes, now deserted by her husband and teaching school. The sight of a chimney sweep was therefore repellant to her, but Tom sought rest among some straw in an out-building. He could not rest, however, and the words of the old Irish woman kept ringing in ears, "Who will be filthy will be filthy. Who will be clean will be clean." With determination to become clean he rushed out and jumped into the river, and when the people came to look for him they found only the shell, representing his former self. He had became a Water Baby. This conveyed the idea of conviction of

JERUSALEM AND HOLY LAND

A Lecture to be Given by Rev. John Potts D. D. on September 29th.

It will, no doubt, be remembered by all, more especially by Bible teachers and students, that in the spring of the present year some 800 Americans and Canadians left New York, by a steamer chartered for the occasion, on a long trip to Jerusalem, to attend the world's Sunday School Convention. Among this large company of enthusiasts no one received more honor than did the Chairman of the Committee on the International Series of Sunday School Lessons, the Rev. John Potts, D.D., of whom every Canadian feels justly proud. He it was who was chosen to preach the sermon Easter morning and, according to the published reports, it was a sermon worthy of the man, the day and the place. A little later he again was honored by being chosen to deliver an oration on Mars' Hill, the spot endeared and immortalized by St. Paul's famous address to the Athenian philosophers. It will, therefore, be with great pleasure that all Bible readers will learn that Dr. Potts, though a very busy man, has accepted an invitation to give a lecture, in Peterborough, on his trip, and the impression he received of the historic old city of Jerusalem, and of the Holy Land. It is not the intention to make the occasion a money-making one, but one that will permit the largest possible number to hear this gifted orator on a subject so replete with interest. The admission has been placed at 15c. or two tickets for 25c., and the George street Methodist church has been secured for the lecture. This should enable at least 1,000 people to attend. The evening is Thursday, September 29.

CALLS FOR PERSEVERENCE.

Does the Work on the New Dam Below Little Lake.

The Otonabee river affords amusement for the pleasure seeker at all seasons but a certain portion of it at the present time would furnish a different kind of entertainment especially for those of an enquiring mind. The construction of the new cement dam at the foot below, Little Lake given one a hazy idea of what man's skill, perseverance and physical strength can accomplish. There have been 12,000 bags of clay used to assist in keeping back the water from flowing in while the cement work is going on. The trenches for solid foundations are 14 feet below the river bed, and altogether the sight is one worthy of observation. It is possible for one to walk around an area of a quarter of an acre and be as dry as walking on the pavement above. This seems almost incredible with the turbulent river surging all round. The construction that is going on is both difficult and dangerous but through Mr. McNamara's ingenuity the difficulties have been overcome, although some experts on this kind of work declared it was an impossibility to construct this dam and still keep navigation open. Mr. McNamara, however, with discouragement from man on one side and the stubborn river on the other, is carrying on this work successfully, showing what great possibilities there is for cement in future.

STRANGERS' FELLOWSHIP CLUB

A Very Interesting Meeting Held at the Y. M. C. A.

The Strangers' Fellowship Club of the Y.M.C.A. held their regular meeting on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock

All the ministers of the town and the directors of the Association were invited to take tea with the club—both being ably represented.

After tea Mr. R. E. Harding, the Club's president, took charge and briefly outlined the aims of the Club and the importance of its work as an auxiliary to that of the pastors of the churches. He traced the history of the work done since 1900 when the Club was organized. During the past six months 308 visitors' tickets had been issued and boarding houses were found for 220.

Mr. Harding emphasized the need of dormitories in connection with the building and expressed confidence that they would be shortly erected.

Mr. H. McNeillr, a member of the Club, read a thoughtful paper on the Boarding House Problem.

Short addresses appreciative of the Club's work were given by Revs. Dr. Crothers, Bross, Lewis, Wilson and Messrs. Shook and Bennet. The meeting closed with the club hymn and benediction by Rev. J. G. Potter.

Raffle Baskets

Wouldn't you like to have something novel in the way of presents for your friends this Christmas? If so, why not make some of these pretty raffle baskets that are both useful and ornamental. They are very easily and quickly made and several ladies in town who have become adept in the art would be willing to give some instructions in it for a small fee. Instructions may be found in several of the magazines which are widely read in town and in the issue of the Ladies' Home Journal for August 1903. The raffia comes in many pretty shades and is for sale only at the Review office. Its use suggests those long evenings in getting ready for Xmas and avoid being hurried later on.

Over the Border

By... ROBERT BARR.

Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"God knows! Had I the untrammeled ordering of events I would strike terror into parliament, as I struck terror into the Scots or the Irish, but—but if after that there was a similar sneaking underhand surrender, why, then the countryman would have my head, as he hoped. I fear there are troublous times ahead."

Tired with long converse and the jolting of the vehicle, Strafford sank into a troubled sleep, from which he was at last awakened by the stopping of the carriage in front of his town house.

CHAPTER IV.

FRANCES WENTWORTH crossed the threshold of her father's house with more trepidation than she had experienced on entering the palace of the king at Hampton Court. Here probably awaited a stepmother with her children, and Frances doubted the cordiality of the approaching reception. The ever increasing fear of her father, a sentiment felt by nearly all those who encountered him, mingled with hatred, usually, on their part, but with growing affection on hers, prevented the putting of the question whether or no Lady Strafford was now in London. Their journey together had been silent since he ceased the exposition of the difficulties which surrounded him, a man whom all England regarded as being paramount in the kingdom, yet in reality baffled and almost at bay.

Looking back over the day now drawn to its close, she marveled at her own courage in approaching him as she had done, light heartedly and confident. Were her task to be re-enacted her mind misgave her that she would not possess the temerity to carry it through, with her new knowledge of the man. Yet if Strafford were hated in the three kingdoms, he seemed to be well liked in that little despotism, his home, where servants clustered round, for each of whom he had a kind word. Whether they knew of his coming or not, the house was prepared for his reception, fires blazing, and a table spread in the room to which he conducted his daughter. Outside the night was cold and damp and the inward warmth struck gratefully upon the senses of the travelers.

"Mrs. Jarrett," said the earl to his housekeeper, who looked with wonder at the newcomer he had brought, "have you aught of woman's trappings that will fit my daughter here?"

"Your daughter, my lord?"

"Yes, and as you will be consumed by curiosity until you know how it comes so, I will add that she is newly found, having lived till now with her grandfather in the north, and is the child of my second wife, Frances Warburton, married by me some seventeen years since. Any further particulars my daughter herself will supply, if you question shrewdly, as I doubt not you will, but postpone inquiry I beg of you until tomorrow. Meanwhile robe her as best you may with the materials at hand, and that quickly, for I wish her company at supper."

Frances was then spirited away to the apartment assigned to her, and when presently she reappeared she was costumed more to her father's liking than had hitherto been the case. They sat down together to the meal that had hastily been prepared for them.

"Tomorrow, if I remember aright what you said, is your birthday."

"Yes, my lord."

"Is it difficult for you to say 'father?' My other children pronounce the word glibly enough. When you and I first met, and even since then, you seemed not backward in speech."

"Sir, I find myself more afraid of you than I was at the beginning."

Strafford smiled, but answered: "I assure you there is no need. I may be an implacable enemy, but I have the reputation of being as stanch a friend. So tomorrow is your birthday, saddened by the fact that it is also the date of your mother's death. That is a loss for which a man in my onerous position cannot even partially atone, but it is a loss which you perhaps have not keenly felt. It seems heartless to speak thus, but the fact remains that we cannot deeply deplore the departure of what we have never enjoyed. One thing I can covenant—that you shall not hereafter know the lack of money, which is something to promise in a city of shops."

"I have never known the lack of it, my lord."

"Have you indeed been so fortunate? Well, there again you bear a resemblance to your father. Sir John was reputed comfortably off in the old days, and I infer he harbored his wealth, a somewhat difficult task in times gone by. Are you, then, his heir?"

"One of two, my lord."

"Ah, yes. I had momentarily forgotten the brother who favors his grandfather rather than his sire. I am like to be overbusy tomorrow to attend the mart of either mercer or goldsmith, and if I did I should not know what to purchase that would please you. Buy what catches your fancy and flatter your father by naming it his gift. I am very tired and shall not rise early tomorrow. Do not wait breakfast for me. Good night, daughter."

"Good night, father."

Although he had said the last conventional words of the day, he still stood there as if loath to retire; then he stooped and kissed her on the lips, ruffling her black wayward, curly hair, so like his own in texture, color and freedom from restraint, and patting her affectionately on the shoulder.

"You will not be afraid of me from this time forward, child?" he asked. "Indeed, Frances, I grow superstitious as I become older, and I look on your strange arrival as in some measure providential. There is none of my own kind to whom I can speak freely, as I did to you in the carriage. My daughters—my other daughters—are too young. My Lady Strafford takes much interest in her garden and dislikes this London house and this London town, for which small blame is to be imputed to her. In you a man's courage is added to a woman's wit, and who knows but my daughter may prove the re-enforcement I lacked in my baffling fight with the unseen?"

"I hope I shall not disappoint you, sir, though I am but a country maid, with some distrust of this great city and its court."

"City and court are things we get speedily accustomed to. Well, again good night, sweetheart, and sleep soundly. I see those fine eyes are already heavy with slumber."

But sleep came not so quickly as he surmised to the eyes he had complimented. The day had been too full of rapid change and tense excitement. The strange transformation of the present, and the dim, troubled vista of the future which opened out to her, cherished thought and discouraged slumber. Was it possible that she was then to be transplanted, was to stand by the side of the greatest man in England, his acknowledged daughter, his welcome aid? God grant she might not fail him if he had real need of her. And so she planned the days to come. She would be as subtle as the craftiest. She would cover all distress as the cloak had covered her, and her lips should smile though her heart revolted. Her tongue must measure what it said, and all rural bluntness should disappear.

She slipped from these meditations into a hazy, bewildering conflict; her father, somehow, was in a danger that she could not fathom, she lacking power to get to him, restrained by invisible bonds, not knowing where he was, although he called to her. Then it seemed there was a turmoil in the street, a cry for help, a groan and silence, and next Mrs. Jarrett was moving about the room and had drawn curtains that let in a gray, misty daylight.

"Is my father yet risen?" she cried.

"Oh, good lack, no, your ladyship, nor will he for hours to come."

The girl's head fell back on her pillow, and she said dreamily, "I thought there had been trouble of some sort and men fighting."

"Indeed, your ladyship, and so there was, a rioting going on all the night. I think the citizens of London are gone mad, brawling in the street at hours when decent folk should be in their beds. 'Tis said that this new parliament is the cause, but how or why I do not know."

Although the Earl of Strafford did not quit his chamber until noontide, he was undoubtedly concerned with affairs that demanded attention from the greatest minister of state. There were constant runnings to and fro, messengers dispatched and envoys received, with the heavy knocker of the door constantly a-rap. It was two hours after midday when Strafford sent for his daughter, and she followed his messenger to the library, where she found her father in his chair beside a table, although he was equipped for going forth from the house. There had been seated before him De Courcy, but the young man rose as she entered and greeted her with one of his down reaching bows which set her a-quake lest he should fall forward on his face.

"My child," said the earl, "I am about to set out for parliament, and it may be late before I return. Yet I think you shall sup with me at 7 if all goes well and debate becomes not too strenuous, but do not wait in case I should be detained. I counsel you not to leave the house today, for there seem to be many brawlers on the streets. Any shopman will be pleased to wait upon you and bring samples of his wares, so send a servant for those you wish to consult. My friend De Courcy, here, begs the favor of some converse with you and speaks with my approval."

Strafford looked keenly at the girl, and her heart thrilled as she read the unspoken message with quick intuition. He had some use for De Courcy, and she must be suave and diplomatic. Thus already she was her father's ally, an outpost in his vast concerns now committed to her. The young man saw nothing of this, for he had eyes only for the girl. The broad rim of his feathered hat was at his smirking lips, and his gaze of admiration was as unmistakable as it was intent.

"Sir, I shall obey you in all things and hope to win your commendation," said Frances, with an inclination of the head.

"You are sure of the latter in any case, my child," replied Strafford, rising. "And now, De Courcy, I think we understand each other, and I may rely upon you."

"To the death, my lord," cried the young man, with another of his courtly genuflections.

"Oh, let us hope it will not be necessary quite so far as that. I bid you good day. Tomorrow at this hour I shall look for a report from you. For the moment, goodby, my daughter."

No sooner was the earl quit of the room and the door closed behind him than De Courcy, with an impetuous movement that startled the girl, flung himself at her feet. Her first impulse was to step quickly back, but she checked it and stood her ground.

"Oh, divine Frances!" he cried, "how impatiently I have waited for this rapt moment when I might declare to you"—

"Sir, I beg of you to rise. 'Tis not seemly you should demean yourself thus."

"'Tis seemly that the whole world should grovel at your feet, my lady of the free forest, for all who look upon you must love you, and for me, who have not the cold heart of this northern people, I adore you, and do here avow it."

"You take me at a disadvantage, sir. I have never been spoken to thus. I am but a child and unaccustomed; only sixteen this very day. I ask you to"—

"Most beauteous nymph! How many grand ladies of our court would give all they possess to make such confession truly. Aye, the queen herself. I do assure you, sweetest, such argument will never daunt a lover."

"I implore you, sir, to arise. My father may return."

"That he will not. And if he did 'twould pleasure him to see my suit advancing. I loved you from the first moment I beheld you, and, though you used me with contumely, yet I noticed my wounded heart that 'twas me you noticed, and me only, even though your glance was tinged with scorn."

Notwithstanding a situation that called for tact, she was unable to resist a touch of the linguistic rapier, and her eyes twinkled with suppressed merriment as she said, "You forget, sir, that I also distinguished the keeper of the hounds with my regard;" but, seeing he winced, she recollected her position and added: "In truth, I was most churlishly rude in the forest, and I am glad you spoke of it, that I now have opportunity to beg your pardon very humbly. I have learned since then that you stand high in my dear father's regard, and indeed he chided me for my violence, as 'twas his duty to do by a wayward child."

The gallant was visibly flattered by this tribute to his amour propre. He seized her hand and pressed his lips to it, the tremor which passed over her at this action being probably misinterpreted by his unquenchable vanity. The tension was relieved by a low roar from the street, a sound that had in it the menace of some wild beast roused to anger. It brought to the girl a reminiscence of her disturbed dreams.

"Good heaven, what is it?" she exclaimed, snatching away her hand and running to the window. Her suitor rose to his feet, daintily dusted the knees of his silken wear with a film of [illegible]

FROST BITES MANITOBA

Fortunately the Territories Escape Damage.

Cold and Drizzling Rains Monday Made Harvesting Operations An Impossibility —Cheerful Feature Is That Most of the Grain in Manitoba Is in Shock and Past Damage From Frost—Further Danger Improbable.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 13.--Frost, in varying degree, was pretty well universal in Manitoba Sunday night.

Yesterday cold and drizzling rains make all harvesting operations impossible. Curiously enough the Territories seem to have entirely escaped, with the exception of the Edmonton district, where the thermometer touched 30. At Calgary it registered 32, but throughout the main territorial wheat area, from Moose Jaw to Moosomin considerably higher temperatures were recorded, due to the prevailing southwest winds.

This is the cheerful factor of the situation, for in this area there is much green wheat, while in Manitoba the grain is mostly in shock and past damage from frost. The most severe frost was experienced in Southern Manitoba—Estavan, Emerson and Pierson registering 28 degrees and Morden 30. Wheat, however, in these parts is almost all cut. Central Manitoba, including Portage and Brandon districts, though not heavily touched, may suffer more, as harvesting is not so far advanced. The northern parts of Birtle and Minnedosa were badly hit, and the crops being late, wheat will lose heavily in grade. But in Birtle, especially the bulk of the crop is oats, which is not so susceptible to frost.

If wet weather continued last night, as seems very probable, there will be no further danger of frost damage.

TRAIN ROBBERS GOT $11,000.

C.P.R. Making Strenuous Efforts to Nab Highwaymen.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The announcement was made yesterday at the head offices of the C.P.R. that a reward of $1,000 had been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits concerned in the daring hold-up in British Columbia on Saturday night. As this is the first hold-up in the history of the C.P.R., nothing will be left undone towards the capture of the highwaymen.

They already have one man arrested at Westminster Junction, B.C., on a charge of criminal knowledge of the affair.

The latest report is that $6,000 worth of gold dust, $1,000 in currency and about $4,000 from registered letters, was the haul secured by the robbers. None of the passengers was molested.

The officials state that as far as is known this is the second train robbery that ever occurred in Canada. The only previous one was a robbery on the G.T.R., near Toronto, twelve years ago.

SAN JOSE SCALE.

Judgment Reserved in Matter of Great Interest to Fruit Growers.

St. Catharines, Sept. 13.—In the police court yesterday morning Magistrate Comfort reserved decision in several cases of vital interest to farmers and fruit growers. The prosecutions were the result of the widespread havoc the San Jose scale is making among the fruit trees of the Niagara Peninsula.

Two citizens of St. Catharines, John J. Fee and John Simington, were accused of disobeying San Jose Scale Inspector Beatty's orders to destroy or properly treat scale infected trees on their premises.

The magistrate said he would give his decision to-day. There are several more cases to hear.

International Arbitration.

St. Louis, Sept. 13.—The twelfth conference of the Inter-Parliamentary Union opened yesterday in Festival Hall at the World's Fair grounds. Hon. F. B. Loomis, speaking for President Roosevelt, said: "The Government of the United States in all proper ways will continue to give its aid and encouragement to the cause of international arbitration, to which it is so firmly and earnestly committed."

FOUR HIGHWAY ROBBERIES.

One Toronto Victim Has His Arm Broken in Struggle.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Highwaymen were active early this morning, and three cases were reported, one in the west end and two in the east. Two men were arrested for one of the offences, the victim of which is not known.

In one case the highwayman used violence, and James Martin of 24 Golden avenue is in the hospital. He was walking along the railway tracks near the Roncesvalles avenue crossing in Parkdale, when he was accosted by two men. They grabbed him and started to go through his pockets. He struggled viciously and raised an outcry, which finally frightened his assailants off. They secured no booty. In the fighting Martins' arm was fractured, and he was otherwise ill-used. Dr. McConnell was sent for, and later the police ambulance removed him.

About 1 o'clock Patrolmen Guthrie (177) and Allen (184), while on their beats near Queen and Sherbourne streets, saw two men running and gave chase. They overhauled their prey, and found them to be William Yates, no home, a well-known thief, and Fred Cavanagh. When searched, a gold watch and other trinkets were found. They are said to have held up a man near the corner.

M. O'Reilly of Montreal, told P. C. Martin that he had been relieved of a gold watch and $52 in cash at Church and Front streets last night. He was intoxicated. He had $13 on him when searched by the police.

Yesterday afternoon a young man named Thomas Harrison was arrested by P. C. Young at King and Porter streets for robbing a drunken man in full view of several pedestrians.

40,000 TONS OF STEEL RAILS.

C.P.R. Places a Big Order With Consolidated Company.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 13.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has placed an order with the Consolidated Lake Superior Company for 40,000 tons of steel rails. The company wishes to see for itself what standard of work can be turned out at the steel rail mill at the Soo. The delivery is to be at the rate of 10,000 tons a month, beginning February, 1905. The Consolidated Company has notified the railway company that it is prepared to accept the contract at once, and of its willingness to comply with all the specifications required by the railway.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 201,000 bushels; corn increased 714,000 bushels; oats increased 2,238,000 bushels. The following is a comparative statement for the week ending to-day, the preceding week and the corresponding week last year:

	Sept. 6, '04.	Sept. 12, '04.	Sept. 12, '03.
Wheat, bu	12,814,000	13,135,000	16,188,000

WHAT ONE MAN HAS DONE.

The Remarkable Achievement of a Remarkable Man—A Splendid Example of what Untiring Devotion can do.

For years Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, of Lincoln, Neb., studied the problem of how best to prevent and cure disease.

He was not satisfied with the methods and treatments in general use, and after long study and much experiment he declared that:

"The poisonous products of the fermentation and decomposition of undigested foods absorbed by the system are the first cause of almost every disease."

He knew that all the medicines prescribed for the stomach and bowels contained resinous properties which left behind them a dried up condition of the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels—this after effect invariably resulting in Chronic Complaints.

Dr. Leonhardt, therefore, determined that to correct disorders of the stomach and bowels he must produce an effective medicine containing absolutely no resinous substances, such as are found in the ordinary pill.

He succeeded and the result he called Anti-Pill.

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill will cure permanently any case of Dyspepsia or other Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, or Constipation.

FIELD DAY OF SPORTS

To be Held on Saturday by the C. G. E. Company.

The Amusement Committee of the Canadian General Benefit Society held a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. parlors last evening. It was decided to run a field day on Saturday, Sept. 17th, at the Driving Park. Also a committee was appointed to look into the question of obtaining the use of a hall for the winter months for the purpose of holding weekly meetings such as concerts, lectures or readings. The committee feel from their past experience that such a hall is necessary for the work, and will be well patronized. It was also decided to proceed at once with the organizing and training of a minstrel troupe in connection with the society. Following will be the programme for Saturday, together with the value of the prizes to be given:—

Boys' race, 16 years and under, 100 yards—1st $1.50, 2nd $1, 3rd 50c.

FAREWELL BANQUET GIVEN

TO MR. GEO. B. VAN BLARICOM OF THE OTTAWA JOURNAL.

Who Leaves the City for Peterboro to Become Editor of the Review.

Following are given details of a complimentary banquet tendered Mr. Geo. B. Van Blaricom, on the occasion of his departure from the city to take up work in Peterborough. Mr. Van Blaricom has occupied the responsible position of City Editor of the Ottawa Journal for the last five years, and returns from the position to become editor of the Review, and a member of the Review Company, having purchased an interest in the business. His work on the Journal commended him so highly to the proprietors there that, when he announced his intention of leaving, very flattering inducements were held out to induce him to reconsider his decision. The company gathered to bid him farewell included many Ottawa men identified with the municipal, business and manufacturing interests of the city, and in themselves speak of the esteem and consideration in which he was held. He will remove to Peterborough at once and take up his duties by October 1st.

Mr. Van Blaricom will be remembered by many Peterborough friends, he having been engaged on one of the local papers several years ago, leaving town for a larger field of labor. Mrs. Van Blaricom and family will arrive next week, and take up residence on Wyter st., between London and Dublin. Following is the Journal's report of the banquet:

Mr. George B. Van Blaricom, for several years connected with the staff of the Free Press and more recently with the Evening Journal, was tendered a complimentary dinner and made the recipient in a pleasing presentation on Saturday night, the occasion being his departure for Peterborough, where he has secured an interest in the Peterborough Review and will assume the editorial management and become secretary-treasurer of the company. By his confreres of the city press and civic officials with whom he had come into intimate contact as a municipal reporter he was feted at the Brunswick. The dining room was handsomely decorated for the occasion and the tables arranged very artistically, while the menu provided by Messrs. St. Jacques and Cain left nothing to be desired. Mayor Ellis presided.

After the dinner a brief program of toasts was carried out. Mayor Ellis in a felicitous speech alluded in very complimentary terms to Mr. Van Blaricom and while expressing regret at his leaving Ottawa voiced the hope that in his new sphere he will be even more successful. Mr. Geo. H. Wilson, on behalf of those present, then presented Mr. Van Blaricom with a beautiful salad bowl with oak stand in solid silver embellishment, appropriately engraved. The recipient made a feeling acknowledgment of the gift and expressed his regret at terminating his residence in Ottawa and the happy relationships he had made during his stay here.

Afterwards speeches of a very complimentary character were made by Assistant Commissioner Pratt, City Collector Soguin, Ald. Davidson, Ald. Rosenthal, Ald. Jourmeaux, Mr. T. W. Quayle, Mr. John A. Garvin and Mr. R. R. Sparks. Vocal numbers contributed by Messrs. Garvin and Ostrom added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Those present were Mayor Ellis, Ald Davidson, Ald. Jourmeaux, Ald. Rosenthal, Chief Provost, Assessment Commissioner Pratt, Dr. Law, city medical officer, City Collector Soguin and Messrs. G. H. Wilson, J. A. Garvin, T. W. Quayle, W. McDonald, A. D. Ramage, F. Davy, C. L. Bishop, R. R. Sparks, S. Rankin, E. MacPherson, G. McClymont, W. Ostrom, F. Hazell, L. Nevins, G. Leyden, T. P. Gorman, W. O'Connor and Mr. Noax.

Storage Charges for Freight.

On a ruling of the Canadian Freight Association, of which all Canadian Railroads are members, it has been ordered that on and after the 15th of September, any freight left in the sheds over seventy-two hours will be charged storage at the rate of 2 cents per 100 lbs. per week or portion thereof, the minimum charge to be five cents.

Freight in bond will be stored six working days free, and after that the above rate will be charged.

This is not a local arrangement, but one that is being enforced all over Canada by all railways.

St Luke's Church

On Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m., the Annual Harvest Thanksgiving Festival will be held, at which Rev. Dr. Craig, of Toronto, will be the special preacher. Miss Nellie Davis will assist in the music and sing a sacred solo.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

BASEBALL.

The locals will probably play Cobourg some time this week.

Manager Whitcroft expects to have a game with the Cobourg ball team here on Saturday afternoon next.

The T.A.S. Lacrosse Club have a challenge out for the T.A.S. ball team, champions of the Kawartha League, to a game of ball, to be played on a date arranged.

Flaherty is to be given a trial by Newark in Toronto a week from Wednesday. "Yebbie" is not particular whether he goes or not. He says that he's got to be feeling well and the weather must be warm, or he won't go. Big League ball hasn't much attraction for him, apparently.—Galt Reformer.

The following is the standing of the Canadian League:

	Won	Lost	To play	PC
Galt	15	2	3	883
Acton	12	6	2	667
Waterloo	8	9	3	470
Guelph	6	9	5	400
Berlin	7	12	1	368
Preston	6	14	2	300

The local baseball season is by no means ended yet. The seniors still have home games with Cobourg, Lindsay and Bowmanville. The T.A.S. while practically champions of the Kawartha League, have games at home with Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, and a game with Bobcaygeon in that place.

The T.A.S. Baseball Club, champions of the Kawartha League, accept the challenge of the T.A.S. Lacrosse Club, champions of the Trent Valley League, to a game of baseball. The baseball club think they can show their brothers of the lacrosse field that, while the latter may be fast enough in their own particular line of sport, they are like cart-horses in the King's Pgate when it comes to baseball.

On Saturday afternoon one of the fastest and most scientific games of baseball of the season was played at the Exhibition grounds between the preparation room and the spinning room of the Cordage Co. The preparation room won by 22 to 12. The battery for the winners was "Doc" McGill and Carson. The feature of the game was a one-handed catch made by "Bill" Trainor at first base.

Flaherty, the former Peterborough pitcher, is still keeping up his good work for the Galt Canadian League team. In the game against Guelph at that place on Saturday, which was won by Galt by a score of 6-8, "Yebbie" struck out 12 men and only allowed four hits. None of Guelph's runs were earned, being given to them by errors on the part of the them by errors on the part of the short stop and the third baseman. The Galt Reformer has the following to say about the game: "The pitchers were in great form. Flaherty had perfect control. He didn't pass a man or hit one. Clark—the Guelph pitcher—struck out one more man than Flaherty, and this is the first game in which an opposing pitcher has beaten Flaherty in the strike-out record.

HOCKEY.

At the present outlook things do not appear to be booming in the hockey line in this district. Port Hope's players have grown old and stiff, and there doesn't seem to be any promising juniors to take their places. Belleville's aggregation of ringers has dwindled down to one player, Burrows; all the rest have packed their trunks and departed from the Sleepy City. Picton's all star team has also broken up. Coming to our own town, we find that some of our players will be missing. The defence will be lacking "Eddie" Howell and "Tough" Mercer. Howell is in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, where he will play hockey this winter, and Mercer is—goodness knows where. Roy Armstrong will also be absent as he has been promoted to the Toronto branch of the Ontario Bank. There are four good forwards left in town at present, Chris. Graham, Morgan, H. Armstrong and Whitcroft. Cavanah is still available for cover point. If a good goal keeper and point could be procured, the team would be as strong as ever, but who knows but that some of the men in town now may soon be pulling out.

LAWN BOWLING.

The following games were played yesterday afternoon and evening:

SPRINTING.

The five mile road race between Burns and Payne on Saturday afternoon will start at Madill's corner and finish at the Driving Park, where the C.G.E. employees will hold a programme of sports. The gold medal will be on view in the Sandercon jewelry store window tomorrow.

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—Miss Agnes Miller, 35 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention.

RUSSIANS DENY WAR STORIES

General Zassaitch was not Captured with 3,000 Men

RUSS WAR OFFICE RETICENT

General Linevitch has not Worked into Corea and Cut off Kuroki's Communication—Chinese Troops Concentrating in the Valley of the Liao River—A Close Watch Being Kept on Russian Cruiser Lena at San Francisco.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—No change is reported in the situation at the front and no confirmation is obtainable here of the reports that Gen. Kuroki is moving northeast of Mukden, but the authorities are noticeably more reticent than usual.

War Office Denials.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The War Office authorizes the Associated Press to deny the reports circulated by The Morning Post of London to the effect that three thousand men of Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch's corps have been captured; to deny the report from the same source that he has been wounded; and to also deny the statement from Tokio that dum-dum bullets were used by the Russians at Liaoyang.

Kuroki's Communications Safe.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The general staff denies that General Linevitch marched into northeastern Corea from Vladivostock and cut General Kuroki's communications with Fengwangcheng, as reported in a despatch from Tientsin to The London Daily Mail.

Prince Oukhomsky Not Shot.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The report published in Paris yesterday that Rear-Admiral Prince Oukhomsky had been tried by court-martial, sentenced to death and shot for disobeying the order not to return to Port Arthur after the sortie of the Russian squadron, August 10, is untrue. He has not been tried by court-martial, but will be recalled.

Japs Southeast of Mukden.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The Emperor has received a despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin announcing that a considerable force of Japanese has been seen about 25 miles southeast of Mukden. No further engagements are reported.

Chinese Troops Along the Liao.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—The reports that Chinese troops are concentrating in the valley of the Liao River are causing considerable concern here. The Bourse Gazette thinks it is probable that the Chinese Government will propose to guard and administer the territory actually occupied by the Japanese, adding: "To this Japan will readily acquiesce, as it will relieve Japan of guarding her lines of communication. In other words regular Chinese troops will become auxiliaries of the Japanese, and the Japanese army, thus relieved of the necessity of protecting its lines, stores and land transport, will set free all the strength of the Japanese forces to operate against Russia. China thus would become actually the ally of Japan. If the reports are confirmed not only Russia but other powers must intervene to show China what the limits of 'strict neutrality' means."

Insurance Rates Jump.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—War risks on cargoes to Japan jumped yesterday from a quarter of one per cent. to from three to five per cent. as a result of the arrival of the Russian cruiser Lena in this port.

Close Watch on the Lena.

Early yesterday the destroyer Paul Jones, Lieut. G. C. Davidson commanding, was sent to an anchorage off the Union Iron Works close to the Lena. Later the Paul Jones was reinforced by a steam launch from the Marblehead in charge of Midshipman Davis, with an armed crew. Assisted by the launch as a picket and patrol boat, the Paul Jones will keep a close watch over the Lena as long as she remains in port to see that the neutrality laws are rigidly enforced both for and against her. Vigilance is being exercised that no fanatic, Japanese or other, attacks the Lena and repeats the Maine incident in this port, and equal vigilance is being exerted to see that she herself receives no military help in the shape of arms, ammunition, men or equipment, or any coal beyond the quantity to which she is entitled, namely, enough to carry her to the nearest home port. Every boat that approaches the Lena is arrested by the Alert launch until the officers in charge are satisfied that the boat's errand is legitimate.

May Have to Intern.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The development of the day in the case of the Russian cruiser Lena at San Francisco was the decision by the president that the State and Navy Departments should treat the case acting jointly.

Over night came a telegram from Admiral Geodrich at San Francisco, showing that he had caused one of his expert officers to make a preliminary examination of the Lena, and that temporary repairs would occupy six weeks' time and new boilers would involve eight months' delay. The president approved the admiral's action and decided that he should continue to handle the case in San Francisco under instructions. This involved a further expert examination of the ship.

The Russian Government did not object, and within a day or two, with the assistance of experts, Admiral Geodrich can report more closely. The admiral also adopted the precaution of guarding the Lena with his own vessels, a course also approved by the department.

It is believed here that the vessel will be obliged to intern, for it is altogether likely that by the time she could be made ready to go to sea one or more Japanese cruisers will be off the Golden Gate ready to sink or capture her.

Labourers' Strike Off.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—This morning will see the builders labourers and bricklayers at work again. After a fight that lasted four weeks, the labourers have decided that, even though they might gain the demanded 25 cents per hour by staying out a few weeks longer, it would not pay them in the long run. Last night they met, and after a discussion lasting nearly an hour, voted to go back to work.

ACUTE DIFFICULTIES

Fishermen Are Making Trouble On the French Shore.

Armed Parties From French Ships Board Colonial Vessels and Carry Off Bait—Colonial Fishing Smack Run Down—Apprehension Felt Respecting Three Outrages—British Warships Will Be Asked to Punish Offenders.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 14.—The difficulties between French and colonial fishermen on the French shore are daily growing more acute.

On Saturday a British warship, on the demand of the French commodore, stopped a party of colonial lobster catchers there.

On Friday on the fishing banks fourteen men, armed with knives, from a French fishing vessel, which had previously disguised her name with a piece of sail cloth, boarded a colonial vessel and carried off her whole stock of bait.

A few days previous another French crew did the same thing, the French captain being armed with a revolver.

In another section a French vessel deliberately ran down and nearly sank a colonial fishing smack.

Grave apprehension is felt respecting these outrages. British warships will be asked to punish the offenders.

15 PER CENT. WHEAT UNCUT.

Barr Settlers May Have Been Badly Hit By the Frost.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14.—Very heavy frosts were experienced Monday night in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the thermometer dropping to 20 at Calgary, 22 at Edmonton and 26 at Battleford. Fortunately this is not at present a very important wheat area, though the Barr settlers are probably badly hit, as their wheat is generally uncut, owing to late seeding. The main wheat belt in the Territories again escaped untouched, Regina, Indian Head and Prince Albert all recording 34 as the low point, while Qu'Appelle touched 32.

Manitoba escaped entirely, owing to general precipitation, with the single exception of the Estevan district, which recorded one degree of frost.

Competent grain men here determine the amount of grain still uncut at about 15 per cent. in Manitoba and 20 per cent. in the Territories, and this they claim will be footed beyond doubt.

In washing woollens and flannels, Sunlight Soap (in powder) will be found very satisfactory.

Independence Assured

A strong argument for life insurance is found in the scanty record of those who have been able to save out of their earnings enough to make provision for their bereaved families. There are multitudes of men to whom this is impossible, as their income is all required for the decent maintenance of their household, or, the margin for saving is too narrow to allow of a fund being accumulated out of it. Then, there are all manner of misfortunes to which men are liable, which drain away any savings which have been laid aside. Yet the great bulk of such persons could pay the premium on a life policy by exercising special economies. In relation to this, the "Insurance Monitor" narrates that: "A gentleman who was lately visiting a statistician employed in the Census Bureau at Washington, was complaining that he had little or nothing to show for the money he had earned during the course of a lifetime. Through mismanagement of his affairs and unfortunate investments it had nearly all been lost.

"Do you know," said the statistician," how many of the men in this country succeed in saving any large part of the money that they have earned. In the EASTERN MIDDLE STATES ONLY ABOUT 2 p. c. in NEW ENGLAND 3 p. c. and in THE WEST ABOUT 4 p. c." Such is the slender record of ultimate business success in this country. MORE THAN 96 PER CENT. of those whose earning powers or money-making abilities promise to place their families above want, die poor in this land of exceptional opportunities.

"Could there be a stronger argument for the need of life insurance? It is almost the only investment which is not subject to the mistakes of the investor."

The Sun Life of Canada is a household word in this country. Its marvellous increase in business is Proof of Public Confidence in its plans of Life Insurance. Profit by the experience of the men who knew how to invest wisely by insuring in the

SPARE THE TREES

We referred recently to the conservation of our timber from the practical utilitarian point of view. "The Elm" calls attention to another aspect of the question, not in regard to dollars and cents and other material advantages, but his plea for the trees is well worthy of consideration. Human nature has other sides beside the love of gain, and the promotion of beauty, especially of natural beauty, has its beneficial influence. Too little regard is paid to this motive for preserving our trees. The necessity forced upon the early settlers of Ontario to clear the land before they could make homes for themselves and their families seems to have developed an instinctive and apparently hereditary craving to fell any tree in sight and reduce the landscape to one monotonous plain. From any height in old England the country appears better wooded than from a similar elevation in the earlier settled portions of Ontario. The hedge row timber is especially beautiful. This feature of the scenery attracts the attention and the admiration of most Canadian visitors to the Old Country. It is an example which should be more generally followed. Besides the well known material advantage of the maintenance of a due proportion of arboreal growth, the additional incentive of beautifying our surroundings is one to which we may well give more weight with good results.

No future collection of voyages and travels will be complete without the story of the cruise of the S. S. Minas M.

What the result of the electoral trials will be is still in the uncertainty of futurity, but the evidence already making very interesting reading.

Some people are still in doubt whether a general election is at hand. The Government have sent out a number of surveying parties for their political railway.

There seems to be every probability of the Dominion general election taking place before the end of the year, very likely in October. The date of a new "appeal to the country" depends upon when the rake-off from the great railway graft comes to hand. It did not materialize last year, so the intended election was postponed.

INVESTIGATION SHUNNED

An Admitted Campaign of Corruption and Bribery to Stop Enquiry

To say that there was nothing to show that the corrupt act which caused Mr. Brown to lose his seat was part of an organized campaign of corruption is simply to trifle with the whole question. There was nothing to show that it was part of an organized campaign of corruption, because there was no investigation of the campaign. It was charged that there was a campaign of corruption, the charge was not investigated, and it would be, therefore, quite proper to say that there was nothing to show that the charge was not sustained. Over one hundred charges were made in all, some of the very gravest character, and but one was investigated. Had the other charges been dropped, had the petitioners refused to press them, there would be some ground for arguing that they were foundationless; but the fact is that it was the Liberals themselves who stopped the investigation by throwing up their hands when the first shot was fired. They are in the position of the boy who ran away from the fight, and then boasted he had not received a scratch.

* * *

It seems a pity that the law as it stands does not provide for a proper investigation of election cases like that of North Perth, where charges of the most serious kind are preferred. Whether John Brown or another was entitled to the seat is, after all, a matter of comparatively small importance—they are all pretty much the same when they get to Toronto or Ottawa, mere pawns on the chess board, to be moved at the will of the caucus—but it is a matter of the greatest importance to the public to know by what means elections are won. It is a matter of vital importance to the people of every electoral district to know whether they have a right to conduct and decide their own elections or whether the caucus must decide that too, as well as the future conduct of their representatives after they are elected.—Woodstock Express, Indep.

INVESTIGATION BURKED

General Corruption on Behalf of Ross Candidate Admitted in Court.

The first shot fired in the North Perth election case took effect. It was proven that one of the Liberal workers paid $5 for a vote, whereupon the Liberals threw up the sponge. The early termination of the trial is a disappointment. There were over a hundred charges in all, some of them of a very serious nature. There was a cross-petition against the Conservative candidate, in support of which there were also many charges. It is a pity that some, at least, of the more important charges on both sides were not investigated. The public generally is much more interested in knowing whether or not the Liberals imported an organized gang of bribers, personators and ballot manipulators and whether or not the Conservatives had a corruption fund at their disposal which they used for the purchase of votes, than they are in knowing that John Collins asked an elector to vote for John Brown and then gave the elector's wife five dollars. There are some things about even the Collins charge which the public would like to have cleared up. Who is John Collins, and why did he take such an interest in the election of John Brown? Everybody who knows John Brown believes him to be an honest man. Why was John Collins so interested in the election of an honest man that he resorted to dishonest means to secure votes for him? Where did John Collins get the money that he used? Evidently he did not get it from John Brown, the man supposed to have the most interest in the transaction, for the Conservatives did not presume to contend that Mr. Brown had any personal knowledge of the corrupt act. Where did the money come from? If John Collins spent one five dollar bill in buying votes, did he not spend more? Was John Collins the only man engaged in the business of buying votes? It is difficult to believe that there was only one John Collins at work, and that he succeeded in placing only one five dollar bill. The very willingness of the Liberal lawyer to accept the consequences of that time act is suggestive. It certainly does not indicate any great desire for a thorough investigation. The public would like to know, too, what ground there was for charging that the Conservatives had a corruption fund, and that they used it to secure votes. A little time spent in the investigation of this charge would have been well spent.—Woodstock Express, Indep.

Re-building the Rockland House.

Those who have visited Bobcaygeon this summer and have viewed the ruins of the Rockland House, which was destroyed by fire some time ago, will read with interest the following paragraph that appears in the Bobcaygeon Independent. The people of that popular summer resort found it hard to accommodate the large number of tourists who came there this year, and a large, up-to-date hotel is almost a necessity before another season. Mr. H. Thompson is making progress with his new hotel. Mr. Fred. Biek, of Cannington, is engaged in the work, and under his plans the old summer wing is being replaced with a three storey building that will give a fair sized hotel in itself. The main part of the old building will not be proceeded with at present. When it is it will probably be arranged so as to give more accommodation than the old building, which was somewhat of a marvel in the way of a large building with small accommodation."

The Joy of Living

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force most tingling along the nerve fibres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

TO FEED PORTLAND

The Grand Trunk Arrangements for Preferring Foreign to Canadian Ports.

The purchase of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk is a plot with many objects. The first is to put obstacles in the way of the extension of the Intercolonial to the lakes. This is in contemplation of a Tory victory in the next elections.

A second object is to provide for monopolizing traffic for Grand Trunk lines in Ontario in case the Liberal Government is sustained and the Eastern Division of the transcontinental line is built from the North Bay branch to Quebec. The Grand Trunk never wanted that end of the line and it has no intention of operating it. Its purpose in going into the G.T.P. scheme at all was, as Mr. Hays has said, to "tie up" to the existing Grand Trunk system the traffic of the West. The shareholders were induced to vote for the scheme on the assurance that the old Grand Trunk lines would get more traffic.

Now Scotia Junction, where the Canada Atlantic meets the North Bay Branch of the Grand Trunk is 75 miles nearer North Bay than Orillia, where the Midland branch crosses. By the Canada Atlantic the Grand Trunk can shorten the haul between North Bay and Montreal by about 90 miles. This is a consideration.

If the Liberal Government is sustained all the all-rail traffic between Montreal and the West will go by the Canada Atlantic and not by the lines the Government is building from Quebec westward. The Governments' line, it must be remembered, does not go anywhere near Montreal or Ottawa. To reach that line from those two cities the G.T.P. would have to build a branch some hundreds of miles long. It is not compelled to build such a branch, it only has power to do so. Now that the Canada Atlantic has been purchased is there anyone fool enough to suppose that another line will be built through Montreal and Ottawa? No, it is the aim to prevent the building of such a branch and monopolize the through traffic for lines owned by the Grand Trunk.

To and from Portland over the North Bay branch, the Canada Atlantic and the Portland branch, will be much shorter than to and from Halifax and St. John over the Eastern Division and the Intercolonial; the rate to St. John and Halifax cannot be higher than the rate to Portland; so the Grand Trunk will take the export and import traffic the shorter route over its own lines. And the Government cannot prevent it.

If anything more were needed to expose the Government's folly in respect to the deal over the Eastern Division, it is supplied by this purchase of the Canada Atlantic. To secure traffic for the Canadian routes and Canadian ports, we must have a Government-owned and controlled line from coast to coast.—Winnipeg Telegram.

TRADE WITH FRANCE

Openings for Business with French Merchants and Manufacturers.

The following enquiries from firms in old France have been addressed to the Chambre de Commerce Francaise de Montreal:

19. A firm interested in the export of pumice stone, black-lead, glue and gelatine, desire to be placed in touch with likely buyers in Canada.

20. A manufacturer of pubic clocks desires to get into communication with likely buyers in Canada.

21. A manufacturer of metallic supplies for umbrellas wants an agent to sell his products in this country.

22. A firm exporting teas and coffees wishes a travelling agent to introduce chiefly the French "Annam Teas" in the Canadian market.

23. Another similar firm from Calcutta, supplying gunnies, either in bags or cloths, wants to be put in communication with Canadian firms importing same goods.

1, 3, 8, 11, 12, 13, 14 24 27. Wine Cognacs, (brandies) and liquor merchants ask for good representatives in Canada.

6. An important firm of automobiles wishes to open up with a Canadian frame willing to push the sale of French machines.

15, 25. Manufacturers of chemical products ask for agents in the market of this country.

28. A firm of artistic chinaware and crockery, wishing to establish a manufacture of such goods in the Province of Quebec, is anxious to get information about such schemes, and wishes to know what would be the best place in that province to be chosen for that purpose.

The names of the firms making these inquiries, with their addresses, can be obtained from the "Chambre de Commerce Francaise de Montreal," Board of Trade Building, Montreal.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little, and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

INEQUALITIES IN TOWN'S TAXATION

justice in such a system.

DEPARTURE NOT EASY.

Mr. E. B. Edwards stated that the frontage tax system, having been inaugurated, could not well be departed from afterwards. As long as any sidewalks were down and under payment, the property owners could not be taxed for like improvements elsewhere. With regard to the question of water rates, if the ideas suggested by Mr. Patterson were introduced, it would involve the taxation of property which happened to have a long frontage, and which would be subject to both water and granolithic pavement rates. The Water Commissioners of course had to keep their finances on the right side, and so long as the water rate was, in fact, less than was ever paid to the Water Company, it did not strike Mr. Edwards that the users had altogether very much to complain of. It would be inequitable that those not using water should be compelled to pay for waterworks which were to benefit those using them in the meantime.

Mr. Wood held that none would gainsay that the users were paying for the works, but the Commissioners, in addition to laying aside a rent fund, were paying to the town thousands of dollars diverted for ordinary expenditure of the town. He thought that the vacant property and non-users should be made to contribute some portion to the rent fund and for repairs or maintenance. Why should not property adjacent to a sewer have to pay a similar tax for water whether used or no.

Mr. Edwards—Because of the undue taxation of those with long frontages.

Mr. Brown—I do not see why men situated as Mr. Dumble is should not be relieved somehow.

TREMENDOUS INEQUALITIES.

The President's opinion was that there are tremendous inequalities in the taxation of the town. It did not seem fair in a way that the people of the present generation should be taxed unduly for the benefit of those who came after. The water rates here, he said, were higher than in Galt. It was unfair for the Council to take money derived from water rates and convert it to other purposes. The Corporation did not buy the works with the idea of making money, but to give it to the people at cost. The frontage tax system was an unequal thing. It was hard to assess or land an owner who was getting an equitable share of what he was entitled to by the payment of the 60 or 40 per cent. As regards sidewalks, if the general taxation were adopted, it would be found that they would be improved all over town and not only in one place. He was glad that previous speakers had referred to the roughness of the town, and considered that Peterborough with her many advantages did not come up to other towns with regard to uniformity in the layout of several things conducing to general good appearance.

Mr. Patterson—The town is cleaning up Bubidge street in good shape; I don't know why.

The President drew attention to the fact that in putting down culverts in connection with the granolithic walks, the men were using the rotten boards taken from old sidewalks. These would have to be replaced by new material next year.

Mr. Edwards explained that he did not intend to justify in any sense the impositions of higher rates by the Water Commissioners than would be sufficient for the system to run itself.

PURE BRED STOCK.

Mr. Dumble thought that much good would result from the more introduction of these subjects. The Board of Trade was not only for the purpose suggested by its name, but anything that would enhance the wealth of the community was within the bounds of that body to discuss. In Peterborough County agriculturalists were away behind in comparison with other counties, such as Ontario or Durham, in matters of stock, and most advisable was it, from a financial point of view, as well as others, that pure bred stock for breeding purposes be imported.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Teber, That this Board would suggest to the Agricultural Societies in the County, the importance of introducing, into all parts, high bred stock for breeding purposes, as the most natural and easy way of increasing the wealth of the agricultural community. The Board lament that indifference on this important subject has left this County far behind others not more favorably situated, and urges that earnest effort in this direction would in 5 years increase by one million dollars the wealth of this County.—Carried.

The Secretary was instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to Agricultural Societies of the County, and the Board adjourned.

SEVEN PERISH IN N.Y. FIRE.

Heroism of Firemen and Police Lessened Death Roll Greatly.

New York, Sept. 14.—Seven persons in one family were burned to death and six others were injured seriously in a fire which partially destroyed a tenement building at Nos. 68-70 First street, early yesterday. More than twenty families were asleep in the building. Women and children were being dropped from the windows of the lower floors, and dozens of grown persons were fighting in the hallways to reach the open air when the firemen arrived.

A policeman clambered to the roof of an adjoining building and by clinging to the cornice, with the smoke pouring in his face, reached down to the window of the fifth floor and raised seven children who were handed out by their parents.

Another officer, winding a coat about his head, entered the building from below and rolled down the stairs the body of a half suffocated man. Three times the officer came back from within carrying two persons in his arms. Then he fell, exhausted.

Meantime ladders were run to the top of the building, and firemen rescued at least twenty tenement dwellers who were about to jump. One fireman, although badly burned, took seven persons from a single window on the fourth floor. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

Killed By a Train.

St. Thomas, Sept. 14.—A fatal accident occurred on the Michigan Central Railway at St. Clair Junction about noon yesterday. No. 32 express, Engineer Vail, Conductor Mann, struck Frank Styles, a lad of 13 years, whose father lives at the north branch of the Talbot road, and instantly killed him. The lad had slipped off the track and got out of the way of a westbound train and also got out of the way of No. 32 express, but he stepped back on the track and was struck by the engine.

Run Over at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 14.—An unknown man was run over at 1.50 this morning by a yard engine in the Stewart street yards of the G.T.R. Both legs were run over, one was severed at the knee and the other was crushed. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance, but the doctors say that he cannot live. He is said to be an employe of the rolling mills, but the authorities have been unable to discover his name.

Killed By Live Wire.

Peterboro, Sept. 14.—A fatal accident occurred about noon at Lakefield yesterday. John Heard was working on the tower of the Lakefield Cement Company's works and accidentally came in contact with a live wire carrying 10,000 volts. He was instantly killed by the shock. His clothing was entirely burned. The wire was not insulated. He was 50 years old, and was married. An inquest will be held.

Two Drown.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Jakobson, an Icelandic woman at Gimli, drowned herself in Lake Winnipeg yesterday.

The 17-year-old son of C. Malone was drowned at the Narrows, Lake Manitoba, by a skiff upsetting in a squall.

Little Girl Drowns.

Kingston, Sept. 14.—Mona Gorman, aged 12, daughter of Joseph Gorman, of Chicago, was drowned at Channel Grove, Hon. Mr. Harty's summer resort, on Monday night. She fell off the wharf and was soon rescued, but could not be revived. The child spent the summer with her grandmother.

Falls 25 Feet.

Harriston, Sept. 14.—Yesterday afternoon, while a gang of men were engaged shingling the roof of Edward Johnston's new barn, Steve Lawrence, one of the workmen, slipped and fell 25 feet to the ground, dislocating his left shoulder, breaking a couple of ribs and sustaining a bad shaking up.

To Distribute $31,000,000.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The sum of $31,000,000 is to be distributed to Cuban war veterans by means of the Royal Bank of Canada, through its various branches in Cuba. This money is due in connection with the war of 1898 between Spain and the United States. This payment, which, upon the formation of the republic, became one of its first obligations, was met by a loan of $35,000,000, the same being placed in New York and other cities. The Royal Bank will pay the sum in instalments of $10,000,000 per month. The work entailed in disbursing $31,000,000 in so short a time, will naturally be a strain upon the various staffs of the Royal Bank now located in Cuba, and to meet the emergency a number of Canadian officers will be detailed to assist.

General Manager Hays at Victoria.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 14.—The G. T. P. party has returned from their inspection of the terminal facilities. President Hays made a general inspection of the coast line from the Alaskan boundary line to Bute Inlet. He went up the Portland Canal some distance and also inspected Port Simpson and Tucks Inlet, and proceeded up Skeena River to Hazelton. He went to Kitamat and into Bute Inlet. He says it would be premature to locate the terminals yet, as the land approaches are to be surveyed as well as the water approaches.

THE COMING ELECTIONS.

Daily News Warns Mr. Chamberlain Against Expecting Help From the Canadian Political Campaign.

London, Sept. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The Daily News, referring to the coming Canadian elections, warns Mr. Chamberlain not to expect much help from this campaign. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it declares, is easily the first statesman of Greater Britain, and his interview with The News a few weeks ago was the most outspoken criticism that has been offered on the hollow scheme of establishing the British Empire on a 10 per cent. basis.

Bond Through Trade.

London, Sept. 14.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Morpeth, M.P., presiding at the formation of the Birmingham Young Men's Association for the Promotion of Tariff Reform Principles, said a bond to unite their vast Empire could only be obtained by means of trade and commerce.

To Inspect Immigrant Children.

London, Sept. 14.—(C. A. P.)—J. T. Middlemore, M.P., and daughter leave England to-day to inspect the immigrant children settled in the Maritime Provinces of Canada.

Devonshire Not Sure.

London, Sept. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The Duke of Devonshire, replying to a correspondent, said he never objected to any enquiry on the fiscal system, but he was not sure if a royal commission was the best means.

WITH LADY MINTO.

Her Party Just Returned From Visit to Yoho Valley.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The following telegram was received at the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday:

Mount Stephen House, Field, B.C., Sept. 13.—Her Excellency Lady Minto, accompanied by her three daughters, Lady Eileen, Lady Ruby and Lady Violet Elliot, and attended by Arthur Guise, private secretary, have just returned from a visit to the Yoho Valley. They left here on Saturday.

Sir William Macdonald in Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 14.—Guelph had a distinguished visitor yesterday in the person of Sir William Macdonald, of Montreal. In company with Professor Robertson, Canadian Commissioner of Agriculture, he arrived in the city, yesterday morning via the Grand Trunk, and was driven to the O.A.C., where he was entertained by President Creelman. Some time was spent in looking over the Macdonald Institute, Macdonald Hall and the Consolidated School, the new buildings that have been donated to the educational system of the province by Sir William Macdonald. He was apparently well pleased with their appearance. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a conference was held between Sir William Macdonald, Prof. Robertson and the trustees of the Consolidated School.

Rio Grande on Rampage.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 14.—The flood of the Rio Grande swept the valley here yesterday. Great damage has been done. The river is up 21 feet at Laredo, and is still rising. Many thousands of acres of irrigated farms are inundated between Laredo and Hidalgo, covering a distance of 290 miles. The towns of Ignacio, Roma and other smaller settlements on both sides of the river are inundated and many houses are washed away. Parts of the towns of Carrine and Rio Grande City are under water. It is feared that many lives have been lost.

November 10 the Date.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—A general election this fall is the settled conviction of every man who talks politics. Announcement of immediate dissolution seems premature, as Lord Minto will not return to the capital until Sept. 26. The contest in 1900 was pulled off on Nov. 7, and the chances are that the coming struggle will take place about the same date, probably Thursday, Nov. 10.

Editor Fawcett Home.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 14.—A. R. Fawcett, who left town on Friday, without letting his family know where he was going, returned here last night. He said he had been away on a business trip, and has returned to carry on his business. He said he had no desire to make any further statement.

$500 For Each Convictions.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 14.—The British Columbia Government decided yesterday to offer a reward of $500 for each conviction in the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway train robbery of Saturday, Sept. 10. These rewards will go to the person upon whose information the convictions shall be secured.

McElroy v. Gamey.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—R. R. Gamey yesterday asked that the suit of Barrister McElroy for alleged slander be tried at Bracebridge, as he objects to the expense of taking the witnesses to London. The point will be decided to-day.

After Toronto's Mayoralty.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—George R. Gooderham, chairman of the Board of Education, definitely announced himself yesterday as a candidate for the mayoralty. He will be an independent candidate.

ORIGIN OF CAVAN BLAZERS

A FAIR AND CORRECT SKETCH OF THESE EARLY SETTLERS.

Some Very Interesting Information from a Historical Point of View—Object Which the Blazers had in View.

The following letter has been supplied for publication by Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, and will be of interest from a historical point of view:

There appears to be some very erroneous and unfair ideas prevalent among, or in the minds of a great many people, as to who, these people known as "Blazers," were, the objects they had in view, why they existed, what they did, and who they were.

My reason for writing this paper is, that before the last of those who intimately knew the "Blazers," pass away, their aims and objects, that a fair and correct sketch of them, and their doings, shall be left for the use of those who will come after us, and may desire to know something of the early settlers of Cavan, and their descendants, and doings.

They were never an organization, or association, in any form or manner, and originated in this way:

In 1846 that part of Cavan forming the eastern quarter of the 9th, 10th and 11th concessions, then known as "Egypt," now as Fraserville and neighbourhood, was afflicted with an epidemic known as "Intermittent Fever," as that part of the country was low and swampy, clearings small, people poor, and only one doctor, the late Dr. Brodie, in the township. The number of sick rapidly increased, and many died. Nearly every household was afflicted. The harvest came on, and the poor people, were by reason of the sickness, unable to save their harvest. The young men on these concession lines, which were on high and healthy ground, came to the conclusion that something must be done to assist their sick neighbours, and that thing which they could do surest and most efficiently was to cut and save the harvest, then ripe. About twenty of the sons of the oldest and most respectable farmers in the section, started to do what they could, and every second night at least, and sometimes two or three nights in succession, these young men, who worked in their own harvest fields every day, went out, first to those most in need, then others in succession, cut and stooked their grain, and when dry enough, drew it to the barns of those who had barns, or stacked it. In the morning those able to go out would see the field in stook. Fortunately, it was fine harvest weather, with moonlight, and the boys were able to get a lot of work done. Many of the well-to-do farmers had a man or two hired, to assist in their harvests, and these young men were just as willing, and capable, of assisting, as the others, and turned out and took their share of the work.

As the young men had not enough horses at home to accommodate a large number, and as there were no buggies to be had, and wagons were too noisy, every man went on horseback, often two on one horse, one rake, and as saddles were only owned by the well-to-do part of the community; one saddle for one horse was the rule. There were at first not enough saddles to go around. Those having saddles were not always willing to lend, and, consequently, as the old saying is, "necessity knows no law," and a saddle for each horse was a "necessity," the boys borrowed, without the formality of asking, all the saddles they needed, and by that means took away the need of refusal by the owner. Some of these people who had unwillingly contributed saddles were very wrath, and said hard things. Among them was a wealthy but stingy old farmer, who was the possessor of four good saddles, one for himself and one for each of his three sons. As it would have been waste of time to ask for the "loan," the only thing left to do was to borrow, without loan, which was done. He made a great fuss, and tried to get summonses or warrants issued, but as he could not name the parties guilty of borrowing his saddles he could do nothing. As he had published his opinion of the boys far and near, and they, of course, heard of it, a few of them meeting one night; some one suggested that he should be "admonished and advised to keep his mouth closed." A notice was accordingly written to him and a man sent to nail it on his door, which was done. It was nearly as follows:—"To Mr. ——, ——. It has come to the knowledge of the young men, who are trying to save the crops of their sick and dying neighbours, that you are slandering better men than yourself, and accusing them wrongfully of various crimes. Now, this is to give you notice, that unless you stop this thing at once, we may pay you a visit, and if we do, you will never forget it."

"Signed by order of the Committee,

"BLAZERS,"

Secretary."

He read the signature "Blazers," not "Blazes," and then the name of "Blazers" was fixed on them. His saddles, and all other borrowed saddles, were returned to the owner, in as good condition as when borrowed, as soon as the harvest was over. The harvest of 1847 found the settlers of the same locality afflicted in the same way, but to a less extent, and the "Blazers" did as they had done in the previous harvest when necessary.

Another instance of disinterested kindness I may mention. In the neighbourhood was a well off farmer, who had a family well grown up, two fine, good looking girls the eldest. The father and mother, meeting another old couple at a fair, here in Peterborough, from the same place in Ireland, and being the same Christian and surname, men and women came to the conclusion to unite the families once more by the marriage of one marrying the eldest daughter, unmarried, of the other, and completed the arrangement as far as they could. The father and mother of, and the prospective son-in-law, were to come to the home of the young woman the following Saturday, when all arrangements for the wedding were to be closed. Saturday brought the visitors, and the young people were introduced to each other, all arrangements were completed and it was agreed the marriage should take place on the following Monday, week. The old people and son left for home, to return on the next Saturday. They were prompt on time with the intended bridegroom, the license obtained, minister engaged, and wedding to take place at 10 a.m., Monday — (next day.) The poor girl, who was a great favourite in the neighbourhood, got word sent to the "Blazers" of her position, and they knowing there was another very respectable young man, who lived about twenty miles away, very much in love with the young woman, and whom she was willing to marry, sent a man on horseback to him on Sunday, with a message from her to come and save her. He started at once, with a team and waggon, got to a certain place arranged, and was met by about a dozen of the boys. In the meantime the boys had discovered that the girl had been locked up in her room, in one end of the house on the third floor, and a long ladder was obtained and carried three miles by relays of men, set up against the window, and a young man, well known to her, ascended the ladder. The poor girl was sitting on her bed crying. As soon as the window was opened he got in, told her to put her hat and wrap on, as Sam was outside with a team and waggon, and about a dozen boys, all of whom she knew, were on the ground to assist. He at once tied up her bed, bedding and clothes, ran them down the ladder, where they were picked up by the boys waiting and trotted off to the waggon. She was then assisted down, and a man on each side took her arm and trotted her off to the waggon, where her lover was waiting. A couple of the oldest and best known of the boys got in. They drove to the office of the issuer of marriage licenses and got a new license, then to an old minister's residence, got him up, where they were married, and were escorted to their waggon, and started on the journey before daylight, and while the intended bridegroom was quietly sleeping and no doubt dreaming of future bliss. Many guests and the minister, who was to have assisted in perpetuating the name of the two families; but after waiting for the bride to come down for a long time, her mother went to call her, only to find she had gone, and so had everything in the room, except the old "four poster," and the straw, which had filled the straw tick.

To put it mildly, the two old couples were as mad as the new bride and her husband were happy, so they concluded they would not give her the marriage portion intended. The boys heard of the determination, and at once concluded they must be admonished and given to understand that unless she was treated as her eldest sister had been at the marriage, the matter would be taken in in hand by the "Blazers," who would see justice done in the premises. It had the desired effect, and the following Sunday night two of her brothers went with two sons, and on Monday morning the old people visited the store in which they dealt, and the writer had the satisfaction of selling to them considerably over $100.00 worth of necessary articles for a young couple beginning the world: and when the old people got acquainted with their new son-in-law they were quite satisfied. Now, these are the kind of things they did, and never can it be truthfully said did they, or any one of them, descend to a mean or vicious act.

About this time some scamps, not in any way connected or related to the Blazers, or any of them, committed some depredations, such as observing horses' tails and manes, cutting cows' tails, etc., but, it was conclusively proven that these acts were committed by a couple of scoundrels who had been following a thrashing machine and who did not belong to Cavan in any way. They cleared out and nothing of the kind has ever happened since in the township.

Another false impression I desire to correct; that is, that the "Blazers" were organized to drive Roman Catholics out of Cavan. This is an impudent and malicious falsehood, which can be proven by the fact that on several occasions the young men hired by the fathers of these "Blazers" were among the most willing helpers and always went when an opportunity to do so occurred. In fact, one family of Roman Catholics lived for many years on the 9th line, the head of the family working a great part of his time for "Rev. Samuel Armour," the rector. Every one liked and respected him and his family, and when stricken down with his last illness one of the boys came into town for "Father Butler" and brought him to their dying neighbour. "Father Butler" stayed at "Rev. Mr. Armour's" all night; they had always been very intimate friends, and he was driven home by one of the boys next day. The funeral was one of the largest seen in that neighborhood. Then, there were several families of Roman Catholics lived in the township for many years — some of them over seventy years. There were the Redmonds, the Fitzgeralds, the O'Briens, the Cunninghams, the Hoofbighams, the Powers, Maguires and Ryans, with others whose names I have forgotten. These men were as highly respected as any other decent families in the township. Patrick Maguire, Esq., was for years clerk of the Township Council, one of the old magistrates in the county, connected for forty years with the militia, and rose in the regular way to be Colonel of the battalion. At his house service used to be held by the Roman Catholic priest from Peterborough or Port Hope, and some times by the late Father Coyle of Emily, who was an old schoolmate and bosom friend of Rev. Mr. Douglas, Presbyterian minister, and many a time have I seen him and Father Coyle, who visited him, once a year at least, on horseback together riding round among old friends they had known in Ireland.

Our late neighbor, Joseph Redmond, was born in Cavan, on the farm his mother and father lived on for about seventy years, and was well known and respected in Cavan as he grew up.

These facts should disprove of the idea that Roman Catholics were the special objects of the dislike of the Blazers.

These men who were the Blazers are nearly all passed away, only three or four of them now living, so far as I know. Like all other young people they were impulsive and sometimes may have acted to some extent without consideration, but always with the intention of helping the weak or helpless.

INEQUALITIES IN TOWN'S TAXATION

Were Discussed With Considerable Spirit at a Meeting of the Board of Trade--Frontage Tax System Scored--The Rough Appearance of the Town Lamented.

The first regular meeting of the Board of Trade, in accordance with a recommendation adopted some time ago, was held last evening in the Council Chamber, and when it was all over those present declared it one of the best in some time. Questions were discussed that will give the Town Council food for serious thought. The President was inclined to the opinion that the Board had been ignored by the Alderman with regard to certain matters of interest to the town. Mr. Dumble pointed out that Peterborough was acquiring a name for roughness with regard to the appearance of its streets, and other things easily effecting one way or other the beauty of the town. The question of frontage tax payments of pavements was discussed, and the opinion was pretty much in favor of the adoption of a general system. The action of the Water Commissioners in each year putting a surplus into the general funds of the town out of the rates paid by Water Commissioners was criticised as an injustice. A resolution was passed urging the advisability of the introduction of pure breeding stock into agricultural communities as a means of increasing the wealth of the same.

The President, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, was in the chair, and other gentlemen present were Messrs. A. H. Stratton, Vice-President; J. Coyle Brown, D. W. Dumble, E. J. Toker, K. Eardley-Wilmot, R. E. Wood, Wm. Might, H. LeBrun, T. A. S. Hay, E. G. Patterson, E. B. Edwards, J. H. Burnham, T. O. Quartermaine, Secretary, and others.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Secretary read resolutions passed by the Council of the Board of Trade on the 10th of June.

The President pointed out that this was the first full meeting held after a long rest. He hoped there would be greater interest shown, and that the winter would see an improvement. It was proposed, he said, to hold a meeting of the Council once a month to see what could be done by the Board in the interests of the community. His opinion was that the Town Council seously. He had noticed an article in the evening press relative to a proposed rubber industry, negotiations in regard to which had been apparently settled, yet the Board of Trade had not been taken into the confidence of the Council in this or one or two other matters of recent development. The Board of Trade was always ready to co-operate in affairs of this kind, and it was a complaint that the President had against the Council that they were apparently inclined to ignore a body comprised so largely of the business men.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Board of Trade in Berlin asking what charges the two Railway Companies made for the use of each other's switches to accommodate manufacturers.

Mr. E. G. Patterson stated that the information would have to be obtained from the Railway Companies. He understood that each imposed a charge for handling the cars or switches belonging to the other, and that it was at the rate of $5 a car, but the manufactories had nothing to do with it.

The Secretary was instructed to obtain from the companies the required information.

The President brought to the attention of the Board the advisability of discussing the laying of sidewalks under the general charge rather than by general rate, which made it necessary for property owners to pay for a very large percentage of the work.

A ROUGH TOWN.

Mr. Dumble was asked to open the subject, but held that if he did he might be charged with personal motive, for he had about 600 feet frontage. However, he did not see that he should be made to pay for a walk that was for the benefit of the public. His opinion was that a sidewalk should be considered the same as a road, which was kept up by the entire municipality. Mr. Dumble took occasion to speak on anther subject. Peterborough, he held, had the name of being a rough town—that was that the work upon the streets was not finished with a view to beauty or uniformity. This was apparent in the layout of poles, boulavards, pavements, and even buildings and yards surrounding. He referred to conditions existing in Winnipeg, a new community, where of conditions that made for pleasing appearance. Certain towns in western Ontario easily gave Peterborough an example in this connection.

With regard to the relations between the Town Council and the Board of Trade, Mr. Dumble held that it should always be of an amicable character. There should be nothing to interfere with the action of the Town Council, but there should be co-operation, and in this connection the President of the Board of Trade might represent the citizens as constituting that body.

Mr. E. B. Edwards concurred with the opinion expressed by Mr. Dumble with regard to the creation of conditions that would improve the appearance of the town. Such things might be done away with as the manure heap in Central Park, the pile of rubbish in Victoria Park, barbed wire entanglements, and other things obnoxious, and he suggested that as Mr. Dumble was an influential member of the Horticultural Society, there was here presented a field of operation. In fact, all the public bodies should have an eye single to the town's good appearance.

Mr. Dumble said he sympathized with the previous speaker's aesthetic taste, but he pointed to the fact that there was a trail running across Central Park, and it was necessary to have something there situated which would give the people the impression that they were still in the country. The trail across Central Park was an unsightly thing, the barbed wire fence a barborous thing, and such appropriation should be made that would permit of improvements. The Horticultural Society, he held, was doing a goood work under the circumstances.

WATER COMMISSIONERS' SURPLUS.

With reference to the frontage tax, Mr. Toker expressed the opinion that sidewalks, being for public benefit, should be so paid for. Although it would seem unfair for those who had already paid for sidewalks to be called upon to pay for new ones. There could probably be some adjustment of this, however. A sewer, he held, was a different matter. Mr. Toker also referred to the fact that the Water Commissioners raised sufficient money for all purposes from the rates, and a considerable surplus was paid each year into the public funds. This, he considered, was not an equitable arrangement to water users, and his opinion was that those properties past which a water main ran should be as much subject to special rate as those to which sewer connection was available.

These opinions seemed to be those of the meeting. Mr. R E. Wood considered the frontage tax system an injustice in some respects. The total cost of pavements would, he said, have to be paid by the whole community in the end, so that it would appear that those paying now might have to contribute more than their share. He understood that pavements were now being laid at from 6 to 9 cents a foot, while the original cost was from 15 to 19 cents. The cost of lumber had been increased, and the difference between wooden and granolithic pavement constituted an argument in favor of the latter, all things considered. The policy of the Council was apparently to extend pavements over the entire municipality. The injustice existed in the fact that those who had put down pavements in early years would have to go on paying until the cost of the last pavement was defrayed.

AN INJUSTICE.

Mr. Wood also considered it an injustice to the water consumer, that the Commissioners should yearly put a surplus of from $2,000 to $4,000 into the Town treasury to be used for all purposes, and at the same time were paying for the system which would eventually become the property of the town, and a benefit to those who took no part in its payment. The objection was that the surplus revenue from distribution of water should go into the general fund of the town and to the benefit of all citizens. The Mayor, he understood, was even in favor of the town receiving a still greater amount of revenue from this source, and he himself was not a consumer. The question was one involving an injustice which should be handled without gloves.

Mr. E. G. Patterson said he had protested against this thing some time ago in an anonymous letter to the press. It was an injustice for many reasons. The public health was bettered by increased use of the water. If rates were lower, the number of users would become much larger, but a property abutting a main should pay a rate in any event.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown expressed the opinion that the water service would be much more largely patronized under the conditions suggested by Mr. Patterson. As regards the pavement question he cited his own case, where he had no walk, yet used that on George street almost quite as much as those who were paying their 60 per cent. There was evident in-

SENSATIONAL CHARGES

Made by Mrs. Lachance at Ottawa this Morning

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 14.—More sensational charges were made by the ex-cook, Mrs. Lachance, at the Lachine Hospital investigation this morning. Mrs. Lachance alleged gross immorality and lewd conduct on the part of the domestics and openly hinted at prostitution on the part of the officials. She admitted living in Peterborough with a man whom she had run away with recently.

SEPTEMBER FOR WEDDINGS

MONTH MAINTAINING REPUTATION IN THIS PARTICULAR.

Several Matrimonial Events Solemnized Today and Many Others Are Scheduled for the Month.

BOTSFORD—ROUTLEY.

A quiet but pretty masturtium wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 416 Stewart st., the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Routley. The bride was their eldest daughter, Mabel Margaret, and the groom Mr. Wilmot G. Botsford, of Toronto. The wedding took place at three o'clock in the presence of a number of near relatives of the bride and groom. They were both unattended. As the bride entered the drawing room escorted by her father the wedding march was played by Mrs. Will C. Routley of Toronto. The very handsome bridal gown was of white brocaded duchesse satin over white taffeta, with trimmings of medallions and accordeon pleated chiffon. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and wore as an ornament a pendant of diamonds and pearls. Rev. J. E. Trotter of Port Hope, formerly pastor of Murray st. church, officiated and after the wedding light refreshments were served in the dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Botsford left by the 5.10 C.P.R. train upon a wedding trip to Detroit, Battle Creek, Chicago and St. Louis, and upon their return will reside in Rose Avenue, Toronto. The bride's going away gown was a brown and white taffeta with peepings of brown velvet, with hat to match, and a large white fur ruff completed a charming costume. Many beautiful wedding gifts were received from friends in Halifax, Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, New York, Battle Creek and Peterborough.

Among those present at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Routley of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fee of Kingston, and her brother, Mr. W. C. Routley and Mrs. Routley of Toronto.

ABBOTT—BAMBRIDGE.

Yesterday afternoon there were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. S. D. Carver, Spruce Glen, Monaghan Road, Ada Gertrude Bambridge, of Rumsey Haw, Eng., and William Thorndyke Abbott, of Peterborough, by the Rev. Wm. Major, of All Saints' church. The happy couple left on the 5.30 train to visit friends in Bracebridge. They will take up residence in Peterborough.

The bride and groom received many of those wedding favors which are so indicative of sincere friendship.

COCKS—THEXTON.

An event of pleasing interest took place this afternoon, when Miss Ella Thexton, daughter of Mrs. T. Thexton, Reid street, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. S. J. Cocks. Miss Mabel Robeon acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. W. J. Pedlar assisted the groom. The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of blue broadcloth over taffeta silk, and the bridesmaid's dress was of brown canvas over taffeta. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. T. Thexton. The ceremony took place at 614 Reid street, and Rev. Mr. Potter was the officiating minister. The happy couple left by the 5 o'clock train on a wedding trip to western points.

CURRY—WHITE.

This afternoon, Mr P. W. Curry, of town, was united in marriage to Miss Mary White, of Sophia street, Fifth Ward.

McCUISH—MACFARLANE.

This evening at 6.30 Miss Maud E. Macfarlane, daughter of Mr. Andrew Macfarlane, Homewood Ave., and Mr. Robert G. McCuish, editor of the Morden Morning Chronicle, will be united in marriage by Rev. J. G. Potter.

KENDRY—LOGAN.

At half-past seven this evening the wedding will be solemnized of Miss Mabel Logan, third daughter of Mr. John Logan, to Mr. Herbert Kendry.

MAY MANUFACTURE SUGAR

The Cold Storage Company's Stockholders Appear to Approve

A meeting oft he stockholders of the Cold Storage Company was held yesterday, when it was decided to retain the old directors and officers. One of these gentlemen was seen this morning and he stated that they were given power to proceed, if they considered it wise, not to wind up the Company, but to combine with their purpose the manufacture of beet sugar. It is now proposed to interview some of the chief stockholders with regard to this proposal, and at a near date to hold a general meeting at which it will be further considered and decisive action taken. In the event of this step materializing, the capital stock will be increased from $200,000 to $300,000. It now begins to look as if there were chances for the life of the beet sugar industry in Peterborough.

TWO MORE MANUFACTORIES

PROBABLE THAT A LARGE RUBBER FACTORY WILL LOCATE HERE

Bonus of $15,000 Asked — Representative of Another Big Concern Looked Over Some Sites in Peterboro.

The President of the Board of Trade last evening made reference to the fact that the Town Council had under its consideration a proposition looking to the location here of a rubber factory. He inferred, he said, that negotiations were about concluded, judging from reports that were being circulated, but enquiry reveals the fact that such is not the case. A proposition has been made to the Council involving the granting of a straight bonus of $15,000, but that nothing is being done until the return of the gentleman who is at the head of the Company. He is an American with practical experience, having already built two large rubber factories. It is understood that the concern will at first give employment to two hundred hands, and that this number will be increased, according to the growth of the business. The Company will buy their own land and erect their own buildings. The Aldermen state that they have as yet very little information to give to the public on the matter.

It is reported about the streets that the town was recently visited by a gentleman who was looking up a site for a steel manufactory. The Aldermen when questioned about the matter state such is the case, although the developments so far do not warrant extensive publication. It is understood, however, that the concern would be a very large one, and that its representative regarded with approval the structure which was begun for the Beet Sugar Company. He was further impressed with the shipping facilities of Peterborough. The plant to be installed here would be a duplicate of a large one located in the States.

ENJOYED VISIT OF 57TH.

BARRIE PEOPLE HOPE REGIMENT WILL COME AGAIN.

Letters Received Which Discredit the Article Published Attributing Disgraceful Conduct to the 57th.

A great deal of indignation was caused among the officers and men of the 57th Regiment by an article which was published in certain papers attributing misconduct of a disgraceful character to the men of the Regiment during their trip to Barrie. The opinion is that a grross injustice was done in the publication of this article, and this is borne out by the following letters which have been received from Barrie by Lieut.-Colonel Miller, Officer Commanding:

Mayor Boys writes as follows:

"I think I can safely say that your visit from first to last was thoroughly enjoyed by the citizens of the Town, and should you desire in the future to again visit us, I think you will find that a cordial invitation will be sent you; and I take this opportunity of thanking you, your officers, men and Band for the entertainment given to our citizens during your stay in Town, and particularly for the valuable services given on Labor Day.

"Hoping we may at some time in the future, again be favored with a visit from you, I am,

"Yours sincerely,

"W. H. BOYS."

The Colonel of the Simcoe Foresters writes, referring to the article in question:

"I am taking this opportunity of assuring you that the sentiments expressed in the article, did not voice the sentiments of our townspeople, and that we have nothing but the kindliest feelings towards the Peterborough Rangers, and hope that you will soon come again.

"I have heard it remarked very often that in the three days you camped here, there was not one drunken man or one who showed any signs of drinking. This must be a source of deep satisfaction to you, and I beg you to accept my congratulations.

"I am sending you copies of our weekly papers, and you will be able to judge by their tone, that your Regiment has deservedly won a warm place in our hearts.

"Yours truly,

"JOHN B. McPHEE"

Major Rogers, the High Constable for the County, writes:

"I trust it may be my lot to see you all in Barrie again, and wishing you and the Regiment all the happiness this world can afford, believe me, to remain,

"Yours very truly,

"JOSEPH ROGERS."

BANQUET OF GUILDSMEN

THE YOUNG MEN OF ST. ANDREWS OPEN THE SEASON

Nomination of Officers and an Informal Reception to Men — An Auspicious Beginning — A Very Pleasing Time.

The first meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild for the season of 1904 was held in the lecture hall last evening. There was a very large attendance indicating great enthusiasm and interest, and a very pleasant time was spent. It was a most auspicious beginning for the season. The Guild held a meeting from eight to nine o'clock, with Mr. H. H. Edmison, the President, in the chair, when nomination of officers for the new year was held. These will be elected on the first Tuesday of October, and there promises to be a very keen contest, more especially for the positions of President and Secretary. The nominees for the former position are Messrs. P. Kerr, R. H. Elliott, C. Anderson, W. S. Campbell and R. M. Glover, while those on the list for vice-president are Messrs. W. Garrow, W. Richardson, L. Thornton, G. Scott, T. G. Anderson and Leslie Scott.

After the meeting a reception and banquet proved an exceedingly pleasing feature. Tables prettily decorated and laden with good things, were encircled by the company, Mr. H. H. Edmison presiding. On his right sat Mr. Andrew McFarlane, representing the Board of Managers, and on his left, Mr. Fowler, representing the Session. The repast was an enjoyable one, and was served in a graceful manner by members of the Daughters of Erin, Miss Richardson, Miss H. Reid, Miss E. Martin, Miss A. Meharry, Miss Libbie Curry, Miss Frankie Anderson, Miss Lucy Anderson, Mrs. Will Campbell and Mrs. Hugh Waddell. One interesting part of the evening gave place to another, and the toast list was introduced by a hearty response to the health of the King. Mr. Thos. G. Anderson proposed the toast, "Our Guests," to which Mr. McFarlane and Mr. Fowler responded. The latter gentleman expressed the great pleasure it had given the Session to see the enthusiasm and devotion to church work manifested by the Guild during its existence, and his prayer was that the young men would be long spared to continue their efforts to go forward with greater zeal than ever.

Mr. Macfarlane stated that in his 34 years' connection with St. Andrew's there never had been any organization that gave him greater cause for pride than the Young Men's Guild. They had shown wonderful interest in the work, whereas in former times the cry was, "Where are our young people?" It was a constant source of pleasure and encouragement to all to see the deep interest that had been taken, and with such a large body as he saw present, he felt that the future of St. Andrew's was fully assured.

Opportunity was then given for short speeches, and Mr. Geo. Laing, President of the choir; Mr. Thomas Wallace, Mr. Forman and others referred to the pleasure it gave them to be present and to see the work of the Guild.

Rev. J. G. Potter proposed the toast to Canada. He referred to the great material growth of the country since Confederation, the large increase in public interest in schools, colleges and higher education, and with regard to the religious life pointed out, that people had been greatly strengthened since Confederation. This, perhaps, was more noticeable in the great Northwest, where Presbyterians had had so large a share in the work. In such a great and growing country, of which the last returns placed the immigration at 127,000, it was for all Christians to recognise the responsibilities devolving upon them.

The Maple Leaf was then sung and the toast enthusiastically honored. It had been expected that Mr. J. J. Wright, of the Yukon, would have been present to respond to the toast, but he was called to Montreal.

Mr. Willis Garrow expressed his great delight at being called upon to present the toast of "The Ladies." He felt, however, that a wrong choice had been made, for there were others present who had greater experience, and could have done more justice to the subject. He referred to the manner in which the ladies had in the past entertained the Guild, and hoped it would not be the last time such a pleasure would be afforded. He expressed the delight of the Guild at the manner in which the ladies had favored them on this occasion.

The toast was heartily received and the company sang lustily, "For they are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. R. H. Elliott and Mr. Wm. Campbell responded. On behalf of the ladies they expressed the pleasure which it gave the latter to entertain the Guild on such an occasion as that which marked the evening. Mr. Elliott observed that he would give place to Mr. Campbell, who, having become a benedict, would doubtless have many practical points on the subject under discussion. In his response Mr. Campbell humorously remarked that though Mr. Elliott was out for information, it was a matter for regret that he would be disappointed.

Mr. Charles Anderson proposed the toast to the Press. In a neat speech he referred to the work which the press of the country was doing—a work perhaps equal to, if not greater than the pulpit. He gave expression to the deep sense of obligation felt by the Guild to the press of the town, which had on frequent occasions manifested a most encouraging sympathy.

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe responded, assuring the company that it was always a pleasure for the press to record the proceedings of St. Andrew's or any other Guild. He expressed pleasure at the many evidences of success, and hoped they would be even more prominent in future.

The evening closed with the National Anthem, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. J. G. Potter.

Solos were given during the banquet by Mr. H. M. Lloyd and Mr. R. N. Jolliffe. Miss Kerr rendered selections upon the piano while the supper was in progress, and with Miss Lloyd acted as accompanist.

GREAT SALE OF LINENS

ON THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15th we inaugurate a gigantic sale of Linens. This Sale represents one of the best opportunities that the citizens of Peterborough will ever have to replenish their stock of Linens.

The stock represents the most successful purchase of Manufacturers' Seconds of imperfects that we have ever effected.

Beautiful high class Linens with very slight imperfections bought at a price that will enable us to sell them at a reduction of from 33⅓ to 50 per cent. That means a cloth that would sell regularly at $3.00 each will be sold at about $2.10 and other prices correspondingly low.

THE QUALITIES of these Linens are positively the very finest ever shown in Peterborough as they are from the manufacturers of the finest Linen in all Ireland and the imperfections are so slight that you will hardly be able to see them.

The Linens are in Finished Cloths, with borders all round, in sizes from 1 yard square up to 4 yards long and 2½ yards wide and Table Napkins in both dinner and tea sizes.

All good housekeepers pride themselves on their Linen and this will be your chance of a life-time.

SPORTING NEWS.

BASEBALL.

The following rather interesting fairy tale with regard to Saturday's ball game is from the Port Hope Guide:—

There was all kinds of fun in Peterborough on Saturday when the locals went out to play their return game. Of course two or three weeks ago when Peterborough failed to keep their scheduled game here, Manager Whiteroft agreed to pay $10 to Manager Orton if they were given another chance. This $10 was to be paid when Peterborough played here, but Manager Whiteroft asked leave to hold it until Port Hope returned, and his request was granted. Now, when Manager Orton reached Peterborough on Saturday last you may bet that he went in search of this loose change, and, as he expected, met with all kinds of trouble. Manager Whiteroft did not think it right that he should have to pay this money, while Manager Orton refused to play the game. Manager Whiteroft then called President Crawford up by 'phone in reference to the matter, but Blake just replied, "$10 or no game, Maggie." Things were becoming rather warm, and Manager Whiteroft paid another visit to Manager Orton, but, oh, no, we need the money, was the quick response. Finally the telephone rang, and Mr. Orton not being present, Robbie Pethick grasped the receiver, and the conversation went on this way:—"Hello, this is Blake speaking, and you had better take $5 and play the game." Pethick delivered the message to Manager Orton, and the shock was too much for Ike Walters, who grasped 25 cents and at once called Blake up and proceeded to dress him down for proposing such a thing. Blake was almost overcome for a few minutes, but finally gathered himself together and informed Ike that he had sent no telephone message to Peterborough and under no consideration to play for less than $10. It came to light shortly afterwards that the message was a bogus one from Peterborough. Manager Whiteroft called at the hotel again, but it was with the same result. The locals went to the grounds about three o'clock, and after sitting at the gate for some time, the $10 was very reluctantly turned over and the game commenced. As the locals had only eight men, Bellegham, of Peterborough, was put on the line-up. And now there is a dispute about the score. The Port Hope scorer has it 9—8, while the Peterborough man has 9—8 in favor of Peterborough. It was a fairly good exhibition of ball, but as a victory was of not much importance to either team, the interest was not very high.

The Toronto Eastern League team will probably play in Galt some time after September 20th, when the Eastern League closes. Manager Spalding received a letter from Manager Hailey, of the Toronto Club, in which the Toronto manager asks what guarantee the Galt club will give his team for a game.—Galt Reformer.

It will be interesting to see how "Yebbie" Flaherty will shape when up against Eastern League batters. It is rumored about Peterborough that Flaherty is to be given a trial by the Montreal Eastern League team. It is the opinion of the local fans that he may make good.

RUGBY.

Mr. J. Crough who practised with the locals last season, is turning out with the Hamilton seniors, and the Hamilton Times has the following to say about him: "Crough played with the Peterborough Intermediates last year, and showed up well on Saturday. He followed up the ball fast, and is a good tackler. He will likely get a place on the team. 'Sandy' Campbell the police expert on the mute language, will be asked to arrange a code of signals for him."

The Executive Committee of the O.R.F.U. will hold its first meeting at the King Edward, Toronto, on Friday night. It is altogether likely the schedule of the senior series will be drawn up. The clubs expected to play senior are Hamilton Tigers, Toronites, Peterborough, Aggonauts and Victorias.

The London Rugby Football club reorganized for the season last night and they will probably enter a team in the senior series of the O.R.F.U. Since the locals will have another meeting with their old rivals of the western city.

hice that did doty for a handkerchief, and followed her.

The street below was packed with people howling round a carriage that seemed blocked by the press. The stout coachman, gorgeous in splendid livery, had some ado to restrain the spirited horses, maddened and prancing with the interference and the outcry. Cudgels were shaken aloft in the air, and there were shouts of "Traitor!" "Tyrant!" and other epithets so degrading that Frances put her hands to her ears in horrified dismay.

"Whom are they threatening so fiendishly?" she whispered.

"That is your father's carriage," answered De Courcy.

Before she could make further inquiry there came up to them the cold, dominating tones of her father's voice, clear above that tumult:

"Strike through!"

The stout coachman laid about him with his whip, and the curses for the moment abandoned the head of Strafford to alight on that of the driver. The horses plunged fiercely into the crowd. The cruel progress changed the tenor of the cries, as if a wailing stop of a great organ had suddenly taken the place of the open diapason. The press was so great that those in front could not make for safety, and the disappearing coach was greeted with screams of terror and was followed by groans of agony. Men went down before it like ripe grain before a sickle.

"Oh, oh, oh!" moaned the girl, all color leaving her face.

"It serves the dogs right," said De Courcy. "How dare they block the way of a noble, and the chief minister of state."

"I—I cannot look on this," lamented Frances, shrinking back to the table and leaning against it as one about to faint, forgetting her desire to avoid further demonstration from her companion in the trepidation which followed the scene she had witnessed.

"Indeed they were most mercifully dealt with, those scullions. The king of France would have sent a troop of horse to saber them back into their kennels. 'Strike through!' cried his lordship, and 'tis a good phrase, most suitable motto for a coat of arms, a hand grasping a dagger above it. 'Strike through!' I shall not forget it. But 'twas a softer and more endearing theme I wished to"—

"Sir, I beseech your polite consideration. I am nigh distraught with what I have seen and am filled with a fear of London. 'Tis not the courtly city I expected to behold. I am not myself."

"But you will at least bid me hope?"

"Surely, surely, all of us may hope."

"Why, 'twas the last and only gift left in Pandora's casket, and London were grim indeed to be more bereft than the receptacle of that deceitful woman. May I make my first draft on Madam Pandora's box by hoping that I am to see you at this hour tomorrow?"

"Yes—tomorrow—tomorrow," gasped the girl faintly.

CHAPTER V.

A DRIZZLING rain had set in and had driven the crowds from the streets. Frances drew a chair to the window of the library and sat there meditating on the strange events in which she was taking some small part, so different from the tranquil happenings of the district she had known all her life. She had imagined London a city of palaces facing broad streets, fancifully, if not literally, paved with gold—a town of gayety and laughter; and here was the reality, a cavernous, squalid, gloomy, human warren, peopled with surly demons bent on outrage of some sort, ill natured and threatening.

As the day waned she saw that in spite of the rain the mob was collecting again, its atoms running hither and thither, calling to each other; bedraggled beings laboring under some common excitement. And now its roar came to her again, farther off than before—a roar that chilled her while she listened, and the wave of sound this time seemed to have a fearful note of exultation in it. She wondered what had happened, and was anxious for her father if he were at the mercy of it. Mrs. Jarrett came into the room, followed by a manservant, and also by one of her father's secretaries, as the woman whispered to the girl:

"My lady, we must close the shutters and bar them tightly, for the ruffians are threatening again, and may be here in force at any moment to stone the windows, as they have done before."

The secretary seated himself at the table and was arranging papers. The manservant opened the windows, from which Frances drew back, and now the cries came distinctly to her. "Death to Strafford!" "Down with the tyrant!" "To the block with the king's earl!" were some of the shouts she heard lustily called forth.

"Oh! I fear my father is in danger. Do you think they have him in their power, that they exult so?"

Good Mrs. Jarrett, anxiety on her own honest face, soothed her young mistress, and the secretary came forward.

"Be not troubled, madam," he said. "While they cry 'To the block' it shows they have not possession of his lordship's person, but hope to stir up rancor to his disfavor. While they shout for process of law, his lordship is safe, for the law is in his hands and in those of the king, whose behests he carries out."

This seemed a reasonable deduction, and it calmed the inquirer, although there remained to her disquietude the accent of triumph in the voice of the mob.

"Death to Strafford!" was the burden of the acclaim, but now one shouted, "Justice on Strafford!" though his meaning was clearly the same as the others. There was no dissenting outcry, and this unanimous hatred, so vehemently expressed, terrified at least one listener. Why was her father so universally detested? What had he done? Stern he was undoubtedly, but just, as his reception of herself had shown, and courteous to all to whom she heard him speak; yet the memory of that phrase, "Strike through!" uttered with such ruthless coldness, haunted her memory, and she heard again the shrieks of those trampled underfoot. It was an indication that what he had to do he did with all his might, reckless of consequence. If any occupied his path, the obstructor had to stand aside or go down, and such a course does not make for popularity.

The windows being now shuttered and barred securely, and the tumult muffled into indistinct murmur, lights were brought in. Mrs. Jarrett urged the girl to partake of some refreshment, but Frances insisted on waiting for her father. The secretary, seeing her anxiety, said:

"Mr. Vellins went out some two hours ago to learn what was taking place, and I am sure if anything serious had happened he would have been here before now with tidings."

"Who is Mr. Vellins?"

"His lordship's treasurer, madam."

As the words were uttered, the door opened, disclosing John Vellins, the expression of whose serious, clean shaven face gave little promise of encouragement.

"What news, Mr. Vellins? The mob seems rampant again," spoke up the secretary.

"Disquieting news, or I am misled. The rumor is everywhere believed that his lordship was arrested in parliament this afternoon and is now in prison."

"Impossible! 'Twould be a breach of privilege. In parliament! It cannot be. Did you visit the precincts of parliament?"

"No man can get within a mile of it, the mass of people is so great. It seems as if all London were concentrated there, and one is swept hither and thither in the crush like a straw on the billows of the sea. Progress is out of the question except in whatever direction impulse sways the mob. There are so many versions of what is supposed to have happened that none can sift the truth. It is said that parliament, behind closed doors, impeached his lordship, and that when he demanded entrance to his place he was arrested by order of the two houses acting conjointly."

"But even if that were true—and it seems incredible—the king can liberate him at a word."

"They say even the king and court have fled and that hereafter parliament will be supreme, but one cannot believe a tithe of what is flying through the streets this night. The people are mad, stark mad."

Mrs. Jarrett hovered about the young lady in case an announcement so fraught with dread to all of them should prove too much for her, but Frances was the most collected of any there. "If that is all," she said calmly, "'twill be but a temporary inconvenience to my father which he will make little of. He has committed no crime, and may face with fortitude the judgment of his peers, certain of triumphant acquittal. He is in London by command of the king, his master, and his majesty will see to it, should all else fail, that he suffers not for his obedience."

This conclusion was so reasonable that it had the effect of soothing the apprehensions of all who heard it, and, young as she was, Frances seemed to assume a place of authority in the estimation of those present, which was to stand her in good stead later in the evening.

It was after 9 o'clock that there was a rap at the door.

"Who is there?" asked the secretary through the grating.

"A messenger from the court," was the reply. Frances had come up the hall on hearing the challenge.

"What name?" demanded the secretary.

"De Courcy. Open quickly, I beg of you. The mob has surged down the street, but it may return at any moment."

"Open," said Frances, with decision, and the secretary obeyed.

De Courcy came in, unrecognizable at first because of the cloak that enveloped him. The door was secured behind him, and he flung his cloak to one of the men standing there. His gay plumage was somewhat ruffled, and the girl never thought she would be so heartily glad to see him.

"Is it true that my father is sent to the Tower?" were her first words.

"No, mademoiselle; but he is in custody, arrested by order of parliament, and at this moment detained in the house of James Maxwell, keeper of the Black Rod, who took his sword from him and is responsible for his safety. 'Tis said he will be taken to the Tower tomorrow, but they reckon not on the good will of some of us who are his friends, and they forget the power of the king."

Frances frowned, but said:

"What were the circumstances of my father's arrest? What do they charge against him?"

"God knows what the indictment is; chiefly that he is Strafford, I think. He entered the house of lords this afternoon and walked with customary dignity to his place, but was curtly ordered to withdraw until he was sent for, as the commons were at that moment enunciating their formula against him. He withdrew in the face of this loud protest, and at last, being called, stood before them; was commanded to kneel, which, with some hesitation, he did, while the articles to his disparagement were read from the woolsack. He was then dismissed, and, once in the outer room again, the Black Rod demanded his sword and so conducted him, under restraint, to a carriage; no man of all them present capping to him, although they had been obsequious enough when he entered. A scurvy lot!"

"Were you among them?"

"Not I; I give you the account as 'twas told to me, but had I been in that contemptible company, my hat would have gone lower than ever before."

"You have not seen my father then? He has sent no message by you?"

"I have not seen him, but I come to crave a few words with you in private."

"Sir, you must excuse me. I am so tense with anxiety about my father, I can think of naught else."

"'Tis on that subject I wish to discourse. He has set in train a series of events in which I hoped to aid him, but it is like to go awry through this most unlooked for arrest. That is why I was here this morning, and the commission was to have been completed tomorrow. Did he say anything to you about it?"

To be continued.

May Lose Traffic Lives.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—A serious accident occurred yesterday which resulted in the death of Mrs. James Powers and fatal injuries to her son, James Powers, and Mrs. Jules Desiauriers. The accident occurred at the Powers dwelling at the corner of William and Prince streets. The three were sitting on an old gallery, watching the rain and chatting, when suddenly a crash was heard, and before they had time to run inside the gallery fell to the ground, a distance of three stories, burying the unfortunate trio under the heavy beams.

Fell Into Thresher Cylinder.

Delhi, Sept. 13.—Yesterday morning a very sad accident happened at a threshing on the farm of Rufus Roach. Reggie Williams, a young man about 21 years of age, was up in the loft helping throw down the sheaves. In some manner he slipped and fell headlong into the cylinder of the threshing machine and was instantly killed.

Struck By Lightning.

BRIBERY AND THREATS

Conspiracy Also Charged in North Norfolk Election.

This Election Is the Worst Yet If Charges Are Reckoned, As 626 Have Been Filed—Several Prominent Politicians Named—The Intoxication of Voters—Time Extended For Particulars in North Renfrew.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—There are some six hundred and eighty-five charges in the particulars which were filed yesterday afternoon in the protest against the return of Archibald Little as member of the Provincial Legislature for the constituency of North Norfolk. The petitioner is Frederick S. Snider, and the trial will open at Simcoe on Sept. 27.

In one of the charges it is alleged that the respondent personally or through the Ontario Reform Association, the North Norfolk Liberal Association, the Reform Central Committee at Simcoe, the Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education; the Hon. W. A. Charlton, the Hon. John Charlton, M.P.; W. M. German, M. P., or by and through George H. Watson, K.C., Toronto; Hugh Blain, wholesale merchant, Toronto, or others, advanced or paid or caused to be paid to James McBride, Tillsonburg; Hal. B. Donly, John McCool, Waterford; Geo. O. Werrett, and T. C. Robinette, barrister, Toronto, money for the purpose of bribery.

A Charge of Conspiracy.

Another charge is that Mr. Little personally or through the Reform Association, Hon. W. A. Charlton, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly; Hal. B. Donly, publisher; Geo. O. Werrett, license inspector; William Sutton, miller, all of Simcoe; Quinn Fick of Woodhouse, Andrew Smith of Charlotteville, Jerome Fick, hotelkeeper, Port Dover, corruptly combined, conspired and agreed that a scheme and plan of bribery and other illegal acts be prosecuted and performed in connection with the election.

In furtherance of this scheme it is alleged that money was paid to some of the above-mentioned persons to be expended in purchasing votes, and that the Beemer House, Waterford; the Queen's Hotel, Simcoe; the Windham Centre Hotel, the La Sallette Hotel, and others were induced to provide liquor and other refreshments with the object of inducing voters to vote for Mr. Little.

Intoxication of Voters.

Still further it is alleged voters were intoxicated and while in that condition were locked up in the hotels to prevent them voting.

That George O. Werrett, license inspector, prostituted his office by giving immunity and protection to the hotelkeepers from prosecution for infringement of the law is another charge.

It is also alleged that Andrew Smith and Jerome Fick convened a meeting of Liberal agents at the Beemer House, where they were to be introduced to the voters and purchase their votes.

Threats of Intimidation.

The roadmaster of the Grand Trunk Railway at St. Thomas, William Sutton, and George O. Werrett are accused of using or threatening to use force, violence or restraint, to induce sectionmen to vote or refrain from voting. A similar charge is made against Franklin Grott, Stratford, Superintendent of the Massey-Harris Co.

Extended the Time.

The time for the filing of particulars in the North Renfrew protest was extended yesterday on an order from Mr. Justice Garrow. Mr. Falconbridge, for the petitioners, made application for the extension, which was opposed by Mr. Cattenach, representing Mr. Dunlop, the respondent, on the ground that the proceedings were stayed by the death of LeBlanc, one of the petitioners. Mr. Justice Garrow granted the order conditionally, subject to such rights as the application might cause. No decision was given on the question of a stay of proceedings.

THE PROTEST TRIALS.

Mr. MacKay's Admissions—Nice State of Things at the Soo.

Owen Sound, Sept. 14.—In the trial of the protest against A. G. MacKay, M.P.P., yesterday, Mr. MacKay admitted loaning R. Angus $10, eight days before the election. He billed him a year after. W. Farrow swore he got $5 from Roy MacMurchy for his vote. The agency of several persons, who will be charged with bribery, was admitted by Mr. MacKay.

Against C. N. Smith, M.P.P.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 14.—In the protest trial against C. N. Smith, M.P.P., the whole day yesterday was spent in hearing the evidence of Purser Cole of the Minnie M. He swore he took a man named Ferguson, and twenty men, up to Michipicoten and to Helen Mine, and they voted for Smith and were paid. They were all sworn on a false Bible. They were all strangers, though they gave their residence as Helen Mine. No fares were collected on boat or train. This evidence was corroborated by several witnesses.

Maniac Fired House.

Perce, Que., Sept. 14.—John Rail, carpenter, was seized with an attack of insanity and set fire to his house, while his wife, grown-up son and daughter were sleeping. They barely escaped with their lives. The maniac also attempted to burn his barn and out-buildings, but was overpowered.

Clarke Succeeds Cowan.

Essex, Sept. 14.—A. H. Clarke, K. C., was nominated yesterday as the Liberal candidate for South Essex to succeed M. K. Cowan, K. C., M. P. Dr. Samson was his only opponent.

Burglars at Marmora.

Marmora, Sept. 14.—Burglars entered the office of A. W. Carscallen Monday night. They used very powerful explosives and the door of the vault was blown to pieces. They carried away over $100 in cash, one gold nugget worth $100, and stock in the following: Bankers' Mutual Casualty Company, Granby Smelter, Traders' Bank of Canada, Cordova Exploration Company, Capital Brewing Company, Canadian Cooperage and Manitoba Ranching Company. So far no clue has been secured regarding the burglars.

For Five Long Years.

Hamilton, Sept. 14.—George Cousins, one of the bad trio of burglars that contained Hillis, the jail-breaker, and Herbert Yates, confessed that he was a burglar to Judge Snider yesterday morning. He was found guilty on one charge and pleaded guilty to another. The judge sent him down for five years. Yates got five years and Hillis seven years.

Burglars at Stratford.

Stratford, Sept. 14.—On Sunday night, some time between twelve o'clock and morning the bars of both the Crescent and American Hotels were broken into and the tills rifled. The burglars got clear away and there is no clue. The booty amounted to $15.

Asked to Call Meeting.

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—At the Inter-Parliamentary conference yesterday, by resolution, President Roosevelt was asked to call a second session of The Hague conference. The real labors of the conference were thus ended. There will be a final session to-day.

Fight Now on in Earnest.

Brantford, Sept. 14.—The fight for the municipal telephone system has now started in earnest in this city. The vote on the bylaw will be taken on Oct. 17, instead of at the municipal elections in January as at first reported.

London, Sept. 13.—Cattle are easier at 9c to 12¾c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 8c per lb. Sheep, 10c to 12c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the city market amounted to 65 carloads, 12 carloads of which were Chicago exporters, consigned to W. H. Dean, in transit, being fed and watered, and not for sale, which would leave 53 carloads, composed of about 820 cattle, 300 hogs, 2000 sheep and lambs, with 300 calves.

There were few exporters and none of choice quality for sale. The best, which was a very good load, weighing 1300 lbs. each, was bought by A. McIntosh at $4.85 per cwt., less $5 on the lot. The remainder sold at $4.60 to $4.75 per cwt. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

The bulk of the butchers' cattle offered were of medium to common quality, few choice lots being on the market. Choice picked lots sold at $4.30 per cwt., and several lots brought $4 to $4.25 per cwt.; fair to good at $3.60 to $3.90; medium at $3.40 to $3.60; common cows at $2.50 to $3.25, and inferior at $2.00 to $2.50 per cwt.

Only a limited number were on sale. Light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., $3 to $3.37½ per cwt.; feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, sold at $3.30 to $4 per cwt., according to quality. Stocker deliveries were light and prices unchanged at $2.75 to $3 per cwt., for those weighing 500 to 600 lbs. and of good quality. Common to inferior sold at $2.25 to $2.50 per cwt.

About 40 milch cows and springers were offered, one drover bringing in a offload. Good to choice cows sold readily at $40 to $50, and something choice was reported as worth $55. The drover bringing in the car of cows, it was reported, had an high as $60 offered for them, of extra choice quality, while common to medium sold at $30 to $38 per head.

Deliveries of calves were fairly large, 165 being reported by the railways.

Deliveries were large, 2000. The market, on account of the large run, was inclined to be draggy. Prices ranged from $3.75 to $3.90 and $4 per cwt. for sheep; lambs sold from $4.25 to $4.60 per cwt.

Hogs—Deliveries were light, with prices steady at $4.25 and lights and fats $4. Thick prices were for fed and watered.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; steady; $4.50 to $7.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 5100 head; active and higher; heavy, $4.25 to $4.35; mixed and yorkers, $4.30 to $4.40; pigs, $4 to $4.20; roughs, $3.10 to $3.40; stags, $3.25 to $4.75; dairies and grassers, $4.20 to $4.15.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4500 head; steady; unchanged.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Sept. 13.—Beeves—Receipts, 700 head; feeling steady; dressed beef in fair demand and steady; exports, 840 cattle, 1025 sheep and 40,000 quarters of beef; to-morrow, 2700 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 162; market steady; veals, $5 to $6.50; grassers and buttermilks, nominal; dressed calves, firm; city dressed veals, 8c to 13½c per pound; country dressed, 8½c to 11½c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 1267; sheep, steady to strong; others quiet but steady; sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; lambs, $5 to $6.25; culls, $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 1940 head; nominally firm at $6.30 to $6.45 for state and Pennsylvania hogs; light Pennsylvania pigs quoted at $6; ordinary mixed western hogs, $6.60.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 7,500; steady; good to prime steers, $5.20 to $6.10; poor to medium, $3.50 to $5.25; stockers and feeders, $2.25 to $3.75; cows, $1.20 to $3.80; heifers, $2 to $4.75; canners, $1.70 to $2.20; bulls, $2 to $4.40; calves, $3.00 to $6.75; Texas-fed steers, $4 to $5; western steers, $3 to $4.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 16,000; steady to 10c lower; mixed and butchers', $5.25 to $5.60; good to choice, heavy, $5.45 to $5.95; rough heavy, $5.15 to $5.40; light, $5.25 to $5.65; bulk of sales, $5.50 to $5.75.

Sheep—Receipts, 23,000; market steady; good to choice wethers, $3.75 to $4.75; fair to choice mixed, $3.25 to $3.70; native lambs, $4.50 to $6.25.

Acted Through Ignorance.

St. Catharines, Sept. 14.—Yesterday morning in the police court Magistrate Comfort decided to allow the parties off on suspended sentence who were convicted on charges of refusing to obey the San Jose inspector's orders to destroy or properly treat scale-infected fruit trees. The magistrate said that he had no doubt the parties had acted through ignorance and would not again lay themselves open to such prosecution. The lowest fine that could be imposed was $20.

Frost Did No Harm.

St. Catharines, Sept. 14.—There was a slight frost in this district Monday night, but not enough to do any damage to the fruit.

From Over Study at School

This Girl Became Pale, Languid and Nervous — Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Made Her Well.

MRS. R. WAKEHAM, 267 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—

"One of my children suffered a great deal with nervous headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, and in fact was all run down, pale and languid. These troubles we attributed to over study and confinement at school. She began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I can say that we have found this treatment exceedingly helpful. It has relieved her of headache, steadied her nerves, and built up her anatem wonderfully. We can see a great change in her, as the color is returning to her face and she is gaining in flesh and weight."

Dr Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Piles We want to say that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, blind or bleeding protruding piles. The manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto.
Dr. Chase's Ointment

To get that appetizing, brown appearance and outside crispyness on roasts of lamb, beef, etc.—to keep their goodness in them they must be basted. In the old style stove this necessitated reaching into the hot oven and moving the hot, heavy pan and holding it in the front of the oven while it was basted. A tedious performance with unsatisfactory results. The draw-out oven rack of the makes basting a simple and successful operation. Draw the handle in front of the oven forward and the rack brings the pan and its contents out of the oven where it may be thoroughly basted with the greatest ease. The Imperial Oxford Range lessens the labor of cooking and insures the most successful results.

MISS DICKSON WAS PRESENT

Will Soon Leave for the Mission Field at Macao China — Addressed Young Ladies.

The first meeting for the season of the Young Ladies' Mission Band of St. Andrew's church was held last evening, Miss Bertram, the president, in the chair. The pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, addressed them. He spoke of the encouraging work that had been done in the past, and hoped it would still go forward. By instances in the Christian lives of young women he called their attention to the great need of what one young Japanese had called the "beautiful life." Its solution was only to be sought by study of the Scriptures, by prayer, by personal devotion to Christ, by determination to win others to Him, and to send or be sent in the mission of giving the Gospel to every creature. His hope was that there would be a very successful year's work, and he referred with pleasure to the presence of Miss Agnes Dickson, formerly General Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. who is soon leaving for the mission field in Macao, China.

Miss Dickson addressed the meeting, stating that she was looking forward with interest to the work there. She dwelt upon the oneness of the work—her belief being that God led all to some definite form of Christian work whether at home, in China or other country, and it was this that largely influenced her in her choice. Miss Dickson urged a more definite interest in missionary work. She left upon the midnight train last night for Montreal, where a farewell banquet is to be held, and where the Chinese of that city will present the missionaries, Miss Lambe and Miss Dickson, with a copy of the Scriptures in that language.

WHAT BOYS ENJOY

With the Youngsters at the Y. M.C. A. Gymnasium.

Most every mom looks back with mingled pleasure and regret upon his school day, when he was happy and free of care. If he had been at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon and had seen some 35 or 40 bright and sturdy, school boys going through their drills, gymnastics and games, he would immediately have wished himself one of them. And, if he had seen them after their exercises, like a fat of wild Indians let loose, diving, jumping and leaping into the swimming tank he would have still more longed to be one of their number. Of course it is of no use to wish for something that is of days gone by, but what he can do is to send his boy and have him enjoy it. It is between the ages of 12 and 17 that the bay grows most rapidly. It is therefore this period that determines his foundation for strength, vitality and longevity.

CASES AT POLICE COURT

Italians up for Selling Liquor — A Vagrant Youth from Millbrook.

Several cases came up before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning. Ernie Lawrence was charged with keeping a dog without paying the dog tax. He was fined $2.00 and costs.

John Roger, a youth from Millbrook, was charged with vagrancy. He stated that he had been looking for work and had a chance of a job to-day. He was discharged with a warning to go to work or else to leave town.

Cecil Shannon, charged with stealing lager from Alex. Elliott, was remanded until Friday afternoon.

The charge against several Italians of selling liquor was next considered. Michael Barber will answer to the charge on Friday and Camille Duluth's case came up this morning. Several diminutive witnesses testified to having obtained liquor from the defendant.

Judgment in this case was reserved until the 21st instant.

SPARE THAT TREE

Too Little Care for the Beauty of the Scenery.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Has it ever struck you how necessary it is to the life and well-being of a community that fine trees should be preserved? We buy fine pictures with great trees in them, but how much more splendid and less expensive are the fine trees themselves. We do not refer of course to other than exceptionally fine old trees that every one knows, or ought to know, it is a pity to see cut down. Nine people out of ten will agree with this, but the tenth man, having no soul for beauty or desire to confer an artistic benefit on his own and his neighbors' children, proceeds to cut the fine trees down. If we had more tree love in Ontario we would have, to my opinion, less rough, rude utilitarianism and a greater desire for the beautified and good in all directions. We need it too.—Yours, etc.,

Warsaw News

The annual excursion of Warsaw L. O. L. No. 284 was taken in by a number of pleasure seekers on Tuesday, the 6th inst. They were from Belleville, Peterborough, Norwood, Lakefield, and Townships of Smith, Dummer, Douro and other places. The handsome new steamer Stony Lake was chartered for the day, starting from Lakefield at 7 o'clock a.m., and leaving McCracken's Landing at 9.15, arriving at Bobcaygeon at 1.45 p.m. The trail up the lakes and through the locks was highly appreciated by all on board. The young folks (and some of the older ones too) kept time to the excellent music furnished by Professors V. Miller, J. Middleton and B. Douglas. A slight delay was caused at Love Sick on account of some rocks in the channel that should no be there in such an important waterway as our Trent Valley Canal is to be in future. On arrival at Bobcaygeon home friends were waiting at the wharf who had driven from a distance to meet friends they expected to be on board the boat. After the exchange of greetings the boat was soon deserted and all wended their way through the village and spent about two hours taking in the sights. We congratulate Bobcaygeon on the good fortune they had in securing railway service to the place. The return trip was made in a shorter time, leaving Bobcaygeon at 6.25 and arriving at McCracken's at 7.30, where that part of the passengers landed well pleased, although some of them had night, ten and more miles to drive home and do some milking when they got there. After more farewell greetings those remaining on board left for Young's Point and Lakefield, all satisfied that they had had, if not the best, one of the best outings of the season.

The excursion committee desire to convey their sincere thanks to our brethren and friends for the liberal patronage extended to us, and which was the means of making the excursion also financially a success.

SPORTING NEWS.

BASEBALL.

The Cobourg baseball team will make their first appearance here in two years when they meet the locals on Saturday in a Midland League game. The Peterborough team is playing the fastest kind of ball now and stand a good chance of winning out the championship. Those that witnessed last Saturday's game were treated to a first class exhibition with a ding dong finish and the boys are determined to take the strong Cobourg team into camp.

RUGBY.

The local team will practice in Saturday afternoon. The management is making arrangements for the evening practices, so that the team may get to work as early as possible.

Fatality Likely to Result.

Kingston, Sept. 13.—Wm. Donaldson, living at Joyceville, ten miles from here, was dangerously injured in a railway accident at Princeton, Illinois. His back was broken and his arms and legs crushed, so that there is little hope of his recovery. His friends here were advised of his condition on Sunday. He is married and about 40 years of age.

Jumped Out of Window.

Port Dalhousie, Sept. 13.—About 7.30 yesterday morning a fire broke out in the house occupied by Michael Hart, owned by Mrs. William Moscop of Buffalo. Mrs. Hart and children were in bed when the house seemed to be all on fire. The children had to jump out of the window, and Mrs. Hart also had a narrow escape.

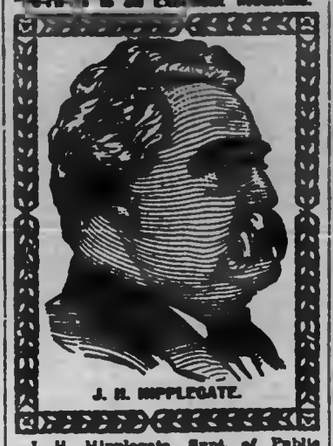
400 Claimants For Bounty.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—There will be over 400 individual claimants for the bounty on crude oil of 1½ cents per gallon. There are some 2,000 producing wells in Ontario, but many groups of these are owned by companies. Payment of the bounty will not be commenced for a month yet.

Superintendent Public Works

of Lexington, Ky., Says:

"Peruna is an Excellent Medicine."



J. H. HIPPLEGATE.

J. H. Hipplegate, Supt. of Public Works, 61 West 6th St., Lexington, Ky., writes:

"I find that Peruna is an excellent medicine especially for catarrhal affections and all diseases leading to consumption, bronchial troubles or stomach troubles. It also acts as a preventative and keeps the system in a healthy condition so that it easily throws off disease. It is an excellent tonic and a great appetizer and as a large number of those who have been using it speak very highly of its curative powers, I am satisfied that my opinion of it is correct, and that it is deserving of high praise."
—J. H. Hipplegate.

Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by hearsay and thousands know it by experience.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages. There is no remedy that can be substituted.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A Valuable Discovery

An Irish servant girl has made a great discovery that will bring joy to the hearts of men and women who love a little whiskey straight and have to kill the odor by chewing cloves. There is a class of drinkers who do not like to carry the smell of a gin-mill on their breath, especially when meeting some friend who is not an imbiber. This servant girl was decanting whiskey for the family use and used a funnel through which colonge had been filtered. The colonge destroys the smell of the whisky and leaves the drinker's breath smelling like otter of roses. The clubs in New York are adopting it, and no matter how weary the drinker may go home not a smell of liquor can be detected. However, drunk comes all the same.

LIAOYANG'S LOSSES ESTIMATED

Total of 33,000 Killed for Both Armies.

OFFICIAL REPORT PRESENTED

The Japanese Lost 17,500 While the Russian Killed Numbered 4,000 and the Wounded 12,000.

London, Sept. 15.—Field Marshal Oyama reports to Tokio that a considerable Russian force remains south of the Hun River, while Gen. Kuropatkin telegraphed to St. Petersburg that the bulk of the Japanese force is still south of the Yentai branch railroad. Oyama also says that the Russians are fortifying the heights on both sides of the Liao River at Tie Pass. No light is thrown on the all-absorbing question of where the next engagement in force will occur.

The Russian Losses.

Gen. Kuropatkin's estimate of his losses in the fighting around Liaoyang are far under the first reports. He reports that, from Aug. 28 to Sept. 5, he lost 4,000 killed and 12,000 wounded. Marshal Oyama placed the total of Japanese casualties at 17,500, making the total for both armies in round number 33,500. Accepting these figures as correct, the battle of Liaoyang, in killed and wounded, falls much lower in the scale of the worlds' great battles.

Japanese Attacks Repulsed.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—The Emperor has received the following despatch from Gen. Stoessel (commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur) dated Aug. 28: "I am happy to report to Your Majesty that at 3 o'clock in the morning of Aug. 27, during a violent rain and thunder storm, the Japanese again attempted to capture our left flank positions, near number one fort and Udan Mountain. Their attack was everywhere repulsed. Our losses were small—three men killed and two officers and 98 men wounded. The wounded were brought in and are being carefully tended. A number of Japanese corpses would have been picked up by us, but the enemy prevented us from so doing by opening fire on the hospital attendants, who had been sent out under the Red Cross flag."

Japs Blown Into the Air.

Another despatch from Gen. Stoessel to the Emperor, dated Sept. 2, says: "On the night of Sept. 1 the enemy attacked Visokaya and Minnaya Mountains and the neighboring fortifications, opening simultaneously an artillery fire on the forts and mountains. The leading files of the enemy, with the Japanese columns following them, were discovered in good time, and our batteries opened on them. The leading files fortunately encountered some automatic mines, and many of the enemy were blown in the air. The attack was repulsed in an hour. Our losses were inconsiderable—one officer and seven men wounded."

Ignores British Protest.

London, Sept. 15.—The Globe yesterday afternoon says that the decision of the Vladivostock prize court to confiscate that portion of the cargo of the British steamer Calchas consisting of flour, cotton and timber, consigned to Japan, if confirmed by the Russian supreme court, amounts to a complete ignoring of the protest lodged by Great Britain at St. Petersburg against the inclusion of provisions in the Russian list of contraband of war.

Kuropatkin's Report.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—Gen. Kuropatkin's official report, which was given out last night, comes as a considerable relief as setting at rest alarmist stories of the loss of guns, the cutting of divisions and the death or capture of prominent commanders, which have been freely circulating here. The report bears out the declaration of the Associated Press at the time that Gen. Orloff's failure to hold the vital position at the Yentai mines was responsible for the breaking down of the whole of Gen. Kuropatkin's plan of battle and turned a potential victory into defeat. The report, as given out, does not state the casualties, but the Associated Press is authoritatively informed that they were under 17,000.

The War Office is extremely reticent regarding the present situation and future plans at the front. It is stated in general terms that the army is concentrated around Mukden, leaving the inference that it is ready to make another stand.

6 MEN BADLY INJURED

By the Bursting of a Roller Mill Boiler.

Men Carried Out With the Wreckage—Part of the Building Wrecked and Hurled in All Directions—Boiler Was Lifted From Its Bed and Large Iron Smokestack Fell—Names of the Injured.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—About 1.45 yesterday afternoon one of the tubular boilers in the engine room of the McDonnell rolling mill at Sunnyside exploded with terrible force, badly injuring six of the workmen. Part of the building was wrecked and hurled in all directions, the boiler lifted from its bed and a large metal smokestack fell in. Fortunately the building being of open construction the force of the explosion was confined to the part of the building near the boilers, and the men, about 70 in number, in the other part of the mill escaped. For those at work near the boilers there was no chance of escape, and they were carried out with the wreck of the roof and boiler.

Six were found badly injured, two more severely than the others. The police and ambulances were quickly on the scene, and Doctors Hart, Lynd, Griffiths and Hunter did what they could for the men, who were conveyed to the Western Hospital. The injured are:

Names of the Injured.

William Dixon, 31 Garden avenue, engineer, compound fracture of left arm between the shoulder and elbow, fracture of both bones of the right forearm and fracture of the second metacarpal, had cut behind the ear, and body badly burned.

George Woods, 5 Sunnyside avenue, mill-hand, face badly cut, bruised and very badly burned.

Albert Durnford, 85 West Marion street, mill-hand, burned, bruised and scalded.

Alexander Watson, engineer, face scalded.

Fred Jones, Indian Road, engineer, leg broken.

All the men except Woods are married. Dixon is over 40 years of age, and consequently is suffering severely from the shock. The money loss will be about $1,500.

Dynamite Explodes in His Face.

Port Arthur, Sept. 15.—An Italian had a miraculous escape here yesterday. He was in the waterworks trench when a premature dynamite explosion occurred. His face was literally filled with small pieces of rock and he was otherwise injured. He will recover.

To Be Buried Side By Side.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—James Power, who fell from the rear gallery of the tenement at 158 and 160 Prince street, on Monday, died in the Notre Dame Hospital at 11 o'clock yesterday, as a result of his injuries. The mother and son will now be buried in the same grave. Mrs. Jules Desiauriers, the third victim, is expected by the surgeons of the institution to live a day or two. Life is slowly ebbing away. Mrs. Power was killed by the falling of the balcony, and her son and Mrs. Desiauriers fatally injured at the time.

Killed By a Train.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—When crossing the C.P.R. tracks at Mechanicsville, a suburb of Ottawa, Mrs. Philip Beaudry of 19 Murray street was struck by an incoming train late yesterday afternoon and instantly killed. The woman was 72 years old. In the heavy rain and coming darkness, she did not notice the transcontinental express, and walked right in front of it.

Arm Wrenched From Socket.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 15.—While leaning in to fix the coupling on two cars here yesterday afternoon, William Shore, a yardman in the employ of the C.P.R., slipped and had his left arm taken off. The wheels passed over the arm near the shoulder and the drag of the wheel on the arm literally wrenched it from the socket. The unfortunate man was picked up by his comrades and Dr. Beattie came to his assistance. The shoulder was dressed temporarily and Shore was hurried to the Western Hospital. By last reports he was progressing favorably.

Harvest Festival at St. John's

Independence Assured

A strong argument for life insurance is found in the scanty record of those who have been able to save out of their earnings enough to make provision for their bereaved families. There are multitudes of men to whom this is impossible, as their income is all required for the decent maintenance of their household, or, the margin for saving is too narrow to allow of a fund being accumulated out of it. Then, there are all manner of misfortunes to which men are liable, which drain away any savings which have been laid aside. Yet the great bulk of such persons could pay the premium on a life policy by exercising special economies. In relation to this, the "Insurance Monitor" narrates that: "A gentleman who was lately visiting a statistician employed in the Census Bureau at Washington, was complaining that he had little or nothing to show for the money he had earned during the course of a lifetime. Through mismanagement of his affairs and unfortunate investments it had nearly all been lost.

"Do you know," said the statistician, "how many of the men in this country succeed in saving any large part of the money that they have earned. In the EASTERN MIDDLE STATES ONLY ABOUT 2 p.c. in NEW ENGLAND 2 p.c. and in THE WEST ABOUT 4 p.c." Such is the slender record of ultimate business success in this country. MORE THAN 96 PER CENT. of those whose earning powers or money-making abilities promise to place their families above want, die poor in this land of exceptional opportunities.

"Could there be a stronger argument for the need of life insurance? It is almost the only investment which is not subject to the mistakes of the investor."

The Sun Life of Canada is a household word in this country. Its marvellous increase in business is Proof of Public Confidence in its plans of Life Insurance. Profit by the experience of the men who knew how to invest wisely by insuring in the

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE

Among other desertions of their opposition platform and adoption of the Conservative policy, which they had condemned, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues, on obtaining office, legislated in favor of a preferential tariff for imports from the United Kingdom. This preference was augmented till it amounted to a rebate of a third of the ordinary customs duties. With some bragging this was described as a voluntary favor for which no return was demanded or even suspected. At the time of the Colonial Conference Sir Wilfrid had repented of this generosity and plainly demanded a reciprocal advantage from the Mother Country. At the same time Sir Wilfrid took a further step in the direction of an imperial preference, pledging himself, in the event of such reciprocity, to recommend his Parliament to increase the preference, perhaps by raising the duties on foreign importations or by alterations in the free list.

When Mr. Chamberlain started his agitation in favor of a general Imperial preferential policy with the especial object of drawing closer the tie between the Mother Country and Greater Britain, it might have been expected that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers would have given a hearty welcome to this approach to his expressed desire. This would have been the more seemly because Mr. Chamberlain had repeatedly announced that he had been in a great measure moved to adopt his present course by the offer made by Canada. Far from this being the case, Sir Wilfrid as leader of the House of Commons, had not a word to say in favor of this recognition of the Canadian preference, or of sympathy with this acceptance of his own policy. His organs and his associates have indeed persistently thrown cold water on this movement in the United Kingdom. One of his colleagues in the Administration even came out flat-footed against it at a public meeting in England. The cable despatches from London, evidently often inspired by the criminals whom Sir Wilfrid sends to represent us, always give especial prominence to any opposition to the Chamberlain policy, and make little of the efforts of himself and his friends. The journals in his own Province, which are most closely connected with the Premier, laud him to the skies for thus thwarting Mr. Chamberlain and for opposing any closer drawing of the Imperial tie.

All this is conclusive evidence that the Laurier Administration has no real love for its own preferential policy. As opportunists of the lowest type, as they so often prove themselves to be, they enacted the measure only to curry favor in some quarters, while depending on their secret assurances that they would not really push this policy to set themselves right with their anti-Imperialist friends.

Those who believe in the benefits to be derived from a systematic Imperial preference, and those who desire to see the various members of the British Empire drawn closer together that they may gain strength by union, should give no support to a Ministry, which, with all its hypocrisy, is really antagonistic to this great idea.

Now we begin to see the kind of fi-g-h-t Mr. Ross put up by land and sea.

So Mr. McEvoy has executed a Kuropatkin strategic movement and has left Mr. Gamey in undisputed possession of the field

Muskoka is no longer sub judice, so is open to comment. It appears from the evidence at the "Soo" that Morrison, of the Machine Brigade, had a wad of money to spend for the Ross candidate in that constituency, but in vain.

The independent Toronto News says:—

"It is humiliating for a citizen of Ontario to feel that in no other portion of the British dominions could the machinery of the constitution have been so abused in order to keep one set of men in office. Much has been done to bring parliamentary institutions into contempt. But sooner or later the electors may be trusted to visit the necessary punishment upon the offenders."

NORTH PERTH

The Ross Candidate Virtually Confesses Extensive Use of Bribery.

Only one of the many charges in the petition against the election of John Brown in North Perth was proved. It was proved that a man whom Mr. Brown acknowledged to be one of his agents had given an elector five dollars as a bribe. The respondent declined to take advantage of the saving clause in the statute. The election was therefore declared void and the cross petition against the election of Mr. Monteith was withdrawn.

This result is unsatisfactory for two reasons. By waiving, on the advice of counsel, the privilegie of pleading the saving clause Mr. Brown prevented the court from exercising its discretion and obliged it to declare the election void on the evidence submitted, thus blocking any further investigation. There were many other charges of bribery and other irregularities; but because the respondent threw up his hands when one charge was proved, all of these other charges must remain uninvestigated, so that the public will never know the extent of the corruption in the North Perth election. Liberals will be able to assert that, as only one charge was proved the election was a comparatively clean one; and Conservatives will be able to assert, with some show of reason, to charge that Mr. Brown waived the saving clause and obliged the court to unseat him because he was afraid of the disclosures that would be made if the investigation were to proceed.

The withdrawal of the cross-petition is another reason why the outcome of the election case is unsatisfactory. If corrupt methods were used on behalf of the Conservative candidate it was important to have the facts revealed. In the cross-petition were personal charges against Mr. Monteith; if they were well founded that gentleman would be disqualified from contesting the riding again. But the withdrawal of the petition extinguishes the light which might have been let in upon the doings of the Conservative workers in North Perth. Why was it withdrawn? Can the Conservatives be blamed for asserting that the petition was only a bluff, that the allegations contained in it were false and that it never was intended for any other purpose than intimidation?

It is a question whether respondents in election trials should have the power to choke off investigation by waiving the saving clause in the statute, thus practically entering a plea of guilty. And some means ought to be devised for making the filing of spurious election petitions so costly to the petitioners that this election device will not be resorted to so frequently.—Hamilton Herald, Indep.

IT HAPPENED IN LAKEFIELD

The Village Fathers Met — Other Events of Interest.

Mr. J. W. Ridpath and family arrived home from Stony Lake on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Graham entertained a number of their friends on Friday last at Viamede. About fifty were from Lakefield and were taken to Viamede per steamer. The amusements consisted of dancing and cards and the gathering broke up in the wee sma' hours of the morning. That this gathering is the forerunner of many such is the hope of all that were present.

On Tuesday afternoon last while Mr. John Hearn was working at the cement works he came in contact with a live wire and the result was almost instant death to the unfortunate man. He leaves a widow and two sons. The sad event has cast a gloom over the whole village.

Rev. Mr. Campbell, Dr. W. A. Baker and Mr. F. Z. Webster leave on Monday next for Cuba, via New York.

Miss Patterson, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnston, returned to her home on Tuesday.

Mr. Theo Crawford spent a few days in Toronto on business this week.

We would recommend that the payment of pay rolls No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 be confirmed and that the account of the Lakefield Portland Cement Co., $226.00, be paid after deducting the amount of $62.50 for 625 bags returned to Aug. 31st. '04. We would also recommend that the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars be placed to the credit of the School Board.

Respectfully submitted,
E. M. TANNER,
Chairman.

Moved by Coun. Tanner, seconded by Coun. Burgess, that the report be adopted.—Carried.

The council adjourned to meet again at the call of the reeve.

MR. BEITH'S FINE STRING

HIS PRIZE-WINNING HACKNEYS WHICH WILL BE SHOWN HERE.

Some very Fine Stallions and Mares and Fillies in the Handsome Bunch — A Description of Each.

The Toronto World thus describes the prize-winning hackneys of Mr. Beith, which will be shown at the Peterborough Fair: First in Mr. Beith's lot came Baron, a wonderful stylish five-year-old stallion bred by Rawlinson Bros. of Calgary, Alta., got by champion Robin Adair II., whom the sun beats in looks and manners, and, many hold, in conformation. He is out of imp. Timber Pride and is a beautiful brown with three white heels. Mr. Beith thinks him about the best hackney breeding and championships won at New York, St. Louis Chicago and Toronto would appear to justify that opinion. He is a strikingly true going horse, using his hocks as well as his heels in capital style. He is exceedingly well set up, and in short is entirely a king of his kind. Next we have Terrington Bellerophon, an imported two-year-old dark chestnut, bred by Sir Gilbert Greenhall of England and got by Goldfinder out of Terrington Belladonna. This colt reminds one of Ottawa, another champion owned by Mr Beith. He possesses very taking action, way and smartness, and presents a fine picture both coming and going. He is specially even in his conformation. Rarely, indeed, is one better seen in a show ring. Imp. G. David, another of the 10, is a two-year-old roan colt, a special winner and junior champion at St. Louis. He is very homely in back and quarters, with extra excellent neck and head. Another of the 10 was Cliffe Rosador, a two-year-old chestnut of rare size, particularly good shoulders, superb bone, well muscled, but hardly as good behind as before. He is the very cut of his sire, who was champion of England. For the fifth we have a veritable star in the imported yearling Lord Mostomby, a big bay colt with white hind fetlocks. He was second at the hackney show in England, but good judges do not hesitate to say he was the best youngster on the grounds and should have been first. His action is simply marvellous for a yearling, his hock action being, Robert Graham says, about the best he has seen.

The foregoing comprises Mr. Beith's entire horses in the string of 10. The mares and fillies were not lacking in quality any more than the horse of the stable. First we have the broad mare Priscilla, a dappled chestnut, a very color by the way, bred by the Rawlinsons at Calgary, and sired by imp. Robin Adair II. This is an especially sweet creature, of excellent conformation, good top, big in her quarters, the right kind of feet, great depth through and fine back. She was champion mare at St. Louis and here. Smylett Duchess is another imported dark chestnut, foaled in 1901, bred by His Majesty, and dammed by Smylett Rose, a daughter of the great Danegelt. She possesses good shoulders and back. Smylett Duchess and Blanshre Princess, the eighth of the ten, have both been sold to Senator Edwards. Blanshre Princess was winner of the English Hackney Society's medal at the exhibition. She is a beautiful mare with grand back. In fact, like some women, she is pretty all over, and it would be difficult to find a flaw. Winona, a half sister to imp. Robin Adair, is another handsome chestnut mare by Robin Adair, and bred by the Rawlinsons. (Well put up, she is especially strong in front. Her action is true to a turn, her hocks being kept nicely together. Possibly for turnout purposes Winona is the best of the string. Golden Girl, a four or five year old, good and clean looking mare of substance and quality, would pair excellently with the aforementioned Priscilla, both being excellent goers. She is a full sister to a champion and winner herself. Others that Mr. Beith had on the grounds were Gay Dudley, a rarely kept yearling by Alarm, out of a Cadet mare, and Waverley Duchess, a grey mare, by Lord Rosebery, that has also been sold to Senator Edwards. Mr. Beith will take his stable to Chicago and New York, and is the intention of repeating at both places the honors won at St. Louis.

NEWS FROM INDIAN RIVER

A Pail Race that Aroused Considerable Interest.

The Indian River post office is now changed, and its future name will be Guerin, while Indian River will go in place of Otonabee P.O.

The pail race between John Lonergan and D. O'Leary was of a jovial nature. The pail was placed a distance of 25 yards off, filled with a certain liquid, and in order to win the prize, the winner had to guess the name of the liquid. Mr. Lonergan reached the pail first, and was so delighted with the taste of the liquor that he never halted to give Daniel even a smell of what Jonn thought was ale.

Mr. James Collins has purchased an up-to-date single wagon for the purpose of gathering eggs.

"CAP" SULLIVAN AGAIN

Nelson of Buffalo Gives Sensational Evidence.

In the North Grey Election Trial at Owen Sound He Was Star Witness on Wednesday—Farrow Charge Rolls—Two Charges of Illegal Payment of Money Proved in One Trial, But Agency Not Established.

Owen Sound, Sept. 15.—Owing to the indisposition of Mr. Justice Street, the court did not sit in the morning yesterday.

Farrow went into the box again and in answer to Mr. Aylesworth said he was sworn when he voted.

"Then you couldn't have considered that you had been promised any money?"

"No."

Roy MacMurchy, the alleged money handler, was called by Mr. Aylesworth. He swore that he did not know Farrow, and that he had never seen him before to his knowledge. He did not remember seeing Schleier, who put Farrow "next" to MacMurchy and the barrel, on election day. He did not give Farrow any money.

Chief Justice Seems It Up.

In discussing the charge, Chief Justice Moss said: We cannot agree with Mr. Blackstock that the charge is proved. We think it has failed on the evidence. Farrow has not presented himself to the court in favorable colors. By his own admission he is a person guilty of acts that discredit him on more than one occasion. His account of his doings on election day was not satisfactory. He was unable to say in what hour of the day the occurrence was. We would suppose that in a matter of this kind it would be difficult to be mistaken as to the time. He said he could not remember whether it was in the morning or afternoon; afterwards he rather came down to the statement that it was in the morning, about 10 o'clock. He ought to have been able to recall the circumstances with more certainty. It is also not to be overlooked that he admits having taken the oath, which oath is a distinct repudiation of having had any (inducement) held out to him. In that way, to a certain extent, he discredits himself. If MacMurchy's statement is to be accepted in full, Farrow's statement is entirely untrue. MacMurchy says he never paid Farrow money, and where a charge is so grave it ought to be supported by evidence more reliable.

Mr. Justice Street said: I quite agree. It was one oath against another, and Farrow discredited himself by the fact that he took the oath swearing that no money had been paid.

Nelson's Story.

James T. Nelson said that he lived at Buffalo. He knew Capt. John Sullivan, who at that time lived at the Walker House, Toronto. He saw Sullivan in December, 1902, about the 5th of the month, at Buffalo. He was brought down to his house by J. J. McCarty, a saloonkeeper and relative of Sullivan's. Sullivan said that he was representing the Liberal Government of Ontario. They were going to have three by-elections and he said that he (witness) had been recommended to him for assistance. An hour later he met Sullivan at McCarty's saloon. He said that they depended on these constituencies to sustain the Government. Nelson replied that he would assist if there was money enough in it. Later, on the 17th or 18th, he met Sullivan again. He told Nelson to get eight men besides myself, two for North Norfolk and the balance for North Perth and North Grey. He said that he preferred William Bain, Michael Crosby, John Freeman, a young man by the name of Gallagher, William Schley and John McCarty. He named those parties himself. At this meeting he arranged to give the witness $5 a day, $3 for hotel bill and expenses, and $1 for each of the men. He specified these men because he said he knew them. He went away and said he would meet the witness on the 26th or 27th.

Picked Men.

In the meantime he got his men, securing John Haskitt and Leon J. Mulloy as well as the others named. He received $25 at that time. Sullivan and Nelson made an arrangement and met on the 27th at the Daly House with Haskitt on Sunday. The witness received $20. At 3 o'clock Sullivan introduced him to Messrs. Smith and Massey. He met Smith afterwards and found out that his right name was Vance. Mr. Sullivan said: "This is the gentleman that will tell you what to do in North Perth." He told him to go to the Cabinet Hotel at Stratford. He was to engage board for a month. He claimed that they were suspicious of every stranger and that it would be difficult to get in unless he did this. He got in without the monthly engagement, however. He was to report to R. T. Hardy and Mr. O'Beirne of The Stratford Beacon, as to persons who could be bought or influenced. He was also to watch the other fellows that they did not do any harm. Most of the reporting was done to Mr. Hardy. He was there until January 2, when he went to Buffalo, where he got his men. On Jan. 3 he met Sullivan with his men at the Windsor Hotel, Niagara Falls. He wanted him to send two men to North Norfolk. He preferred Bain and Crosby for that constituency.

A Lavish Payment.

Sullivan gave him $225. He was to give $125 to Bain and $80 to McCarty, who was to go to North Grey. Sullivan said, "I mailed you $40 to Stratford," and he got it afterwards, when he went up there. J. J. McCarty, John Freeman, Gallagher, Schley and Leon Mulloy came to North Grey. In Perth the witness was known by his own name. He was supposed to be a traveler, but did not take any orders away with him. To the North Grey men he gave Sullivan's instructions. McCarty and Mulloy were to register at the Pacific Hotel. McCarty was to register as Marshall. The other three were to go to the Grand Central. Schley was to be sent to Shallow Lake and Mulloy to Wiarton. He was to see a Dr. Huff or Hough at Wiarton. McCarty had charge of the North Grey men. The proprietor or someone at the Pacific was to give instructions to McCarty. Gallagher was to handle the money to buy votes, and Freeman was to associate with him. McCarty was to tend bar at the Grand Central. He was to get money at the hotel, but could not recall who it was from them. Mulloy at Wiarton was to represent an Indian Medicine Company. It was at the Pacific Hotel, Wiarton, where he was to meet Dr. Hough. Sullivan told him that Hough had rooms there.

The men went forward to North Grey, while the witness went back to Stratford. He came to Owen Sound on Jan. 6 and met J. J. McCarty, but was only here from one train to the other. McCarty was at the Central Hotel, and he met him there.

"Cap" Fails to Pay.

At Toronto, the day after the election, Sullivan gave him $50 at the Walker House, and told him to send in his bill from Buffalo. He sent his bill for $185, but had not received the money. He wrote Sullivan several times in connection with the bill, but did not get his money.

Cross-questioned by Mr. Aylesworth, he said that he had not been here in recent years until Jan. 15, 1903. He was raised in Kingston, Ontario, and was born in 1854. For 18 years he had lived in Buffalo. He had been in Ontario at intervals since. At the time of the election he was working for The London Times, taking orders for The Encyclopaedia Britannica. He had read of Captain Sullivan in the newspapers, and knew that he was accused of corrupt practices in Ontario politics. The affidavit had been sworn before a notary public named Newman in Buffalo, and had been given to Mr. Wright. It was in March or late in February that he became acquainted with Wright. Previously he had written to Mr. Whitney, and later, to G. M. Boyd. He did this because Sullivan had not lived up to his agreement. Mr. Boyd informed Mr. Wright, and the latter answered. He had not kept copies of the letters. Mr. Wright informed him that he was Conservative organizer, and he told him the substance of his story. Mr. Fraser, an attorney at Niagara Falls, drafted the affidavit. Mr. Wright, Mulloy and himself were present at the Mansion House, Buffalo, when the document was drawn up.

Mr. Aylesworth led up to the date of the first meeting with Sullivan, and the witness was confident that it was December. The affidavit stated that the first meeting took place in November. Nelson replied that the affidavit was probably correct, as the fact was fresh in his mind at the time.

Watch Conservatives, Too.

Vance had told him that part of his work was to watch for bribery on the other side. He did not report the names of weak-kneed men to O'Beirne but did to R. T. Hardy. He did not take into account the immorality of his position any more than a lawyer would. He denied that he had been in court for stealing spoons from the Bowery Brewery Company. The goods were property that was in a hotel which he had purchased, and over which there had been a misunderstanding. The judge fined him and remitted the fine. For throwing one Mearns out of his hotel for not paying his board he had been fined and released on suspended sentence for one year. He had received no reward or promise of reward, and Mr. Wright had said: "Remember, there is no money in it for you, but if there is anything to tell I am here to take it."

Asked to Swear Falsely.

The Liberals had approached him afterwards to have him make a false affidavit. The statement that A. W. Wright supplied the names for the affidavit was absolutely untrue. His instructions to Bain were to find the weak ones and buy them. Freeman was a stranger to him. He was from St. Catharines and was one of the captain's selections. Schley was from St. Catharines and he was also Sullivan's selection. Among the names mentioned was that of Frost, an attorney, who was to give them the money. He did not know that Mr. Frost was the town solicitor and a gentleman held in the highest esteem. The total amount which he had received from Sullivan was $360, of which $205 had been paid out to Bain and Crosby. None of the balance had been spent in North Grey.

Vance Admits Identity.

Mr. Paterson asked the witness if he had met Smith again as Vance. Nelson replied that he had met Vance in the Hoffman House the following April. Prior to this he had heard that the man was Vance. Vance jokingly admitted his identity. The larceny charge was explained. The brewery had some goods in a hotel which he had rented, covered by a chattel mortgage. When he sold out the place, Weinert was sore because he had been sold to an unpromising purchaser. Political sympathies resulted in a compromise verdict. When he sold out the articles still remained in the hotel and had not been taken away at any time. The witness had received no compensation, nor did he expect any for coming to Owen Sound, other than his railroad fare.

Dr. Hough's Share.

Dr. Hough of Wiarton said that he did his share as an ordinary political worker. He canvassed and spoke at three public meetings, and made arrangements for getting voters out to the polls. At the time of the election he stopped at the Pacific Hotel, Leon J. Mulloy introduced himself to him, and when he introduced his subject he told him to get out. A few days before the election a man came to him who he supposed was a patient. The man said he was sent over to watch a prominent Conservative. He ended the matter there and refused to listen to Mulloy.

Mulloy was brought in at this juncture and identified as the man by Dr. Hough. Mulloy lived in the same hotel after their first meeting. He did not prepare any diagram of the road showing the way to McIvor's place, and did not give Mulloy whiskey to take out to McIver's. In short, Dr. Hough knew nothing whatever about it, except that he was located in Wiarton at the time of the election contest.

THE TRIAL AT THE SOO.

Arthur Fillmore Corroborates Story of Minnie M's Purser.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 15.—In the protest trial yesterday, the illegal payment of money to voters on two different occasions was proved, but agency was not established. Arthur Fillmore corroborated the story of the purser of the Minnie M., and the charges were laid over till some necessary witnesses were obtained. One Bonathan swore Napoleon Audette tried to get him to change his evidence since the trial began. His evidence was corroborated by George Settell and Frank Lucas, who eavesdropped. C. N. Smith, M.P.P., swore he did not think that the Minnie M. would go to Michipicoten after the letter of protest had been read.

ON AGRICULTURAL FAIRS

GOVERNMENT DOES NOT ASSIST IN PROVIDING AMUSEMENT.

Something About the Educational Features—How to Improve Farm Crops—Interesting the Women and Children.

It is a self-evident proposition that agricultural fairs which receive grants of public money should give the public something of value therefor. It is not the province of governments in these days to assist in providing amusement for the people. A good many agricultural societies are now making an earnest effort to improve their fairs by the introduction of educational features, and their example is being followed by the large exhibitions which do not ordinarily receive legislative grants. There are still some fairs, controlled largely by the business men of the towns, which seem to be held for the purpose of attracting visitors who will prove good customers, but the number is fortunately becoming few. It is now generally recognized that shows exist primarily for the purpose of improving agricultural conditions.

Teaching Market Requirements.

The up-to-date fair secures the services of expert judges who explain the reasons for their decisions in the ring and give addresses on the best types of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In this way the judging may be made an educational feature instead of merely an allotment of premiums by men who are often incompetent or biased in their judgment. The awarding of prizes at a fair is a comparatively unimportant matter as compared with other considerations. What is really desirable is that fairs should be the means of disseminating information and of fixing correct ideals in the minds of those who are producing food-stuffs and on whom the prosperity of Canada depends. Desirable and undesirable types of fowls may be shown, with lectures on the fattening of chickens for the British and domestic markets, and exhibitions of killing, plucking and packing for export. A model poultry house, with incubators, brooders, fattening crates and other appliances interested thousands of visitors at the Toronto fair this year. Practical demonstrations of the proper packing of fruit for export should be given in fruit districts by expert packers, and the most approved styles of fruit packages exhibited.

To Improve Farm Crops.

Another feature worthy of adoption by all agricultural societies, but which only a few have yet taken up, is the growing of illustration plots on the fair grounds. At a small expense a very interesting and instructive exhibit of the best varieties of grasses, clovers, millets, sorghums, corn, fodder and pasture plants, turnips, mangels and sugar beets can be provided. By studying these plots farmers may learn just what crops and what varieties are best adapted to their farms, thus bringing home to particular conditions of soil and climate the general conclusions arrived at by the experimental farms. In all kinds of farm crops the yield per acre may be materially increased and the quality substantially improved by the use of seed which has been graded up by careful growing and systematic, intelligent selection, continued without interruption from year to year. This fact cannot be too soon brought home to the farmers of Canada, and one of the best ways of doing so would be to have on view at the fairs representative exhibits of the great work being done by members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

Interesting the Women and Children.

Demonstrations of agricultural processes are interesting to everyone, but the operations of a model kitchen and dining room, with exhibitions of cooking simple dishes and addresses on domestic science, will appeal especially to the farmers' wives and daughters. That the children may be led to take an intelligent interest in the fair, prizes might well be offered for exhibits by school children of oat flowers, grains, clovers and grasses, roots and vegetables, fruits, pressed and mounted wild flowers, woods and weed seeds, beneficial and injurious insects and native woods. These exhibits could be supplemented by essays for which prizes might be offered. Wherever tried this plan has proved effective in inducing children to begin the fascinating study of nature. Every precaution should be taken to have a good clean fair, where all the boys and girls may go to spend a pleasant and instructive day without coming in contact with any injurious influences.

Keeping Good Sires.

Many agricultural societies, particularly in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, do not hold fairs, but in lieu thereof buy and maintain pure bred sires for the use of their members. This is a practice which might well be imitated more largely in Ontario, where the number of fairs seems excessive. By adhering to one breed of cattle, horses, sheep or swine, as the case may be, the stock belonging to the members of a society may be graded up wonderfully at a small cost, but the habit of changing continually from one breed to another must prove fatal to all plans for building up a good uniform herd or flock of grades, which is just what the average farmer needs.—Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

GEORGE DUCHSCHERER
PROPRIETOR

HISTORIC TOMBSTONE FOUND

That of a British Lieutenant who in 1759.

Word comes from Fort Ontario, under repair at Oswego, N.Y., that another historic tombstone has been unearthed, on which the inscription can be plainly read. It shows clearly that it had been in the ground nearly a century and a half. The tombstone was unearthed about twenty feet south of the wall of the main barracks fronting on Schuyler-st. It was a depth of fifteen feet, but this spot is one which was filled in many years ago.

The tombstone is five feet long, two feet four inches wide and two inches thick. Across the top on the face is carved an Indian's head and beneath is this inscription: "Here lies the Body of Lieutenant Basildundar, of His Majesty's 4th Battery Roy. A.M. Regt., who departed this life Oct. 12th, 1759, aged 36 years."

The stone is in excellent condition, the inscription being much plainer than the one marking Chief Obedi Parkhurst, which was unearthed some time ago. Lieutenant Basildundar was undoubtedly a soldier under King George II. of England, who died just one month after the death of the Lieutenant. Oswego was in the possession of England at that period. General Wolfe captured Quebec about a month prior to Lieutenant Basildundar's death, and the latter had undoubtedly served in the French-English war. He was in Oswego in stirring times, and about the time when the expedition was started to capture Fort Niagara.

THE DISCUSSION TIMELY

BOARD OF TRADE TOUCHED SOME VERY IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

The Water Commissioners Interviewed With Regard to Some Statements Made—They only go as far as Legislation Will Permit them—Opinion as to how the Works Should be Paid for.

The Water Commissioners are giving some consideration to the discussion which took place on Tuesday evening at the Board of Trade, the allegation that they were keeping the rates unnecessarily high and handing over quite a surplus to the council to be converted to general purposes being the point upon which they seem to think an explanation should be made. This morning the Review interviewed the Commissioners and learned their aspect of the situation. Mr. T. F. Matthews, the chairman, was not inclined to discuss the matter, but stated that he wished he had been able to attend the meeting of the Board. Those who took part in the discussion were hardly correctly informed with regard to certain matters referred to. The Commissioners, he said, could not help themselves; in the operation of the waterworks system they were going as far as existing legislation in that regard would permit them. Asked if he thought that part of the cost of the works should be paid by the general taxpayer, he said that the system under which the Commissioners were operating had its imperfections or inequalities which might be done away with to a certain extent by special legislation which would apportion a share of the cost to the general ratepayers; but on the other hand, it should not be lost sight of that the town's credit was at the back of it all, and that any unforseen occurrence might necessarily call for a considerable amount on the town's credit. The object of the Commissioners was to make the rates as low as possible, and in this connection a surplus was much more to be desired than a deficit.

Mr. W. H. Hill said it was correct that, under existing legislation, the water users were paying for the whole system—that is as far as the payment of $230,000 in 30 years was concerned. As far as any surplus is concerned, said he, we are compelled by statute to hand it over to the town council. It would hardly be good business policy to run affairs in such a way that at the end of a year there would be doubt as to whether there was a surplus or a deficit. We can have a deficit of course but who is going to pay for it. In Toronto, Windsor and some other places they ran the waterworks for municipal capital, so the rates were cut to such a point as to have a deficit and things have gone from bad to worse from that day to this. Before the Commissioners here did anything they went to some of the leading cities in the province to find out just how matters stood, and it is for anybody to judge for himself when I say that the condition of affairs here is much better than almost at any other point We have only been running it two years, yet have cut the rates by 25 per cent., paid over $6,000 to the town and placed in rest $2,000. With regard to the rest fund, Mr. Hill explained that it had in prospect extraordinary expenses such as the taking up of a line of pipes and laying a new and larger one. This will have to be done frequently as the town grows. Debentures of course are issued for all new work.

Asked his opinion if an inequality did not exist in making the water users pay for the entire works and maintenance, Mr. Hill said his idea would be that the town should pay the debentures and interest and that the users should pay for the maintenance of the works. Such a change might be brought about by special legislation if the council saw fit to obtain it. The commissioners had no power to proceed. With regard to a question on which there was considerable discussion at the Board of Trade, Mr. Hill expressed the opinion that there was just as much sense in charging frontage tax for water mains as for sidewalks and sewers, or for street watering, as far as that went.

Last year the Commissioners, through the Town Council, applied to the Legislature for permission to retain half the surplus for a rest fund, and this was granted, but the system was operated under the act governing water companies and no change in it could be made except by special legislation. Mr. Hill stated that the water rates could be reduced to a lower point than at the present time, but it would not be wise to do so. The rate per hydrant had been cut down from $35 to $30. The old company had during the first ten years charged $50 per hydrant, and in the second ten years it was reduced to $35. The water commissioners as business men would always endeavor to have a surplus, but would give water users as good a rate as possible.

We are spending a large sum yearly to keep the dam in repair, said Mr. Hill. Possibly this year we will spend as much as would pay the debentures and interest for the construction of a new one. Still the dam is but a third-rate one and may last us but a very short time. The chances are that, within five years at any rate we will have to build a new concrete dam costing over $50,000. We also require a supplementary main from Hilliard's mills to Smith st., and this would increase the power of the service from 40 to 80 per cent. From the dam to the Hilliard mills is a 16-inch main, and from the latter point to Smith st. is a 12 inch main, and this is tapped all along the street. We intend a new 12-inch main from the Hilliard mills to Smith st., to increase our power. Two twelve inch mains are equivalent to one 16-inch main.

The general ratepayers, for hydrants and other purposes, pay the Commissioners something like $7,000, which is something over $1000 more than the town paid the old company, but the latter gave no surplus. In Brantford the town paid nearly $14,000.

Speaking with regard to the suggestion that the general ratepayers should contribute their share, Mr. Hill stated that such a course would effect nobody very materially. At present the principle was one that might compare with that which charged the people who sent children to school with the whole taxation for school purposes, if such a thing could be imagined. Personally, said Mr. Hill, I am in favor of the general ratepayer having more to pay toward the waterworks, as they will eventually own them.

Mr. W. H. Moore held somewhat the same opinion as Mr. Hill. He stated that he was writing away to Brantford and Galt for information and that he was not inclined to believe the water rates in the latter place were lower than here. In Brantford he understood that a minimum rate was charged non-users whose property abutted mains, but after they became users they of course paid ordinary rates. With regard to the surplus, Mr. Moore stated the only disposition the Commissioners could make of it according to law was to hand it over to the Council. The only way to stop this of course would be to make the rates so low that there would be no surplus. Perhaps some might consider that the most economic way to run the system would be to create no contingent or rest fund, nothing for extraordinary expenses, and so let this generation enjoy the lowest rates, while the coming generations would have a large share of the debentures and pay higher rates. He also referred to the necessity of the construction of a new dam in the near future which would improve the system greatly, and undoubtedly make power available by the town for other purposes. Of course the filtering basin, the water tower and all of these things might be considered the heritage of other generations to provide for. Mr. Moore held that property that abutted a water main was enhanced in value and hence should contribute something, where now it did not. He contended further that the Mayor and other representatives of the council had persuaded a majority of the commissioners to reduce the rate upon hydrants, and this be considered one way of benefitting the general tax of property owners who paid no water rates.

Mayor Roger was also interviewed on this question. He claimed that there was very little to say from the Council's point of view, and he wished it distinctly understood that there is not nor never has been anything like a strained relation between that body and the Water Commissioners and hoped there never would be. With regard to the rate question he said that though the Commissioners had made a reduction they had increased the charges for water used for town purposes. The old Water Company had, under the arrrangement existing at the time, allowed the town to use water from the hydrants for street water and sewer flushing free of charge, whereas the Water Commissioners have added something like $1,500 for this, less some $300 for water used in the parks. The Mayor considered it somewhat of an anomaly that money should be passing between the Council and the Commissioners and held that the operation of the system should be such that this would be done away with, and by some arrangement that any surplus should be set apart for maintenance of the works. This was only theoretical, however, so long as the fact remained that while one year might have a surplus, another year might, as the result of unforseen development, call for extraordinary expenditure by the town. A surplus was hardly possible every year. With regard to the contention that the general ratepayer should contribute some share to the taxation in connection with the waterworks, he said it should not be lost sight of that the town gave its streets and its credit for the benefit of a certain part of the community—the water consumers. With regard to the hydrant rate he explained that the town had secured 25 additional hydrants for which, with the old ones, the town was to pay $30 each, and for these on new mains $35 each for the first five years. He was not finding fault with the Commissioners, but was inclined to believe that a great deal of misunderstanding might grow out of the question unless facts were presented very clearly. It was an absurd statement that he had done anything to persuade the Commissioners to keep up the water rates, on the other hand he wished the people to get the service at as low a cost as possible.

With regard to another statement made at the Board of Trade, the Mayor stated that there was no intention on the part of the Council to ignore that body, but, on the other hand, said that their co-operation had always been appreciated, and in fact would always be sought in any proposition which had reached a proper stage of development to be discussed by the citizens, and that, of course, before any decided action had been taken by their representatives.

RECITAL OF CIRCUMSTANCES

Catholic Register With Reference to Barrie Trip.

This week's Catholic Register has the following:—

"The Peterborough Review thinks the account written in the Register of the recent visit of the 57th Regiment to Barrie was imposed upon us by a sorehead. This is not so. There was nothing sensational in the narrative. It was a mere recital of circumstances. The Barrie papers also related many of these circumstances in their accounts of the visit, which, they, however, looked upon as a season of pure joy. The proceedings were well intended, no doubt, and in their capacity of hosts the Barrie people took everything by way of frolic, or if not, they but followed the fashion of all modern belligerents and came up smilingly the day after. All is well that ends well."

Mechanical Drawing

The Y.M.C.A. night school will open with the first week in October. The courses are especially planned for shop men. A most helpful study in Mechanical Drawing; the class being in charge of Mr. Alex. Bennet, of the William Hamilton Co. Drafting Dept., assisted by Mr. N. Miller of the C. G.E. drafting dept. Men will find it to their interest to get fuller particulars from the office of the Y.M.C.A. or by writing to Drawer 1006.

Raffia Baskets

Wouldn't you like to have something novel in the way of presents for your friends this Christmas? If so, why not make some of those pretty raffia baskets that are both useful and ornamental. They are very easily and quickly made and several ladies in town who have become adept in the art would be willing to give some instructions in it for a small fee. Instructions may be found in several of the magazines which are widely read in town and in the issue of the Ladies' Home Journal for August 1903. The raffia comes in many pretty shades and is for sale only at the Review office. So use moments these long evenings in getting ready for Xmas and avoid being hurried later on.

EXCLUSIVENESS.

Exclusiveness is our primary requisite in a fabric.

We buy cloth wholesale in the thousand-yard lot when we see something particularly handsome and attractive—we have 30 wardrobes to supply—there would not be more than two suits of this fabric in town.

The custom tailor practically buys at retail—his assortment is limited—it requires capital to buy cloth and you will see many duplicates of your suit if you buy from him.

We send a purchasing party to England each year to secure us exclusive fabrics.

You will be repaid for your trouble if you examine our selection. It's worth while securing a suit that's a little different and better.

Please do not consider it necessary to buy if you want to look around.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Brevities.

—The regular weekly practice of All Saints choir will be held to-night. It is requested that there be a large attendance.

—An excursion under the auspices of the Midland Fire Brigade arrived in town today at noon. About 400 came in from the northern burg.

—George-st. choir will practice as usual this evening, and it is desired that every member make an effort to be present. Miss Dobbin will preside at the organ on Sunday.

—The general public are invited to be present at the Harvest Festival in St. John's at 8 o'clock this evening, when Rev. Canon Green, M. A., of Orillia, will deliver the address.

—Mr. R. M. Roy has on exhibition in the Hunter st. window of Macdonnell's drug store the largest photograph ever taken of the lift lock. It shows the steamer City of Peterborough passing over the lock. Mr. Roy always is up-to-date and his machine for enlarging photos is the best of its kind in Canada.

—Miss Agnes Louise Rose, 5 Dunbar Road, Rosedale, pupil of Mrs. Susie Ryan Burke, Toronto Conservatory of Music, is prepared to receive a limited number of pupils in Voice Culture. Will be in Peterborough at the Millinery Parlors of Mrs. Darnley, 143 Hunter street, on Monday and Tuesday, September 19th and 20th. 3d

—In all probability there will be a new boat on the Stony Lake route next season. Captain W. H. White, owner of the steamer Alert, has, it is said, purchased a boat in Belleville, which he intends to renovate and furnish with all the latest improvements. This will be welcome news to the cottagers at the lake. The addition of the Stony Lake to the fleet last year made a big improvement in the service, and with another boat on the route next summer there surely will be no kick coming.

MORE SEPTEMBER BRIDES

PRETTY NUPTIAL EVENTS SOLEMNIZED THIS WEEK.

The McCuish-MacFarlane, McNulty-Sullivan, Currie-White, Laird-Scott and Logan-Kendry Weddings.

McNULTY—SULLIVAN.

Many people gathered in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at eight o'clock and manifested pleased interest in the wedding of Miss Louise Sullivan, second daughtert of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sullivan, to Dr. F. P. McNulty, formerly of St. Catharines, but who for some years has practised here. Though quietly solemnized it was withal a pretty event, the bride being richly gowned in white Brussels pointe d' esprit, over silk taffeta, wearing a veil and orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair ferns. The bridesmaid, her sister, Miss May Sullivan, was gowned in white silk, with large white picture hat to match, and carrying pink roses. Dr. Malcolm Crawford, of Toronto, was best man. The ceremony was performed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. During the wedding march, played by Miss Doherty, a violin obligato was rendered with exquisite taste by Miss Genevieve McNulty, of St. Catharines, sister of the groom.

After the wedding a company consisting of the bridal party and immediate friends attended a delightful breakfast served by Mr. Harry Long at Lakeview, the residence of the bride's parents. The artistically arranged home decorations by Mr. Cobb were of palms and pink and white asters. A reception was held from 11 a.m. until 3.30 p.m., and at 5.10 Dr. and Mrs. McNulty left by C.P.R. for a wedding trip to Toronto, New York and other cities. Upon returning they will reside on Aylmer st. The bride's handsome goingaway gown was of navy blue taffeta with gray feather boa and hat to match. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful wedding presents.

McCUISH—MACFARLANE.

A pretty and quiet wedding was solemnized last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Macfarlane, Homewood avenue, when their second daughter, Miss Maud K. Macfarlane, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert George McCuish, of Morden, Manitoba. Only the immediate relatives and members of the families of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony took place at half past six under a floral arch in the drawing room, which was decorated for the occasion in white and green, asters, ferns and palms being used in great profusion. Rev. J. G. Potter performed the ceremony and Mrs. Peter Kerr played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride entered on the arm of her father, attended by her sister, Miss Winnifred Macfarlane as bridesmaid. The groom was supported by Mr. A. P. Knight, a cousin, of Parkhill, Ont. During the ceremony Miss Florence Miller sang very sweetly "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy."

The bride's gown was of cream silk colienne, over white taffeta silk, with trimmings of seed pearls and lace, and the bridesmaid's dress was a cream etamine cloth over white taffeta silk, with chiffon trimmings. Both carried shower bouquets of lily-of-the-valley and wore the gifts of the groom—the bride's being a twin diamond and pearl ring and the bridesmaid's a solitaire pearl ring. The gift of the groom to the groomsman was a pretty pearl stick pin.

The travelling gown of the bride was of navy blue Vienna cloth trimmed with black silk braid and a blue beaver hat, with parrot's head, was worn with the suit.

After the ceremony the guests partook of an elaborate lunch which was served in the dining room, where the decorations were in red and white. Several girl friends assisted in serving.

The groom is the editor and proprietor of the Morden "Morning Chronicle," and is very popular with his fellow townsmen, as is evinced by the many handsome presents sent the happy couple. Miss Macfarlane was one of the teachers who went from this vicinity to South Africa in 1902, where she remained for sixteen months, returning in August of last year. The bride has many friends in town and received many beautiful and costly presents, including much cut glass and china and a Limoges dinner and tea set.

The happy couple left on the nine o'clock G.T.R. train for Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago, and will spend a month visiting in western cities.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. McCuish will extend best wishes for their future happiness.

CURRIE—WHITE.

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated at 2.30 o'clock yesterday at the residence of Mr. W. J. White, Sophia street, east ward, Peterborough, when his daughter, Mary A, was made the bride of Mr. P. W. Currie, B.A., of Ottawa. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Norman Lindsay of Dresden, Ont., a brother-in-law of the groom. The bride was very becomingly attired in a navy blue English silk travelling dress and was attended by her two nieces, Miss Elsie and Miss Dorothy Sherin of Lakefield, as flower girls. A nephew of the groom, Norman Lindsay of Dresden, acted as page.

The drawing room was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the nuptial knot was tied under a floral bell of white asters.

Among the guests were Mrs. Currie and Miss Currie of Toronto, Rev. Norman Lindsay and son of Dresden, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherin and daughter of Lakefield. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents from friends in Ottawa, Toronto, Dresden, Niagara Falls, Peterborough, Strathroy, Lakefield and other places.

A delightful wedding breakfast was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Currie left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and other places, and upon their return will reside in Ottawa.

KENDRY—LOGAN.

Last evening at half-past seven o'clock, Miss Mabel Logan, third daughter of Mr. John Logan, Sherbrooke street, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Kendry, son of Mr. James Kendry, M.P. Rev. A. H. Brace was the officiating clergyman. The bridesmaid was Miss N. A. Brace, and the groom was assisted by Mr. Howard Logan, brother of the bride. The bride's dress was a grey costume with silver braid and buttons. The wedding march was played by Mr. Lincoln Brace. The bride received a large number of costly presents.

LAIRD—SCOTT.

This afternoon a quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scott, Water street, the bride being their eldest daughter, Miss Jean M. Scott, and the groom Mr. J. A. Laird. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, and bride and groom were unattended. Mr. Laird leaves this evening for Chicago to prepare his residence there and will be joined by his bride in a few days.

PROPOSED FORESTRY SCHOOL

In view of the fact that forest fires continue to be a matter of great importance to the country and one fraught with considerable anxiety on the part of those entrusted with the preservation of our valuable timber limits, we cannot help calling attention to some particular aspects of the case, the more so that several Provincial Governments, not to mention our oldest colony, Newfoundland, are fully alive to the importance of conserving our valuable forests, and are taking the means to educate a certain section of the community in order that the wholesale destruction of recent years may be avoided, and a system of reforesting begun.

In this connection we find that of the 166,000,000 acres of forest land in the Province of Ontario, 40,000,000 acres is of such a character that it must remain permanently wild, being unsuited for agriculture. Examples of this kind are to be found in the rough and rocky timber limit areas of the Muskoka, Parry Sound and other districts. It is estimated that this area is capable through conserving the existing timber and restoring by seeding and planting, of yielding an average annual revenue of $40,000,000, or $1 per acre. Owing to the length of time required for the growth of such timber as white pine, it is difficult to enlist private enterprise in the work of reforesting, particularly in the territory mentioned, hence the necessity for the Government undertaking such work. With more rapid growing timber, and by proper care of the wood lots in our older and first-rate agricultural sections, the farmer can secure a fairly certain and early return for his outlay, which the enhancement of the value of his property makes a good investment.

A natural aid to systematic work in the United States has been the establishment of colleges of forestry and that plan could be followed with advantage in Canada. At Yale and Ann Arbor the colleges of forestry are for men who have already graduated, and the course is two years This plan seems to be the most satisfactory. There are many young men willing to spend the additional two years for training and a special degree in forestry. As the graduates are generally thrown on their own resources when embarking in practical work, the plan of a special course after graduating secures a maturity of judgment that might be wanting in case the study of forestry were made a branch of undergraduate work. At Cornell the undergraduates take a course in forestry, but the balance of advantage seems to be with the special course for more mature minds. At present the demand for trained men is greater than the supply, and this condition is likely to continue for many years. There will certainly be a demand for them in Canada in the protection service, in estimating timber limits, scaling for stumpage dues, determining the trees to be cut and to be preserved for seeding, and in enforcing the more stringent requirements that will be necessary regarding the burning of brush and the clearing away of the debris of lumbering operations. Canada must maintain her lead, and to that end the scientific training of students and the systematic restoration of denuded land have now become necessary.

Apart from this we may add that in a recent journey through the Maritime Provinces we have had occasion to observe the need of practical knowledge requisite for the forestry service and that it is the bounden duty of the Government to further the preservation and reforestation of the very valuable timber areas in that section of the Dominion. The time is opportune for schools of forestry and let us not be slow to avail ourselves of the opportunity, thereby escaping the penalty incurred by European countries in the neglect of their forests and consequent loss.—Canadian Trade Review.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little, and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Over the Border

By... ROBERT BARR,

Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"You heard all he said to me to-day. I saw him for but a moment, and that in your presence."

"I had hoped his lordship made a confidant of you, as my mission were the easier of accomplishment."

"If it has to do with his welfare, I am ready to confer with you. Come with me to the library."

But before they could quit the hall they were aware that another was taking advantage of the lull in the street to seek entrance to the mansion. Frances paused to learn the result. This time it was an envoy from Strafford himself, and he brought a letter addressed to "Mistress Frances Wentworth." She opened and read the note with eager anticipation, forgetting for the moment all who were standing there.

Sweetheart—You have heard before this what hath befallen me, yet trust thou in the goodness of God that my enemies shall do me no hurt. I am troubled that you should be in London at this time, where I can be of no help to you. It would please me to know that you were safe in the home where you have lived until this present time. Think not that you can assist me other than by obeying, for I trust in God and the king and in the assurance that I am innocent of the charges malice hath brought against me. Therefore be in no way alarmed, but betake yourself straightway to the north, there to wait with your brother, as heretofore, until I send a message for you, which I hope to do right speedily. Travel in comfort and security, and take with you such of my household as will secure both.

My treasurer, John Vollins, will give you all money you require, and this letter is his assurance to fulfil your wishes in this and every respect. Trust in God; give way to no fear, but bear yourself as my daughter. Your loving father,

STRAFFORD.

The young woman folded the letter without a word, except to the secretary, to whom she said:

"My father writes in good confidence, seeing no cause for alarm, having assurance of his innocence and faith in God and the king."

Then she led the way to the library, followed by De Courcy, hat in hand. Vollins arose and left them together, whereupon the Frenchman, with some slight hesitation, possibly remembering a different plea on that spot a few hours before, began his recital.

"This morning his lordship, your honored father, requested my assistance in a business which he thought I was capable of bringing to a satisfactory conclusion. It concerned a highly placed personage, whom it is perhaps improper for me to name, and perhaps unnecessary for me to particularize further. His lordship's intention was to present this exalted lady with some gift which she would value for its intrinsic worth no less than its artistic quality, and, as he professed himself no judge of such, preferring to depend upon the well known taste of my nation in delicate articles of merit, also so far complimenting me as to believe that I could, in suitable manner and phrase, present this token to the gracious accepter of it, he desired my intervention, and I promised so to pleasure him to the best of my poor abilities. On leaving you this morning I made selection of the gift, and furthermore gave hint to the recipient of its intended presentation—a hint, I may say, which was received with palpable delight. Judge, then, my consternation when I heard of the earl's arrest, for he had promised to pay me the money tomorrow."

The young man paused, his listener pondering with her eyes on the floor. She had such a deep distrust of him, and was so well aware of the prejudice, that she struggled against it, praying for an unbiased mind. Yet much that he had said coincided with certain things she knew—her father's desire that the queen should cease from meddling in affairs of state to his disadvantage and theirs; his seeming friendship for De Courcy, although he despised him; his intention that she should be civil to him; his disclaimer of all knowledge regarding what a woman valued in a gift when he presented her with a full purse the night before—all these fitted with the Frenchman's story. The suppliant, scrutinising her perplexed brow, seemed to fear that his chance of getting the money was vanishing, as he continued on the line most likely to incline her to favor his present demand.

"Of course I should not have troubled you in this matter did I not think that if the arrangement your father wished to make was important this morning it is ten times more important tonight. Indeed, his liberty may depend upon it. I am well aware that it is open to me to say to the lady, 'Lord Strafford is in prison and is unable to carry out his generous intentions,' but I fear the deep disappointment will outweigh the force of the reasoning. Your charming sex is not always strictly logical."

"What was the sum agreed upon?" asked Frances, looking suddenly up.

"A thousand pounds in gold."

The question had been sprung upon him, and he had answered without thought, but as he watched her resolute face a shade of disappointment passed over his own, as if of inward regret that he had not made the amount larger should her determination prove his ally.

"I shall see that you get the money, if not tonight at the time promised."

She sent for Vollins and placed the case before him. The treasurer stood by the table with inscrutable face and listened in silence, his somewhat furtive look bent on the Frenchman.

"Has M. De Courcy some scrap of writing in which my lord signifies that so considerable a payment is to be made?"

"My dear fellow, this relates to business that is not put in writing between gentlemen," said the foreigner hastily.

"I am not a gentleman, but merely the custodian of his lordship's purse. I dare not pay out gold without his lordship's warrant over his own signature."

"Mr. Vollins," pleaded the girl eagerly, "my father's life and liberty may depend on this disbursement. I will be your warrant. I have money of my own in the north, many times the sum I request you to pay. Should my father object I will refund to you the thousand pounds. Indeed, I will remit it to you in any case, and my father need know nothing of this transaction, therefore you cannot be held in scath."

"I must not do it," said Vollins. "His lordship is a very strict man of business and will hold me to account. He would forgive you, madam, but would be merciless with me did I consent to so unheard of a proposal. I dare not count out a thousand pounds to the first man who steps from the street and asks for it, giving me his bare word."

"But you have my word as well, Mr. Vollins," urged the girl.

"Madam, I beseech you to consider my position. I am but a servant. The money is not mine or you were welcome to it. Yet why all this haste? His lordship can undoubtedly be communicated with tomorrow, and then a word or line from him is sufficient."

"You have an adage, sir, of striking while the iron is hot. The iron may be cool enough by the time your scruples of legality are satisfied," warned De Courcy.

"His lordship can be communicated with. You are quite right, Mr. Vollins," cried Frances, remembering. "He has communicated with me. I ask you to read this letter and then to pay the thousand pounds required of you."

Vollins read the letter with exasperating slowness and said at last:

"There is nothing here authorizing me to pay the gentleman a thousand pounds."

"True, there is not, but my father says you are to pay me what moneys I require. I require at this moment a thousand pounds in gold."

"The money is for your safe conduct to the north."

"You have read my father's letter more carelessly than I supposed by the time you took. He says you are to fulfil my wishes in this and every respect. Do you still refuse me?"

"No, madam, but I venture to advise you strongly against the payment."

"I thank you for your advice. I can certify that you have done your duty fully and faithfully. Will you kindly bring forth the gold?"

Vollins weighed the five bags of coin with careful exactitude and without further speech. De Courcy fastened them to his belt, then looked about him for his cloak, which he at last remembered to have left in the hall. Vollins called upon a servant to fetch it, taking it from him at the door. The Frenchman enveloped himself and so hid his treasure. The cautious Vollins had prepared a receipt for him to sign, made out in the name of Frances Wentworth, but De Courcy demurred; it was all very well for the counting house, he said, but not in the highest society. The Earl of Strafford would be the first to object to such a course, he insisted.

Frances herself tore the paper in pieces and said that a signature was not necessary, while Vollins made no further protest. She implored De Courcy in a whispered adieu to acquit faithfully the commission with which her father had intrusted him, and he assured her that he was now confident of success, thanking her effusively for the capable conduct of a difficult matter of diplomacy. Then, with a sweeping gesture of obeisance, he took his courteous departure.

Mr. Vollins deferentially asked Frances to sign a receipt which he had written, acknowledging the payment of a thousand pounds, and to this document she hurriedly attached her signature.

A BOWED AND PALLID FIGURE.

CHAPTER VI.

FRANCES made her way to the north, as her father had directed, and everywhere found the news of his arrest in advance of her—the country ablaze with excitement because of it. The world would go well once Strafford was laid low. He had deluded and misled the good king, as Buckingham did before him. Buckingham had fallen by the knife; Strafford should fall by the ax. Then the untrammeled king would rule well; quietness and industry would succeed this unhealthy period of fever and unrest.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

A Ten-Second Rumbling in the Town of Arnprior.

Arnprior, Sept. 15.—A severe earthquake shock was felt here at 9 o'clock last night. It lasted about 10 seconds, and was accompanied by the usual rumbling sound. Houses were shaken and people were led to think that some day the world would come to an end. It is some years since a shock has been felt in this district.

Felt in Buckingham.

Buckingham, Que., Sept. 15.—One of the heaviest earthquakes ever experienced in this section passed here at 8.58 last evening. It commenced with two heavy shocks, and the vibration continued for upwards of a minute. Reports received from Notre Dame de la Salette indicate that it was felt very severely in that district.

Shocked Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—A slight earthquake shock lasting five seconds was felt in Montreal and vicinity a few minutes before 9 o'clock yesterday.

Ottawa Also Trembles.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt here last night and caused considerable alarm. The houses were severely shaken, but no damage was reported. The shock seemed to be general throughout the Ottawa Valley. The first shock was felt at 8.52.45 o'clock and lasted five seconds, and after an intermission of three seconds the second shock was felt, and lasted for six seconds. Dr. Amie of the geological survey staff says that the shock was caused by the rock formation on the surface of the earth settling into place.

GARTUNG MUST BE TRIED.

C.O.F. Officials Seem Unwilling to Push the Case.

Brantford, Sept. 15.—The case against Ernest Gartung, C.O.F. organizer, charged with embezzlement, took an unexpected turn yesterday afternoon. Gartung was remanded last Monday for a week.

A quiet session of the police court was held yesterday afternoon before Police Magistrate Woodyatt, in which Gartung was committed for trial. At 5.30 yesterday afternoon, Gartung was again in the dock, this time in the court house before Judge Hardy.

Then Mr. Wilkes, County Crown Attorney, stated that Gartung had admitted the charge, but matters had been cleared up to the satisfaction of the C.O.F. authorities. The judge was asked to suspend sentence.

Judge Hardy stated that the unusual gravity of the charge demanded that the usual proceedings be gone through with, and accordingly set Thursday morning for the trial. All the events yesterday afternoon were very quiet, though no attempt was made at closed doors.

Apparently the C.O.F. officials are unwilling to push the case. They will give out no information, but it is conceded that the defalcations amount to over $3,000.

Levi Webster Goes Free.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—T. C. Robinette, K.C., has succeeded in obtaining a pardon for Levi Webster. Webster is the young man who was implicated with Fair in the big jewelry robbery from P. W. Ellis & Co., last May. He was sentenced in June to one year in the Central by Magistrate Denison. This robbery was the sensation of the hour. Webster, who was a trusted employe of the firm, and had been carrying on, with the assistance of Fair, a system of thieving for some time. Detectives Duncan and Verney recovered nearly $5,000 of the stolen goods in Canada and the United States. Fair is still in the Penitentiary.

McEvoy Off Gamey's Trail.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—The slander suit of J. M. McEvoy against R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., was yesterday discontinued at Osgoode Hall. The defendant had intended to apply for a change of venue from London to Bracebridge, but the application was not made, and no information was obtainable regarding the reason for the withdrawal of the action.

British Ship Ashore.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—The British ship Ditton, Captain W. Davis, is ashore about five miles south of the Cliff House. She is from Newcastle, Australia, with a cargo of coal. The Ditton is a steel ship of 2,699 tons, and belongs to the Leyland Shipping Company, of Liverpool.

CAPT. BERNIER RESIGNS.

Would Not Go As Second in Command on Sailing Vessel Arctic.

Quebec, Que., Sept. 15.—Captain Bernier will not take part in the steamer Arctic's expedition to the head of the Mackenzie River. He has resigned on the ground that he will not accept the position of second in command. The steamer Arctic's expedition up the straits of the Hudson Bay is altogether a military organization, inasmuch as Major Moodie, in charge, is called upon to perform special duties and make important reports to the Government respecting the country and its conditions and geographical boundaries. Major Moodie has been given supreme command of the expedition, and Captain Bernier was simply appointed sailing master of the steamer, to receive his instructions from Major Moodie and obey his orders in regard to the movements of the ship. Captain Bernier revolted against these regulations when he was officially notified of the matter, and immediately threatened to resign, saying he was not going to play second fiddle to any man. He later carried his threat into execution, and telegraphed his resignation to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The general impression is that Captain Bernier's resignation will be accepted.

Dr. Church Dies.

Bleaching Linen.

To whiten linen which has become yellow cut up a pound of fine white soap and dissolve it over the fire in a gallon of milk. When the soap has entirely dissolved add a tablespoonful of powdered borax. Then put the discolored linen into the boiler and let it simmer for half an hour. Then take it out and wash it thoroughly in a good lather made of the ordinary "soap jelly" and warm water. Rinse well in two waters, the last of which should be made a good sky blue.

One Exception.

It used to be told of General Logan, who was a member of congress at the breaking out of the war, that when he saw there was really going to be a fight he seized a musket, slipped out of Washington and walked all the way to Bull Run, where he arrived just in time to have a hand in the fray.

He wore a dress coat, but he stood his ground as long as any one. The rout was complete, and the next morning, a good deal out of breath, he was back at the capitol, telling some of his fellow congressmen what he had seen.

"Who gave you this account of the fight?" asked a member from northern New York as he joined the group.

"Why, I was there myself," said Logan.

The New Yorker was mystified. Apparently he had not heard the news.

"You were there!" he exclaimed. "Are the cars running?"

"No," said Logan; "the cars ain't running, but every other thing in the state of Virginia is, as near as I could make out."

An Anecdote of Handel.

On one occasion Handel was caught in a shower of rain and being unprovided with an umbrella was obliged to seek shelter in a blacksmith's forge. Either Handel was in a silent mood or else the blacksmith showed no conversational symptoms, for in a little while the latter began hammering away at his anvil, accompanying his work with a song. He little thought the use his visitor was making of him and his anvil, for it is said that Handel was listening all the time to the strokes of the hammering on the anvil, which, by producing two harmonic sounds, according in time and tune with the tune the man sang, formed a base accompaniment. Handel, on reaching home, remembered the air and the hammer accompaniment. He wrote down both, and so we owe to a shower of rain the composition known as "The Harmonious Blacksmith."

Cotton, will assume the title of Master of Ordnance. Lord Aylmer will probably be appointed Inspector-General, and Lieut.-Col. Vidal Adjutant-General.

Sans Regret Escapes.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 15.—W. Sans Regret, a notorious half-breed horse-thief, who was captured last week under romantic circumstances at St. Vital, and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment at Stony Mountain, was brought here yesterday by mounted police from Moosomin, where he was tried. He broke away late last night on Broadway, near the drill hall, where a big dance was in progress. He was pursued by the police, and many shots were fired on the high-road, but he is uncaught so far.

CONSTIPATION, PAINS IN THE BACK

Caused Keen Distress at Times—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Made Thorough Cure.

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterboro, Ont. states: "I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab in the back with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

WHAT THE "GRAFTER" CAN DO

A Warning to Canada — Like the Emergency Ration Outrage.

Advices from St. Petersburg tell us that the Russians at the front are without the necessary comforts—even of the simplest description—for the wounded. Such things as sugar, milk, cod oil and even soap are scarce; and there is no clothing for the wounded as they recover. This is all very shocking; but its significance is even greater. Undoubtedly the Russian Government intended to be able to deal with its wounded. It is not a barbarous nation; and then the rapid healing of wounded soldiers is a source of strength to an army which may have to fight several campaigns.

But that good intention has miscarried. The despatches intimate that this is because money intended to be spent in hospital supplies has gone into hungry pockets. This is what we would call "boodling" in this country; and there is no nation on earth which is in a position to point a very clean finger of scorn at the Russians. But no one will imagine that the "boodling" has been confined to the hospital supplies. If hungry pockets have robbed the wards of suffering, they have probably dealt similarly with the arsenal and the commissariat.

Spain suffered such striking collapse in her war with the United States because her ships had to fight with guns which were not there, and her soldiers had to depend upon supplies which were never bought. The surprising collapse of Russia under the Japanese attack arouses suspicion that this explanation might again be involved. And now this revelation regarding the absence of hospital supplies will deepen the suspicion. Even British soldiers have been sent into action with bayonets that bent when thrust against a human body; and the sufferings of the American camps during the Spanish war because of official bungling caused the retirement of the Minister of War.

We may imagine that the light-hearted thief of public funds would never be so friendishly cruel as to fill his pockets at the cost of the lives of his country's soldiers and the risk of a collapse of her armies; but history forbids us to enjoy this pleasant delusion. The political "grafter" is capable of this sort of indirect murder to gain his ends; and it is pure folly to clothe him in brighter colours. We can never tell, if we tolerate this form of public theft, when it may send our boys into action with useless rifles or poor powder, or may leave them to die of their wounds on a blanketless floor and with none of the comforts which a grateful country has striven to send to them.

A grim experience like this dissipates the notion that "boodling" is a sort of clever joke. It has in it the possibility of brutal barbarity and a national shame. The young heroes who volunteer to fight their country's battles may be done to death by it. It may stab in the back men who are facing the enemy, with the result that the enemy will triumph. If Spain had had no "boodling" who can be sure that it would have lost its colonial empire at a blow? The thief who steals from the public funds is a traitor as well as a thief; and he is now a potential thug, murdering the soldiers of this country on the morning of a critical battle. No glamour that comes with the good-natured distribution of his spoils in the piping times of peace can hide the hideous character of his cold-blooded act.—Montreal Star.

How It Spreads.

The first package of Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid (the infallible Pile cure) that was put out went to a small town in Nebraska.

It cured a case of Piles that was considered hopeless.

The news spread and although this was only two years ago the demand prompted Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, of Lincoln, Neb., the discoverer, to prepare it for general use. Not it is being sent to all parts of the world.

It will cure any case of Piles. There is a month's treatment in each box.

Sold for $1,000, with absolute guarantee.

It is for sale by druggists, or by the Wilson-Fyfe Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Sold in Peterborough by Jas. Lynch, 168 Hunter street.

RAILWAY DEVELOPEMENT

PROBABLE CHANGES THAT CANNOT FAIL TO INTEREST MIDLAND COUNTIES.

The Purchase of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk — And the Activity of the C. P. R.

There at present appears to be promise of developments in the railway world which cannot fail to be of interest to the entire Midland district, and undoubtedly to the town of Peterborough. The Lindsay Post is inclined to prophesy a dawn of better things for that town in regard to probable developments when it says:

It seems quite probable that the remarkably advantageous position of this town in a railway geographical sense will result in developments that will very largely increase its importance and prosperity.

The purchase of the Canada Atlantic Railway by the Grand Trunk will be sure to result in the early extension of the Victoria Railway to Whitney. This would give the G.T.R. a through line from Toronto and all Western Ontario via Lindsay and the Canada Atlantic to Ottawa. For years the Grand Trunk has had no line of its own to the Dominion capital, and has had to hand over a large amount of business to the C.P.R. If this new route idea is carried out it would mean putting the line from Scarboro to Lindsay and Haliburton in first-class condition, so that a through Pullman service could be run at a high speed each way twice a day. In support of the above view it is interesting to note that the Ottawa Free Press sees in the acquisition of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk the possibility of a Grand Trunk service between Toronto and Ottawa. At present the Grand Trunk enters Ottawa over the C.P.R. line from Brockville, and secures only a small portion of this most valuable traffic. It has long been anxious to establish an independent service between Toronto and Ottawa. Now that it has the Canada Atlantic, the Free Press points out that the Grand Trunk could very easily extend one of the branch lines of the system now projecting into the northern Midland counties of Ontario and connect up with Toronto.

The purchase of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk will not result in any reduction of the volume of traffic over the Midland from the Great Lakes to the east, nor in any slacking off in the Grand Trunk's plans to make the main Midland line from Georgian Bay to Port Hope a first-class one in every respect. There is plenty of traffic and to spare for both railways if their capacity should be doubled.

That there is plenty and to spare is evidently the belief of C.P.R. magnates, for there are reports well authenticated that C.P.R. engineers are surveying in Midland, with a view to the early construction of a line to connect Georgian Bay with the east. As we have before pointed out this line would undoubtedly go through Lindsay. It has long been quite evident that the C.P.R. did not go into the Lindsay & Bobcaygeon R'y. project for reasons connected with local traffic alone; but that from Lindsay a line would be built with the easiest grades for the best Georgian Bay port. That is the only way for the C.P.R. to secure and retain its share of the enormous grain traffic from the West that takes to the Great Lakes. 'There is no grade so easy as the Trent Valley grade,' was the shrewd and correct practical opinion expressed by Mr. Haye not long ago in Lindsay, when discussing the reported intention of the C.P.R. to build a line from Midland to Lindsay. Respecting this phase of the situation the Free Press says:

In the general mix-up the C.P.R. is not idle. The C.P.R. proposes to parallel the line that Mackenzie & Mann are building from Toronto to Sudbury, and will begin work the moment the railway commission gives its decision. The disputed point is whether or not the C.P.R. can build from Toronto to Sudbury under the terms of its original charter. The C. P.R.'s latest move is to build from Midland directly east to Montreal. Surveyors are already at work in the vicinity of Midland. This means that the C.P.R. is in earnest, and that it proposes to keep step with the Grand Trunk in playing for increasing volumes of freight that is coming down from the west by way of the Great Lakes. The C.P.R.'s action in starting a road from Midland to Montreal is really a 'counter-move against the Grand Trunk Railway Co.'s acquisition of the Canada Atlantic. Besides giving it a short cut to Montreal, it will open up some rich Midland counties, which as yet are very poorly provided with railway facilities.

The Post takes the following optimistic view of the situation:—This is a very encouraging outlook for Lindsay, and will no doubt result in making things fairly hum in the railway hub of Central Ontario. The proposed local changes in the Grand Trunk lines at Lindsay will no doubt now be pushed through with vigor. The construction of the short line west of the town—from about the western end of George st. in a north-westerly direction to the old Midland line—will enable trains to avoid the heavy grades and curves in the present route through the north of the town, and will provide abundant room for any number of the long sidings required at this point. The enlargement of the railway workshops and the construction of additional buildings in order to provide increased repairing facilities, will mean the employment of a considerable number of men.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

HOCKEY.

Weldy Young in his challenge from the Dawson City Hockey Club for the Stanley Cup, says that the trip from the Yukon will cost at least $10,000. Besides playing for the cup at Ottawa, they will play exhibition games in Montreal and Toronto. Mr. Young adds:—

"We would like to play in Ottawa about January 15th, as this would leave us a month in which to play the balance of our games, and still enable us to return to Dawson. The distance from Dawson to White Horse—where we will make our first railroad connection going—is about 350 miles, and it is the intention to have the team make this part of the journey on foot.

"The road is good and we can cover the distance in about nine days, and by travelling this way it would keep the boys fit."

BASEBALL.

The following is the T.A.S. team for Bobcaygeon tomorrow: Quinlan p, Parnell c, Trainor 1b, Grady 2b, Craig ss, Callahan 3b, A. Latremouille lf, Fitzpatrick cf, Devoober rf, Lynch spare, Gorham mascot. The bus will leave the T.A.S. rooms at 7 o'clock, and the management want everyone to be on time as there is a long drive ahead of them.

The locals are playing a league game in Cobourg this afternoon, and the return game will be played on Saturday. The boys are putting up gilt-edged ball, and with any kind of luck should gather in both games.

The pipe dreamer on the Lindsay Post has the following to say about the Midland League standing:—

Midland League standing to date:

	Won.	Lost.
Lindsay	8	2
Cobourg	5	3
Bowmanville	6	4
Oshawa	5	5
Port Hope	1	8
Peterborough	1	8

The only protest decided to date is the Lindsay-Peterborough game, which was given to Lindsay. A meeting of the League is called for this week, when the balance of the protests will be decided.

The protest referred to in the above was again against Reid, the St. Mary's pitcher, who twirled for the locals against Lindsay on Dominion Day. The game was not given to Lindsay, as stated, but was ordered to be played over again in Peterborough. Thus Lindsay has to play the locals again, and judging from the speed at which Manager Whiteroft's bunch is travelling now, a victory for the Seugog team is not very likely to happen. The local fans are all willing for Bowmanville to win out.

New York and Buffalo have the National League and Eastern League, respectively, clinched. In the American League the result is in doubt and will be until the last ball is pitched. Boston with a percentage of .617 has a lead of 1 point over Chicago. Philadelphia and Chicago are tied for third place with a percentage of .586 and Cleveland is only nine points behind these two. Any one of these five clubs has a chance to win out.

THE TURF

It will be of some interest to local horsemen to know that at the Brockville Fair races, Mabo Clancy, the Toronto horse which did some good running in the races here recently, took the event entered, while Golden Cockade took third. Maud Keswick, of Toronto, took first in the 2.28 class.

RUGBY.

The official Rugby Guide, adopted by the O. R. F. U. for 1904, has been issued and copies are now in the hands of the officers of the local club. It contains many interesting items. A glance through the records of the intermediate series of the O.R.F.U. shows that Peterborough won the honor many times prominently in Rugby circles during the last five or six years. It shows that Peterborough won the intermediate O.R.F.U. championship in 1899, 1901 and 1902, and were runners up in 1900 and 1903, being beaten by London in the former occasion and by the Victorias of Toronto last year. It also shows that in 1899 Peterborough defeated Westmount by a score of 4 to 2 for the Canadian intermediate championship, that they defeated Quebec by 17-9 in 1901 and were again Canadian champions. In 1902 they were runners up for the Canadian championship, being defeated by Quebec by a score of 8-0. In the record of list of officers of the Union—and there have been many excellent ones—it may be seen that Peterborough was represented in 1903 by Mr. A. W. Macpherson, who held office of first vice-president of the Union, and in 1900 by Mr. R. F. McWilliams, who was second vice-president of the Union for that day. The Guide also contains the rules of the game as played by the Ontario Union, hints to players, constitution of the O.R.F.U. and other interesting matters.

Three Ontario championships, two Canadian championships and three times runners up is a record to be proud of, and when the senior championship has been gathered in it will be a record never before made in Ontario Rugby.

JAPANESE PROPOSE INDEMNITY

They Talk of Terms and Want $100,000,000 as a Starter.

MENTION OTHER CONDITIONS

Willing to Give China Back Manchuria but Want to Take Sakalien for themselves--The Russian Auxiliary Vessel Corea off the Coast of Vancouver.

London, Sept. 16.—The Daily Telegraph's Tientsin correspondent telegraphs that he hears from a trustworthy source that the Japanese Foreign Minister has issued a circular announcing that it is Japan's intention to turn Port Arthur, when it is captured, and the whole of the Liaotung Peninsula, over to the Chinese, who, the correspondent says, it is understood, will declare Port Arthur an open port.

"On the same authority," The Daily Telegraph's representative says, "I am told that Japan will be prepared to entertain peace proposals after she has taken Mukden and Sakhalin, on the following basis: First, that an international syndicate take over the Manchurian Railway and run it as a strictly commercial enterprise; second, that Russia pay £100,000,000; and, third, that Russia is to hand over all her ships in Chinese waters to Japan. Japan would be prepared to lease Sakhalin to an American commission for £5,000,000."

Another Russian Nears America.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 16.—Members of the crew of H.M.S. Grafton, just returned from Comox, reported the presence of the Russian armed auxiliary vessel Korea in the Pacific off the northern coast of Vancouver Island, steaming slowly southward. They expect that the Korea will come to Esquimalt or Victoria. She is described as a larger vessel than the Lena, and is commanded by an officer of high rank in the Russian navy. The news has caused much excitement at Esquimalt, where preparations to deal with her case, should she enter, are now being made.

C.P.R. Not Afraid of Russia.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 16.—The officials of the C.P.R. steamship lines are not alarmed at the rumored presence of Russian vessels in the Pacific, which are said to be on the lookout for vessels bound to Japan with contraband cargo. Mr. A. H. Piers, manager of the steamship lines, said yesterday: "Our company always keeps within the law with regard to this. Of course, all the vessels on the Pacific carry food-stuffs, but the decision of the prize courts, which regarded foodstuffs as contraband of war, is not final as yet, and so we fear little in that respect. The Lena, from all accounts, is quite safe in San Francisco harbor, and it is a question if she will leave there until after the war is over.

TOLD IN A FEW LINES.

Toronto Normal School opened yesterday afternoon with 139 ladies and three men on the roll.

Newfoundland Elections Oct. 31.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 16.—The Newfoundland Legislature has been dissolved. A general election for a new Parliament will occur Oct. 31, with three parties in the field, the Government party, headed by Premier Bond, being opposed by two organizations, one being headed by ex-Premier Whiteway and the other by ex-Premier Goodridge.

Five Children Burn to Death.

Columbia, Ky., Sept. 16.—Five children were burned to death and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Sapp, fatally injured at Rolly, Adair County, Ky., in a fire which partly destroyed the Sapp home. As Sapp and his wife were not able to talk, the cause of the fire cannot be learned.

ANOTHER SEAT IS LOST

The Election of C. N. Smith at the Soo Upset.

General Charges Upheld By Chancellor Boyd and Judgment on Specific Charges Will Be Delivered Later—Consultation to Be Held With Judge Teetzel—Counsels Contested Long Arguments.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 16.—That charges made in connection with the trip of the Minnie M. to Michipicoten, have been proven, was the judgment rendered at the election court yesterday afternoon in the trial of the petition against the election of C. N. Smith, M.P.P., for the Soo.

In addition to proof of the charges, agency was established, and the respondent can be held responsible, though not in such a way that disqualification will necessarily result.

Counsel for both petitioners and respondent conducted long arguments before the court in regard to the charges, and their addresses occupied the greater portion of the day.

In rendering judgment, Chancellor Boyd said the charges had been proven, as in a cluster, and that judgment on the various charges would be determined upon after consultation between him and Justice Teetzel, and given later.

Agency was established by the relations shown to have existed between George Sutherland, who was Smith's agent in charge of the organization of the campaign; William Coyne, assistant manager of the Lake Superior Company, who supplied the steamer without charge, and Kennedy, alias Ferguson, who went up to Michipicotes in charge of the men on the boat.

The effect of this judgment is that Mr. Smith will lose his seat.

NORTH GREY ELECTION TRIAL.

More Evidence Submitted and Case May Not Finish This Week.

Owen Sound, Sept. 16.—Evidence was continued in the election trial yesterday when a number of witnesses were called in support of the protest and in rebuttal. Argument was presented by the counsel, but not concluded.

Mr. Blackstock asked: What about adjournment? If the trial could not be finished this week they might as well adjourn earlier than they otherwise would on Saturday.

The Chief Justice said he could not remain after this week, for they had election trials next week and the following week, and other engagements later.

Mr. Blackstock thought they could not finish by Saturday.

Mr. Aylesworth, on the other hand, was quite sanguine of finishing the case on Saturday.

The matter was laid over until today and the court adjourned at 6 p.m.

Glasgow Council Free Trade.

London, Sept. 16.—(C. A. P.)—The Glasgow Town Council, by a vote of 19 to 6, carried a resolution that the municipal assembly, representing a great manufacturing city viewed with alarm the proposed taxation of either bread or any article that added to our efficiency in the production of goods for the home and foreign markets and requesting His Majesty's Government to discountenance all legislative proposals interfering with free imports. Seven members declined to vote, contending that the question was purely political.

Caught in a Windmill.

Galt, Sept. 16.—Duncan Ferguson, a farmer living between Galt and Hespeler, met with a horrible accident yesterday morning. His hand was caught and terribly torn in the gearing of the windmill in the barn. Held fast by the grinding cogs, it was over an hour before assistance came to him. The tendons of two fingers were torn completely out from the hand to the elbow.

The Y.M.C.A. night school will open with the first week in October.

Independence Assured

A strong argument for life insurance is found in the scanty record of those who have been able to save out of their earnings enough to make provision for their bereaved families. There are multitudes of men to whom this is impossible, as their income is all required for the decent maintenance of their household, or, the margin for saving is too narrow to allow of a fund being accumulated out of it. Then, there are all manner of misfortunes to which men are liable, which drain away any savings which have been laid aside. Yet the great bulk of such persons could pay the premium on a life policy by exercising special economies. In relation to this, the "Insurance Monitor" narrates that: "A gentleman who was lately visiting a statistician employed in the Census Bureau at Washington, was complaining that he had little or nothing to show for the money he had earned during the course of a lifetime. Through mismanagement of his affairs and unfortunate investments it had nearly all been lost.

"Do you know," said the statistician," how many of the men in this country succeed in saving any large part of the money that they have earned. In the EASTERN MIDDLE STATES ONLY ABOUT 2 p. c., in NEW ENGLAND 3 p. c. and in THE WEST ABOUT 4 p. c." Such is the slender record of ultimate business success in this country. MORE THAN 95 PER CENT. of those whose earning powers or money-making abilities promise to place their families above want, die poor in this land of exceptional opportunities.

"Could there be a stronger argument for the need of life insurance? It is almost the only investment which is not subject to the mistakes of the investor."

The Sun Life of Canada is a household word in this country. Its marvellous increase in business is Proof of Public Confidence in its plans of Life Insurance. Profit by the experience of the men who knew how to invest wisely by insuring in the

FRIDAY, SEPT. 16, 1904.

BY RAIL TO PORTLAND

In the petition of the Hon. Geo. A. Cox and his associates for a charter for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a petition which Sir Wilfrid Laurier denied having received, though it was in his possession, the request was only for a western line to connect with their present Ontario and Quebec system. There was nothing about the eastern division of a transcontinental railway, a thing for which they had no desire and which they only pretended to accept because without it they could not obtain the whole graft. In addressing their shareholders the Grand Trunk officials urged the necessity, if they would maintain their ground against competitors, of tying to their system the growing traffic of Western Canada. They wanted to be able to compete with the Canadian Pacific and with the coming Canadian Northern for this lucrative business, without giving any thought to an extension to the ports of the Maritime Provinces. There is nothing in their agreement to bind them to accept or operate the eastern division, and they have no intention of doing so. Neither is there anything to prevent them from continuing to make Portland, Maine, their favored terminus and port for shipment. To this point they still intend to divert all the freight they can command, the only difference being that they will have acquired a greatly augmented business to be thus handled.

The acquisition by the Grand Trunk of the Canada Atlantic points to the same conclusions. By this means it thwarts Mr. Borden's statesmanlike suggestion to purchase this line as an extension of the Intercolonial, affording facilities for carrying a share of the western freight to our Atlantic ports. By means of the Canada Atlantic the Grand Trunk will have another route for diverting this traffic to its Portland terminus. That is the scheme which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is promoting at a great cost to the country.

To throw dust in the eyes of the public in view of the coming general election, Sir Wilfrid is now sending out 27 parties to survey the route from Lake Abitibi eastward. He thus conveys the erroneous idea that he intends to construct this eastern division. If they were to be of any use these surveys should have been made long ago, so as to obtain some knowledge of the route before asking Parliament to adopt it. It will be observed that there are to be no Government surveys between Winnipeg and Abitibi. These are to be purchased from the Grand Trunk, which employed United States engineers to do the work for which we are thus to pay. The Grand Trunk wanted these surveys to facilitate connection with its Ontario and Maine system and wanted none further east, in which it takes no interest. This whole railway scheme is as injurious as it is costly.

There is no confirmation of the story that the Russian Government has bought the Minnie M. as an auxiliary cruiser.

Whatever may be the result of the election trials in North Grey and Sault Ste. Marie, it cannot be denied that the evidence as it is given is of a very startling nature, and affords more sensational reading than the wildest historical romance.

The Globe cannot understand the result in Muskoka, in face of the heavy expenditure there from the Ross election fund. The barnacle organ should remember that Mr. Gamey and Mr. Stratton both addressed the electors, who gave their verdict.

We are now beginning to see why the Globe and other Ross organs are so horrified at Mr. Gamey's visit to Buffalo. Their friends in that city are certainly not the most desirable acquaintances for an honest man, and they fear that the member for Manitoulin may have been exposed to contamination.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little, and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

SINNED WITH OPEN EYES

DEVELOPEMENTS IN SAULT ELECTION TRIAL.

A Letter of Warning was Sent the Attorney General who Replied that he was not a Police Constable

The following letter of warning sent to the Attorney General of Ontario prior to the famous voyage of the Minnie M. was produced at the Sault election trial and shows that the Ministers sinned with their eyes opened:

Sault Ste Marie, Ont.,
24th October, 1903.

The Honourable the Attorney-General of Ontario, now at Sault Ste Marie, Ont.:

Sir,—As Conservative candidate of this riding at the bye-election now being held and in regard to which you are here to advocate the claims of your Government to further support, I desire to draw your attention to a most dastardly outrage which is now being attempted by the local Liberal party, the agents of the Reform candidate, with the manifest design of fraudulently and illegally capturing the election for the Reform candidate by personation on a large scale.

This attempt, sir, you have the power to prevent. I have learned upon substantial grounds, and upon substantial grounds I do state to you, that a steamboat has been chartered in this town by those working for the Liberal candidate, for the purpose of carrying from this town and from the American city opposite, about 100 persons, collected by those working in the Reform cause, to the polling subdivision of Michipicoten district, where they do not reside, and where they have no right of franchise at this election, to steal, by personation or otherwise, the votes of persons and to illegally vote in the stead of persons on the list in those subdivisions and who long ago left and who have no right to vote, although on the list.

The steamboat which has been chartered is the "Minnie M," of the Algoma Steamship line, now in this port, and will sail to-night or to-morrow with its full cargo of illegal voters to stuff the ballot boxes in that district.

I lay these facts before you, sir, as the Attorney-General of this Province, and as the chief judicial executive thereof, and in the name of the law, honesty, right and justice I do protest against the outrageous and iniquitous attempt to strangle the voice of the people and render impossible a fair election, and I do demand of you that such steps be taken immediately, under your immediate direction, as will render impossible the perpetration and carrying out of so gross a fraud upon the rights of the people to a clean and pure election.

I draw your attention to the fact that there is not at or near any of the polling places in the Michipicoten district any force adequate for the prevention of such frauds as are now referred to or for the arrest of offenders. These men, after having done what is required of them, and debauched the election, will doubtless be landed at the American Sault, and will be free men as others have been before.

I point out to you the urgency of employing a strong force to make arrests in these places of such persons as may have committed breaches of the law, and to take such measures as are open to you to prevent the transportation of these men for such illegal purposes.

I beg to remain, sir, your obedient servant.

(Signed) A. McCAMPBELL.

To the above letter the Attorney General replied that he was not a police constable.

CROOKED WORK IN NORTH.

Nelson's story disclosing the methods adopted by the Government to carry the "Three Norths" is best told in an affidavit made by him. His examination did not differ in any particular. The affidavit is as follows:—

"About Nov. 15th, 1902, John J. McCarty, a saloonkeeper of 134 Niagara-st., Buffalo, N.Y., formerly of St. Catharines, Ont., came to my house in Buffalo. McCarty introduced Sullivan to me. After a general conversation Sullivan said, 'We are going to have three bye-elections in Western Ontario, and we are looking for assistance.' He said b chad been recommended to me, and he invited me down to McCarty's saloon, where he said he would outline what he wanted.

"They left my house, and about an hour later I went to McCarty's saloon, where I found Sullivan. He said that bye-elections were to be held in North Perth, North Grey and North Norfolk, that it was necessary to the existence of the Government that they should be carried by the Liberal candidates, that the Government had lots of money, and as it was necessary to carry these elections it was willing to pay the price.

"I told him I was willing to assist if I were paid for it. He assured me that I would be paid, but said he would not then name any figures, but would see me again and would have McCarty arrange a meeting. I saw McCarty in the meantime, and on or about the 17th or 18th of December I again met Sullivan at McCarty's saloon. He told me that the elections were to be held on January 7th, and that everything was arranged.

EIGHT MEN WERE ORDERED.

"He said that I was to secure eight men besides myself, five of whom were to go to North Grey, two to North Norfolk, and myself and another to North Perth. He said he would pay me five dollars per day for expenses, and one dollar per day extra fo each man supplied by me.

"He suggested that I should get, amongst others, William Bain, Michael Crossby, and Frank Schley, who were then living in Buffalo, but who, he said, came from St. Catharines, were acquaintances of his, and he could rely on them.

"But he said he would rather I would give money to Bain than Crossby, as he was not such a boozer. He went away, saying that he would see me again before I had to go, probably on the evening of the 25th or morning of the 27th of December.

RECEIVED SULLIVAN'S ORDERS.

"I immediately set to work to get men, and finally secured the following:—Leon J. Molloy, John Freeman, John Haskett, and Frank Gallagher, in addition to William Bain, Michael Crossby, Frank Schley and John McCarty, whom Sullivan had recommended, and on the morning of the 27th of December, Sullivan returned. He gave me twenty dollars and told me to go to Toronto on the evening train and to take with me the man I wanted to act with me in North Perth. He said he was going back to Toronto on the noon train, and would meet me at the Daly House on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"I took John Haskett with me, and on Sunday (Dec. 28th) afternoon Sullivan came to the Daly House with two men whom he introduced to me as 'Mr. Smith' and 'Mr. Massey.' When he introduced me to Mr. Smith he said, 'This gentleman will tell you where you are to stay in Stratford and whom you are to see.' Mr. Smith then told me that I was to put up at the Cabinet Hotel, but that I would probably have some difficulty in getting in, as the Tories were watching everybody who came into town, and that if necessary I was to take board for a month.

"He gave me the address of R. T. Harding, a lawyer, and M. O'Bierne, the publisher of the Beacon, to whom I was to report every afternoon, and who were, he said, in charge of the financial end of the Liberal campaign in Stratford, and would give me the names of people whom I was to approach. He said I was to take the 8.30 Monday morning train for Stratford; he would be on the same train, but that I was to pretend not to know him, and that if I met him in Stratford, as I probably would, I was not to recognise him, as the people would know him as a Liberal campaigner.

"Smith and Massey then left the hotel, and Sullivan remained behind with us. He gave me twenty-five dollars and arranged to meet me again at Niagara Falls, Ont., on the 3rd of January, and said that if I needed more while in Stratford, I could get it from R. T. Harding, but he would prefer to send it from Toronto; that I should write to him in a plain envelope, care of Walker House, and that he would forward the money to me. I went to Stratford on Monday morning, the 29th of December, went to the Cabinet House, secured rooms, and reported that afternoon to Mr. Harding and Mr. O'Bierne as arranged. John Haskett went with me, but stayed at another hotel. I represented myself as a traveller for the American Portrait Company, of Buffalo, and in that capacity went about from house to house, making myself acquainted with the people.

REPORTED MEN TO BE BRIBED.

"When I found a man whom I thought could be bought to vote for the Liberal candidate, I would report his name to Mr. Harding, and the money would be paid through Haskett.

"I made my reports to O'Bierne and Harding by letter, as it was unwise to be seen going to their offices. In this way I reported several parties. I recall the names of James Campbell, Donald Campbell, and J. Calder, whom I reported before Jan. 2nd, on which date I returned to Buffalo to get my other men, and keep my appointment with Captain Sullivan on the 3rd. Haskett remained in Stratford.

"I got my men together, and on the morning of Jan. 3rd I went to Niagara Falls, Ont., with Leon J. Molloy, John Freeman, Frank Gallagher, William Bain, Michael Crosby, Frank Schley and John J. McCarthy, hereinbefore named, and we met Capt. Sullivan at the Windsor Hotel. Sullivan gave me two hundred and twenty-five dollars, instructing me to give one hundred and twenty-five dollars of it to William Baines, and eighty dollars to John J. McCarthy, which I did. He said that he had mailed me that day from Toronto, forty dollars to Stratford. It was arranged that Bain and Crosby should go to Simcoe, where they were to put up at a hotel the name of which I do not remember, and were to report to the proprietor, who would be expecting them. They were to make reports in writing every day to Capt. Sullivan at Toronto. The rest of the men went to North Grey, and were instructed to stop in Owen Sound over Sunday. McCarty and Molloy were to go to the Pacific Hotel, where McCarty was to register under the name of Marshall, and Molloy under his own name, and Schley, Gallagher and Freeman were to go to the Grand Central. They were to report to Lawyer Frost of Owen Sound, and to Dr. Hough, Wiarton, who were to give them what money they required.

HOW THEY WERE TO WORK.

"The instructions to Bain and Crossby were that they were to represent themselves as agents of a medicine company, selling "Salts of India." Bain was to handle the money and buy votes as instructed by local Liberals, and Crossby was to be with him to divert suspicion. Gallagher and Freeman were to represent themselves as workmen, who had come to work on the Algonquin steamer. Gallagher was to buy votes in Owen Sound, and Freeman was to operate with him. McCarty was to act as bartender at the Grand Central at Owen Sound. He was to obtain money from Lawyer Frost, and hand it to Gallagher, as required. Molloy was to represent himself as agent for a medicine company, selling 'Mexican Indian oil,' and was to operate from Wiarton, under the direction of Dr. Hough and Mr. Kastner, sawmill proprietor of Wiarton. Molloy was to put up at the Pacific Hotel, where Dr. Hough also had rooms, and was to get what money he required to buy votes from him. Schley was to operate at Shallow Lakes, but I don't know that he was to buy votes.

DESCRIBES CROOKED WORK.

"I went direct to Stratford from Niagara Falls, arriving on the evening of the 3rd January. On the following day, Sunday, I reported to Mr. Harding that a Stratford barber named George Schwoob could be bought to vote for the Liberal candidate and that I would send a man (a Liberal whom Harding knew, and who worked with Schwoob) the next day for the money. On Monday I went to Owen Sound, returning the same day, and on Tuesday I sent the man above referred to to Mr. Harding for the money. The man returned within half an hour to where I was in Schwoob's room, and showed me a roll of bills, which he said he had got from Mr. Harding, and he then called Schwoob into the room and gave him the money in my presence. Schwoob was a Conservative, but after this he was appointed secre-

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 16, 1904.

Pullman Car Shops Close.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The immense Pullman Car Works at Pullman, are shut down yesterday and practically every one of the company's 7,000 employes is idle. The workmen were told to take their tools with them when they left the works, and from this infer that a considerable period of idleness confronts them. It is said that high wages brought about the closing of the works.

Smallpox Suppressed.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—The Provincial Board is pleased to be able to state that the outbreak of smallpox which began in New Ontario about a couple of months ago in the Temiskaming district is now over, the last case having been released from quarantine and the inspectors having all returned. This includes the unorganized districts and the municipalities of New Liskeard and Haileybury.

Sailor's Terrible Suffering.

New York, Sept. 16.—Semi-delirious and with his body crushed from hips to armpits, Edward B. Graham, second mate of the schooner Theta, who drifted for thirty hours on a single stick of wreckage, after the Theta was run down at sea Sunday night, has arrived at Perth Amboy, N. J., on the schooner Cohasset, which picked him up.

Dundonald Will Come Back.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Lord Dundonald has purchased Crichton Lodge, which he occupied during his residence in Ottawa. It is said that Lord Dundonald may be here this fall for a hunting trip.

For Roosevelt.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The platform adopted by the Republican State convention yesterday was an endorsement of the party's policies in the State and nation.

Lives of Innocents Endangered.

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Sans Regret, the half-breed horse thief, who effected a sensational escape Wednesday night, was recaptured in the university grounds, only after he had been shot through the knee. Passers-by had a narrow escape, as the policemen, groping for Sans Regret among the bushes, emptied their revolvers at any moving object.

Emmerson May Retire.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 16.—La Patrie published an Ottawa rumor last night that Hon. Mr. Emmerson will retire from the Cabinet and accept a chief justiceship in New Brunswick. He will in that event be succeeded by Hon. William Pugsley, Attorney-General, also of New Brunswick.

Sheep Butchers on Strike.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Because of alleged discrimination against sheep butchers employed at the Union Stock Yards the sheep butcher workmen have decided to remain on strike. All of the packing companies excepting Armour & Co., are alleged to be discriminating.

Shot Wife and Son.

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 16.—Stephen Fellows, a miner, shot his wife and 16-year-old son yesterday in the railroad station at Barnesboro, as they were leaving for New York on account of family troubles. Mrs. Fellows will probably die. Fellows was arrested.

Cause of Rise in Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Snow in the Canadian Northwest and a reported decrease in the total Russian crop were conspicuous among the causes yesterday that turned the wheat market upward. At the close, the December option showed a gain of 1¾c. to 1¾c.

Guelph and Goderich Road.

Goderich, Sept. 16.—The first sod of the Goderich-Guelph branch of the C. P. Railway was turned yesterday by Contractor Piggott at the Goderich end.

For Over Sixty Years

An old and well-tried remedy—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

ATLANTIC STORM SWEPT.

Much Shipping Destroyed and Numerous Lives Lost.

New York, Sept. 16.—A number of lives were lost, much property damaged and several ships wrecked in the storm which swept up the Atlantic Coast Wednesday night and yesterday.

It was one of the fiercest September storms on record—thunder and lightning adding terrors to a howling gale which swept drenching sheets of rain over sea and land. Last night's telegraphic reports say the storm has swept out into the ocean and from the Canadian coast.

The greatest loss of life was near Wilmington, Del. The tug Israel W. Durham, with a crew of six men and four other men employes of the American Dredging Company, was swamped in the Delaware River early yesterday during the height of the storm. Eight of the ten persons on the little craft were drowned. From farther down the coast—Jacksonville—comes the report that five men were drowned off Charlestown. New York suffered comparatively little, although the wind and rain and thunder and lightning were terrific. Nineteen coal barges went adrift in the bay, and last night their wreckage was strewn from the shore from the Battery to the Narrows. No lives were lost.

LABOR WOULD ARBITRATE.

Toronto Trades Council Would Like to Meet the Manufacturers Association.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—A letter was adopted last night at the meeting of the district Trades and Labor Council, to be sent to the Manufacturers' Association Convention, at Montreal, protesting against the inequality of taxation and expressing a desire to meet and discuss the question with the manufacturers. It also deplores the attitudes of employers towards organized labor.

The Executive Committee instructed the delegates to the Labor Congress at Montreal to support the question of arbitration.

A letter was received from the Trades and Labor Council of Scotland, stating that the information sent by the Toronto Council had done a great deal to stop the flow of emigrants going to Canada under misrepresentation.

Potatoes at £100 Per Ton.

London, Sept. 16.—There are no signs of waning in the potato boom originated in Lincolnshire some 18 months ago.

A meeting of growers of a new and exceptionally early variety of potato known as the Recorder was held at Spalding Wednesday, when it was decided that none of these potatoes should be parted with this season for less than £100 per ton.

A number of sales have taken place at this price.

Eldorado	£1,018,000
Pearl	11,730
Northern Star	2,480

London Fair Has Crowds.

London, Ont., Sept. 16.—The largest crowd for the week attended the exhibition yesterday, making a record day above former years. The weather was excellent in all respects. The traffic on railways was exceedingly heavy yesterday, special after special on the Grand Trunk bringing thousands of people to the fair. The hotel accommodation is inadquate, many people being compelled to walk the streets all night.

Young Roosevelt in Canada.

Montreal, Sept. 16. — Theodore Roosevelt, jr., son of the President of the United States, passed through Montreal on his way to Lake St. John yesterday morning on a sailing trip. He was accompanied by Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York as friend and physician. They intend to stay for several weeks in the neighborhood of Lake St. John, hunting and fishing.

Canadian Sailor Drowned.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Charles Kennedy, aged 21, of Montreal, pantryman on the steamer Kingston, was drowned at Charlotte at one o'clock yesterday morning. His foot slipped as he was on the gang-plank, and his head struck the deck as he fell. The body was not recovered for 17 minutes.

Mormons Still Moving.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 16.—Permanent organization of the new American party, whose avowed purpose is to oppose the alleged interference of the Mormon Church in politics, has been effected at a mass meeting. The meeting was largely attended by men of all political beliefs.

English Editor Sees Wall Street.

New York, Sept. 16.—Sir Alfred Harmsworth, the English editor, was a visitor in Wall street Wednesday, making a call at the Stock Exchange. He examined the sub-treasury and was shown through the vaults at the latter place.

Mexico Would Trade With Canada.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Sir William Mulock has been advised that a Canadian Club has been organized in Mexico for the purpose of promoting trade between the two countries, and that he has been made an honorary member.

AN EPOCH-MAKING SHIP.

The First Turbine Atlantic Liner—Launch of the Victorian.

On the 25th Aug. there was launched from the shipbuilding yard of Messrs. Workman, Clarke & Co., Belfast, the steamer Victorian, the first of the two turbine-driven ships ordered by the Allan Line.

The Victorian is the pioneer turbine vessel for the Atlantic or any other ocean service, and, as such, her launch is an event of more than ordinary interest. She and the Virginian, now being built on the Clyde are sister ships as regards dimensions, capacity and power. This pair of twelve thousand tonners will form a notable reinforcement to the fine fleet of the Allan Line, which already numbers twenty-eight steamers, and comprises several vessels of ten thousand tons each engaged in the mail, passenger and general service between the United Kingdom and Canada. Splendid ships, however, as are the Bavarian, Tunisian, Parisian and Lonian the Victorian exceeds them in size 2000 tons, and, as regards speed, is expected to be a long way in advance of them.

That she is one of the handsomest vessels ever built in Belfast was the opinion of every expert who saw her on the stocks before the launch or in the water afterwards. She is a striking contrast to the ordinary straight-sided ocean steamer of today. Her lines fore and aft are sharp and clean, swelling gracefully into a noble width amidships, which suggests high qualities of steadiness and stability, as well as capacity for speed, which could hardly be excelled. Before she took the water people viewed with interest her three propellers—a novel feature in an Atlantic liner.

It is not, however, her grace of outline, nor the promise of perfect internal equipment (which the work already done indicates) that makes the Victorian so interesting an object to the shipping world just now. It is her position as the pioneer of a departure which may revolutionize the character of the ocean liner from a shipbuilder's and passenger's standpoint, with as great a degree as did the departure which introduced the twin-screw and the five hundred footer.

For a considerable time it has been debated whether the turbine would be practicable as a means of propelling the giant ships that carry our cross-Atlantic passenger traffic, and while other great shipping companies were looking for more light and hesitating to plunge into a practical experiment that might involve heavy loss, the Allan Company boldly assumed the responsibility of giving the lead. They lost no time either. Ten months ago the keel of the Victorian was laid by Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co. On Aug. 25th she was successfully launched, and before the end of the year it is expected she will be ready for sea. Her trial trip will of course be the crucial test, and upon it much will depend. For it may be taken for granted that other important companies which have decided to adopt turbine engines for new liners will watch with attention the earliest performances of the Victorian.

Originally the Victorian was designed to be driven by reciprocating engines, but after some progress had been made with her hull Messrs. Allan decided that she should have turbines instead. Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co. made the necessary alterations in her structural design, and at the same time undertook what was a far more difficult and delicate task, the construction of the great turbines—the largest ever made—which are to drive her. This was by arrangement with Messrs. Parsons & Co., for it was the Parsons' turbine that was decided upon. A high-pressure and two low-pressure turbines will drive the three propellers of the ship, which, by the way, strike one as being unusually small to drive a monster possessing a cargo capacity of more than 6,000 tons, besides accommodation and equipment for upwards of 1300 passengers. These propellers, however, revolve at very high speed—from 250 to 300 revolutions per minute. The central one, arranged as in a single-screw vessel, is worked by the high-pressure turbine, the others, which are arranged as in a twin-screw ship, by the low pressure turbines. The two latter have each a reversing arrangement which enables them to be driven full speed astern, either together or independently. Thus the ship will be as easily and effectively manoeuvred as regards turning or backing as an ordinary twin-screw. This disposes of the objection which has sometimes been urged against turbines, that they are defective with regard to reversing motion.

The principle of the steam turbine is less generally understood than that of ordinary reciprocating engines. Briefly, a turbine engine is a fixed cylinder upon the inside surface of which are mounted rings of brass blades projecting radially inward. Inside this revolves a drum armed on its outer surface with similar rings of blades set at an angle to the fixed blades, and arranged so that they are "counterpoised," so to speak, between those of the fixed cylinder. Steam is admitted at one end of the turbine, and passes through fruitlessly in a zig-zag path, being deflected from the fixed rows of blades on the drum, causing the latter, which is built on the propeller shafting, to revolve, and thus drive the propeller. The "fixed blades" (those in the cylinder) act as guides to deliver the steam with proper direction and velocity against the "moving blades" (those on the drum). Thus the full power of the steam is utilised and in a direct and continuous way.

The term "blades," when used in connection with the machinery of an ocean liner seems to suggest a screw propeller or something equally formidable. But these turbine blades are surprisingly small—no larger than a lady's little finger. Their number, however, is prodigious, there being no less than a million and a half small pieces used in the blading of the three turbines of the Victorian.

To see these appliances being made in Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co.'s fine engine works, suggests the manufacture of a Titanic musical box or some mechanical toy for the amusement of a giant. The ponderous steel casing and drum of each of the low-pressure turbines (the mass that means strength and resisting power to steam pressure) weighs something like ninety-five tons, while the "blades," moving and fixed, are so tiny and fragile looking that the contrast is remarkable. It seems preposterous to suppose that these insignificant little points, even in multitude, can be the agency to send the great liner through the sea at a speed of something like eighteen or twenty knots an hour. That is what they are expected to be, nevertheless.

It may easily be imagined when the principle of the steam turbine is grasped that everything depends upon the proper "set" and inclination of the two sets of blades. Hence the difficult and delicate character of the constructive work. The manufacture of the turbines is well forward. Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co. have a special engine shop, equipped with those necessary plant, devoted to them, and Mr. C. E. Allan, one of the members of the firm, personally superintends their construction. It will, however, require some weeks longer of skilful and arduous labor before the turbines are ready to be fitted in the Victorian.

The energy of the steam is used up to the last ounce in its passage through the turbine. But economy of power and room are not the only advantages which the turbine promises in connection with ocean traffic. There is a complete absence of the unbalanced forces which cause vibration in an ordinary steamer, and which is thus reduced to a vanishing point. Then there is very little fear of breakdown because there are no moving parts to break or get out of order. It is usually the breaking of a crank shaft, or connecting rod, or some such appliances that causes trouble on a modern ship. Here the steam acts directly driving the shafts of the ship with an even turning movement enormously reducing the stresses to which the moving parts of ordinary engines are subjected. Indeed it is claimed for the turbine that there is a saving in weight, space, attendance, and upkeep to say nothing of a considerable increase in speed.

Thanks to this economy of space the builders have been able to provide accommodation on board the Victorian, such as is probably not to be equalled by any vessel of her size afloat. They have utilised the saving not to increase the number of passengers carried, but to give every possible comfort and luxury to all three classes of passengers. The Victorian will be emphatically a comfortable ship so far as the perfection of appointment can make her so. Care for the humble steerage passenger has always been a leading point of policy with the Allan Line; in the Victorian it is exemplified in a remarkable degree. Even in their unfinished condition the music-room, dining-room and other special accommodation for this class challenge admiration for their roominess and completeness of equipment.

The steam to drive the turbines will be generated by eight large boilers of the usual type, which are being made in Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co.'s boiler works.

The length of the Victorian is 540 feet; her breadth, 60 feet; her depth 40 feet 6 inches. She is divided by bulkheads into eleven compartments, and with the sub-divisions of her double-bottom she has twenty water-tight spaces. She is built to the highest class of the British Corporation Registry of Shipping, and her hull has been specially strengthened above the requirements of the Corporation in order to make her doubly secure against the heavy weather of the North Atlantic. The first-class accommodation which, as usual, is amidships, is of the most complete and approved order. Perfectly heated and ventilated staterooms, and suites of rooms, a spacious and well-fitted dining-saloon, an elegantly appointed music-room, and a luxuriously equipped smokeroom are some of the features. Not less comfortable proportionately are the second-class quarters, and, as already indicated, third-class passengers are catered for in the most liberal manner. Electric light throughout, a complete printing outfit, and an installation of Marconi's wireless telegraphy are among the many arrangements for the comfort and convenience of passengers.

As regards facilities for the handling of cargo, the ship is as perfectly fitted as possible. She has no less than ten steam winches and derricks for working the holds, and she is provided with insulating chambers and refrigerating plant so as to enable her to carry fruit, dairy produce, &c., from Canada.

As already remarked, the Victorian is largely an experimental ship. Turbines have proved a success for small high-speed channel steamers, but whether they will be an equal success for ocean steamers remains to be proved. The trial trip of the Victorian will practically solve this problem, which has been agitating the minds of shipping men for some time past. Whatever the result may be therefore with the Allan Line rests the honor of leading the way with an important economical venture, and with Messrs. Workman, Clark & Co. that of conducting a new departure in shipbuilding and engineering science, which may mark an important epoch in both departments.

The Victorian, when ready, will take her place on the Allan Canadian Mail and Passenger Service from Liverpool, to be followed by her sister steamer, Virginian, now building on the Clyde.

These steamers, with the Bavarian and Tunisian, will land to land, provide a service which by reason of the shorter mileage of the route will compare in length of voyage favorably with the swiftest of the other Atlantic Mail services, and as much of the voyage is in land-encompassed seas the Canadian route cannot fail to become increasingly popular with that great section of ocean travellers to whom a short and smooth sea voyage is an attraction.

The Victorian, it may be added, will be fitted out with all possible despatch.

Of Use Every Day

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

JOY AND THANKSGIVING

REV. CANON GREEN DWELLS ON THE MANY REASONS FOR REJOICING.

An Inspiring Harvest Festival Held in St. John's Church — Enjoyable Music by the Choir.

The interior of St. John's church last evening presented a very beautiful spectacle. The occasion was the annual harvest festival, and arranged everywhere in rich and artistic profusion were the products of garden and farm, while sweet perfumed flowers also had conspicious places. The corner of the building, the recesses of the windows, the pulpit, the sanctuary and altar, all displayed the symbols of plentitude, and the bright, inspiring service was one in which the spirit of thanksgiving was most marked. The clergy who took part in conducting the service, were Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of Peterborough; Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's, and Rev. Canon Green, M.A., of Orillia, who delivered the address—a message emphasizing Christian responsibility in the relation towards a merciful God. The lessons read were the 8th chapter of Deuteronomy, and 12th chapter of St. Luke. The hymns were very appropriate, beginning as follows:—"Come, ye faithful people, come," "We plough the fields and scatter," "To Thee, O Lord, our hearts we raise," and "The Sower went forth sowing."

Rev. Canon Green's address was based upon the 14th verse of the 50th Psalm: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; pay thy vows unto the Most High." A careful study of the Psalm revealed that God was addressing His people and telling those in charge to gather His saints together that He might rehearse with them His heavenly mind. Discussing their offerings or sacrifices He pointed out that if He were hungry He would not tell His people, for the cattle on a thousand hills were His. He required nothing from His people, but it delighted His heart to see that those of the people were in unison with His own. The sacrifices we make, said the speaker, are as nothing in the sight of God, and though unnecessary to Him were a delightsome thing as indicating our willingness and readiness to offer Him the best we have. Our actions are the index of the heart. He explained with regard to the origin of the Thanksgiving service on "this side of the water," as set forth by Dr. Franklin. It appeared that in early days on this great continent there had been a great drouth, followed by other distresses among the people, and one of the Bishop's suggested that a humiliation meeting be held. One of the largest buildings of the locality was crowded, and in the midst of a doleful service an old woman arose and said: "My people, this does not seem like a Christian service; let us sing the doxology." The whole congregation started to their feet and sung as never before, so that the Bishop, instead of having an annual humiliation service, one of thanksgiving was held instead.

The speaker believed that all would agree with him that there was far too much "complaining in the streets," in spite of God's command. He referred to the delightful climate of this country—here were not the cyclones, but the same richness and productiveness that existed in Kansas. It was indeed another Palestine—a land of fertile valleys and fine rivers, of rich mineral and forest resources, and there was great reason for thankfulness to God. At the time of Confederation, the number of acres under cultivation in the West was known only by the thousands with a product of one million bushels of wheat and a million and a quarter of oats. To-day there were millions of acres under cultivation with a product of from sixty-five to one hundred million bushels of grain. Great reason existed for outbursts of joy, and the speaker said a thanksgiving service should be held all the year round—there should be no complaining in the streets. He referred to a beautiful tradition. When God had by His Almighty hand created the beautiful things of earth He turned about and asked an Archangel how this work could be improved, to which the reply was that there was only one thing necessary—a mighty, clear, harmonious voice, filling earth perpetually and unceasingly with praise of God. What was wanted oh earth was the spirit of that tradition. God loved a cheerful giver, and in addressing the young people he emphasized the necessity that they give to God the best of their time and talents, and strength and riches. The speaker thanked God, in referring to a higher thing than riches that the time had come that when a young man was given to missions it was not the least successful in a family, but the very best one. Christian work should stand the searching eye of God.

In dwelling upon the second part of the text, the speaker emphasized the importance of remembering the vows of baptism, of confirmation, and of marriage. In exhorting them to remember the poor, he told them to regard such work as done not unto the individual, but unto God.

In conclusion Rev. Canon Green said he could not help feeling that the people of St. John's had been wonderfully blessed. He had been in the church before, but never saw it look so beautiful. Asking the Rector to pardon a personal allusion, he recalled a former visit when he knelt with him at the holy table in prayer, and never had he forgotten the influence of that communion, and he felt as though he ought to again come to rejoice with the people. He had a word of commendation for those who had decorated the church, and his prayer was that God had made the night one of blessing, and that He would endow the people richly with spiritual gifts.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rector.

The music was of a very enjoyable character. The choir sang Smart's Magnificat, and during the offertory the anthem, "O Give Thanks unto the Lord," very effectively, Miss Ruth Dawson taking the solo in the latter very ably.

STREET RAILWAY NEWS

Three Cars now in Operation — How to Distinguish them.

There are at present three cars doing duty on the street railway lines, and a very good service results. Two carrying a white signal in front, run on George-st. and cross at Central Park, while one with a red signal runs from the Canadian General to Smith-st. via Park, Charlotte and George-sts. Another of the new cars arrived to-day and is being unloaded. The fourth is expected in a few days. The car which is to run on the Jackson Park line will carry a green signal, and will be put on as soon as the line is in readiness. It is the intention to distinguish the different routes, by signs, which will be placed on the cars to-morrow.

GETTING RID OF NUISANCE

Water Commissioners View With Satisfaction Erection of Water Tower by G. T. R.

"It is a live question, and there is no doubt that in a very short time Peterborough will have a problem to deal with in connection with the waterworks," observed a gentleman this morning with reference to the discussion in the Review regarding the town's water system. "A new dam and a tower were, he pointed out, two most necessary things, and would have to be built sooner or later. It was not a wise plan to be tinkering with the old dam all the time. The Commissioners were about to get rid of something of a nuisance, in that the Grand Trunk were building a large water tower, and would not, as at present, be filling their numerous engines direct from the pipes, thus lowering the pressure for the time being. The C.P.R. had recently built such a tower.

His opinion was that every property that abutted on water mains should pay some kind of tax, because of that fact, whether the water was used or not. The sanitary condition of the town had improved wonderfully during the past few years because of the extension and wide use of sewers and water service.

Lecture on Physical Culture.

The ladies of Peterborough will be pleased to hear that the Toronto Viavi Co. has arranged for two lecture to be given in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, on Tuesday, Sept. 20th, at 3 p. m., and Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock. We hope that many of our readers will avail themselves of this opportuniuty of hearing a most interesting and instructive lecture on physical culture and hygience. The Viavi Co. extends a most cordial invitation to all. 3d

—The first fatality on the street railway occurred to-day, when a car ran over a dog on George-st. There was only a blood stain left on the track when it was all over.

SOME LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Simcoe St. Surface Drain now Being Built — The Park St. Sewer.

Work was Thursday morning begun on the excavation of the surface drain on Simcoe st., to carry away the flood water from the corner of George and Simcoe sts. This surface drain will also preclude the possibility of further lawsuits because of flooded cellars at these corners. The pipe will be 12 inch, and placed at a depth of from five to eight feet. Mr. Wm. Maxwell is in charge of the work.

Park st. sewer is progressing as rapidly as could be expected under the circumstances. The contractor, Mr. John Robinson, has had a very difficult job for about 250 yards through heavy clay and quick sand. This has made progress very slow, but now the workmen are getting clear of this part and the work will proceed more rapidly. It is being placed at a depth of 15 1-2 feet, because of the fact that it is to serve as a trunk sewer for the streets branching out from Park st.

Mr. Harry Evans is now building a five foot pavement on Lock st. from Lake to Landsdowne. The work is being rushed so that it will be completed for the exhibition.

The Street Railway Company in extending their lines to Jackson Park have reduced the grade at McDonnell st. hill considerably and are making a good job of it

MR. GEO. B. VANBLARICOM

Who is Coming to Peterboro, was Popular in Ottawa.

Ottawa Journal, Sept. 15.—Mr. Geo. B. Van Blaricom, who this morning left Ottawa to become managing editor of the Peterborough Review, and who was tendered a farewell banquet on Saturday evening, was born near Castleton, Northumberland Co., in 1872. He is a son of Mr. F. M. Van Blaricom, and was educated in the Belleville High School and Belleville Business College. He entered newspaper work in 1892, and has been engaged in Kingston, Peterborough and Woodstock before coming to Ottawa seven years ago. He formerly was on the Free Press staff, but transferred to the Journal over a year ago. He is a member of Otonabee Lodge, No. 18, I.O.O.F., Peterborough. "Van," as he was familiarly called, was decidedly popular, and will be greatly missed.

A Night with the Sons of Ham.

A proposition is on foot to organize and give a minstrel entertainment on a large scale, the proceeds to be devoted to one of the local public objects. Considerable interest has been taken in the project and a meeting will be held in the office of Mr. A. L. Davis on Monday, 19th, at 7.30 o'clock, to consider details. As it is almost impossible to make up a list and send out requests to attend the committee for organization ask all who wish to take part, and who it is hoped will be able to contribute assistance in musical and other ways to attend on same date and be prepared to make suggestions.

TO REMAIN IN HASTINGS

WELSH & SONS TANNERS WILL NOT REMOVE HITHER.

That Decision Arrived at Recently—Mr. John Welsh in Town—Says there is an Excellent Field Here—Peterborough may Receive a Proposition Soon.

Mr. John Welsh, of Hastings, who is at the head of the large tanning industry in that village, was in town to-day on a business trip. It will be remembered that, some weeks ago, it was reported that the firm was seriously considering removal to Peterborough, and that here a considerable extension would be made to the business. Mr. Welsh was asked to-day if there were any recent developments with that object in view, and he stated that he had but recently decided to remain in Hastings. Removal at the present time would, he said, involve the sacrifice of a large amount of property, and there were other considerations which made the change inadvisable. He admitted, however, that Peterborough was an excellent locality for such an industry, and stated that he would not be surprised if the town did not have a proposition from a large tanner in Western Ontario at an early date. In fact, he had often heard Peterborough suggested as offering a fine field for a tannery. It may not be generally known that Peterborough within the last thirty-five year had four tanneries, and they all did a very good business. One was operated by Patrick Ryan, and situated at the rear of where the Snowden House now stands; another was run by Lundy Brothers in the stone building now occupied by J. E. A. Fitzgerald; a third was conducted by a gentleman named Clarke, now in Toronto, and its situation was at the west end of Hunter-st. bridge, while the fourth was Walter Patterson's, on Aylmer-st. All of these concerns have, strange to say, become defunct as far as actual tanning is concerned, although on the latter site is situated Brightman Bros.' clearing house, whence there are shipped from 15,000 to 20,000 cowhides every year to Hastings. Mr. Welsh states that it would not be a mistake for another tannery to locate here, for proximity to Hastings would create a better market for raw material for one thing, and the field was sufficiently large.

THE TANNING INDUSTRY.

In this connection it may not be uninteresting to re-publish the following extract from Industrial Canada on the tanning industry in Canada:—

The present status of the tanning industry and its development during the past ten years are indicated by the following figures taken from the census returns of the Dominion of Canada for 1891 and 1901:

	1891	1901
Number of establishments ..	802	143
Capital employed	$ 4,971,845	$ 7,3 0,3[illegible]
Number of employees	4,263	3,807
Raw material handled	$ 5 0, 66	$ 0, 8[illegible]
Value of product	11,422,860	12,0 8,600

In explanation of the remarkable decrease shown by these figures in the number of tanneries operated, it must be said that the statistics for 1901 include only such establishments as employ a minimum of five hands while those of 1891 include everything. For the purpose of comparison it has been ascertained that in 1891 there were in all 170 tanneries employing five hands or over. In ten years, therefore, the number in operation has been reduced by 27, or nearly 16 per cent. Side by side with this fact is the equally surprising fact that the capital employed by the tanneries now remaining in business is $3,228,749, or about 80 per cent. more than that employed by the whole industry ten years ago. While the actual number of hands employed is somewhat less than at the time of the last census, the average per tannery is very much larger. In 1891 the number of wage-earners to a tannery was 5.3; in 1901 it was 25.2. The general increase in the use of machinery and the tendency to eliminate laborious hand processes, will account for the failure of the number of workmen employed to keep pace with the capital invested, but this only furnishes an additional proof of the remarkable tendency towards centralization and specialization in the manufacture of leather.

In relation to the other manufacturing enterprises of Canada, the tanning industry ranks very high. As the figures for 1901 will show, it represents an average investment of over $51,000, with an average yearly output of more than $84,000. Considering the fact that this includes all tanneries employing as few as five hands, the showing made is remarkably good. A number of our larger tanneries employ a capital of $150,000 to $200,000 and have an annual production of over half a million. This is not surprising when we remember that three or four months are consumed in tanning and finishing the ordinary cowhide, and that sometimes as much as a farthing a day is passed through the hide house. To handle ingnense stocks like this a proportionately large capital is called for. But while the purchases of raw material are very heavy the sales frequently run into equally large figures. Among the best and shoe manufacturers it is not an uncommon thing for an order to be given for $100,000 worth of leather at a time, and instances are on record where sales have been put through involving as much as a quarter of a million.

As long as our tanneries are able to present such a showing as the above, they must necessarily play a very important part in the industrial life of our country. Their growth in the past has been steady and healthy, and in the rapid development of the West they seem to be afforded a reasonable guarantee of still further expansion. The industry has been fortunate in having at its head able men of business and under their continued guidance it may be relied upon to give a good account of itself in the future.

timmer for the Liberals in one of the the polling places. On this same day I went with Hunkett to the residences of James Campbell, Donald Campbell and J. A. Calder, heretofore referred to, and he told me he gave each one of them five dollars to vote for the Liberal candidate.

"On Monday morning, the 5th of January, before going to Owen Sound, I called on Mr O'Beirne and told him that I wanted something to be done to divert any suspicion the Conservatives might have of me, and it was arranged that he should publish an article, which he did on that day, in which it was stated that the Conservatives were bringing in a number of hoodlums from different places, naming Buffalo among them. Next day, after my return from Owen Sound, I went to the editor of the Conservative paper and represented that this was an attack on me, and made him believe I was there for legitimate purposes only, and he published an article in his paper defending me from the attack.

MORE MONEY FROM SULLIVAN.

"The day after the election I returned to Toronto, and met Captain Sullivan at the Walker House. He gave me fifty dollars and told me to make up my bill when I got home, and he would send me the amount."

In the box Nelson wrote he subsequently learned that the true name of the man who was introduced to him as Mr. Smith was James Vance, the Liberal organizer. Nelson also amplified his affidavit in several instances. He said that in Toronto, after the elections, Sullivan gave him $50, and told him when he got back to Buffalo to send him his bill. Witness did so; the bill amounted to $135, but it had not been paid. (Laughter.) He had written to Sullivan in connection with the bill, but received no answer.

To Mr. Aylesworth witness said he was now in the trading stamp business. He had heard of "Cap" Sullivan frequently, but had not met him until just before the last bye-elections. Witness had written to Mr. J. P. Whitney after the elections, but had received no reply. He then wrote to Mr. G. M. Boyd, the Conservative candidate in North Grey. His object in writing was to ascertain if the Conservatives wished information about the Liberals, who had broken faith with him. He did not write for the purpose of securing a purchaser for his information.

Witness deposed that James Vance had instructed him among other things to buy all the weak-kneed voters he could. In Buffalo Nelson admitted that he had been in the police court charged with petty larceny. On another occasion he faced a charge of vagrancy. In the former case the judge dismissed the case as there had been a mistake, and in the latter case the fine had been remitted by the court.

ASKED TO MAKE FALSE DECLARATION.

Nelson declared that, after making the affidavit which he had filed, he had been asked to make a false declaration repudiating it, but had declined to do so. When A. Wright secured the affidavit from him he had said: "Now, Nelson, I want you to understand that the Conservatives have no money whatever to pay for affidavits." He had readily made the affidavit, had not been paid for doing so, by Mr. Wright, or anyone else, and had not been promised anything or was led to expect anything.

Dr. Hough of Wiarton, referred to by Nelson, on being examined by Mr. Blankstock, said that Louis J. Molloy came to him in Wiarton and introduced himself. He had not given Molloy any instructions, but, on the contrary, had ordered him out of his presence. In short, he had had nothing whatever to do with the man.

Over the Border

By ... ROBERT BARR.

Copyright, 1903, by Frederick A. Stokes Co. Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

The girl was appalled to meet everywhere this intense hatred of her father, and in her own home she was surrounded by it. Even her brother could not be aroused to sympathy, for he regarded his father not only as a traitor to his country, but as a domestic delinquent also, who had neglected and deserted his young wife, leaving her to die uncomforted without even a message from the husband for whom she had almost sacrificed her good name, bearing uncomplaining his absence and her father's wrath.

During the winter Frances saw little of her brother. Thomas Wentworth was here and there riding the country, imagining, with the confidence of extreme youth, that he was mixing in great affairs, as indeed he was, although he was too young to have much influence in directing them. The land was in a ferment, and the wildest rumors were afloat. Strafford had escaped from the Tower and had taken flight abroad, like so many of his friends who had now scattered in fear to France or to Holland. Again it was said the king's soldiers had attacked the Tower, liberated Strafford, and the Black Man was at the head of the wild Irish, resolved on the subjugation of England. Next, the queen had called on France for aid, and an invasion was imminent.

So there was much secret preparation, drilling and the concealing of arms against the time they should be urgently needed, and much galloping to and fro; a stirring period for the young, an anxious winter for the old, and Thomas Wentworth was in the thick of it all, mysteriously departing, unexpectedly returning, always more foolishly important than there was any occasion for. Yet had he in him the making of a man who was shortly to be tried by fire and steel when greater wisdom crowned him than was at present the case.

Since the letter she had received on the night of his arrest, the daughter heard no word from the father. Had he again forgotten, or were his messages intercepted? She did not know and was never to know. She had written to him, saying she had obeyed him, but there was no acknowledgment that her letter had reached its destination. Thus she waited and waited, gnawing impatience and dread chasing the rose from her cheeks, until she could wait no longer. Her horse and the southern road were at her disposal, with none to hinder, so she set forth for London, excusing herself for thus in spirit breaking her father's command by the assurance that he had not forbidden her return.

She avoided her father's mansion, knowing that Lady Strafford and her children were now in residence there, and went to the inn where she had formerly lodged. She soon learned that it was one thing to go to London and quite another to obtain entrance to Westminster hall, where the great trial, now approaching its end, was the fashionable magnet of the town. No place of amusement ever collected such audiences, and, although money will overcome many difficulties, she found it could not purchase admission to the trial through any source that was available. Perhaps if she had been more conversant with the ways of the metropolis the golden key might have shot back the bolt, but with her present knowledge she was at her wits' end.

Almost in despair a happy thought occurred in her. She wrote a note to John Vollins, her father's treasurer, and asked him to call upon her, which the good man did at the hour she set.

"Your father would be troubled to know you are in London when he thinks you safe at home," he said.

"I could not help it, Mr. Vollins. I was in a fever of distraction and must have come even if I had walked. But my father need never know, and you remember he wrote that you were to help me. I wish a place in Westminster hall and cannot attain it by any other means in my power than by asking you."

"It is difficult of attainment. I advise you not to go there, for if his lordship happened to catch sight of you in that throng who knows but at a critical moment it might unnerve him, for he is a man fighting with his back to the wall against implacable and unscrupulous enemies."

"Could you not get me some station where I might look upon my father unseen by him?"

"Seats in the hall are not to be picked or chosen. If a place can be come by it will be because some person who thought to attend cannot be present."

"Do you think that where there are so many faces a chance recognition is possible? I should be but an atom in the multitude."

"Doubtless his seeing you is most unlikely. I shall do my best for you, and hope to obtain an entrance for tomorrow."

And so it came about that Frances was one of the fashionable audience next day, occupying the place of a lady who had attended the trial from the first, but was now tired of it.

The girl listened to the hum of conversation going on round her and caught understandable scraps of it now and then. She was in an entirely new atmosphere, for here every one seemed in favor of Strafford, thought him badly used and was certain he would emerge triumphant from the ordeal. Then let his enemies beware! Feminine opinion was unanimous that all those who were concerned in this trial against his lordship would bitterly regret the day they had taken such action. The spirits of Frances rose as she listened. The invariable confidence by which she was environed had its inspiring effect on her depressed mind. She no longer thought the gathering heartlessly frivolous, as at first she had resentfully estimated it. She was in the midst of enthusiastic champions of her father and realised now as never before the great part he played in the world.

Suddenly there was a movement in the upper part of the hall, and lords and commons filed in to their places. A silence fell on the audience, maintained also in dignified state by the judges, but to the section occupied by the commons was transferred the rustle of talk which had previously disturbed the stillness of the auditorium. Men bustled about, whispering to this member of parliament or that. Papers and notes were exchanged, while by contrast their lordships seemed like inanimate statues.

Once again the center of attention changed. The hall resounded with the measured tramp of armed men. Two rows of soldiers took their stand opposite each other, leaving a clear passage between, and slowly up this passage, with four secretaries and some half dozen others behind him, came a bowed and pallid figure dressed in black, a single decoration relieving the somberness of his costume, which hung, loosely unfitting, about a frame that had become gaunt since its wear began.

"That is the Earl of Strafford," whispered the lady on the right, but the remark fell upon unlistening ears. How changed he was! No trace now of that arrogance of which she had caught chance glimpses during her brief acquaintance with him; a broken man who had but a short time to live, whatever might be the verdict of this court. Sentence of death was already passed on him by a higher tribunal, and all this convocation might do was to forestall its execution.

He stood in his place for a moment, and bowed to his judges, but gave no sign that he had knowledge of the existence of his accusers, and the girl began to doubt if the old arrogance had, after all, entirely departed from him. Then, leaning heavily on the arm of one of his secretaries, he sank into his seat and closed his eyes as if the short walk from the barge to the hall of judgment had been too much for him. As he sat thus there stole down to him a boy leading two children. Strafford's eyes opened, and he smiled wanly upon them, put an arm around the boy's neck and fondled the girls to his knee, both of whom were weeping quietly.

"Who—who are those?" gasped Frances, yet knowing while she asked, and feeling a pang, half jealousy, half pain, that she must hold aloof unnoticed.

"They are his son and his two daughters. The third daughter is not here."

"The third!" she cried in surprise. "Does he then acknowledge a third?"

"The third is an infant too young to know what is going on. Hush! We must not talk."

The girl's eagerness fell away from her; she reclined back in her seat and sighed deeply. The preliminaries of the day passed her like a dream, for she knew nothing of the procedure, but at last her attention was aroused, for she saw her father on his feet, and before she was aware he began to speak, the voice at first cold and calm, penetrating the remotest corner of that vast room, in argument that even she recognised as clear, logical and dispassioned as if he were setting forth the case of another. He was listened to with the most profound respect by enemies and friends alike. He seemed to brush away the charges against him as if they were very cobwebs of accusation. As he went on he warmed more to his theme, and by and by the girl, leaning intently forward, drinking in every word, knew that she was listening to oratory such as had never before greeted the ears of England and probably never would again. A breathless tension held the audience spellbound, and it seemed impossible that his direst foe could remain unmoved. The belief in his acquittal now became a certainty and it was every moment more and more evident that this acquittal would also be a triumph.

The speaker went on to his peroration. "And now, my lords, I thank God I have been, by his blessing, sufficiently instructed in the extreme vanity of all temporal enjoyments, compared to the importance of our eternal duration. And so, my lords, even so, with all humility and with all tranquility of mind, I submit clearly and freely to your judgments. And whether that righteous doom shall be to life or death, I shall repose myself, full of gratitude and confidence, in the arms of the Great Author of my existence."

On none of the vast visible throng had the effective oration exercised greater power than upon an unseen listener. The awed stillness was suddenly broken by a splintering crash, and the startled audience, looking up, saw the frail latticework of the alcove shattered, and the king standing there like a ghost enframed by jagged lath. Stern determination sat on that handsome countenance; a look which said as plainly as words, "This man shall not die!" His hands clutched the broken framework beneath him, and he moistened his lips as if to give utterance to the words his expression foreshadowed. But before he could speak, a tall, angular figure sprang out from among the commons and held up a sinewy hand. His face was ablaze with anger; his stentorian voice dominated the hall, envenomed with hatred, striking the ear with terror as does the roar of a tiger.

"The might of England, in parliament assembled, gives judgment untrammeled and unafraid. The king is not here. The king cannot be here. The throne is vacant and must remain vacant until justice is done."

As the last words rang out, the long index finger, shaken menacingly, pointed at the empty chair. There was defiance of king or minister in words and tone and gesture, a challenge to the throne. The pale face of the king became ghastly white, his hand trembled and fragments of the latticework fell from beneath it. Irresolution took the place of former determination, and he glanced pitifully from right to left as if seeking human support, of which, in the amazed stillness, there was no indication. Then the fine white hand of an unseen woman showed for a moment on his arm like a snowflake, and Charles, with one look of haunting compassion on the prisoner, disappeared from sight. The phantom picture had vanished from its ragged frame without a sound and blank darkness occupied its place. Truly the king was not present, conjured away by the strenuous hand of the fierce combatant on the stage and the soft hand of the woman behind the scenes.

"Who is that man?" whispered Frances, gazing in frightened fascination on the rude interrupter.

"That is John Pym, the chief prosecutor and deadly personal enemy of Lord Strafford."

As the girl gazed at this dominating individuality all the froth of confidence in her father's acquittal, whipped up by the chatter of conversation at the beginning, evaporated. There stood the personified hatred of England against the Earl of Strafford. No wavering in accent or action there, but a determined man, knowing what he wanted and bent on having it. To her excited imagination the resolute face took on the semblance of a death mask, and the clinched hand seemed to grasp the shaft of an ax. It was as if the headsman had suddenly stood forth and claimed his own, and a chill as of the grave swept over the audience with a shudder in its wake.

A HALIFAX HOLOCAUST

Over $300,000 Worth of Property Destroyed.

Over Twenty Buildings and Wharves Swept By Flames Blown By a Terrific Gale—Insurance Said to Be Less Than Half the Loss—One Woman Killed By a Tree Blown Down—Firemen Injured.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 16.—Halifax suffered a fire loss of over $300,000 yesterday afternoon by a conflagration which swept a part of the harbor front. When the fire broke out in the large wooden warehouse of N. & M. Smith the wind was blowing a gale over the city at the rate of 52 miles an hour as officially stated by the signal station at the citadel. The flames swept north and south along Water street, destroying twenty buildings and wharves. The firemen gained control after four hours work.

The military and naval fire brigades, numbering about 200 men, were called out with their equipment to fight the fire and protect property. To accomplish the latter purpose they were drawn up in a cordon with fixed bayonets and kept on duty for many hours.

Woman Killed By Tree.

The loss is estimated at $310,000 with insurance of $150,000. While the gale was at its highest two women were on their way to see the fire. A tree was blown down as they passed along, which, striking one of them on the head and throwing her to the ground, killed her instantly. The tree was two feet in diameter, and was uprooted. The firemen were injured, but none fatally.

The heaviest individual loser is the large fish firm of N. & M. Smith, who are estimated to have lost $75,000 beyond the amount covered by insurance.

ROOSEVELT IN DANGER.

Report From Mexico That Spaniards Plotted to Kill Him.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 16.—E. Lee Hawes, editor of The Pan-American World, at Mexico City, who has just arrived here, says that a plot hatched in Barcelona, Spain, to assassinate President Roosevelt, has been frustrated in Vera Cruz, Mexico. The Mexican police were "tipped off," according to Hawes, and when the would-be assassins reached Vera Cruz they were apprehended. Where they are at present is not known. Hawes says that the Mexican Government has rigidly suppressed all the facts regarding the plot. The Spanish Government, he says, is trying to uncover the conspiracy.

Killed By Fall of Decayed Bridge.

Stillwater, Man., Sept. 16.—The bridge across Lake St. Croix, which is half a mile long, extending to the Wisconsin side, caught fire yesterday afternoon. The fire created some commotion and the fire apparatus, in responding to the alarm, was followed by the usual crowd of persons. The fire had so weakened one of the spans of the rather ancient structure that when the fire apparatus and the crowd attempted to cross it it fell into the water, twenty feet below. About 20 persons were precipitated with the wreckage into the water. Adolph Boo, aged 22, and George McGrath, aged 16, were killed and five others were seriously injured.

Fifteen Live in One Room.

London, Sept. 16.—The record for overcrowding is probably held by Rathdown, County Wicklow.

It was reported to the Rathdown Urban Council Wednesday that in a house in one of their dispensary districts 11 human beings were living together in one room.

Moreover, in the same room were found four dogs, one squirrel, two ferrets, six birds and a cat.

The sanitary officer was directed to take proceedings immediately.

Gartung Goes Free.

Brantford, Sept. 16.—Ernest Gartung, late organizer for the C.O.F., is now free. The end of the case came this morning. Gartung was charged before Judge Hardy with wrongfully converting $1,681 of C. O.F. funds to his own use. He pleaded not guilty. No evidence was presented by the Crown officials, and the judge accordingly dismissed the case.

Provincial Appointments

Toronto, Sept. 16.—The Ontario Cabinet yesterday made the following appointments:

Miss Mary H. Merritt has been transferred from the Ottawa Model School to the Toronto staff, and Miss Emily Evelyn Weir has been appointed to the Ottawa school.

William H. Carson, Kingston, is appointed clerk of the first division court for the County of Frontenac, in the room of James S. Robinson, resigned.

William G. Armstrong, of New Liskeard, will be fishery overseer in place of John Armstrong, resigned.

Explosion Explained.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—The men injured in the Sunnyside explosion are all doing well. After a careful inspection by insurance and engineering experts yesterday, it was declared that low water in the boiler caused the explosion. There were signs to show that only 14 inches of water was in the boiler and the plates between the water and brickwork were red hot. The valve below the water column had been shut off, thus deceiving the engineer. The plates held so well that they were pulled to an edge as sharp as a knife before giving away.

Western Wheat All Right.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 16.—Practically speaking there was no frost in the West Wednesday night, and the weather looks as if it now is settled fine, enabling a speedy wind-up of harvesting. In estimating the damage by frost it must be borne in mind that the district where harvesting was practically completed was the worst affected, while the later crops in the territories generally escaped.

Foot Crushed By Train.

Strathroy, Sept. 16.—As the Chicago Express, No. 5, due here at 6.26 p.m., running 55 minutes late, was leaving the depot an unfortunate accident occurred to Francis J. Gilley, an employe at J. D. Mackison's book store. He had his foot severed above the ankle. He was attempting to board the outgoing train, missed his footing and fell beneath the wheels.

NEW YORK DAIRY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 15.—Butter—Steady; unchanged; receipts, 7260.

Cheese—Steady; unchanged; receipts, 5340.

Eggs—Steady; unchanged; receipts, 2890.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—No Good Cattle Offering at the Montreal Market.

London, Sept. 15.—Cattle are easier at 9½c to 12c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 9c per lb. Sheep, 10½c to 11¾c, dressed weight.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the city market were large, 91 carloads, consisting of 1300 cattle, 1846 hogs, 2093 sheep and lambs and 90 calves.

Few shipping cattle were offered, the highest price quoted being $4.70 per cwt., which was paid for three steers, 1275 lbs. each, sold by McDonald & Maybee, and another load sold at $4.65 per cwt., and one load at $4.50 per cwt.

There were few good to choice butchers' cattle, and it would be safe to say that there was not more than 10 butchers' cattle that sold as high as $4.30 per cwt., and there was not a large number that sold over $4. The bulk of the butchers' sold from $3.25 to $3.75. Common butcher cows sold at $2 to $3.25; inferior and rough, $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

This was the first busy day on the market for feeders. Trade in this class was active, as the dealers have commenced to buy for the distilleries, and there was a large number of farmers that bought and others that were on the lookout for choice lots of feeders. The class most in demand is steers weighing from 900 to 1000 lbs. each, and good quality at these weights is worth from $3.70 to $3.90 per cwt. Common rough heavy steers are not wanted. Distillery bulls are worth all the way from $2.90 to $3 per cwt., but the bulk sold at about $2.75 per cwt.

Stockers, 450 to 700 lbs. each, sold all the way from $2.60 to $3.00 per cwt., but there were a few lots of inferior quality that sold as low as $2.35 per cwt.

There was an active trade in milch cows and springers, over 40 being offered and sold at $30 to $51 each.

Prices for veal calves remain steady, but firm. About 90 sold at $4 to $5.25, the bulk selling at about $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

The run of sheep and lambs was large. Sheep for export are firm at $3.90 to $4 per cwt., the bulk going at $3.90 per cwt. Lambs sold at $4 to $4.60, the bulk going around $4.40 per cwt.

Drovers and farmers are still feeding the market with stubbie hogs, that are not wanted. Hogs that the majority of farmers would not think of killing for their own use. We saw 42 of this lean, unfinished kind culled out of one load. This bringing of unfinished hogs is helping to depress prices. Selects are easy at $5.25, while lights and fats are slow at $5.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—About 150 head of butchers' cattle, 25 lambs, 200 sheep and lambs and 20 store hogs and small pigs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. There were no good cattle on the market, and sales did not exceed 2½c per pound. A lot of heifers one and two years old, which had evidently been on poor pasture, were sold at 2½c per pound, and a number of small bulls at 1½c to 2c per pound. The calves were nearly all two or three months old, and sold at $7 to $10 each, or about 4c per pound. Stripping sheep are 3½c per pound, and others 3c to 3½c per pounds. The lambs were a rather poor lot, and sold at $2.25 to $2.50 each. Hogs sold at 5c to 5¼c per pound.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Sept. 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; good to choice, good demand and stronger; prime steers, $5.50 to $5.75; shipping, $4.75 to $5.25; butchers', $4 to $5; heifers, $3.25 to $4.75; cows, $2.75 to $4; bulls, $2.50 to $4.25; stockers and feeders, $2.30 to $3.75.

Veals—Receipts, 100 head; steady; $4.00 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 3800 head; active; heavy, $5.20 to $5.25; mixed, $5.20 to $5.40; yorkers, $5.25 to $5.45; pigs, $5.10 to $5.20; roughs, $5.25 to $5.35; stags, $4 to $4.75; dairies, $5 to $5.25; grassers, $5.20 to $5.25.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4000 head; sheep, steady; lambs, 10c higher; lambs, $4.80 to $4.50; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; ewes, $3.00 to $4; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Sept. 15.—Beeves—Receipts, 1628; feeling firm; shipments, 150 cattle and 10 sheep.

Calves—Receipts, 87; veals, firm; poor to choice veals, $5 to $6.75; fed calves, $4.25; grassers and buttermilks, nominal; dressed calves, firm; city dressed veals, 9c to 12c per pound; country dressed, 8½c to 11½c; dressed grassers and buttermilks, 8c to 7c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 3682; sheep, steady; good lambs, firm; others steady; sheep, $2.90 to $4; culls, $2; lambs, $5.50 to $6.37½; culls, $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 2994; market steady; state and Pennsylvania hogs, $6.00 to $6.05.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Brockville, Sept. 15.—Two hundred and thirty-six white and 2045 colored cheese were offered to-day; 800 sold on the board at 9c.

Kingston, Sept. 15.—Some 1229 boxes of cheese were boarded to-day at the Frontenac Cheese Board, of which 704 were colored. There were no sales at offers of 8¾c for colored and 8¾c for white.

Madoc, Sept. 15.—One thousand boxes of cheese were boarded; 220 sold at 9 1-16c; 230 at 9c; balance refused at 9c.

Barrie, Sept. 15.—Barrie Cheese Board met to-day; 805 cheese were boarded; August make; all sold but 60, but privilege was given to sell off board. There were four buyers present. The cheese sold at 8¾c to 8¾c. The board adjourned to meet at Elmvale on Oct. 5 next, at 2 p.m.

Tweed, Sept. 15.—Tweed Cheese Board met to-day. There were 600 boarded; 250 sold at 8 13-16c; balance unsold.

Is Mr. W. E. Talbot Who Was Cured of Piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros., Tobacco Merchants, 261 George st., Peterboro, Ont., states:—"It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for Itching Piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease and though I tried very many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured and knowing the misery that the ailment produces, I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

HIGHWAYMEN NEAR MADOC

A Constable Held up and Compelled to Hand Over.

On Tuesday night Constable St. Charles of Madoc, while driving north towards Eldorado was suddenly confronted by two highwaymen about two miles out from Madoc, and with revolvers to his head was requested to "hand over." Mr. St. Charles was unarmed and had nothing to do but allow one man to go through his pockets while the other fingered the revolver. After relieving him of all his spare cash, he was allowed to drive on.

It is thought probable that these were the same men who robbed the bank at Marmora on Monday night

Card of Thanks.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear sir,—The undersigned desires to express, through the medium of the press, our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends, who, by their many acts of kindness to our little daughter, Clara, during her late serious illness, evidenced their sympathy, which, we believe, contributed much towards her now almost complete recovery. Such acts of kindness will ever be remembered by us all. Thanking you for space for the above, we beg to remain,

Yours gratefully,

NEW CASKET WAGGON

Mr. D. Bellegham Added a Handsome One to his Equipment.

A very handsome casket waggon is that which has recently been purchased by Mr. D. Bellegham, undertaker. It is an up-to-date style, having divisions within it for both the casket, case or other necessary funereal equipment. It is somewhat larger, therefore, than is the vogue in casket waggons at the present time. Greer of London is the manufacturer, and the conveyance was exhibited at Toronto Fair. It has rubber tires, contains plate glass windows, is richly polished, well finished and is not unlike an ambulance in appearance.

NEVER HEARD OF CANADA

Some of the People in New Jersey Would Give that Impression.

"There are people over there who, to listen to their statements, would give you the impression that they never heard of Canada," said Mr. Jack Comstock this morning. He has recently returned from a trip to Jersey City, New York, Boston and other large American cities. There is, he states, a most remarkable ignorance with regard to this country over there, and to talk of the Capital of the Midland district, the place where they manufacture the best brand of "the smile that won't come off" was to bring up a subject that nobody seemed to care anything about. In New York he found that many people, by no means rich, saved up their money for months in the year, in order to send their children to the country there to enjoy an outing. New York had many fine parks, but the genuine relaxation, or invigorating holiday, came with a sojourn far from the city's maddening crowd.

An interesting fact with regard to the jar that is being constantly inflicted upon the mortuary statistics in Jersey City was referred to by Mr. Comstock who stated that he visited the morgue over there and inside of four hours, no less than fourteen dead bodies were brought in. Four of these had died from natural causes, and the remainder had been hurried away by accident, foul play or other means. In these large centres of population it does not seem to be taken so seriously whether a man goes or stays, and it all suggests the breakneck speed of this glorious 20th century.

JAPS ARE TUNNELING UNDERNEATH THE FORTS

Reports are to the Effect that Their Efforts to Blow up the Forts will be Successful

THEY CAPTURE A VERY STRONG POSITION

Evidence that the Russian Ammunition is Becoming Defective—The Food Supply Said to be Good—Russians Have Everything in Readiness to Blow up Port Arthur in Event of Its Capture.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

Chefoo, Sept.—The Japanese between Sept. 8 and Sept. 10, assaulted and captured an important fortification two miles east of Golden Hill, near Port Arthur.

The Japanese were able to hold the position owing to the poor quality of the Russian powder, the shells falling short of the point for which they were aimed. Then, too, after falling, the shells failed to explode. This is taken to indicate that Gen. Stoessel's supply of ammunition is running very low.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—A telegram from Harbin says the following report has been received from Port Arthur: "Our garrison is in good spirits and there is no prospect of provisions failing. Port Arthur is prepared to make a long, obstinate defence."

The Japanese are strongly fortifying their positions near the Kinchow isthmus and intrenching before Port Arthur. An intelligent Chinese, who on Sept. 12th, left Port Arthur, where he had been a dock yard laborer for many years, has arrived here and says that the Japanese are tunnelling under the Russian forts with the intention of blowing them up.

He says that the work of tunnelling is slow and arduous and will probably be successful.

The Russians have placed mines under all the public buildings, wharves, arsenals and everything that could possibly be of use to the Japanese, with the intention of causing their destruction should they enter the city.

The house formerly occupied by Viceroy Alexieff, was hit by a shell recently and partially wrecked. Ammunition is growing scarcer, but there is plenty of bread.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

HARD LUCK IN COBOURG

The Peterborough Ball Team Lost by 5-6—Led by 5-0 in the Sixth Innings.

The Peterborough ball team went to Cobourg yesterday, but failed to land a victory. The visitors had everything their way until the sixth, when the score stood 5—0 in their favor. A series of misfortunes, however, overtook them and when the innings finished the Cobourgs were leading by 5 to 6. In the eighth each team added one, and in the ninth the Peterborough men were again displaying the form which gave them so good a lead in the initial stages. An explanation of the lapse in the sixth is the occurrence, among other things, of a number of costly errors, by which the Cobourgs gradually crept up on the leaders, and finally had one to the good. McCorry was in good shape, and with the exception of the fatal innings, the support was not lacking. The game in many respects resembled the one on Saturday, when Port Hope made some sensational spurts, overtaking their opponents, who fortunately were able to make good. Weatherston, a new man at right field, is said to have done some nice work at gathering in hot drives. The men of the Peterboroughs claim that they should have won the game which for them had so favorable a beginning. The record on Saturday next, when Cobourg plays here will undoubtedly be different. From McCorry some 10 hits were made, while Downes, of Cobourg, was found 15 times. Both teams each had about seven errors. It was in many respects an interesting game to watch and full of sensations. The big hitting of the day was done by "my man Turpin," who sent a sky-scraper to the most distant fence of the Agricultural grounds, which was good for two bags.

The teams were—

Peterborough — McCorry p, Graham c, Donaldson lf, McDonald cf, Long 1b, Weatherston rf, Lamont ss, Whitcroft 2b, Sheridan 3b.

Mr. Jack Rosevear, of Port Hope, refereed the game and gave entire satisfaction.

The Peterboroughs state that they have nothing to complain about in connection with their trip to Cobourg, as they were well treated.

BASEBALL.

Cobourg will bring up a good team for the ball game to-morrow afternoon, and it promises to be one of the best events of the season. The locals will undoubtedly reverse the record of the game yesterday in Cobourg. Play will begin on the T.A.S. grounds at 3.30 sharp.

FIELD DAY.

A fine programme is being arranged for the C.G.E. Co's field day to be held in the Driving Park to-morrow afternoon. It is the second annual affair of this kind, and every effort is being put forward to make it a success. The street cars will run in connection with the grounds. A good afternoon's sport is assured all who go. Burns and Payne will finish their five mile race at the grounds.

BRICKLAYERS ARE SCARCE

A Report States that 200 of them Recently Left Toronto.

It is reported about town that a number of Toronto bricklayers found employment here during the strike in that city and in this connection it is interesting to note that now the strike is over. A report from the city states that the explanation of the present scarcity of bricklayers in Toronto is that a number, probably about 200, had left the city during the strike. They have not all gone so far west as Winnipeg, however, many of them being still within a short distance from Toronto, or at least not so far away but that a few days will see many of them back in the city.

There appears to be no serious apprehension among the contractors in Toronto that there will be any permanent trouble through a scarcity of bricklayers. Conditions are not so inviting in the different outside towns as to make them preferable to that place. Experience under similar circumstances has shown that men have been very ready to get back to the city as soon as the coast was clear. It is true that some have gone to Winnipeg, but even there, owing to the tremendous rush to that city this season, there is reported to be a surplus of labor in all branches of the mechanical trades, notwithstanding the great demand which has existed in the building trade in particular.

Altogether it is believed that within a very short time things will be running normally again, that there will be plenty of bricklayers on hand, and that a busy season of three months or more is yet ahead of Toronto.

A PROSPEROUS CONDITION

Revealed by the Customs Returns from Day to Day.

That business is brisk at the Customs House, and that the staff at present employed there must be kept busy is in a measure indicated by the returns which are being made from day to day. Take from the 12th to 13th of September, inclusive, the figures also show no great fluctuation, but a marked inclination of receipts to increase. The figures are, Sept. 12, $1,275; Sept. 13 $1,036.97; Sept. 14, 1,338; Sept. 15 $2,193.46. During August the average per day was over $1,000. The largest day during the past few months was on July 9th, $4,123.22. The total receipts for the month of August were $24,374.19. These facts certainly indicate a prosperous condition of affairs.

Brevities

—The choir of Charlotte-st. church drove to Millbrook last evening and held their weekly practice at the home of Miss Clarry, the organist. The drive was greatly enjoyed.

—On Aug. 31st, while chopping a log, Mr. Joseph A. Stabler, blacksmith, Lakehurst, cut his ankle bone very badly. The axe glanced and struck his foot or ankle bone. The wound will lay him off for some time.

Miss Rose Peterson, Secretary Parkdale Tennis Club, Chicago, from experience advises all young girls who have pains and sickness peculiar to their sex, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hopeless women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and periodic pain, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally.

If you know of any young lady who is sick, and needs motherly advice, ask her to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., who will give her advice free, from a source of knowledge which is unequalled in the country. Do not hesitate about stating details which one may not like to talk about, and which are essential for a full understanding of the case.

Miss Hannah E. Mershon, Collingswood, N. J., says:

"I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular.

"I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Fannie Kumpe.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it is my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have derived from your advice and the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The pains in my back and womb have all left me, and my menstrual trouble is corrected. I am very thankful for the good advice you gave me, and I shall recommend your medicine to all who suffer from female weakness." — Miss FANNIE KUMPE, 1922 Chester St., Little Rock, Ark. (Dec. 16, 1900.)

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure any woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, nervous prostration, and all forms of woman's special ills.

RUSSIA'S POSITION REGARDING CONTRABAND

A Clear Answer Given to British and American Notes on the Subject

DECISION OF PRIZE COURTS REVERSED

Onus of Proof in Case of Suspected Cargo will be Upon the Captor —U. S. Note Expected To-day—Russian Cruiser Lena to Disarm at San Francisco—Russians Preparing for Capture of Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—Russia has given her answer to the American and British notes on the subject of contraband of war. Her answer was communicated to British Ambassador Hardinge, yesterday afternoon, verbally by Foreign Minister Lamsdorff. The Ambassador was informed that, according to the decision of the Commission, which has investigated the subject, the Government has agreed to view as of a conditionally contraband character foodstuffs and fuel, and that supplementary instructions had been issued to the Russian naval commanders and prize courts, calling their attention to the misinterpretation which had been placed upon the prize regulations.

These instructions, Sir Charles Hardinge was informed, make a clear distinction between the articles enumerated in article 6 of the Russian prize regulations which are susceptible to dual use, like fuel and foodstuffs, the assumption being that if they are addressed to private persons or firms in an enemy's port they are not intended for warlike uses, but their innocent character may be subject to suspicion if the ship's papers and the circumstances are irregular. In effect, the new instructions will place the burden of proof that the foodstuffs, etc., are designed for belligerent purposes upon the captor.

The new instructions will involve a reversal of the judgment of the Vladivostock prize court by the Admiralty Court in the case of the provisions confiscated.

A direct answer to the American note is expected to-day.

Russian Cruiser Tied Up.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—It is accepted here that the decision to disarm the Russian cruiser Lena at San Francisco will result in interning her crew until the end of the war. Capt. Berlinsky has further reported that the repairs to the Lena will require several months.

Closing in on Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 17.—The Japanese troops between Sept. 8 and Sept. 10 captured a fort situated on a high hill, two miles east of Golden Hill, by assault. The Japanese were able to remain in the forts because the quality of the powder used at Golden Hill was so poor that many shells fell short and others failed to explode.

The foregoing information was received from an intelligent Chinese, who left Port Arthur on Sept. 12. He adds that the Japanese are tunnelling under the Russian forts with the intention of blowing them up. He says that the work of tunnelling is slow and arduous, and will probably be successful.

Russians Preparing For Capture.

The Russians have placed mines under all the public buildings, wharfs, arsenals and everything that could possibly be of use to the Japanese with the intention of causing their destruction should the Japanese enter the city.

Ammunition is growing scarce, but there is plenty of bread.

A shell struck a destroyer which was lying in the dock undergoing repairs, knocking it into kindling wood and killing seven sailors. This shell came from the Japanese fleet which comes in much closer than formerly daily, throwing a few shells. One shell demolished several engines in the dock yards, and killed an officer and two men.

The fort, which the Japanese captured, is not regarded as essential to the defence of Port Arthur, although it is obvious there will be some disadvantages from its occupation as the Japanese are constantly receiving heavy guns from Japan to which the Russians are unable to reply to effectively.

Russians Rely on Land Defence.

The five 11-inch guns on Golden Hill, which were formerly pointed seaward, have been re-arranged, three of them now pointing landward.

The Chinese allege that all of the guns except the ten and twelve-inch have been removed to land batteries from on board the battleships, where they were of little use.

Of all the ships in the harbor only six are fully able to participate in another fight at sea. A month ago the Golden Hill batteries threatened Shushiyen. Now the Chinese say the shells fall far short of that point.

Getting Short of Food

Shanghai, Sept. 17.—The North China Daily News yesterday published a private letter from a Chinese interpreter employed from 1897 until the end of August last in the commissariat department at Port Arthur. The writer says that in February last the department supplied daily 33,000 rations to the Russian land forces alone, the naval forces supplying themselves, "but when," he adds, "we departed only 15,000 rations were supplied daily to the whole garrison, including the crews of the ironclads, which are now manning the forts. There are now 24,000 sick and wounded men at Port Arthur. Of ammunition of all kinds there are very small stocks, and there are only five weeks full rations remaining." The interpreter also says the garrison of Port Arthur, the officers excepted, are anxious to surrender.

Rumored Japanese Advance.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—(2.25 a.m.)—The War Office has heard the report of an apparent Japanese concentration against the flanks of General Kuropatkin's army, preparatory to an advance toward Mukden. While it is not in a position to absolutely confirm or deny the report, it would surprise the War Office should Field Marshal Oyama have been able in such short time to organize his forces for a serious advance northwards.

A despatch from Mukden says the Russian patrols, up to the present time, have repulsed all Japanese outposts attacks, and that communications with Siumintin have been interrupted. Practically all the Russian stragglers, according to this despatch, have arrived at Mukden.

Japs Go Ahead.

Mukden, Sept. 17.—It is reported here that the Japanese are advancing on Mukden from the east. A strong force of Russians is ready to meet them.

Wounded Cossacks.

Mukden, Sept. 17.—Early yesterday morning twenty-six wounded men belonging to Major-General Mistchenko's Cossack division were brought into Mukden. Particulars of the skirmish are not available. It is not clear whether it was a simple outpost affair or the beginning of the real Japanese advance on Mukden.

Japs Massing.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—General Kuropatkin reports that reconnaissances have established the fact that the Japanese are massing near Ventai and Bentsiaputze. Bodies of Japanese are also moving in the Liao River valley.

Japs Prepare For 170,000 More Men.

London, Sept. 17.—Under date of Sept. 14, The Daily Mail's correspondent at Mukden, telegraphs as follows: "On instruction from Pekin the Chinese Governor has made representations politely requesting both armies not to fight at Mukden, owing to the danger of the demolition of sacred tombs. No response has been received." The Daily Mail's correspondent at Shanghai reports that the Japanese scheme to raise a first national army of men from 32 to 40 years of age, the majority of whom have previously served with the colors, will prove a total strength of 120,000 men, who will be ready for service within a month."

Russians Great Loss.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Exact figures of the Russian losses in killed, wounded and missing in the operations before Liaoyang, from Aug. 13 to 26, have been received by the general staff, according to The Journal's St. Petersburg correspondent. These amount to two generals, 256 officers and 21,800 soldiers. In addition 133 guns were lost. The material losses include fortifications costing $80,000,000.

Japs Call on Militia.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Shanghai correspondent telegraphs that, according to trustworthy information from Japan, the first militia contingent has received orders to prepare to depart for the front.

Czar and Kuropat. Exchange Telly.

London, Sept. 17.—A despatch to a news agency from Mukden, dated, Sept. 16, says that in a general order issued by Gen. Kuropatkin yesterday the following message from Emperor Nicholas to the general was published:

"I see from your report that you were unable to hold the fortress of Liaoyang owing to the enemy threatening to cut off your communications. The retreat of the whole army in such difficult circumstances and over such terrible roads was an operation excellently carried out in the face of grave difficulties. I thank you and your splendid troops for their heroic work and continued self-sacrifice. God guard you.

(Signed) "Nicholas."

Commenting on His Majesty's message, Gen. Kuropatkin says it contains a further expression of lofty benevolence on the part of the Emperor and adds:

"I am quite sure that in the work that lies before the Manchurian army every soldier will put forth his best efforts to achieve victory over the enemy and become worthy of the confidence of the Emperor."

Kuropatkin ordered the Emperor's message to be read to all the troops with solemn ceremony.

C. N. SMITH UNSEATED

Judgment Given Against Him on Five Charges.

The Names of 300 Persons and 221 Charges Involved in the Trials—Chancellor Boyd and Justice Teetzel Render Decision—Corruption and Personation Proven—Liberal Majority of One in the House.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 17.—The end of the election trial occurred last night, resulting in this district being without a member in the Ontario Legislature.

The seat has been declared vacant by Chancellor Boyd and Justice Teetzel, who presided at the trial of the petition against the election of Charles N. Smith. The end came shortly after the court resumed its session, following the adjournment for supper last evening. In the petition there were 221 charges, involving the names of 300 persons. Sixteen of the charges were brought under the consideration of the court, the general Minnie M. charges being considered as one. In five of them illegal acts were proven. They were the Minnie M. charges, the payment by N. Audette to John Bonathas of five dollars to make an uncertain vote certain, the Grant charges of payments to voters coming from Port Arthur and the payments to voters coming from North Bay and Copper Cliff. All the other charges taken up failed or were abandoned.

Most Serious Corruption.

Chancellor Boyd said corrupt practices had been proven. The Minnie M. affair was enough to void the election. There was corruption and personation of the most serious kind, and that not in isolated cases—the extent indeed being such that it could hardly be more serious than the personation that had been proven. The chief agent and instrument in all these acts was George Sutherland. The position taken by Mr. Smith as set forth by Mr. Watson was the position of an honest man and his was the proper course. The Chancellor also felt that the election law needed amendments so that the purity of the poll might be preserved. A voter should not have to be coaxed, or bribed or look upon his vote as being on the market.

Voter Should Be Juryman.

There should be no outside interference, and a law against canvassing. A voter should be in the position of a juryman who would not take money to influence a verdict. "Let the voters rise to the position of the juryman. Let them cherish the franchise as one of their highest rights, and Canada will be a country worth living in and worth dying for."

The court room was filled at the end and when the Chancellor had concluded those present broke into rounds of applause. Justice Teetzel agreed in every way with what Chancellor Boyd had said.

Mr. Watson for the respondent then announced that as Mr. Miscampbell had abandoned his claim to the seat, the cross petition would not be urged. Mr. DuVernet had agreed that it should be dismissed without costs.

The personal charges against Charles Napier Smith, now ex-M. P. P., were abandoned by the Conservatives. The cross-petition instituted by Andrew Miscampbell, ex-M.P.P., will not be urged as he has agreed to abandon his claim to the seat, which he contested with C. N. Smith.

This brings the majority of the Ross Government down to one, with North Grey still in doubt.

NORTH GREY ELECTION TRIAL.

Cannot Be Concluded at Present Session of Court.

Owen Sound, Sept. 17.—The election trial was continued all day yesterday and was to be resumed today. Rebuttal evidence was in the nature of a straight denial of the story of Nelson and his co-workers. Mr. Blackstock, for the Conservatives, declared that he could not possibly conclude to-day and it is probable the trial will be postponed for some weeks to suit the convenience of the judge.

Next Election Trials.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—Chief Justice Moss and Justice Street will hear the Centre Bruce case at Walkerton on Sept. 20, and the North Renfrew protest and cross-petition on Sept. 27.

Chancellor Boyd and Justice Teetzel will hear the North York petition at Newmarket on Sept. 20, and the North Norfolk protest and cross-petition at Simcoe on Sept. 27.

Harmsworth Expedition Lost.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 17.—Experienced Arctic navigators here doubt if the Canadian expeditionary steamer Arctic will be able to reach her winter quarters before the inlets freeze over and navigation closes. Last fall the steamer Neptune, having on board Canada's first expedition, which is now in Hudson Bay, was frozen fast in Fullerton Harbor winter quarters on Oct. 7.

Irish Leader Will Be Here.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—John Redmond, M.P., leader of the Irish Nationalist party in the British House of Commons, will be in the city on the 23rd inst. and arrangements were made at a meeting of the United Irish League last night to tender him a reception. He will speak in Association Hall in the evening.

Independence Assured

A strong argument for life insurance is found in the scanty record of those who have been able to save out of their earnings enough to make provision for their bereaved families. There are multitudes of men to whom this is impossible, as their income is all required for the decent maintenance of their household, or, the margin for saving is too narrow to allow of a fund being accumulated out of it. Then, there are all manner of misfortunes to which men are liable, which drain away any savings which have been laid aside. Yet the great bulk of such persons could pay the premium on a life policy by exercising special economies. In relation to this, the "Insurance Monitor" narrates that: "A gentleman who was lately visiting a statistician employed in the Census Bureau at Washington, was complaining that he had little or nothing to show for the money he had earned during the course of a lifetime. Through mismanagement of his affairs and unfortunate investments it had nearly all been lost.

"Do you know," said the statistician," how many of the men in this country succeed in saving any large part of the money that they have earned. In the EASTERN MIDDLE STATES ONLY ABOUT 2 p. c. in NEW ENGLAND 3 p. c. and in THE WEST ABOUT 4 p. c." Such is the slender record of ultimate business success in this country. MORE THAN 96 PER CENT. of those whose earning powers or money-making abilities promise to place their families above want, die poor in this land of exceptional opportunities.

"Could there be a stronger argument for the need of life insurance? It is almost the only investment which is not subject to the mistakes of the investor."

The Sun Life of Canada is a household word in this country. Its marvellous increase in business is Proof of Public Confidence in its plans of Life Insurance. Profit by the experience of the men who know how to invest wisely by insuring in the

SATURDAY, SEPT. 17, 1904.

OUR BOARD OF EDUCATION

The request made by the Board of Education to the Town Council to defer action till next year in regard to the proposed change in the formation of the Board seems to be justified by the circumstances. We are convinced that the change will be beneficial, diminishing as it does the number of trustees and providing for their election by the ratepayers at large as in the case of our mayor and aldermen, but there are special reasons why the adoption of the new system may be deferred with advantage. The building of the new Collegiate Institute will have to be undertaken next year, and as the present trustees have made themselves fully acquainted with the subject, it would be injudicious to run the risk of taking the matter out of their hands to confide it to new men, who would have this knowledge to acquire.

Another recent change which still requires the supervision of its introducers is that of the Board supplying and owning the school books. The monthly payments, ranging from five to twenty cents, according to the class, are an economy to the parents, besides making the payments easier. Even more important is the training for the children, who, being responsible for their books being kept in good condition, will learn at an impressible age how one should care for books.

The delay of a year would also give an opportunity for any amendment in the legislation which may be deemed advisable. Legislation is rarely so perfect in enacting a new measure making an important change as not to leave room for improvement. Experience of the working of the new method in other localities may be of value to us. One amendment certainly seems to be advisable. Under the present system the trustees are elected for two years, one half the number retiring yearly. The new system is to have the same provision thus securing experience tempered with an infusion of new blood. This is especially desirable when the change is being made, but it is not provided for, and it is possible that the trustees elected to the first board under the new system might all be new men. There can be no insuperable difficulty in devising some plan by which a certain proportion of the trustees should remain in office and enacting an amendment accordingly.

The barnacles seem to have been on board the Minnie M., not on its bottom.

Provincial officials, Dominion officials and Soult Company officials all seem to have been working together for the success of the adventurous cruise of the Minnie M.

Mr. Ross allows Ontario electors to have only one vote, but by his Attorney-General he allows Yankee pluggers to have two votes. This preferential tariff seems hardly fair.

In the Gamey-Scranton case Mr. Conmee admitted that he put up the money for the protest against the member for Manitoulin. In the Sault Ste Marie election trial it appears that Mr. Conmee was again to the front with funds for the campaign. No wonder Mr. Ross made arrangements to facilitate the payment of Mr. Conmee's rake-off on a railway contract, and favoured him with various grants of public property..

Mr. O'Beirne, of the Stratford Beacon is very unlucky. One Nelson, of Buffalo, imported and employed by the Ross machine for electoral crimes, stated in his affidavit that those of the gang in North Perth were to report to Mr. O'Beirne. No paper would put the charge in just such a shape as would suit him for bringing a libel suit. His chance would probably have come in the North Perth election trial, but his political allies threw up the sponge to prevent further exposure of their corruption so again he lost an opportunity of proving his purity. Now in the North Grey case the old affidavit and its charges are again revised. It is hard on Mr. O'Beirne.

Of Use Every Day

Once you become acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the scores of ways in which it is useful in every home, you would not think of being without it. Eczema, salt rheum, scald head, tetter, chaffing, chilblains, burns, scalds and every form of skin irritation and eruption soon yield to its extraordinary soothing, healing influence.

THE MINNIE M.

The Eventful Voyage of the Bold Buccaneers a Poets Theme.

Famous in history, song and fiction are the voyages and cruises of the Challenger, the Beagle, the Sunbeam, the Nancy Bell and the wood-scow Julie Plante. And now the cruise of the Minnie M. must be added to the list of famous nautical enterprises. It deserves to be. It should live in Canadian political history, and doubtless will. Generations yet to be will read of the doings of the bold buccaneers who sailed away on the little vessel charged with the task of stealing a whole constituency. In the last session of the legislature Mr. Ross had something to say about "political pirates." As applied to the cruisers on the Minnie M. the expression is a happy one. Cap. Sullivan, himself, that bold political mariner, might be proud to have planned and prouder still to have executed the Minnie M. enterprise.—Hamilton Herald, Indep.

They Know It.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—ointments, suppositories and appliances—will not cure.

The best of them only bring passing relief.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00. At any drug store, or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. 5

FARMING BY ELECTRICITY

In Ten Years it may do all of the Agricultural Work in Ontario.

Electricity has commenced to do the farming and ranching in California and it is predicted that in ten years, it will do it all. Electric power wires are being strung broadcast and the California farmer is looking forward to the time when he will be able to rest most of the year, while his farming will be done on a vast scale by the silent agent. Electricity has commenced to plough his lands, irrigate them, plant and harvest his crops and even milk his cows. On the Sierra Nevada Mountains California has storage for the melting waters of the perpetual snows and falling rains. The impounded water is let down through flumes as needed, to power houses, which convert it into electric energy, which is stored at convenient stations all over the State and served up in voltage at very remote distances from the point of production. No greater revolution in any industry of every conceivable description has ever been seen, not even at Buffalo, and along the Niagara River. While it is true that the Mississippi Valley and plateau States are not conveniently situated for electric farming on a vast scale, it would seem that a larger adaption of steam power might take place, and perhaps will. Mecing in was the first state to inaugurate farmers' trolley railways, which transport garden truck and crops to the nearest markets and bring back supplies.

Kept Poor by Doctor's Bills.

Many a family is kept poor by doctors' bills when just as good and oftentimes better results could be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which sell at 25 cents a box of twenty-five doses. As one pill a day is the most frequent dose under any circumstances there is no treatment obtainable which costs so little, and at the same time none which brings about such excellent results in derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

ONE OF THE ISSUES

What the Liberals Substitute for Oratory — Representative Government Made a Farce.

Mr. Alexander Smith complained the other day that the Liberal party, of which he is an ex-organizer, has not kept enought debaters in commission. The answer is plain enough. The New Liberals do not depend upon debate to carry elections. The briber, the personator, the ballot box burglar, the conscienceless "machinist" is the man who now produces electoral majorities.

If there were no other issue save that of pure elections before the people it would be enough to secure the condemnation of the party which has produced the long list of shameful election crimes from one end of the country to the other. It has become a question whether the people of Canada can elect the Government of its choice. They may find their names taken from the voters' lists, as in Nova Scotia; they may find their votes cast for them before they get to the polls, as in a score of constituencies; they may find their neighbors bribed to cast corrupt ballots and so beyond the reach of argument; they may have their ballots "switched" by a criminal deputy returning officer, and so never get into the ballot box at all, as in Ontario; they may have their ballots deliberately taken out of the ballot box and other ballots inserted, after the polls have closed, as in West Elgin. The stealing of elections is now a fine art. The defeat of the public will by ballot manipulation, is practically a profession. Nothing short of a great popular upheaval is certain at this time to have its way at the polls.

To talk of there being no "issues" in the face of conditions like these is stupid hypocrisy. Every intelligent man in this country knows that representative government is to-day an issue. Can the people get their way in the face of the opposition of the "machine" only ceases to be a question when the people realize the importance of the matter with sufficient keenness to overwhelm the "machine." "Clean elections" is a cause for which thousands of ballots will be cast at the coming contest. —Montreal Star.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE

What the Canadian Manufacturers Desire— Beneficial to All.

Under our present system we buy what we don't produce in Canada chiefly from foreign countries, and the United States is getting a larger share of our trade every year without giving us a fair return. Under the system proposed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association what we cannot produce in Canada will be imported chiefly from countries of the Empire. Suppose Canada's tariff at present averaged as high as the United States tariff with no preference in favor of British goods, would not British manufacturers be glad to get a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent? If the United States Congress would give British manufacturers a preference of 33 1-3 per cent., lowering their tariff against British goods to that extent while maintaining it against other countries, would not the British people be pleased? Undoubtedly they would. Then such a preference as the Canadian manufacturers are willing to concede is better than no preference at all, taking for granted the fact that a general increase in the Canadian tariff is inevitable, as it is demanded by the great majority of the Canadian people.

It may be said that while such a preference as our manufacturers are willing to concede is better than no preference at all, it is not sufficient to justify any sacrifice on the part of British consumers for the purpose of reciprocating. But it should be distinctly understood that we do not wish the British people to make any sacrifice for the sake of Canada. We simply ask that the duties now imposed on tea, coffee, chicory, cocoa and chocolate produced within the Empire be removed, and that the revenue now obtained from the taxes on these articles which are used by every British family, be raised by imposing small duties upon food-stuffs imported from foreign countries. It has been shown that the revenue derived from the taxes on tea, coffee, chocolate, chicory and cocoa produced within the Empire amounted to $26,000,000 annually even before the recent increase in the tea duty, and if these taxes were transferred to foreign food products the colonies would receive a very substantial preference.

All that is asked for is a readjustment of taxation which would not in any way increase the cost of living to British consumers. If the British people cannot see that such a readjustment would cost them nothing we don't wish them to make it for the sake of Canada, but if we can persuade them that they can help the colonies in this way without hurting themselves the Empire will be greatly strengthened by such a reciprocal arrangement.

Mr. Chamberlain is well acquainted with the views of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in this regard, and he told President George E. Drummond that he did not wish Canadian manufacturers to make any sacrifice.—Industrial Canada.

THANKSGIVING DAY

The Motive of the Government in Fixing it at November 17th.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 16. — An attempt to ascertain the motive of the Government in fixing Thanksgiving Day for November 17 results in the revelation that the Government chose what seemed to it the best of several conflicting dates. The Ministry has been importuned from all quarters in the Dominion. One big business house in the Province of Quebec asked that November 1st be chosen, because it is a religious holiday in that province and on that choice two birds might be killed with one stone. Bankers' clerks are said to have clamored for a Monday holiday holiday, allowing them a practical three days' rest. The Government seems to be of the impression that the grounds for Thanksgiving will have been more clearly developed by the middle of November. By that time, perhaps, the political fortunes of the two parties probably shall have been settled. Though the date is fixed too late for any assurance as to good weather for amusement in the open air, the Government expects that for that reason the devotional function of the day will be the more faithfully observed. A further reason for the postponement from an October date is that Lord Minto is expected to depart some time in the third week of that month. His Excellency will be the recipient of farewell addresses in several parts of the country, and the Government is desirous of allowing nothing to impair the tone of his farewell appearances. The Premier when questioned as to the date said that there was no reason either for or against.

HE FEELS AS YOUNG AS EVER

Mr Chester Loomis Took Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And from a Used up Man Became as Smart as a Boy.

Orland, Ont., Sept. 16.—(Special)—Mr. Chester Loomis, an old and respected farmer living in this section, is spreading broadcast the good news that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for the Lame Back and Kidney Disease so common among old people. Mr. Loomis says:

"I am 76 years of age and smart and active as a boy and I give Dodd's Kidney Pills all the credit for it.

"Before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was so used up I could hardly ride in a buggy and I could not do any work of any kind. Everybody thought I would not live long. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy."

The Kidneys of the young may be wrong, but the Kidneys of the old must be wrong. Dodd's Kidney Pills make all wrong Kidneys right. That is why they are the old folks' greatest friend.

500 CANAL TRAFFIC

The Amount of Business that was Done During August.

Traffic on the two Soo canals in August, 1904, was carried on in 2,674 vessels with a registered tonnage of 4,191,836 tons. The total freight carried in the month was 5,644,772 tons of which eastbound was 4,220,040 tons and westbound 1,424,732. Compared with the previous month the freight carried last August was 35,693 tons more. The changes are (1) that the eastbound freight was 133,218 tons more and the westbound 97,525 tons less than in the previous month of July. Compared with August, 1903, the figures of August, 1904, show a decrease in vessels using the canals of 245 and of tonnage of 152,971. There is an increase of freight amounting to 2 0.0%. That increase is made up altogether of westbound freight, the eastbound showing a decrease of 21,643 tons. The Canadian Soo was used in August, 1904, by 638 vessels, the registered tonnage of which was 588,867 tons. Compared with August, 1903, there were 126 fewer vessels and 152,971 smaller registered tonnage passing through the Canadian Soo. The number of vessels using the Canadian Soo in August was 19.44 of the total number using both canals. In August, 1903, it was 22.14 per cent. The registered tonnage in Canadian canal was 14.04 per cent of the whole. In August, 1903, it was 16.62 per cent. The freight carried by the Canadian canal in August, 1904, was 690,713 tons, which is less than for August, 1903, by 188,707 tons. The proportion of freight carried by the Canadian canal as compared with the United States canal was 12.24 per cent. From the opening of navigation to August 31st 14,842,975 tons of freight passed through the two canals, of which 2,123,488 tons passed through the Canadian canal. Compared with the corresponding period of last year this is a total decrease of 7,785,175, and a decrease of 1,358,323 in the Canadian Soo. Up to the end of August 18,617,777 bushels of wheat passed through the two canals, as against 27,248,302 up to the end of August, 1903.—Canadian Trade Review.

—On Tuesday last Mr. Chas. Block, of Charlotte, N.Y., who has been stopping at the Lakeview House Young's Point, caught a lunge which weighed 20 lbs. This is the largest lunge that has been caught at the Point this season, and naturally Mr. Block feels greatly elated over his catch.

IMPROVEMENTS IN KEENE

New Pavements are Being Laid — Out of Town News from Otonabee's Cap-

Dr. Fairbanks, of Cobourg, and party, left Lower Foley Island, where they have been camping a couple of weeks, on Friday.

Mr. William Campbell, jr., who has been on the Grand Trunk Pacific survey in Northern Manitoba all summer, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Keene with his parents.

The foundations for the pavement on the north street are being laid, and the cement work will be started immediately.

The Improvement Society's entertainment on Tuesday, Sept. 20th promises to be a great success. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold so that there will be no danger of overcrowding. Mr. Carnegie, who is to give the entertainment, comes well recommended. He has given three such entertainments in Peterborough during the summer, and every time to crowded houses. Admission, adults 25 cents, children 10 cents.

Rev. Mr. Hunter, of Cold-springs, preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday.

Miss E. Mitchell, of Boston, and Mrs. Young, of Selkirk, Manitoba, are visiting their mother, Mrs. G. Donaldo.

(We are pleased to hear that Miss Annie McIntyre, who has been suffering from appendicitis, is improving.

Miss Maud Campbell, who has been visiting in Edmonton, Alta., returned home last Thursday.

Miss Londreville, of Toronto, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

The Indian rice harvesters' camp at Sugar Island is larger this year than ever before, on account of the good crop and high price of rice.

Mrs. John Bennett is sick with pneumonia.

Keene Fair will be held on Oct. 4th and 5th. As usual, the steamer North Star will run an excursion to Keene on fair day, from all points on the lake.

Rev. D. D. McDonald is spending his holidays in Glengarry county.

Mr. Geo. Gall is in Toronto, attending a Y.M.C.A. convention.

Mr. Arthur Shaw is visiting his uncle, Mr. R. Shaw, in New York.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, intend holding a thankoffering meeting, Sept. 29th. There will be both an afternoon and evening service. Miss McDonald, of Toronto, and Rev. Mr. Wilson, of St. Paul's church, Peterborough, are among the speakers.

Biliousness

Fruit-a-tives

or Fruit Liver Tablets

are fruit juices in tablet form. The corrective and curative effects are, however, increased many times by the secret method of making them. They tone up the liver—enable it to give out more bile—and help it to get strong and well. While "Fruit-a-tives" are curing the Biliousness, they set the stomach to rights, prevent Constipation and relieve all Kidney Diseases.

A Moire and Taffeta Directoire Gown—Attractive Light Wraps.

Pearl gray moire, with steel gray taffeta glace and Irish crochet lace, furnishes the material for the very chic gown shown in the cut. The skirt is circular, greatly flared below the hips. The directoire coat has a fitted back and shows a lace vest that falls loose over the girdle. The mousquetaire undersleeves are of lace over chiffon, with deep wrist ruffles. Pale blue taffeta lines the vestee, and cut steel buttons add their distinctive touch. The pic-

The second figure shows a carriage coat of silver gray shantung pongee and tinted gray escurial lace. The back and front are shirred for six inches below a shallow yoke and seamed under arm and at the back. Shirred liberty satin ribbon in self tone trims the coat. The pearl gray chip hat is trimmed with American Beauty roses and velvet ribbon.

Some slender, pretty women are wearing to great advantage shoulder capes drawn across their shoulders rather than fitting over them, and often are they most becoming when trimmed with several cross rows of ruchings, three or four usually. Lace, ribbon, pinked out soft silks or mousselines are used in these ruchings, sometimes matching the capes, sometimes in contrast with all white capes. They have a pretty Romney effect with bunched up ends over the bust or else permitting the ends to hang in a long stole effect.—Vogue.

How to Boil Rice.

When you boil rice, always add to it from three to three and a half times its measurement in water. The amount depends on the age of the rice. Old rice requires more water than new. The best plan is to buy five pounds of rice at once, try a cupful and note how much water it needs to steam it, making each grain soft and separate. Cook the remainder after the same rule.

LIGHT WANTED.

Transformations It May Help to Make In the Kitchen.

Mine is the old plea for a well lighted kitchen, and I wish to emphasize its utility. Allow me an illustration from life, says a writer in the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Jennie was thoroughly incompetent. Mrs. Smith discharged her and did her own housework. She first cleaned the kitchen. The cupboard under the sink looked better and smelled sweeter—for a time. But why have a dark cupboard under the sink to invite dirt and disease?

How greasy Jennie left the cooking vessels! How disheartening, standing in that dark corner washing them! Possibly a flood of sunlight right there would have shown Jennie the dirt and given her courage to wash it away. Might it not have warmed her heart, too, moving her to handle the china more gently?

The range was so placed that the light shone, not into the oven, but into the eyes, defeating the purpose it should have accomplished. Mrs. Smith almost burned the bread herself.

At night she reflected that the quality of beef, mutton or fowl, always the best, did not enable one to see through one's shadow while roasting or broiling by the light of a small electric bulb in the center of the room. That same shadow followed her about, persistently getting right where light was most needed.

It may be possible to keep a dark and gloomy kitchen clean and to prepare a wholesome, appetizing meal in such a kitchen, but at what a cost! Is it not safe to say that Jennie will give better service if she have plenty of light in the right places?

I speak advisedly when I say the easier and pleasanter your servant's task the better it will be performed.

If you could but view the situation from the inside, I feel you would agree with me and contrive to have ample light in the kitchen and give some intelligent thought to the placing of windows and artificial lights in this important room.

A USEFUL HAT.

BEAUTY DON'TS.

Don't walk five miles one day and stay at home all the next.

Don't shut your bedroom window. Fresh air is necessary for health.

Don't read till midnight. One hour's sleep before 12 is worth five afterward.

Don't get in the habit of always smiling. It brings wrinkles round the mouth and eyes.

Don't expect physic and tonics to keep you well if you neglect the laws of health and hygiene.

Don't dry your face in a hurry. A quick, anyhow rub coarsens the skin and injures its beauty.

Don't experiment on your skin with different creams and powders. Find good ones and stick to them.

Fashions in Jewels.

The top of a taking hatpin is formed of a gold or silver coaching horn.

Jeweled fans take on some rather quaint forms, and the small ones still find favor.

Dainty bracelets are worked out in double strings of very small turquoises and diamonds in platinum settings.

A pleasing trifle of the season appears in a perfectly plain silver knife, fork and spoon in a little flat folding leather case.

For a very fine pearl in a ring a peg mounting, which displays the gem almost in its entirety, is often preferred to the usual claw mounting.

Buckles for the soft crush leather belts now in vogue are of the harness order, but in very graceful outlines, and some are studded with diamonds or traced with a row of pearls.

Among emblems of the out of door life and the sports now so popular the horse furnishes the motif for handsome scarfpins, fobs and charms as well as brooches in diamonds, pearls and silvines.—Elsie Bee in Jewelers' Circular.

MRS. FRONA EUNICE WAIT.

A Temperance Woman Who Is a Famous Wine Tester.

To be a professional wine taster and yet a strong advocate and follower of the strictest temperance principles, to take wine into the mouth all day long and day after day and yet rarely swallow it, this is the paradox which Mrs. Frona Eunice Wait of California has presented steadily for a period of ten years.

Mrs. Wait, who is one of four famous professional wine tasters in the world, was originally a newspaper woman and slipped into the work of critically tasting the wine which she had always before held in abhorrence, if not contempt, quite by accident. Visiting near some vineyards, she was asked to write a book about wines and wine making. Pleading her entire ignorance of the subject as a reason for the refusal which she did not wish to seem ungracious, she was surprised by an opportunity to spend six months in the vineyards studying the matter and at terms so advantageous that she hesitated to persist in her refusal. By the time the period of study had expired and the book had been written she was a recognised authority upon wines and wine flavors. The work of professional wine tasting came gradually to her after that.

As to the effect the persistent and long continued wine tasting has upon her health, she declares that it has none, for the simple reason that she hardly ever swallows the wine.

"How does this peculiar business of mine affect my temperance principles?" she repeated when this question was propounded to her. "Why, not at all. I seldom swallow the wine, as I have said. I am so strict a believer in the temperance principles that I never take even tea or coffee, and in the rare cases in which I feel in duty bound to allow a little wine to slip down my throat it is just as a doctor might sample a drug merely in order to be able to make an intelligent judgment concerning it."—Boston Globe.

Gather Force.

If you are misunderstood look within yourself and ascertain whether your outward appearance and expression are true to your inner self or desire. It may be your own fault that your manner and expression misrepresent your purpose. If you cannot dress as well as the company you are in, do not allow your clothes to suppress your inner pride and dignity. It is then when it is most natural to feel the stings of sensitiveness and embarrassment, especially when your soul feels and knows you would have it otherwise. Financial circumstances have a powerful effect upon the proud and sensitive soul and body that would have only the perfect and beautiful if it could. Let me urge you at such times to charge your mind to introspection and to gather all the moral force within yourself, as if to fill your whole body with a divine dignity, which you possess if you will but use it. Do this with a determination that you can and must be recognized, even though outward appearances are against you and misrepresent your worthy desires. Force your individuality through the body as if you were filling a bag full to the brim, and you will at that instant feel a power take possession of you and a courage that immediately illuminates itself to all in your presence.

You will feel yourself standing more erect, more firm, and your real self and purpose will emanate from you just as the light shines through the globe of a lamp. You can light your life fluids and turn them on or off, just as you can the light of the lamp.—Household.

WHAT IS ANTI-PILL?

A Somewhat Peculiar Name Explained—How Dr. Leonhardt Came to Call his Famous Prescription 'Anti-Pill'.

Dr. Leonhardt found in his practice that chronic constipation and its kindred complaints were the result of a dried-up condition of the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels. He investigated further and found that this condition was invariably brought about by the use of cathartics, which all contain a certain amount of resinous matter.

After the first action of such medicines a resinous residue remains behind and this has a drying effect on the lining of the stomach and bowels.

He made up his mind to produce a medicine for all stomach and bowel derangements which would be entirely free from all resinous matter.

After much experiment he succeeded, and to emphasize the difference between his treatment and the old-fashioned treatments, he gave it the name "Anti-Pill."

Anti-Pill will cure dyspepsia, biliousness or constipation perfectly and for ever—cure to stay cured—with no pill habit left to be overcome later.

Saving Steps.

"Jennie, I wish you would sew a button on my vest, please, and there is a rip in my coat sleeve, too, that needs mending," said John West as he laid the garments in question over a chair preparatory for retiring for the night.

"Very well," answered Mrs. West in a tired voice. "I will have to go downstairs after needle and thread."

"I am sorry to trouble you so; but, my dear, I should think you would keep such things up here, when you know how often they are needed," said Mr. West, which was indeed a very wise remark.

Just try, tired mothers, the plan of keeping a few needles and a spool each of black and white thread in each room, and then teach your boys as well as girls to sew on loose or missing buttons and sew up small rents in their clothes, instead of running to tired mother every time.

Of course the weekly mending will still fall to "mother," but if this plan is tried it will save many steps and much valuable time for the busy housewife, besides teaching the children to be neat and tidy, a habit which, if learned while young, will be of great benefit to them when they grow up and perhaps have homes and children of their own.—Housekeeper.

Improving the Foot.

If one has long, flat feet, a good way to disguise the defect is to place a bow on the instep of slippers and ties. In the case of ties it is very hard to keep the bow in place, and, besides, untying it every time the shoe is removed rumples the ribbons. This difficulty may be overcome by making two parallel slits about half an inch long, a quarter of an inch apart, in the center of the tongue of each tie. Insert a ribbon and make a bow, tacking it on the underside. The tie may then be laced or unlaced without disturbing the bow. Be careful not to have the bow too large, as that fault would only offset the object of hiding a physical defect by calling attention to the wearer's lack of good taste in affecting an exaggeration of style.

It is a fortunate thing that the best remedies are the simplest, though women are more likely to refuse these and try those no better and harder to prepare. If one's body is flabby it may be made firm by slapping with a folded towel dipped in cold water.

If you break the gall bag in drawing poultry soak the bird half an hour in cold water in which a little soda has been dissolved, and the bitter taste will disappear.

Two umbrella ribs tied at one end, the other ends run through a cork to form a fork, make a fine long fork to toast bread on.

The knife should be held perpendicularly when cutting warm cake or corn bread.

Rub a greasy sink with kerosene, then wash with hot suds.

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH RICH

Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—A Good Stomach is the Foundation of all Happiness.

Millionaires have been known to offer fortunes to any physician who would cure their Dyspepsia. With untold wealth and bad stomachs they could not compare in happiness with a six dollar a week man with a good stomach.

But because you have a balance with the bankers that is no reason you should have a bad stomach. Listen to the experience of others and use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They cure rich and poor alike. Take the experience of Mr. Joseph Leake, of 194 McCaul St., Toronto. He says:—"I was troubled for three years with Dyspepsia and Biliousness. I tried several medicines, but none would cure me. I used one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and now I am cured. My daughter also who was troubled with Headaches and Dyspepsia has been cured by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

AUTUMN FASHIONS.

INTIMATIONS OF BITS OF SMARTNESS LIKELY TO BE POPULAR.

Shortening the Shoulder Seam—A Higher Shoulder and Bust Line. Practical Model For a Morning Blouse—Chic Autumn Costumes.

A halt seems to be called upon the immoderately long shoulder seam. A better balance in the blouse and moderation of the various features are foretold, though not much change is yet visible. The model shown will serve for a morning blouse in any suitable fabric, the present design being of white linen trimmed with broad hems of white and red spotted washing silk set on with lingerie beading, a soft red silk cravat bearing white silk hems, the ends pulled through a mittered tab in front, imparting a finishing touch quite irresistibly attractive.

For the autumn serges are always a popular fabric. Taking everything into consideration, it is a very fascinating little frock that appears at the right of the second cut. A delicate pastel shade of blue it is, with both skirt and coatee ornamented with blue silk cord and tiny unburnished gilt buttons, the coatee further enhanced by narrow vest folds of white crash linen and stole collar of black taffeta, the cuffs en suite.

An equally charming confection of white cloth fashions the companion model, the jupe deftly tucked to simulate undulations or vandykes, each point punctuated by a white silk crochet button, while the easily fitted basqued coat is arranged with short shaped fronts that are cut away to reveal narrow vest fronts. The lower half of these is of white corded silk, closing with dark blue and gold silk buttons, while the upper, of dark blue silk, is embroidered in gold. An outspreading dark blue silk bow uplifts at the back a chic chapeau of white double crin, the crown of which carries merely a broad gold galloon band tied in a natural bow straight across the front.

It is expected that high crowned hats and upstanding plumes will supersede the long favored low, flat shape with trailing plumes.

The high shoulder and high bust promise to be in favor.

The idea of contrast rather than harmony shows strongly in fashions. Wool and silk trimmings are used on cotton gowns, and vice versa.

The bolero still predominates in the three piece costumes, though there are, of course, jackets, short fitted coats and those of three-quarter length.

The waistcoat of contrasting colors and materials has been a great favorite with Paris tailors this summer and may be expected to figure in the smartest new autumn tailored gowns. Mustard color and a sort of mauve pink are used in waistcoats, either real or simulated, that tone up the sombreness of the plain tailor gown in very effective and catchy fashion.

Gentlemen,

We have pleasure in announcing the complete opening of our New Stock of Imported and Domestic Cloths, Ready-to-Wear Clothing, Hats and Furnishings for the Autumn Season.

In the Ready-to-Wear Department we pride ourselves on the popular and desirable styles shown, and the advantages shown, and the advantages in price-lowness conceded to us by the manufacturers.

No store can boast of newer styles or better values. Our New Fall Suits and Top Coats for young men are the nattiest out.

Our Furnishings, Underwear, Hats and Caps, embrace every need of well dressed men. Medium weight Underwear in special lines of Scotch Wool, Fleece-lined, Wool Fleece, etc., in varied prices. Newest shades and shapes in Neckwear, Shirts, Collars, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, etc.

In our Tailoring Department our stock of beautiful Suitings and Overcoatings is the largest in town. The very latest for Fall is here, and we give you splendid choice of many Scotch, English, American and Canadian patterns. Our cutter, Mr Jos. Thompson, is well qualified as a skilful garment maker, and allows nothing to leave his hands without being correctly modelled to your figure.

Your earliest inspection is most respectfully invited,

READY-TO-PUT-ON

Dresses

In this department of the LADIES' NEW STORE, we are showing some very smart dressy dresses for girls from three to fourteen years of age. Every mother knows what it is to worry about the girls' dresses. We are here to save you this unnecessary worry and WE WANT YOU TO USE US.

A look through our large and well assorted stock of stylish ready-to-put-on Children's Dresses will convince you that it is much less expensive to cloth the girls with one of these garments than it is to worry over the cost of making them. Our prices run from $1.25 to $4.50.

We have the only Hose Supporter that won't tear the stockings. Prices the same as the kind that do tear them. The C.M.C.

We hope that many of our readers will avail themselves of this opportuniuty of hearing a most interesting and instructive lecture on physical culture and hygience. The Viavi Co. extends a most cordial invitation to all. 3d

Go to the World's Fair.

Via Grand Trunk, as the trip enroute on the through trains will add to the enjoyment of your visit. The weather at St. Louis is delightful at this time of year, and you should make your trip now. Reduced rates in effect allow stop overs at Chicago, Detroit, and intermediate Canadian Stations. For tickets and full information call on Grand Trunk Agents. Write to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, enclosing four cents in stamps for handsome booklet containing 48 pages of illustrated and descriptive literature regarding the Fair. 6d

—On Tuesday last Mr. Chas. Block, of Charlotte, N.Y., who has been stopping at the Lakeview House Young's Point, caught a lunge which weighed 20 lbs. This is the largest lunge that has been caught at the Point this season, and naturally Mr. Block feels greatly elated over his catch.

VOTE ON TWO BYLAWS

MAYOR WRITES INFORMING THE PEOPLE.

Towns Great Need With Regard to Fire Protection — The Extension of George Street — Town Making Rapid Progress.

His Worship Mayor Roger has written the following letter relative to the by-laws to be submitted to the people on the 20th inst:—

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Two money by-laws are being submitted to the vote of the qualified ratepayers of the town on Tuesday next, the 20th inst., as to which the Council are desirous that the people should be fully informed and should fully express themselves. One by-law provides for the borrowing of $25,000 for the purchase of a site and for the erection and equipment of a fire hall suitable for the present needs of the town; the other provides for the borrowing of $12,000 for iron bridge construction and for street extension purposes, approximately $5,000 to $6,000 being required for the former, and the balance for the latter purpose.

As to fire protection, it will be readily understood that the provisions which were deemed sufficient when the population of the town was only 7,000 to 8,000, are wholly inadequate for a population of about 14,000. A modern fire alarm telegraph system as demanded by the Underwriters' Association, is an urgent necessity. It would be useless to establish one in our present fire hall (which is too small to accommodate any additional fire appliances) only to tear the same out again in the course of a year or two for removal to a more suitable place and structure. Longer and lighter ladders and chemical engine protection is also demanded and needed.

The Council are unanimously of the opinion that it would be more economical to at once make provision for a fire hall large enough to meet present requirements and to provide for reasonable expansion, and to equip it with the most up-to-date alarm system, and a new combined chemical engine and ladder truck, in addiion to the existing apparatus, and to use the present hall for town offices, instead of those for which the town is now paying rent in the market block on George-st. The corner of Hunter and Aylmer-sts., or in that neighborhood is the site contemplated if negotiations, which have been for some time in progress, can be successfully concluded.

As to bridges, the Charlotte-st. bridge has been condemned and temporarily repaired by placing thereunder bents, which, while sufficient for the present, would not withstand the spring freshet. The wooden decks on George-st., Simcoe-st., Hunter-st., and of the Ashburnham raceway bridges are also worn out and are more or less dangerous, and a constant source of expense for repairs. It is deemed that it would be economy to replace the wood with permanent iron and concrete, as has been successfully tried elsewhere.

The advantages to the town of opening certain additional streets before the requisite land is built upon has been frequently pressed upon and is well recognized by the Council. Several property holders owning large blocks of land between the south end of George-st. and the southern boundary of the town have offered a free right of way for the extension of George-st. southerly to the south boundary of the town at the Exhibition grounds, but others who own smaller lots would have to be compensated for so much of their land as may be required if such extension is made.

At the north end of George-st. the purchase of only a small block of land would permit of the opening of a needed outlet northwards to Victoria Avenue, and of its extension as much further northwards through the property purchased by the town from the Hilliard Estate as may be deemed desirable. An opportunity offering, the requisite land was also purchased which would permit of the opening of a narrow street across from George-st. to Water-st., opposite the end of Barnardo Avenue, for the purpose of dividing that inconveniently long block. At the west the long block between Park-st. and the Monaghan Road is found very inconvenient, and the Council has been petitioned to open a cross-st. from Elm-st. to Weller-st., practically in continuation of Walton and Cambridge-sts.

The continuation of Elizabeth-st. in Ashburnham over Armour's hill to the lift lock would be a great convenience and would abolish the toll now being exacted by the occupants for the use of this approach to that interesting structure.

Other street extensions will no doubt be pressed upon the Council's attention also so soon as they are in a position to consider them.

Such improvements as above are only obtainable in one or two ways, either by paying for them out of a single year's rate, which would add abnormally to the taxation of that year, or by distributing by debenture the payment period over a number of years, thus making the charge comparitively light on present ratepayers, and giving future ratepayers a chance to bear a reasonable portion of the cost.

The town is making such rapid progress that an unusually alert and far-sighted administration is required to keep pace with changing conditions, and the Council commend these by-laws to the careful consideration of the ratepayers as best calculated to meet some of the present most pressing requirements.

Yours truly,

G. M. ROGER.

SCOTCH SENTIMENT

A Charming Description of the Black Watch Effect — The Pipers of the Regiment.

The following little incident is described in the Toronto Globe:

"Ah, that's Scotch enough for you, mother," said an old man yesterday morning, as he fondly turned to his wife, when the Black Watch started to play "Scots Wha Hae." The only response was a smile, but the woman's eyes saw not the band. They were filled with a mist, and her mind was carried back to the heather-clad hills, where it dwelt, while she never spoke a word until the Reminiscences of Scotland had been concluded. On the railing nearby was another old man, sitting in wrapt silence, his eyes dim with the memories floating by, and one hand beating an unconscious accompaniment to the strokes of the drum. The fur-collared overcoat on a third bespoke the invalid, called may-hap from a bed of pain to hear the only true music from its real interpreters.

In the lull the six pipers paraded the lawn, and soon drew hundreds of spectators. Two elderly Scotsmen when the playing ceased, embraced one of the pipers, and, taking him to one side, demanded news of the old land. Later an old gentleman, with whiskers of populistic dimensions, came on the scene and was greatly moved by the air of the pipes. He danced upon the green sward in real Highland style, and clapped his hands at the most unconventional moments. To a neighbor he confided that the pipers were playing the very thing he had asked for, something composed within twenty miles of his birthplace in Invernesshire.

The Band will appear at Peterborough, Friday, Sept. 27th at the Hockey Rink.

CHARMING LAWN PARTY

Given by Mrs. J. R. Stratton—About 200 Ladies Present

A delightful lawn party was that held yesterday afternoon on the grounds of "Strathormond," the residence of Hon. J. R. Stratton. The hostess was Mrs. Stratton, who was assisted by Mrs. J. B. Ormond of Carberry, Manitoba, and Mrs. W. Claude Fox, of Toronto. The beautiful grounds were effectively decorated, the color design being one that tended to the creation of a charming scene, a profusion of flags and bunting having been used. Several costly appointed marquees for sitting out had been raised, while a large refreshment tent was in charge of a bevy of pretty young ladies. The band of the 57th Regiment occupied a balcony of the residence overlooking the grounds, and at this point there were also rich decorations of flags and bunting, while a large emblem floated from a mast.

Mrs. Stratton was richly gowned in cream silk voile, with Irish lace collar, and large white hat with plumes. She received her guests in a marquee at the entrance to the grounds, handsome Oriental rugs and cushions adding to the very pleasing appearance.

Mrs. Ormond's gown was of black voile, trimmed with sequin, and large white feather boa and white lace toque.

Mrs. Fox wore a gown of cream cloth with cream lace coat threaded with gold, a white chiffon ruff and black sequin toque.

Mrs. K. G. Leoh was in charge of the refreshment table and those who assisted her were Misses Dennie, Misses Rusch, Miss Sawyer, Miss Nan Hall, and Miss Helen Hay. There were about two hundred ladies present.

Gladioli were the predominating flowers in the pretty table decorations. The caterer was Mr. Harry Long.

AN ART EXHIBITION

To be Held Next Week in the Y. M C. A. Hall — Medallions by Miss K. E. Wallis.

Invitations are being issued for an exhibition of works of art, in a room of the Y.M.C.A. Building, kindly loaned for the occasion, on Sept. 21st to 24th, from 2 to 6 p.m. The exhibition will include:

1. Photos of Paintings in the Louvre, by excellent artists, and recommended by Carolus Duran, President of the Societe Nationale des Beaux-Arts, Paris; Lucien Simon, Secretaire of the Societe Nationale des Beaux-Arts, and Miss Elizabeth Nourse, Secretaire of the Societe Nationale des Beaux-Arts. Copies of these paintings may be obtained through Miss K. E. Wallis. Two specimens of these copies will be on view on the above dates.

2. A group in terra cotta (lion attacking wild boar), by the great animal sculptor, Monsieur Oscar Wildmann, of Paris.

3. "Miguonne." Marble bust of a child, by Miss K. E. Wallis; accepted and exhibited in the Royal Academy of London, 1903.

4. Replica cast of "Dachshund." Bronze statuette, by Miss K. E. Wallis, exhibited at the International Art Exhibition of Dresden, 1901, and bought by the Exhibition authorities.

5. "La Toilette." Bronze statuette, by Miss K. E. Wallis. Stone replica accepted and exhibited by the Royal Academy of London, 1904.

There will also be on exhibition, but not for sale, Medallions by Miss K. E. Wallis, exhibited in the Royal Academy, London, and the Exposition Universelle, of Paris.

MADE FULL RESTITUTION

Melville Miller who Took $52 from his Employer, Andrew Fairbairn.

Some time ago, Mr. Andrew Fairbairn, of Smith Township, discovered that he had been robbed of $52. He had his suspicions and reported to the county authorities. An investigation resulted, and finally Mr. Fairbairn's hired man, Melville Miller, was arrested. He was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Edmison and confessed his guilt. The young man was willing to make restitution for what he had done, and so paid back to Mr. Fairbairn the sum of $52, the amount stolen, together with $15 for expenses, and other trouble in connection with the investigation, also a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $17.80.

Enterprise in Tents.

Toronto News: Those who visited "Society Row" at the exhibition will remember several interesting tents shown there by J. J. Turner & Sons, of Peterborough. One was a beautifully finished tent, suited specially for the outdoor treatment of consumption. Another was a tent, of a form specially recommended by the Provincial Health Department for isolation cases. These tents were shown as an exhibit a little out of the ordinary. The firm, however, who are one of the best known manufacturers of tents in the country, make every kind of their factory in Peterborough, and not only tents, but awnings, rain flaps, tarpaulins,

ERECTING THEIR POLES

The Machine Telephone People Are Doing a Good Work.

The Canadian Machine Telephone Co.'s linemen are going steadily forward in the erection of their poles and other work necessary in connection with the installation of the new system. A noticeable fact is that the very straightest poles are being used, and not placed in that reckless manner which has caused citizens to say that the town has a name for "roughness," in its layout. The attention of the Review has also been drawn to the fact that wherever possible the new 'phone Company will make such arrangements with existing lines, particularly those for the transmission of power, that unsightly clusters of poles will be thinned out, and the appearance of the street improved. This, of course, cannot be done too frequently, for some portions of the principal streets present anything but a pleasing sight.

A Parlor Social.

A very pleasant social evening was held at the residence of Mr. Henderson Nesbitt on Thursday evening last when Mr. Turner and Mrs. Sawyer entertained in aid of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary. An enjoyable musical programme was given and refreshments were served during the evening. The proceeds, which amounted to a fair sum, are to be devoted to mission work.

DIED IN VANCOUVER

Mr. J. Harold Fife, Son of the late Dr. Fife

It was with much regret that news was received in town to-day of the death in Vancouver recently of J. Harold Fife, son of the late Dr. Fife, whose death occurred a short time ago. The deceased gentleman had lived for many years in Peterborough and it is not long since he went out west to engage in the hardware business, he having at one time been employed in a local store. About a year ago he married Miss Bull of Toronto. His mother and sisters are at present in England. He was about 30 years of age. No particulars as to his death have as yet been received here. He was an adherent of George st. Methodist church while here.

Basket Making.

In the issue of the Designer for October are some instructions fo making baskets of reeds and raphia. The designs given are simple, but pretty, and from the hints given, more elaborate ones may be formed. The reeds and raphia, in different sizes and colors, may be obtained at the Review office. 3d

LEADERS WERE BEATEN

The T. A. S. Ball Team Lost to Bobcaygeon - First Defeat of Season

Up in the northern woods there exists a team which has beaten the T. A.S. team for the first time in a league game this season. The score was 6 to 4. The winners deserved to win. They fielded better and ran bases better. Quinlan had a little the best of it over the opposing pitcher. Bad fielding and poor base running lost the game for the T.A.S. It was a fast and exciting game, with all kinds of circus fielding. Kelly, the Boycaygeon shortstop, cut off several hits by sensational catches, and the centre fielder pulled down a beautiful drive from Meagher's bat. For the T. A.S. Grady and Latremouille were the fielding stars. Grady gathered in a drive over second with his left hand, and Latremouille cut off two runners in the second by beautiful throw from left field. Parnell, who was behind the bat for the first time this year, caught a fine game, and also batted well. Callahan started the scoring. He reached first on a hot to short stop, stole second, was advanced to third on Trainor's sacrifice, and came in on a passed ball. In the second Quinlan reached first on a gift from the pitcher, stole second and third and came in on Parnell's hit. There was nothing again until in the seventh. Latremouille got a good hit to right field, stole second and scored on a wild throw over third. Parnell also made the circuit in almost the same manner. This ended the scoring as far as the T.A.S. were concerned. Cayeon scored one in the second on a two-bagger by Johnston and Craig's low throw to Trainor. In the third Lacombe crossed the plate, and in the fourth Johnston scored again. The locals gathered in two in the sixth by a couple of errors. In the eighth the bases were filled with none out. Quinlan fanned the next batter, passed the next, forcing a run, and then struck out the next two. It was nice pitching. This ended the scoring. The visitors made a big effort to pull out, but it was not to be. They hit the ball hard, but most of their drives went straight at the fielders.

The following were the teams—

T.A.S.—Callahan, Trainor, Grady, Derocher, Latremouille, Quinlan, Parnell, Craig, Meagher.

Mr. O'Leary, of Lindsay, refereed the game.

This defeat for the T.A.S. makes the race for the Kawartha League pennant an exciting one. T.A.S. have won 6 and lost 1, while Caygeon has won 5 and lost 2. Should Bobcaygeon win down here there would be a three-cornered tie between Caygeon, Auburns and T.A.S. On the other hand, should the T.A.S. win they will have the pennant. The team from the northern burg will be here next week, and the game will be a corker, as both teams want the game badly.

LACROSSE.

Peterborough lacrosse players seem to be in demand, judging by the following, taken from the Vancouver and St. Paul papers:—

The Vancouver News-Advertiser says:—

"If the Nelson lacrosse team gets Lambe and Querrie from the Canadian League and plays them against New Westminster next month, there will be a grand opportunity to compare eastern and western players, for the two men mentioned have been tooted as two of the stars of Toronto lacrosse. Hugh Lambe is said to be one of the best playing the game, but if he runs up against Fred Lynch for a check, as he probably will, well, go and see for yourself."

"Chicago has one of the best lacrosse teams that we have been up against. Baker in goal is a whirlwind, and Young, at point, is the scrappiest player I have ever seen, while Percy Rubidge is a host in himself."

Lynch and Rubidge used to figure on the local team in the days when Orillia and Peterborough were deadly enemies, and a match between the two was a minature Liaoyang.

The Joy of Living

It is only the healthy who find a real joy in life. Weak, nervous, languid and discouraged people find new hope and energy in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. With new rich blood coursing through the veins and the thrill of new nerve force sent tingling along the nerve fibres, the joy of living returns and disease and weakness disappear.

THE BARRIE VISIT

At the request of Mayor Boys, Barrie, Chief of Police King made an official investigation of the charges made against the 57th Regiment by a correspondent of the Toronto Catholic Register. Chief King has made a report in writing, which has been forwarded to Peterborough. He sets forth at length the names of the merchants whose testimony he procured, and he concludes in the following words:—"I have failed to find any evidence to substantiate the report sent to Toronto paper. Mayor Boys has also written to say that if any official denial by him of the charges made is required for publication he will cheerfully make it.
